C H A P. XX.

4 From whence Iohns baptisme was. 9 The wickednesse of the Priests: is noted by the parable of the vineyard and the husbandmen. 21 To giue tribute to Cesar. 27 Hee convinceth the Sadduces denying the resurrection. 41 How Christ is the Sonne of God.

And it came to passe, that on one of those dayes, as hee taught the people in the Temple, and preached the Gospel, the hie Priests and the Scribes came vpon him with the Elders,

2 And spake vnto him, saying, Tell vs by what authoritie thou doest these things, or who is he that hath giuen thee this authoritie?

3 And he answered, and said vnto them, I also will aske you one thing: tell me therefore:

4 The baptisme of Iohn, was it from heauen or of men?

5 And they reasoned within themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heauen, hee will say, Why then beleueed yee him not?

6 But if we shall say, Of men, all the people will stone vs: for they be perswaded that Iohn was a Prophet.

7 Therefore they answered, that they could not tell whence it was.

8 Then Iesus said vnto them, Neither tell I you, by what authoritie I doe these things.

9 ¶ Then began hee to speake to the people this parable, A certaine man planted a vineyard, & let it forth to husbandmen: and went into a strange countrey, for a great time.

10 And at the time conuenient hee sent a seruant to the husbandmen, that they should giue him of the fruite of the vineyard: but the husbandmen did beat him, and sent him away empty.

11 Againe he sent yet another seruant: and they did beate him, and foule intreated him and sent him away empty.

12 Moreover hee sent the third, and him they wounded, and cast out.

13 Then sayd the Lorde of the vineyard, What shall I do? I will send my beloued sonne: it may be that they will doe reuerence, when they see him.

14 But when the husbandmen sawe him, they reasoned with themselves, saying, This is the heire: come, let vs kill him, that the inheritance may be ours.

15 So they cast him out of the vineyard, and killed him. What shall the Lord of the vineyard therefore doe vnto them?

16 Hee will come and destroy these husbandmen, and will giue out his vineyard to others. But when they heard it, they said, God forbid.

17 ¶ And he beheld them, and said, What meaneth this then that is written, * The stone that the builders refused, that is made the head of the corner?

18 Whosoever shall fall vpon that stone, shall be broken: and on whomsoever it shall fall, it shall grinde him to powder.

19 Then the high Priests, and the Scribes the same houre went about to lay handes on him: (but they feared the people) for they perceiued that he had spoken this parable against them.

20 ¶ And they watched him, and sent forth spies, which should faine themselves iust men, to take him in his talke, and to deliuer him vnto the power and authoritie of the gouernour.

21 And they asked him, saying, Master, we know that thou sayest, and teachest aright, neither doest thou accept mans person, but teachest the way of God truely.

22 Is it lawfull for vs to giue Cesar tribute or no?

23 But he perceiued their craftinesse, and said vnto them, Why tempt ye me?

24 Shew mee a penie. Whose image and superscription hath it? They answered, and said, Cefars.

25 Then he said vnto them, * Giue then vnto Cesar the things which are Cefars, and to God those which are Gods.

26 And they could not reprocue his saying before the people: but they marueiled at his answer, and held their peace.

27 ¶ Then came to him certaine of the Sadduces (which deny that there is any resurrection) and they asked him,

28 Saying, Master, * Moses wrote vnto vs, If any mans brother die hauing a wife, and hee die without children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise vp seed vnto his brother.

29 Now there were seuen brethren, and the first tooke a wife, and he died without children.

30 And the second tooke the wife, and hee died childlesse.

31 Then the third tooke her: and so liue-wife the seuen died, and left no children.

32 And last of all the woman died also.

33 Therefore at the resurrection, whose wife of them shall shee be? for seuen had her to wife.

34 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, The children of this world marrie wiues, and are married.

35 But they which shalbe counted worthy to enioy that world, and the resurrection from the dead, neither marrie wiues, neither are married.

36 For they can die no more, forasmuch as they are equall vnto the Angels, and are the sonnes of God, since they are the children of the resurrection.

37 And that the dead shall rise againe, euen * Moses shewed it besides the bush, when hee said, The Lord is the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Iacob.

38 For hee is not the God of the dead, but of them which liue: for all liue vnto him.

39 Then certaine of the Scribes answered,

* Mark. 12. 13. The last refuge that false prophets haue to destroy the true Prophets, is to lay sedition and treason to their charge.

* A fit time to take him in. b. Whom they had deceitfully hired. c. That they might take some hold in his talke, & thereby forge some false accusation against him.

d. Put him to death. e. Thou art not meane to be feared of any man: and by person be meaneth outward circumstances, which if a man haue respect vnto, he will not indee like of them that are inwardly.

h. That is, men partakers of the resurrection: for as we say truely that they shall liue in deed, which shall enioy euerlasting blisse, so doe they rise in deed, which rise to life, though if this word resurrection, be taken generally, it belongeth also to the wicked, which shall rise to condemnation, which is not properly life, but death.

Nowe * the * feast of vneleuened bread drew nere, which is called the Pasceouer.

2 And the high Priests and Scribes sought how they might kill him: for they feared the people.

3 * Then entred Satan into Iudas, who was called Iscariot, and was of the number of the twelue.

4 And hee went his way, and communed with the high Priests and * captaines, how hee might betray him to them.

5 So they were glad, and agreed to giue him money.

6 And he consented and sought opportunitie to betray him vnto them, when the people were away.

7 ¶ * Then came the day of vneleuened bread, when the Pasceouer, * must bee sacrificed.

8 And hee sent Peter and Iohn, saying Goe and prepare vs the * Pasceouer, that wee may eate it.

9 And they said vnto him, Where wilt thou, that wee prepare it?

10 Then he said vnto them, Behold, when yee be entred into the citie, there shall a man meete you, bearing a pitcher of water: follow him into the house that he entreth in,

11 And say vnto the good man of the house, The Master sayth vnto thee, where is the lodging where I shall eate my Pasceouer with my disciples?

12 Then hee shall shewe you a greathigh chamber trimmed: there make it readie.

13 So they went, and found as hee had said vnto them, and made readie the Pasceouer.

14 * And when the * houre was come,

he sat downe, and the twelue Apostles with him.

15 Then he said vnto them, I haue earnestly desired to eate this Pasceouer with you, before I * suffer.

16 For I say vnto you, Henceforth I will not eate of it any more, vntill it be fulfilled in the kingdome of God.

17 And he tooke the cup, and gaue thanks, and sayd, Take this, and diuide it among you,

18 For I say vnto you, I will not drinke of the fruite of the vine, vntill the kingdome of God be come.

19 * And hee tooke bread, and when hee had giuen thanks, hee brake it, and gaue to them, saying, This is my body, which is giuen for you: doe this in remembrance of me.

20 Likewise also after supper he tooke the cup, saying, This * cup is * that new Testament in my blood, which is shed for you.

21 * Yet behold, the * hand of him that betrayeth me, is with me at the table.

22 * And truly the Sonne of man goeth as it is appointed: but woe bee to that man, by whom he is betrayed.

23 Then they began to enquire among themselves, which of them it should be, that should doe that.

24 ¶ * And there arose also a strife among them, * which of them should seeme to be the greatest.

25 But he said vnto them, The Kings of the Gentiles reigne ouer them, and they that beare rule ouer them, are called * bountifull.

26 But ye shall not bee so: but let the greatest among you be as the least: and the chiefest as he that serueth.

32 * But I haue prayed for thee, that thy faith faile not: therefore when thou art conuerted, strengthen thy brethren.

Then the whole multitude of them arose, and led him vnto Pilate.

And they began to accuse him, saying, Wee haue found this man^a peruertering the nation,^b and forbidding to pay tribute to Cesar, saying, That he is Christ a King.

And Pilate asked him, saying, Art thou the King of the Iewes? And he answered him, and said, Thou sayest it.

Then said Pilate to the high Priests, and to the people, I finde no fault in this man.

But they were the more fierce, saying, Hee moueth the people, teaching throughout all Iudea, beginning at Galile, even to this place.

Now when Pilate heard of Galile, hee asked whether the man were a Galilean.

And when hee knewe that hee was of Herodes iurisdiction, hee sent him to Herod; which was also at Hierusalem in those dayes.

And when Herod saw Iesus, he was exceedingly glad: for he was desirous to see him of a long season, because he had heard many things of him, and trusted to haue scene some signe done by him.

Then questioned he with him, of many things: but he answered him nothing.

The high Priests also and Scribes stood forth, and accused him vehemently.

And Herod with his^c men of warre, despised him, and mocked him, & arrayed him in white, and sent him againe to Pilate.

And the same day Pilate and Herode were made friends together: for before they were enemies one to another.

Then Pilate called together the high Priests and the^d rulers, and the people.

And said vnto them, Ye haue brought this man vnto mee, as one that peruerter the people: and behold, I haue examined him before you, and haue found no fault in this man, of those things whereof ye accuse him:

No, nor yet Herod: for I sent you to him: and loe, nothing worthy of death is done of him.

I will therefore chastise him, and let him loose.

(For of necessitie hee must haue let one loose vnto them at the feast.)

Then all the multitude cryed at once, saying, Away with him, and deliuer vnto vs Barabbas:

Which for a certaine insurrection made in the citie, and murder, was cast in prison.

Then Pilate spake againe to them, willing to let Iesus loose.

But they cryed, saying, Crucifie, crucifie him.

And he said vnto them the third time, But what euill hath hee done? I finde no cause of death in him: I will therefore chastise him, and let him loose.

But they were instant with loud voices, and required that hee might be crucified: and the voices of them and of the high Priests pre-uailed.

So Pilate gaue sentence; that it should be as they required.

And he let loose vnto them him that for insurrection and murder was cast into prison, whom they desired, and deliuered Iesus to doe with him what they would.

And as they ledde him away, they caught one Simon of Cyrene, coming out of the field, and on him they laid the crosse, to beare it after Iesus.

And there followed him a great multitude of people, and of women; which women bewailed and lamented him.

But Iesus turned backe vnto them, and said, Daughters of Hierusalem, weepe not for me, but weepe for your selues, and for your children.

For behold, the dayes will come, when men shall say, Blessed are the barren, and the wombes that neuer bare, and the paps which neuer gaue sucke.

Then shall they beginne to say to the mountaines, Fall on vs, and to the hilles, Couer vs.

For if they do these things to a greene tree, what shall be done to the dry?

And there were two others, which were euill doers, led with him to be slaine.

And when they were come to the place, which is called Caluarie, there they crucified him, and the euill doers: one at the right hand, and the other at the left.

Then said Iesus, Father, forgive them: for they know not what they doe. And they parted his raiment, and cast lots.

And the people stood, and beheld: and the rulers mocked him with them, saying, Hee saued others: let him saue himselfe, if he be that Christ, the^e Chosen of God.

The souldiours also mocked him, and came and offered him vineger,

And said, If thou bee the King of the Iewes, saue thy selfe.

And a superscription was also written ouer him, in Greeke letters, and in Latine, and in Ebrew, THIS IS THAT KING OF THE IEWES.

And^f one of the euill doers, which were hanged, railed on him, saying, If thou be that Christ, saue thy selfe and vs.

But the other answered, and rebuked him, saying, Fearest thou not God, seeing thou art in the same condemnation?

Wee are in deede righteously here: for wee recieue things worthy of that wee haue done: but this man hath done nothing amisse.

And hee said vnto Iesus, Lord, remember mee, when thou comdest into thy kingdome.

44 ¶ ¹³ And it was about the sixt houre :
and there was a darkenesse ouer all the land, vntill the ninth houre.

45. And the Sunne was darkened, and the vaile of the Temple rent thorow the middes.

46 And Iesus cryed with a loud voice, and said, * Father, into thine hands I commend my spirit. And when he thus had said, he gaue up the ghost.

47 ¶ Now when the Centurion saw what was done, he glorified God, saying, Of a surety this man was just.

48 And all the people, that came together to that fight, beholding the things which were done, smote their breasts, and returned.

49¹⁶ And all his acquaintance stood afarre off, and the women that followed him from Galile, beholding these things.

50 ¶¹⁷ And behold, there was a man named Iosaph, which was a counsellor, a good man and a iust.

51. He did not consent to the counselland of the Iewes: who also himselfe waited for the kingdome of God.

52 He went unto Pilate, and asked the body of Iesus,

53. And tooke it downe: and wrapped it in a linnen cloth, and laide it in a tombe hewen out of a roke, wherein was neuer man yet layd.

54 And that day was the Preparation, and the Sabbath^k drew on.

55 ¹⁸ And the women also that followed after, which came with him from Galile, beheld the sepulchre, and how his body was laid.

56 And they returned, and prepared odors, and ointments, and rested the Sabbath day according to the commandment.

3 And went in, but found not the body of the Lord Iesus.

4. And it came to passe, that as they were
- amazed therat, behold, two men suddenly
- stood by them in shining vestures,

5 And as they were afraid, and bowed down their faces to the earth, they sayd to them, Why seeke ye him that liueth, among the dead?

6. He is not here, but is risen: remember * how he spake vnto you, when he was yet in Galilee.

7 Saying, that the Sonne of man must be deliuered into the hands of sinfull men, and be crucified, and the third day rise againe.

8 And they remembered his words,

9 And returned from the Sepulchre, and tolde all these things vnto the eleuen, and to all the remnant.

ro Now it was Mary Magdalene, and Io-anna, and Mary the mother of James, and other women with them, which told these things unto the Apostles.

11 But their words seemed vnto them, as a fained thing, neither beleueed they them.

12 *3 Then arose Peter, and ranne vnto the Sepulchre and ^b looked in, and saw the linnen clothes laid by themselves, and departed wondering in himselfe at that which was come to passe.

13 ¶ And behold, two of them went that same day to a towne which was from Hierusalem about threescore furlongs, called Emmaus.

14 And they talked together of all these things that were done.

15 And it came to passe, as they communed together, and reasoned, that Iesus himselfe drew neere, and went with them.

16 But their eyes were holden, that they could not know him.

17 And he said vnto them, What manner of communications are these that ye haue one to another as ye walke and are sad?

18 And^d the one (named Cleopas) answered, and said vnto him, Art thou only a stranger in Hierusalem, and hast not known the things that are come to passe therein in these dayes?

19 And hee said vnto them, What things? And they said vnto him, Of Iesus of Nazareth, which was a Prophet, mightie in deede and in word before God, and all people,

20 And how the hie Priests, and our rulers deliuered him to be condemned to death, and haue crucified him.

21 But we trusted that it had beene he that should haue deliuered Israel, and as touching all these things, to day is the third day, that they were done.

these are uncertainties. 5 It appeareth by the conferring of the forewarning the Prophets, that all those things are true and certaine which the Evangelists have put downe in writing of Christ.

22 Yea, and certaine women among vs made vs aslonied which came carely vnto the sepulchre.

23 And when they found not his body, they came, saying, that they had also seene a vision of Angels, which said, that he was aliue.

24 Therefore certaine of them which were with vs, went to the sepulchre, and found it empty, as the women had said, but him they saw not.

25 Then hee said vnto them, O fooles and slow of heart, to beleene all that the Prophets haue spoken!

26 Ought not Christ to haue suffered these things, and so enter into his glory?

27 And he began at Moses, & at all the Prophets, & interpreted vnto them in all the Scriptures the things which were written of him.

28 And they drew neere vnto the towne which they went to, but he made as though he would haue gone further.

29 But they constrained him, saying, Abide with vs: for it is towards night, and the day is farre spent. So he went in to tarry with them.

30 And it came to passe, as he sat at table with them: hee tooke the bread, and blessed, and brake it, and gaue it to them.

31 Then their eyes were opened, and they knew him: and he was no more seene of them.

32 And they said betwene themselves, Did not our hearts burne within vs, while hee talked with vs by the way, and when hee opened to vs the Scriptures?

33 And they rose vp the same houre, and returned to Hierusalem, and found the eleven gathered together, & them that were with them, 34 Which said, The Lord is risen in deede, and hath appeared to Simon.

35 Then they told what things were done in the way, and how he was knowen of them in breaking of bread.

36 ¶ And as they spake these things, Iesus himselfe stood in the mids of them, and said vnto them, Peace be to you.

37 But they were abashed and afraid, supposing that they had seene a spirit.

38 Then he said vnto them, Why are yee troubled? and wherefore doe ye doubts arise in your hearts?

39 Behold mine hands and my feet: for it is I my selfe: handle me, and see: for a spirit hath not flesh and bones, as ye see me haue.

40 And when he had thus spoken, he shewed them his hands and feet.

41 And while they yet beleueed not for ioy, and wondered, he said vnto them, Haue ye here any meat?

42 And they gaue him a peece of a broyled fish, and of an hony combe.

43 And hee tooke it, and did eate before them.

44 ¶ And he said vnto them, These are the words, which I spake vnto you while I was yet with you, that all must be fulfilled which are written of me in the Law of Moses, and in the Prophets, and in the Psalmes.

45 Then opened hee their vnderstanding, that they might vnderstand the Scriptures.

46 And said vnto them, Thus it is written, and thus it behooued Christ to suffer, and to rise againe from the dead the third day, 47 And that repentance, and remission of sinnes should be preached in his Name among all nations, beginning at Hierusalem.

48 Now ye are witnesses of these things.

49 And behold, I doe send the promise of my Father vpon you: but tarry yee in the citie of Hierusalem, vntill ye be endued with power from on high.

50 ¶ Afterward he led them out into Bethania, and lift vp his hands, and blessed them.

51 And it came to passe, that as he blessed them, he departed from them, and was caried vp into heauen.

52 And they worshipped him, and returned to Hierusalem with great ioy, 53 And were continually in the Temple, praising, and lauding God, Amen.

20 Our fathers worshipped in this mountaine, and ye say, that in Hierusalem is the place where men ought to worship.

21 Iesus said vnto her, Woman, beleeue me, the houre cometh, when ye shall neither in this mountaine, nor at Hierusalem worship the Father.

22 Ye worship him which ye know not: we worship him as which we know for what he is of the Iewes.

23 But he I haue remembred, and now is, when the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit, and truth: for the Father requirerth euen such to worship him.

28 The woman then left her water-pot, and went her way into the citie, and said to the men,

29 Come, see a man, which hath told me all things that euer I did: is not he that Christ?

30 Then they went out of the citie, and came vnto him.

31 In the meane while, the Disciples prayed him, saying, Master, eate.

32 But he said vnto them, I haue meate to eate that ye know not of.

33 Then said the disciples betweene themselves, Hath any man brought him meat?

34 Iesus said vnto them, My meate is that I may doe the will of him that sent mee, and finish his worke.

35 Say not yee, There are yet foure moneths, and then commeth haruest? Behold, I say vnto you, Lift vp your eyes, and looke on the regions: * for they are white already vnto haruest.

36 And he that reapeth, receiuerth reward, and gathereth fruit vnto life eternall, that both he that soweth, and he that reapeth, might reioyce together.

37 For herein is the saying true, that one soweth, and another reapeth.

38 I sent you to reape that, whereon yee bestowed no labour: other men laboured, and ye are entred into their labours.

39 Now many of the Samaritanes of that citie beleueed in him, for the saying of the woman, which testified, He hath told me all things that euer I did.

40 Then when the Samaritanes were come vnto him, they besought him, that hee would tary with them: and he abode there two dayes.

41 And many more beleueed because of his own word.

41 And many more beleueed because of his own word.

42 And they said vnto the woman, Now we beleeue, because of thy saying: for we haue heard him our selues, and know that this is in deede that Christ the Saviour of the world.

43 So two dayes after hee departed thence, and went into Galilee.

44 For Iesus himselfe had testified, that a Prophet hath none honour in his own country.

45 Then when hee was come into Galilee, the Galileans receiued him, which had seene all the things that hee did at Hierusalem at the feasts: for they went also vnto the feast.

46 And Iesus came againe into Cana a towne of Galilee, where hee had made of water wine. And there was a certaine ruler whose sonne was sicke at Capernaum.

47 When he heard that Iesus was come out of Iudea into Galilee, he went vnto him, and besought him that he would goe down, and heale his sonne: for he was euen ready to die.

48 Then said Iesus vnto him, Except yee see signes and wonders, yee will not beleeue.

49 The ruler said vnto him, Sir, goe downe before my sonne die.

50 Iesus said vnto him, Goe thy way, thy sonne liueth: & the man beleueed the word that Iesus had spoken vnto him, and went his way.

51 And as hee was now going downe, his seruants met him, saying, Thy sonne liueth.

52 Then inquired he of them the houre when hee began to amend. And they said vnto him, Yesterday the seuenth houre the feuer left him.

53 Then the father knew, that it was the same houre in the which Iesus had said vnto him, Thy sonne liueth. And hee beleueed, and all his household.

54 This second miracle did Iesus againe, after he was come out of Iudea into Galilee.

*Exod. 16. 14. num. 11. 7 pſal. 78. 35. 7 Chriſt, who is the true and only author and giuer of eternall life, was ſignified vnto the Fathers in Manna. In Hebrewe that Manna was that true heavenly bread, and ſaith that he himſelfe is that true bread, who is the feeder to the true and enlivening life. And for that, that Paul, 1. Cor. 10. calleth Manna ſpirituall foods, it maketh nothing againſt this place, for hee ſpeaketh the things ſignified with the figure: but in this whole diſputation, Chriſt dealt with the ſenſe after their owne opinion and conceit of the matter, and they had no further conſideration of the Manna, but in that it fed the bellie.

34 Then they said vnto him, Lord, euermore giue vs this bread.

35 And Iesus sayd vnto them, I am that bread of life: he that commeth to mee, shall not hunger, and he that beleueth in me, shall neuer thirst.

36 But I sayd vnto you, that yee also haue scene me, and beleue not.

37 All that the Father giueth mee, shall come to mee: and him that commeth to me, I cast not away.

38 For I came downe from heauen, not to doe mine owne will: but his will which hath sent mee.

39 And this is the Fathers will which hath sent me, that of all which he hath giuen mee, I should lose nothing, but should raise it vp againe at the last day.

40 And this is the will of him that sent me, that euery man which heeth the Sonne, and beleueth in him, should haue euermore life: and I will raise him vp at the last day.

41 The Iewes then murmured at him because he said, I am that bread which is come downe from heauen.

42 And they sayd, Is not this Iesus that sonne of Ioseph, whose father and mother we know? how then sayeth he, I am come downe from heauen?

43 Iesus then answered, and said vnto them, Murmure not among your selues.

44 No man can come to me, except the Father which hath sent me, draw him: and I will raise him vp at the last day.

45 It is written in the Prophets, And they shall bee all taught of God. Euery man therefore that hath heard, and hath learned of the Father, commeth vnto me:

46 Not that any man hath scene the Father, saue hee which is of God, he hath scene the Father.

47 Verely, verely I say vnto you, He that beleueth in me, hath euermore life.

48 I am that bread of life.

49 Your fathers did eate Manna in the wilderness, and are dead.

50 This is that bread, which commeth downe from heauen, that hee which eateth of it, should not die.

51 I am that liuing bread, which came downe from heauen: if any man eate of this bread, he shall liue for euer: and the bread that I will giue, is my flesh, which I will giue for the life of the world.

52 Then the Iewes stroue among themselues, saying, Howe can this man giue vs his flesh to eat?

53 Then Iesus sayd vnto them, Verely, verely I say vnto you, Except ye eat the flesh of the Sonne of man, and drinke his blood, yee haue no life in you.

54 Whosoever eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, hath eternall life, and I will raise him vp at the last day.

55 For my flesh is meate in deed, and my blood is drinke indeed.

56 Hee that eateth my flesh, and drinketh my blood, dwelleth in me, and I in him.

57 As that liuing Father hath sent mee, so liue I by the Father, and hee that eateth mee, euen he shall liue by me.

58 This is that bread which came downe from heauen: not as your fathers haue eaten Manna, and are dead. Hee that eateth of this bread shall liue for euer.

59 These things taught he in the Synagogue as he taught in Capernaum.

60 Many therefore of his disciples (when they heard this) sayd, This is an hard saying: who can heare it?

61 But Iesus knowing in himselfe, that his disciples murmured at this, said vnto them, Doeth this offend you?

62 What then if yee should see the Sonne of man ascend vp, where he was before?

63 It is the Spirit that quickeneth: the flesh profiteth nothing: the words that I speak vnto you, are spirit and life.

64 But there are some of you that beleue not: for Iesus knewe from the beginning, which they were that beleueed not, and who should betray him.

65 And hee sayde, Therefore said I vnto you, that no man can come vnto me, except it be giuen vnto him of my Father.

66 From that time, many of his disciples went backe, and walked no more with him.

67 Then sayd Iesus vnto the twelue, Will ye also goe away?

68 Then Simon Peter answered him, Master, to whom shall we go? thou hast the words of eternall life:

69 And wee beleue and knowe that thou art that Christ the Sonne of the liuing God.

70 Iesus answered them, Haue not I chosen you twelue, and one of you is a deuil?

71 Now hee spake it of Iudas Iscariot the sonne of Simon: for hee it was that should betray him, though he was one of the twelue.

CHAP. VII.

2 Christ, after his cousins were gone vp to the feast of Tabernacles, 10 goeth thither privately. 12 The peoples sundrie opinions of him, 14 Hee teacheth in the Temple. 32 The Priests command to take him, 41 Strife among the multitude about him, 47 and betweene the Pharisees and the officers that were sent to take him, 50 and Nicodemus.

After

After these things, Iesus walked in Galilee, and would not walke in Iudea: for the Iewes sought to kill him.

Now the Iewes feast of the Tabernacles was at hand.

His brethren therefore sayd vnto him, Depart hence, and goe into Iudea, that thy disciples may see thy workes that thou doest.

For here is no man that doth any thing secretly, and his himselfe seeketh to be famous. If thou doest these things, shewe thy selfe to the world.

For as yet his brethren beleue not in him.

Then Iesus said vnto them, My time is not yet come: but your time is alway ready.

The world cannot hate you: but mee it hateth, because I testifie of it, that the workes thereof are euill.

Goe ye vp vnto this feast: I will not goe vp yet vnto this feast: for my time is not yet fulfilled.

These things he sayd vnto them, and abode still in Galilee.

But as soone as his brethren were gone vp, then went he also vp vnto the feast, not openly, but as it were priuily.

Then the Iewes sought him at the feast, and sayd, Where is he?

And much murmuring was there of him among the people. Some sayde, Hee is a good man: other sayd, Nay: but he deceiueth the people.

Howbeit no man spake openly of him for feare of the Iewes.

Now when the halfe of the feast was done, Iesus went vp into the Temple and taught.

And the Iewes marueiled, saying, How knoweth this man the Scriptures, seeing that he neuer learned?

Iesus answered them, and sayd, My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent me.

If any man will doe his will, hee shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speake of my selfe.

Hee that speaketh of himselfe, seeketh his owne glory: but he that seeketh his glory that sent him, the same is true, and no vnrighteousnesse is in him.

Did not Moses giue you a Law, and yet none of you keepeth the Law? Why goe ye about to kill me?

The people answered, and sayd, Thou hast a deuill: who goeth about to kill thee?

Iesus answered, and sayd to them, I haue done one worke, and ye all maruell.

Moses therefore gaue vnto you circumcision, (not because it is of Moses, but of the fathers) and yee on the Sabbath day circumcise a man.

If a man on the Sabbath receiue circumcision, that the Law of Moses should not be broken, be yee angry with me, because I haue made a man euery whit whole on the Sabbath day?

Iudge not according to the appearance, but iudge righteous iudgement.

Then sayd some of them of Hierusalem, Is not this he, whom they goe about to kill?

And behold, hee speaketh openly, and they say nothing to him: doe the rulers know in deepe, that this is in deepe that Christ?

Howbeit we know this man whence he is: but when that Christ commeth, no man shall know whence he is.

Then answered Iesus in the Temple as he taught, Yee both know me, and know whither I am: yet am I not come of my selfe, but hee that sent me is true, whom yee know not.

But I know him: for I am of him, and he hath sent me.

Then they sought to take him, but no man layd hands on him, because his houre was not yet come.

Now many of the people beleueed in him, and sayd, When that Christ commeth, will hee doe moe miracles then this man hath done?

The Pharises heard that the people murmured these things of him, and the Pharises, and high Priestes sent officers to take him.

Then sayd Iesus vnto them, Yet am I a little while with you, and then goe I vnto him that sent me.

Ye shall seeke me, and shall not finde me, and where I am, can ye not come.

Then said the Iewes among themselves, Whither will he goe, that we shall not finde him? Will hee goe vnto them that are dispersed among the Grecians, and teach the Grecians?

What saying is this that hee sayd, Yee shall seeke mee, and shall not finde mee? and where I am, cannot ye come?

Now in the last and great day of the feast, Iesus stood and cryed, saying, If any man thirst, let him come vnto me, and drinke.

He that beleueeth in me, as sayth the Scripture, out of his belly shall flow riuers of water of life.

Lent. 23. 34. a This feast was called because of the bushes and tents which they pitch of douers, and were under them seven dayes together, all which time the feast last.

1 The grace of God commeth not by inheritance, but it is a gift that commeth other wayes: whereby it commeth to passe, that oftentimes the children of God suffer more affliction by their own kinfolkes, than by strangers.

2 His kinfolkes for so vs the Hebrews to speake. 3 We must not follow the foolish desires of our friends.

4 An example of horrible confusion in the very bosome of the Church. The Pastors oppress the people with terror and feare: the people seeke Christ, when he appeareth not: when he offereth himselfe, they neglect him. Some also that know him, condemne him rashly: a very fewe thinke well of him, and that in secret.

5 Or, boldly and freely: For the chief of the Iewes sought nothing so much, as to bury his name.

6 Christ striueth with goodnesse against the wickednesse of the world: in the meane season the most part of men take occasion of offence euen by that same, whereby they ought to haue beene directed vp to embrace Christ.

*7 Therefore are there fewe to whom Gospel saoueth very well, because the study of godlines is very rare. 8 Look about thee 5. ver. 22. and he speaketh thus for the opinion of the Iewes, as if he said, My doctrine is not mine, that is, it is not his whom you take to be a man as other are, and therefore set light by him but it is his that sent me. 6 The true doctrine of saluation differeth from the false in this, that the same testeth forth the glory of God, and this by puffing vp men, darkeneth the glory of God. * Exod. 24. 3. 7 None doe more confidently boast them. selues to be the defenders of the Law of God, then they that doe most impudently break it. * Chap. 5. 12. 8 The Sabbath day (which is here set before vs for a rule of all ceremonies) was not appointed to hinder, but to further & praise Gods works: amongst which the loue of our neighbour is the chiefest.*

10 Many doe maruell that the enemies of God haue no success: yet in the meane season they doe not acknowledge the veru and power of God.

11 Men are very wise to procure slops and flayes to themselves. 12 The truth of Christ doeth not hang vpon the iudgement of man.

13 The wicked cannot doe what they lust, but what God hath appointed. 14 As the kingdom of God increaseth, so increaseth the rage of his enemies, till at the length they in vaine seeke for those blessings absent, which they despised when they were present.

39 (* This spake hee of the Spirit, which they that beleueed in him, should receiue: for the holy Ghost was not yet giuen, because that Iesus was not yet m glorified.)

40 ¹⁶ So many of the people, when they heard this saying, said, * Of a truth this is that Prophet.

41 Other said, This is that Christ: and some sayd, But shall that Christ come out of Galile?

42 * Sayeth not the Scripture, that that Christ shall come of the seede of Dauid, and out of the towne of Beth-leem, where Dauid was?

43 So was there dissension among the people for him.

44 And some of them would haue taken him, but no man laid hands on him.

45 ¹⁷ Then came the officers to the high Priests and Pharises, and they said vnto them, Why haue ye not brought him?

46 The officers answered, Neuer man spake like this man.

47 Then answered them the Pharises, Are ye also deceiued?

48 ¹⁸ Doth any of the rulers, or of the Pharises beleue in him?

49 But this people, which know not the Law, are cursed.

50 Nicodemus said vnto them (* he that came to Iesus by night, and was one of them)

51 Doeth our Law iudge a man before it heare him, * and know ⁿ what he hath done?

52 They answered, and said vnto him, Art thou also of Galile? Search and looke: for out of Galile ariseth no Prophet.

53 ¹⁹ And euery man went vnto his owne house.

And Iesus went vnto the mount of Oliues,

2 And early in the morning came againe into the Temple, and all the people came vnto him, and he fate downe and taught them.

3 ¹ Then the Scribes and the Pharises brought vnto him a woman taken in adulterie, and let her in the mids,

4 And sayd vnto him, Master, wee found this woman committing adulterie, euen in the very acte.

5 * Now Moses in our Law commanded, that such should be stoned: what sayest thou therefore?

6 And this they said to tempt him, that they might haue whereof to accuse him. But Iesus stouped down, and with his finger wrote on the ground.

7 ² And while they continued asking him, he lift himselfe vp, and sayd vnto them, * Let him that is among you without sinne, cast the first stone at her.

8 And againe he stouped down, and wrote on the ground.

9 And when they heard it, beeing accused by their owne conscience, they went out one by one, beginning at the eldest, euen at the last: so Iesus was left alone, and the woman standing in the mids.

10 ³ When Iesus had lift vp himself againe, and saw no man, but the woman, hee sayd vnto her, Woman, where are those thine accusers? hath no man condemned thee?

11 Shee sayd, No man, Lord. And Iesus sayd, Neither do I condemne thee: go and sin no more.

12 ⁴ Then spake Iesus againe vnto them, saying, I * am that light of the world: hee that followeth mee, shall not walke in darkenesse, but shall haue that light of life.

13 ⁵ The Pharises therefore said vnto him, Thou bearest record of thy selfe: thy record is not true.

14 ⁶ Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, ^b Though I beare record of my selfe, yet my record is true: for I know whence I came, and whither I goe: but yee cannot tell whence I come, and whither I goe, 15 Yee iudge after the flesh: I ^c iudge no man.

16 And if I also iudge, my iudgement is true: for I am not alone, but I and the Father, that sent me.

17 And it is also written in your Law, * that the testimonie of two men is true.

18 ^d I am one that beare witness of my selfe, and the Father that sent me, beareth witness of me.

19 ^e Then sayd they vnto him, Where is that Father of thine? Iesus answered, Ye neither know mee, nor that Father of mine. If ye had known me, ye would haue known that Father of mine also.

20 These wordes spake Iesus in the ^e treasure, as he taught in the Temple, and no man layd hands on him: ^f for his houre was not yet come.

21 ⁸ Then sayd Iesus againe vnto them, I goe my way, and ye shal seeke me, and shal die in your finnes. Whither I go, can ye not come.

22 Then sayd the Iewes, will hee kill himselfe, because hee sayth, Whither I goe, can ye not come?

23 And he sayd vnto them, Ye are from beneath, I am from aboue: ye are of this world, I am not of this world.

24 I sayd therefore vnto you, That ye shall

c I am one that beare witness of my selfe, and the Father that sent me, beareth witness of me. which acknowledged nothing in Christ but his humilitie, and therefore hee was contented they should see light by his own witness, unless it were otherwise confirmed. But in this place, hee saith for the maintenance of his Godhead, & prayeth his Father, who is his witness, and agreeeth with him.

d I doe now only teach you, I condemne no man: but yet if I lust to doe it, I might lawfully doe it, for I am not alone, but my Father is with me.

e The Godhead is plainly distinguished from the manhood, if there were not two witnesses: for the partie accused is not taken for witness. 6 No man can know God, but in Christ only. * This was some place appointed for the gathering of the offering, 7 We live and die at the pleasure of God, and not of men: therefore this one thing remaineth that we goe forward constantly in our vocation. 8 Because that men doe naturally abhorre heavenly things, no man can bee a fit disciple of Christ, vntill the Spirit of God frame him: in the meane season notwithstanding, the worlde most of necessitie perith, because it refused the life that it offered vnto it.

13 Our wicked manners declare, that we are plainly borne of a deuillish nature: But we are changed, and made of the household of God according to the covenant which he made with Abraham by Christ onely, apprehended & laid hold on by faith: which faith is known by a godly and honest life.

k Or, language: as though he sayd, you doe no more understand what I say, then if I spake in a strange and unknown language to you.

die in your sinnes: for except ye beleuee, that I am he, ye shall die in your sinnes.

25 Then sayde they vnto him, Who art thou? And Iesus said vnto them, Euen the same thing that I said vnto you from the beginning.

26 I haue many things to say, and to iudge of you: but he that sent me is true, and the thing that I haue heard of him, those speak I to the world.

27 They vnderstood not that he spake to them of the Father.

28 Then sayd Iesus vnto them, When yee haue lift vp the Sonne of man, then shall yee know that I am hee, and that I doe nothing of my selfe, but as my Father hath taught mee, so I speake these things.

29 For he that sent me is with mee: the Father hath not left me alone, because I doe alwaies those things that please him.

30 As he spake these things, many beleueed in him.

31 Then sayd Iesus to the Iewes which beleueed in him, If ye continue in my word, ye are verely my disciples, 32 And shall know the truth, & the truth shall make you free.

33 They answered him, we be Abrahams feede, and were neuer bound to any man: why sayest thou then, Ye shall be made free?

34 Iesus answered them, Verely, verely I say vnto you, that whosoever committeth sin, is the seruant of sinne.

35 And the seruant abideth not in the house for euer: but the Sonne abideth for euer.

36 If that Sonne therefore shall make you free, ye shall be free in deed.

37 I know that yee are Abrahams feede, but yee seeke to kill me, because my word hath no place in you.

38 I speake that which I haue seene with my Father: and yee doe that which yee haue seene with your father.

39 They answered, and sayd vnto him, Abraham is our father. Iesus sayd vnto them, If ye were Abrahams children, yee would do the workes of Abraham.

40 But now ye go about to kill mee, a man that haue tolde you the truth, which I haue heard of God: this did not Abraham.

41 Ye doe the workes of your father. Then sayd they to him, we are not borne of fornication: we haue one Father, which is God.

42 Therefore Iesus said vnto them, If God were your Father, then would ye loue me: for I proceeded forth, and came from God, neither came I of my selfe, but he sent me.

43 Why doe ye not vnderstand my talke? because ye can not heare my word.

44 Yee are of your father the deuill, and the lusts of your father yee will doe: hee hath bene a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When hee speaketh a lie, then speake hee of his owne: for he is a liar, and the Father thereof.

45 And because I tell you the truth, ye beleue me not.

46 Which of you can rebuke mee of sinne? and if I say the truth, why doe ye not beleue me?

47 He that is of God, heareth Gods words: yee therefore heare them not, because ye are not of God.

48 Then answered the Iewes, and sayd vnto him, Say we not well, that thou art a Samaritane, and hast a deuill?

49 Iesus answered, I haue not a deuill, but I honour my Father, and ye haue dishonoured mee.

50 And I seeke not mine owne praise: but there is one that seeketh it, and iudgeth.

51 Verely, verely I say vnto you, If a man keepe my word, he shall neuer see death.

52 Then sayd the Iewes to him, Now know wee that thou hast a deuill. Abraham is dead, and the Prophets: and thou sayest, If a man keepe my word, he shall neuer taste of death.

53 Art thou greater than our father Abraham, which is dead? and the Prophets are dead: whom makest thou thy selfe?

54 Iesus answered, If I honour my selfe, mine honour is nothing worth: it is my Father that honoureth me, whom ye say that he is your God.

55 Yet yee haue not knowen him: but I know him, and if I should say, I know him not, I should be a liar like vnto you: but I know him, and keepe his word.

56 Your father Abraham reioyced to see my day, and he saw it, and was glad.

57 Then sayd the Iewes vnto him, Thou art not yet fiftie yeere olde, and hast thou seene Abraham?

58 Iesus said vnto them, Verely, verely I say vnto you, Before Abraham was, I am.

59 Then tooke they vp stones to cast at him, but Iesus hid himselfe, and went out of the Temple: And he passed thorow the mids of them, and so went his way.

6 Proud wickedness must needs as length break forth, which in vain lieth hid vnder a zeale of godliness.
7 These art naughty men from thy cradle, and as we vs to say, there is no thing in thee but sinne.
8 Most happy is their state, which are cast vnderneath out of the Church of wicked (which proudly boast themselves of the name of the Church) that Christ may come clearer to them.
9 Christ doth lighten all them by the preaching of the Gospel, which acknowledge their owne darknesse, but such as seeme to themselves to be clearly enough, those be altogether blindeth: of which sort are they oftentimes, which haue the best place in the Church.
10 With great power and authority, to doe what is righte, and just: as if he said, these men take upon them to governe the people of God, after their own lust, as though they saw all things, and do man but they: but I will rule or otherwise then ife men doe: for whom they account for blishe

* commandement haue I receiued of my Father.

1 Seeing that by Christ onely we haue access to the Father, there are neither other true shepherds, then those which come to Christ themselves and bring other thither also, neither is any to be thought the true shepherds, but that which is gathered to Christ.

2 In those dayes they used to haue a servant alwayes sitting at the doore, and there fore he speaketh after the manner of those dayes. 3 This word (parable) which the Euangelist useth here, signifieth a darke kinde of speech, when words are taken from their naturall meaning, to signifie another thing to vs.

4 It maketh no matter, how many, neither how old the false teachers haue bene. 5 These large termes must be applied to the matter he speaketh of. And therefore when he calleth himselfe the doore, he calleth all them shepherds and robbers which take vp in them this name of Doore, which none of the Prophets can, for they shewed the sheepe that Christ was the doore.

6 Onely Christ is the true Pastor, and that only is the true Church, which acknowledgeth him to be properly their onely Pastor: To him are opposite theues, which feede not the sheepe, but kill them: and hirelings also, which forsake the flock in time of danger, because they feede it onely for their owne profit and gaines. 7 That u, shall liue safely: So vs the I. vs 110

8 Hee speaketh in the time that now is, because Christ's whole life, was as it were a perpetuall death.

Verely, verely I say vnto you, He that entereth not in by the doore into the sheepfold, but climeth vp another way, he is a thiefe and a robber.

But he that goeth in by the doore, is the shepherd of the sheepe.

To him the Porter openeth, and the sheepe heare his voyce, and he calleth his owne sheepe by name, and leadeeth them out.

And when he hath sent forth his owne sheepe, he goeth before them, and the sheepe follow him: for they know his voyce.

And they will not follow a stranger, but they flee from him: for they know not the voyce of strangers.

This parable spake Iesus vnto them: but they, vnderstood not what things they were which he spake vnto them.

Then said Iesus vnto them againe, Verely, verely I say vnto you, I am that doore of the sheepe.

All, that euer came before me, are theues and robbers: but the sheepe did not heare them.

I am that doore: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved, and shall goe in, and goe out, and find pasture.

The thiefe cometh not, but for to steale, and to kill, and to destroy: I am come that they might haue life, and haue it in abundance.

I am that good shepherd: that good shepheard giueth his life for his sheepe.

But an hireling, and he which is not the shepherd, neither the sheepe are his owne, seeth the Wolfe comming, and he leaueth the sheepe, and fleeth, and the Wolfe catcheth them, and scattereth the sheepe.

So the hireling fleeth, because he is an hireling, and careth not for the sheepe.

I am that good shepherd, and know mine, and am knownen of mine.

As the Father knoweth me, so know I the Father: and I lay downe my life for my sheepe.

Other sheepe I haue also, which are not of this folde: them also must I bring, and they shall heare my voyce: and there shall be one sheepfold, and one shepherd.

Therefore doeth my Father loue me, because I lay downe my life, that I might take it againe.

No man taketh it from me, but I lay it downe of my selfe: I haue power to lay it downe, and haue power to take it againe: this

19 ¶ Then there was a dissention againe among the Iewes for these sayings,

20 And many of them said, He hath a deuill, and is mad: why heare ye him?

21 Other said, These are not the words of him that hath a deuill: can the deuill open the eyes of the blind?

22 And it was at Hierusalem the feast of the Dedication, and it was winter.

23 ¶ And Iesus walked in the Temple, in Salomons porch.

24 Then came the Iewes round about him, and saide vnto him, How long doest thou make vs doubt? If thou be that Christ, tell vs plainly.

25 Iesus answered them, I told you, and ye beleue not: the works that I doe in my Fathers Name, they beare witness of me.

26 But ye beleue not: for ye are not of my sheepe, as I said vnto you.

27 My sheepe heare my voyce, and I know them, and they follow me,

28 And I giue vnto them eternall life, and they shall neuer perish, neither shall any plucke them out of mine hand.

29 My Father which gaue them me, is greater then all, and none is able to take them out of my Fathers hand.

30 I and my Father are one.

31 ¶ Then the Iewes againe tooke vp stones to stone him.

32 Iesus answered them, Many good works haue I shewed you from my Father: for which of these works doe ye stone me?

33 The Iewes answered him, saying, For the good worke we stone thee not, but for blasphemie, and that thou being a man, makest thy selfe God.

34 Iesus answered them, Is it not written in your Law, I said, Ye are gods?

35 If he called them gods, vnto whom the word of God was giuen, and the Scripture cannot be broken, 36 Say ye of him, whom the Father hath sanctified, and sent into the world, Thou blasphemest, because I said, I am the Sonne of God?

37 If I doe not the works of my Father, beleue me not.

38 But if I doe, then though ye beleue not me, yet beleue the works, that yee may know and beleue, that the Father is in me, and I in him.

39 ¶ Againe they went about to take him: but he escaped out of their hands, 40 And went againe beyond Iordan, into the place where Iohn first baptized, and there abode.

41 And many resorted vnto him, and said, Iohn did no miracle: but all things that Iohn spake of this man, were true.

42 And many beleued in him there.

6 The Gospel discovereth hypocrisie, & therefore the world must needs rage when it cometh forth.

6 The feast of the Dedication was instituted by Iudas Maccabeus, and his brethren, after the restoring of Gods true religion by the casting out of Antiochus his garrison, 1 Mac. 4. 59.

7 The rebellers and proud men accuse the Gospel of darkness, which darkened in deed is within themselves.

8 The doctrine of the Gospel is procured from heauen by two witnesses: both by the promise of the doctrine, and by miracles.

9 It is no maruile that there doe but a few beleue, seeing that all men are by nature vitiated with sinne.

10 God hath his, which he turneth into sheepe, and comitteth them vnto his Sonne, and preferreth them against the cruelty of all wilde beasts.

11 He gaue a reason why they beleue not, so wit, because they are none of his sheepe.

12 Chap. 8. 59.

13 Christ pro- ueth his dignity by diuine works.

14 Through my Fathers authority and power.

15 Psalm 82. 6.

16 I vnderstand of none of these.

17 Christ fleeth danger, not of mistrust, nor for feare of death, nor that hee would be idle, but to gather a Church in another place.

And a certain man was sick, named Lazarus of Bethania, the Towne of Mary, and her sister Martha.

And it was that Mary which annoynted the Lord with oymment, and wiped his feet with her haire, whose brother Lazarus was sicke, being now dead, and had bene four dayes.

Therefore his sister saide vnto him, saying, Lord, behold, he whom thou louest, is sicke.

When Iesus heard it, he said, This sicke-nesse is not vnto death, but for the glory of God, that the Sonne of God might be glorified thereby.

Now Iesus loued Martha and her sister, and Lazarus.

And after hee had heard that hee was sicke, yet abode he two dayes still in the same place where he was.

Then after that said he to his disciples,
 Let vs goe into Iudea againe.

The disciples sayd vnto him, Master, the Iewes lately sought to stone thee, and dost thou goe thither againe?

Iesus answered, Are there not seuen houres in the day? If a man walke in the day, he stumbleth not, because he seeth the light of this world.

But if a man walke in the night, he stumbleth, because there is no light in him.

These things spake he, and after, he said vnto them, Our friend Lazarus sleepeth: but I goe to wake him vp.

Then said his disciples, Lord, if he sleepe,
 he shall be safe.

Howbeit, Iesus spake of his death: but they thought that he had spoken of the naturall sleepe.

Then said Iesus vnto them plainly, Lazarus is dead.

And I am glad for your sakes, that I was not there, that ye may belecue: but let vs goe vnto him.

Then said Thomas (which is called Didymus) vnto his fellow disciples, Let vs also goe, that we may die with him.

Then came Iesus, and found that hee had lien in the graue foure dayes already.

(Now Bethania was neere vnto Hieru-salem, about fifteene furlongs off.)

And many of the Iewes were come to Martha and Mary to comfort them for their brother.

Then Martha, when she heard that Iesus was comming, went to meete him: but Marie saue still in the house.

thou hadst bene here, my brother had not bene dead.

But now I know also, that what soeuer thou wilt of God, God will giue it thee.

Iesus said vnto her, Thy brother shall rise againe.

Martha said vnto him, I know that hee shall rise againe in the resurrection at the last day.

Iesus said vnto her, I am the resurrection and the life: he that beleueth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he liue.

And who soeuer liueth, and beleueth in me, shall neuer die: beleuest thou this?

She said vnto him, Yea, Lord, I beleue that thou art that Christ that Some of God, which should come into the world.

And when she had so said, she went her way, and called Mary her sister secretly, saying, The Master is come, and calleth for thee.

And when she heard it, she arose quickly, and came vnto him.

For Iesus was not yet come into the town, but was in the place where Martha met him.

The Iewes then which were with her in the house, and comforted her, when they saw Mary, that she rose vp hastily, and went out, folowed her, saying, She goeth vnto the graue;
 to weepe there.

Then when Mary was come where Iesus was, and saw him, she fel downe at his feet, saying vnto him, Lord, if thou hadst bene here, my brother had not bene dead.

When Iesus therefore saw her weepe, and the Iewes also weepe which came with her, he groned in the spirit, and was troubled in himselfe.

And said, Where haue yee layed him?
 They said vnto him, Lord, come and see.

And Iesus wept.

Then said the Iewes, Behold, how he loued him.

And some of them said, Could not he, which opened the eyes of the blind, haue made also, that this man should not haue died?

Iesus therefore againe groned in himselfe, and came to the graue. And it was a caue, and a stone was laid vpon it.

Iesus said, Take ye away the stone. Martha the sister of him that was dead, sayd vnto him, Lord, he stinketh already: for he hath bin dead foure dayes.

Iesus said vnto her, Said not I vnto thee, that if thou diddest beleue, thou shouldest see the glory of God?

Then they tooke away the stone from the place where the dead was layed. And Iesus lift vp his eyes, and said, Father, I thanke thee, because thou hast heard me.

I know that thou hearest me alwaies, but because of the people that stand by, I sayd it, that they may beleue, that thou hast sent me.

6 The last point of hard & yron-like stubborn- n. is this, to proclaime open warre against God, and yet cease not to make a pretence both of godli- nesse, and of the profit of the comon wealth.

7 The Temples called the Temple of Synagoga, and the word that John useth, is Synagoga.

8 There is, take away from vs by force, for at that time, though the high Priest's au- thority was great- ly lessened and de- cayed, yet there was some kind of government left among the Jewes.

9 The raging and mad compa- nie of the false church perfwade themselves that they cannot be in laetie, unless he be taken a- way, who onely upholdeth the Church. And so likewise iudgeth the wisdom of the flesh in worldly affaires, which is gover- ned by the spirit of giddinesse or madnesse.

10 Chap. 18. 14. Christ doeth sometimes so- turne his tongues, even of the wil- ked, that even in cursing, they bleste.

11 For they were not gathered to- gether in one coun- try, as the Jewes were, but to be gathered from all quarters, from the East to the West.

12 We may give place to the rage of the wicked, when it is expe- dient so to doe, but yet in such sort, that wee swaue not from Gods vocation.

43 As he had spoken these things, he cryed with a loud voyce, Lazarus, come forth.

44 Then he that was dead, came forth; bound hand and foot with bands, and his face was bound with a napkin. Iesus said vnto them, Loose him, and let him goe.

45 ¶ Then many of the Jewes, which came to Mary, and had seen the things which Iesus did, beleued in him.

46 ¶ But some of them went their way to the Pharisees, and told them what things Iesus had done.

47 Then gathered the high Priests, and the Pharisees a council, and said, What shall we doe? For this man doeth many miracles.

48 If we let him thus alone, all men will be- leue in him; and the Romanes will come and take away both our place, and the nation.

49 ¶ Then one of them named Caiaphas, which was the high Priest that same yere, said vnto them, Ye perceiue nothing at all.

50 ¶ Nor yet doe you consider that it is ex- pedient for vs, that one man die for the people, and that the whole nation perish not.

51 ¶ It is spake he not of himselfe: but be- ing high Priest that same yere, he prophesied that Iesus should die for that nation.

52 And not for that nation onely; but that he should gather together in one the children of God, which were scattered.

53 Then from that day forth they consulted together to put him to death.

54 ¶ Iesus therefore walked no more openly among the Jewes; but went thence vnto a countrey neere to the wilderness, into a cite called Ephraim, and there continued with his disciples.

55 ¶ And the Jewes Pascheour was at hand, and many went out of the countrey vp to Hierusalem before the Pascheour, to purifie them- selues.

56 Then sought they for Iesus, and spake among themselves, as they stood in the Tem- ple, What thinke ye, that he cometh not to the feast?

57 Now both the high Priests and the Pha- rises had giuen a commandement, that if any man knew where he were, he should shew it, that they might take him.

CHAP. XII.

2 As Christ is at supper with Lazarus, 3 Mary anointeth his feet. 5 Iudas findeth fault with her. 7 Christ defendeth her. 10 The Priests would put Lazarus to death. 12 As Christ cometh to Hierusalem, 18 The people meete him. 20 The Grecians desire to see him. 42 The chiefe Rulers that beleue in him, but for feare doe not con- fesse him. 44 he exhorteth to faith.

¶ Then Iesus, sixe dayes before the Passe- tour, came to Bethania, where Lazarus was, who died, whom he had raised from the dead.

2 There they made him a supper, and Mar- tha serued: but Lazarus was one of them that sate at the table with him.

3 Then tooke Mary a pound of oyntment of Spikenard very costly, and anointed Iesus feet, and wiped his feet with her haire, and the house was filled with the sauour of the oynt- ment.

4 Then said one of his disciples, euen Iu- das Iscariot Simons sonne, which should betray him.

5 ¶ Why was not this oyntment sold for three hundred pence, and giuen to the poore?

6 ¶ Now he said this, not that he cared for the poore, but because he was a thiefe, and had the bag, and bare that which was giuen.

7 ¶ Then said Iesus, Let her alone: against the day of my burying she kept it.

8 For the poore alwayes ye haue with you: but me ye shall not haue alwayes.

9 ¶ Then much people of the Jewes knew that he was there: and they came, not for Iesus sake onely, but that they might see Lazarus also, whom he had raised from the dead.

10 The high Priests therefore consulted, that they might put Lazarus to death also.

11 ¶ Because that for his sake many of the Jewes went away, and beleued in Iesus.

12 ¶ On the morrow a great multitude that were come to the feast, when they heard that Iesus should come to Hierusalem, 13 Took branches of Palm trees, & went forth to meet him, and cried, Hosanna, Blessed is the King of Israel that cometh in the Name of the Lord.

14 And Iesus found a yong asse, and sate thereon, as it is written.

15 ¶ Feare not, daughter of Sion: behold, thy King cometh sitting on asses colt.

16 But his disciples vnderstood not these things at the first: but when Iesus was glori- fied, then remembered they, that these things were written of him, and that they had done these things vnto him.

17 The people therefore that was with him, bare witness that he called Lazarus out of the graue, and raised him from the dead.

18 Therefore met him the people also, because they sayd that hee had done this mi- racle.

19 ¶ And the Pharises said among them- selues, Perceiue ye how ye preuaile nothing? Behold, the world goeth after him.

20 ¶ Now there were certaine Grekes a- mong them that came to worship at the feast.

21 And they came to Philip, which was of Bethsaida in Galile, and desired him, saying, Sir, we would see that Iesus.

22 Philip came and told Andrew: and a- gaine Andrew and Philip told Iesus.

23 And Iesus answered them, saying, The houre is come, that the Sonne of man must be glorified.

24 ¶ Verely, verely I say vnto you, Ex- cept the wheat corne fall into the ground and die,

An horrible example in Iu- das of a minde blinded with couetousnesse, and yet pretending godlinesse.

Chap. 13. 29. This extraor- dinary annoynt- ing which was for a signe, is so allowed of God, that he witness- eth how he will not be worshiped with out- ward pompe, or cally seruice, but with almes.

When the light of the Gos- pel sheweth it- selfe, some are found to be curi- ous, and others (which least ought) to be ou- pen enemies: others in a rage honour him, whom they will straightway fall from: and very few doe reuer- endly receive him as they ought: nor vnderstand- ing Christ beginneth his spiri- tual kingdome in the midst of his enemies.

Matt. 21. 8. Marke 11. 8. Luke 19. 35. Zechar. 9. 9. Euen they which go about to oppresse Christ, are made instruments of his glory.

After the so- lemn call: the Grecians were first so called by the name of the country of Greece, where they dwelt: but afterward, all that were not of the Jewes religion, but worshipped false gods, and were also called Heathens, were called by this name.

The death of Christ is as it were a sowing, which seemeth to be a dying to the corne, but in deed is the cause of a farre greater harvest: and such as is the condition of the head, so shall it be of the members.

25 *He that loueth his life, shall lose it, and he that hateth his life in this world, shall keepe it vnto life eternall.

26 *If any man serue mee, let him follow me: for where I am, there shall also my seruant be: and if any man serue mee, him will my Father honour.

27 *Now is my soule troubled: and what shall I say? Father, saue me from this houre: but therefore came I vnto this houre.

28 Father, glorifie thy Name. Then came there a voyce from heauen, saying, I haue both glorified it, and will glorifie it againe.

29 Then said the people that stood by, and heard: that it was a thunder: other said, An Angel spake to him.

30 *Iesus answered, and said, This voyce comenot because of me, but for your sakes.

31 Now is the iudgement of this world: now shall the prince of this world be cast out.

32 *And, if I were lifted vp from the earth, will draw all men vnto me.

33 Now thus said he, signifying what death he should die.

34 The people answered him, Wee haue heard out of the Law, that that Christ bideth for euer: and how sayest thou, that that Sonne of man must be lifted vp? Who is that Sonne of man?

35 *Then Iesus said vnto them, Yet a little while is the light with you: walke while yee haue that light, lest the darkenesse come vpon you: for he that walketh in the darke, knoweth not whither he goeth.

36 While ye haue the light, beleue in that light, that ye may be the children of the light. These things spake Iesus, and departed, and hid himselfe from them.

37 *And though hee had done so many miracles before them, yet beleued they not on him,

38 That the saying of Esaias the Prophet might be fulfilled, that he said, *Lord, who beleued our report? and to whom is the arme of the Lord reueiled?

39 Therefore could they not beleue, because that Esaias saith againe, 40 *He hath blinded their eyes, and hardened their heart, that they should not see with their eyes, nor vnderstand with their heart, and should be conuerted, and I should heale them.

41 These things said Esaias when he saw his glory, and spake of him.

42 *Neuertheless, euen among the chiefe rulers, many beleued in him: but because of the Pharisees they did not confesse him, lest they should be cast out of the Synagogue.

43 *For they loued the praise of men, more then the praise of God.

44 *And Iesus cried, and said, He that beleueth in me, beleueth not in me, but in him that sent me.

45 And hee that seeth mee, seeth him that sent mee.

46 *I am come a light into the world, that whosoever beleueth in me, should not abide in darkenesse.

47 *And if any man heare my words, and beleuenot, I iudge him not: for I came not to iudge the world, but to saue the world.

48 He that refuseth me, and receiueh not my words, hath one that iudgeth him: the word that I haue spoken, it shall iudge him in the last day.

49 For I haue not spoken of my selfe: but the Father which hath sent me, he gaue mee a commandement what I should say, and what I should speake.

50 And I know that his commandement is life euerlasting: the things therefore that I speake, I speake them so as the Father said vnto mee.

CHAP. XIII.

4 Christ rising from Supper, 15 to commend humilitie to his Apostles, washeth their feet. 21 He noteth the traitour Iudas 26 with an euident token. 34 He commendeth charitie. 37 39 He foretelleth Peter of his deniall.

Now *before the feast of the Passouer, when Iesus knewe that his houre was come, that he should depart out of the world vnto the Father, forasmuch as hee loued his owne which were in the world, vnto the end he loued them.

2 And when supper was done (and that the deuill had now put in the heart of Iudas Iscariot, Simons sonne, to betray him)

3 Iesus knowing that the Father had giuen all things into his hands, and that hee was come forth from God, and went to God,

4 He riseth from supper, and layeth aside his upper garments, and tooke a towell, and girded himselfe.

5 After that, he powred water into a bason, and began to wash his disciples feete, and to wipe them with the towell, wherewith hee was girded.

6 Then came he to Simon Peter, who said to him, Lord, dost thou wash my feet?

7 Iesus answered and said vnto him, What I doe, thou knowest not now: but thou shalt know it hereafter.

8 Peter said vnto him, Thou shalt neuer wash my feet. Iesus answered him, If I wash thee not, thou shalt haue no part with me.

26 Iesus answered, He it is, to whom I shall giue a sop, when I haue dipt it: and he wet a soppe, and gaue it to Iudas Iſcariot, Simons sonne.

27 And after the soppe, Satan entred into him. Then said Iesus vnto him, That thou doest, doe quickly.

28 But none of them that were at table, knew, for what cause he spake it vnto him.

29 For some of them thought because Iudas had the bagge, that Iesus had said vnto him, Buy those things that we haue neede of against the feast: or that he should giue some thing to the poore.

30 As soone then as he had receiued the sop, he went immediatly out, and it was night.

31 ¶ When hee was gone out, Iesus said, Now is the sonne of man glorified, and God is glorified in him.

32 If God be glorified in him, God shall also glorifie him in himselfe, and shall straightway glorifie him.

33 Little children, yet a little while am I with you: ye shall seeke mee, but as I said vnto the Iewes, Whither I goe, can ye not come: also to you say I now, 34 A new commandment giue I vnto you, that ye loue one another: as I haue loued you, that ye also loue one another.

35 By this shall all men know that yee are my disciples, if ye haue loue one to another.

36 Simon Peter said vnto him, Lord, whither goest thou? Iesus answered him, Whither I goe, thou canst not follow me now: but thou shalt follow me hereafter.

37 Peter said vnto him, Lord, why can I not follow thee now? * I will lay downe my life for thy sake.

38 Iesus answered him, Wilt thou lay downe thy life for my sake? Verely, verely I say vnto thee, The Cocke shall not crowe, till thou haue denied me thrise.

CHAP. XIII

1 He comforteth his disciples, 2. 7 declaring his diuinitie and the fruit of his death, 16 promising the comforter, 17 euen the holy Spirit, 26 whose office he setteth out, 27 He promiseth peace.

Let not your heart be troubled: ye beleue in God, beleue also in me.

2 In my Fathers house are many dwelling places: if it were not so, * I would haue tolde you: I goe to prepare a place for you.

3 And if I goe to prepare a place for you, I will come againe, and receiue you vnto my selfe, that where I am, there may ye be also.

4 And whither I goe, yee know, and the way ye know.

5 Thomas said vnto him, Lord, we know not whither thou goest: how can wee then know the way?

6 Iesus said vnto him, I am that way, and that truieth, and that life. No man cometh vnto the Father, but by me.

7 If ye had known mee, ye should haue known my Father also: and from henceforth ye know him, and haue seene him.

8 Philip said vnto him, Lord, shew vs thy Father, and it sufficeth vs.

9 Iesus said vnto him, I haue bene so long time with you, and hast thou not known me? Philip, he that hath seene mee, hath seene my Father: how then sayest thou, Shewe vs thy Father?

hee might at length take vs vp with him into heauen. e The Iewes were to be referred to the whole Church, and therefore the Angels said to the disciples when they were ascribed, What stand you gazing up into heauen? This Iesus shall so come as you see him go up, and in all places of the Scripture, the full comfort of the Church is referred to that day when God shall be all in all, and is therefore called the day of redemption. f Christ is the way to true and euermlasting life, for hee it is in whom the Father hath reuealed himselfe. g This saying sheweth vnto vs both the nature, the will and office of Christ before, that no man saw God at any time, that it is to be understood thus, without his face it is not through Christ, no man could ever see, nor see God at any time, for as Christ is the Sonne, the Sonne is a very short and easie setting forth of the Fathers nature to vs.

11 For he knew who should betray him: therefore said he, Ye are not all cleane. 12 So after he had washed their feet, and had taken his garments, and was set downe againe, he said to them, Know yee what I haue done to you? 13 Ye call me Master, and Lord, and ye say well: for so am I. 14 If I then your Lord, and Master, haue washed your feete, ye ought also to wash one anothers feete. 15 For I haue giuen you an example, that ye should doe, euen as I haue done to you. 16 Verely, verely I say vnto you, * The seruant is not greater then his master, neither the lymbelasse greater then he that sent him. 17 If ye know these things, blessed are ye, if ye doe them. 18 ¶ I speake not of you all: I know whom I haue chosen: but it is that the Scripture might be fulfilled, * He that eateth bread with mee, hath lift vp his heele against me. 19 From henceforth tell I you before it come, that when it is come to passe, ye might beleue that I am hee. 20 * Verely, verely I say vnto you, If I send any, he that receiueth him, receiuech me, and he that receiuech me, receiuech him that sent me. 21 When Iesus had said these things, hee was troubled in the Spirit, and * testified, and said, Verely, verely I say vnto you, that one of you shall betray me. 22 Then the disciples looked one on another, doubting of whom he spake. 23 Now there was one of his disciples, which leaned on Iesus bosome, whom Iesus loued. 24 To him beckened therefore Simon Peter, that he should aske who it was of whom he spake. 25 He then, as he leaned on Iesus breast, said vnto him, Lord, who is it? 26 Iesus answered, He it is, to whom I shall giue a sop, when I haue dipt it: and he wet a soppe, and gaue it to Iudas Iſcariot, Simons sonne. 27 And after the soppe, Satan entred into him. Then said Iesus vnto him, That thou doest, doe quickly. 28 But none of them that were at table, knew, for what cause he spake it vnto him. 29 For some of them thought because Iudas had the bagge, that Iesus had said vnto him, Buy those things that we haue neede of against the feast: or that he should giue some thing to the poore. 30 As soone then as he had receiued the sop, he went immediatly out, and it was night. 31 ¶ When hee was gone out, Iesus said, Now is the sonne of man glorified, and God is glorified in him.

3 We haue to consider the glorifying of Christ in his ignominy. g This verse and the next following, are a most plaine and euident testimonie of the diuinitie of Christ.

4 The maiestic of God dwelleth in selfe, most euidently, both in Christ doctrine and deeds.

5 The appropriation of the ve-rue of Christ is not included within his owne person, but it is spread thorow
the body of his whole Church.

6 Thus, not only doth hee, but I can also give others what power is due to him.

7 1. Cor. 12. 23
11. 24. 25. 26. 27.
6 He looeth Christ aright which obeyeth his commandements: and because the same is accompanied with an infinite force of mercies, although he be absent in body, yet doth hee comfort his with the present ve-rue of the holy Ghost, whom the world despiseth, because he knoweth him not.

8 The holy Ghost is called the sp-rit of truth, of the which he willeth, because he knoweth his truth into vs, whereas other wise hee hath traced in himselfe worldly men.

9 The Ioyne is in the Father after his first, that hee is one of one selfesame substance with the Father, but he is in his deities in a certain respect as an aid and helper of them.

10 I will shew
my selfe to him, and he knoweth of him
as if he saw me with his eyes: but this shewing of himselfe is not bodily, but spirital yet so plaine as we can be more.

11 We must not ask why the Gospel is reueiled to some rather than to other, but we must rather take heed that we embrace Christ who is offered vnto vs, and that we truly loue him, that is to say, that we giue our selues wholly to his obedience.

12 It is the office of the holy Ghost to imprint in the mindes of the elect, in their times and seasons that which Christ once spake * Chap. 15. 26. 9 All true felicitie commeth vs by Christ alone. 10 So farre is it that we should be for the departing of Christ from vs according to the flesh, that we should rather reioyce for it, seeing that al the blessing of the members dependeth vpon the glorifying of the head.

13 Christ went away from to the end for sake vs, rather than to be resurrected, that we might be referred to his obedience.

14 Christ hath re-

obedience.

10 Beleeuest thou not, that I am in the Father, and the Father is in me? The wordes that I speake vnto you, I speake not of my selfe:
but the Father that dwelleth in me, hee doeth
the workes.

11 Beleeue me, that I am in the Father, and the Father is in me: at the least, beleeue me for the very workes sake.

12 Verely, verely I say vnto you, Hee that beleeueth in me, the workes that I doe, hee shal doe also, and greater then these shal hee doe:
for I goe vnto my Father.

13 And whatsoeuer ye aske in my Name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in th: Sonne.

14 If yee shall aske any thing in my Name,
I will doe it.

15 If ye loue me, keepe my commandements.

16 And I will pray the Father, and hee shal giue you another comforter, that he may abide with you for euer.

17 Euen the Spirit of truth, whome the world cannot receiue, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him: but ye know him, for he dwelleth with you, and shal be in you.

18 I will not leaue you fatherlesse: but I will come to you.

19 Yet a little while, and the world shal see me no more, but ye shal see me: because I liue, ye shal liue also.

20 At that day shall ye know that I am in my Father and you in me, and I in you.

21 He that hath my commandements, and keepe them, is hee that loueth me: and hee that loueth me, shall be loued of my Father:
and I will loue him, and wil shew mine owne selfe to him.

22 Judas said vnto him (not Iscariot) Lord, what is the cause that thou wilt shewe thy selfe vnto ys, and not vnto the world?

23 Iesus answered, and sayd vnto him, If any man loue me, he will keepe my word, and my Father will loue him, and we will come vnto him, and will dwell with him:

24 He that loueth me not, keepeth not my wordes, and the word which ye heare, is not mine, but the Fathers which sent me.

25 These things haue I spoken vnto you,
being present with you.

26 But the comforter, which is the holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my name he shal teach you all things, & bring all things to your remembrance, which I haue told you.

27 Peace I leaue with you: my peace I giue vnto you: not as the world giueth, giue
I vnto you. Let not your hearts be troubled nor feare.

28 Yee haue heard how I sayd vnto you, that I goe away, and will come vnto you. If ye loued me, ye would verely reioice, because I said,
I goe vnto the Father: for the Father is greater then I.

29 And now haue I spoken vnto you, before it come, that when it is come to passe, yee might beleeue.

30 Hereafter wil I not speake many things
vnto you: for the prince of this world com-
meth, and hath nought in me.

31 But it is that the world may know that I loue my Father: and as the Father hath commanded me, so I doe. Arise, let vs goe hence.

And by soe upon me with all the might he can, but he hath no power ouer me, neither shall he
find any such thing in me as he thinketh he shall.

I goe away, and will come vnto you. If ye
loued me, ye would verely reioice, because I said,
I goe vnto the Father: for the Father is greater
then I.

29 And now haue I spoken vnto you, before it come, that when it is come to passe, yee
might beleeue.

30 Hereafter wil I not speake many things
vnto you: for the prince of this world com-
meth, and hath nought in me.

31 But it is that the world may know that I loue my Father: and as the Father hath commanded me, so I doe. Arise, let vs goe hence.

And by soe upon me with all the might he can, but he hath no power ouer
me, neither shall he
find any such thing in me as he thinketh he shall.

CHAP. XV.

1 By the parable of the vine, 2 and the branches, 5. 6 he declareth how the disciples may beare fruit. 12. 17. He commandeth them to all loue. 18 He exhorteth them to beare afflictions patiently, 20 by his owne example.

I Am that true Vine, and my Father is that husbandman.

2 Euery branch that beareth not fruit in me, he taketh away: and euery one that beareth fruit, he purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruit.

3 Now are ye cleane through the word, which I haue spoken vnto you.

4 Abide in me, and I in you: as the branch cannot beare fruit of it selfe, except it abide in the vine, no more can ye, except ye abide in mee.

5 I am the vine: ye are the branches: hee that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me can ye doe nothing.

6 If a man abide not in mee, hee is cast forth as a branch, and withereth: and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they burne.

7 If ye abide in mee, and my words abide in you, aske what yee will, and it shall bee done to you.

8 Herein is my Father glorified, that ye beare much fruit, and be made my disciples.

9 As the father hath loued me, so haue I loued you: continue in that my loue.

10 If ye shall keepe my commandements, ye shall abide in my loue, as I haue kept my Fathers commandements, and abide in his loue.

11 These things haue I spoken vnto you, that my ioy might remaine in you, and that your ioy might be full.

12 This is my commandement, that yee loue one another, as I haue loued you.

13 Greater loue then this hath no man, when any man bestoweth his life for his friends.

14 Ye are my friends, if ye doe whatsoeuer
I command you.

thing more sweete and pleasant then it is. Now this loue sheweth itselfe by the effects: a most perfect example whereof. Christ himselfe exhibieth vnto vs. 6 That in that that he is Mediator, for so the Father is greater then he, in as much as the person to whom request is made, is greater then he request.

to death not vnwillingly, but willingly, not as yielding to the deuil, but obeying his Fathers decree.

me, neither shall he

13 We are of na-

4 The doctrine of the Gospel (as it is vnder by Christes owne mouth) is a most perfect and absolute declaration of the counsell of God, which pertaineth to our saluation and is committed vnto the Apostles. 5 Christ is the author and professor of the ministerie of the Gospel euen to the worlds ende, but the ministers haue about all things neede of prayer and brotherly loue. 6 This place teacheth vs plainly, that our saluation cometh from the onely fauour and gracious goodnes of the ourlesing God toward vs and of nothing that we doe or can deserue.

* Chap. 18. 18. 6 It ought not onely not to feare, but rather confirme the faithfull ministers of Christ, when they shall be hated of the world as their Master was.

* Chap. 13. 36. 7 The hatred that the world beareth against Christ, proceedeth of the blockishnesse of the mind, which notwithstanding is voluntarie blind, so that the world can pretend no excuse to colour their fault.

* Chap. 16. 4. d As who would say, If I had not come these men would not haue stucke to haue vs still before Gods iudgement, seeing that they are religious & void of sinfulness.

1 The ministers of the Gospel must look for all manner of reproches, not onely of them which are open enemies, but euen of them also which seeme to be of the same household, and the very pillars of the Church, * Chap. 15. 21

15 Henceforth call I you not seruants: for the seruant knoweth not what his master doeth: but I haue called you friends: for all things that I haue heard of my Father, haue I made knowne to you:

16 Yee haue not chosen me, but I haue chosen you, and ordeined you, * that yee goe and bring forth fruite, and that your fruite remaine, that whatsoever ye shal aske of the Father in my Name, he may giue it you.

17 These things command I you, that yee loue one another.

18 If the world hate you, yee know that it hated me before you.

19 If ye were of the world, the world would loue his owne: but because ye are not of the world, but I haue chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you.

20 Remember the worde that I sayd vnto you, * The seruant is not greater then his master, * If they haue persecuted me, they will persecute you also: if they haue kept my word, they will also keepe yours.

21 But * all these things will they doe vnto you for my Names sake, because they haue not knowne him that sent me.

22 If I had not come and spoken vnto them, they should not haue had sinne: but now haue they no cloke for their sinne.

23 Hee that hateth me, hateth my Father also.

24 If I had not done workes among them which none other man did, they had not had sinne: but now haue they both seene, and haue hated both me and my Father.

25 But it is that the word might be fulfilled, that is written in their Law, * They hated me without a cause.

26 But when the Comforter shall come, * whom I will send vnto you from the Father, euen the Spirit of trueth, which proceedeth of the Father, he shall testifie of me.

27 And yee shal witnesse also, because yee haue bene with me from the beginning.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Hee foretelleth the disciples of persecution, 7 Hee promisseth the Comforter, and declareth his office. 21 Hee compareth the affliction of his, to a woman that trauaileth with child.

These things haue I sayd vnto you, that ye should not be offended.

2 They shall excommunicate you: yea, the time shall come, that whosoever killeth you, will thinke that he doeth Gods seruice.

3 And these things will they doe vnto you, because they haue not knowen the Father, nor me.

4 * But these things haue I tolde you, that when the houre shall come, yee might remember that I told you them, And these things said I not vnto you from the beginning, because I was with you.

5 But now I goe my way to him that sent me, and none of you asketh me, * Whither goest thou?

6 But because I haue said these things vnto you, your hearts are full of sorow.

7 Yet I tell you the trueth, * It is expedient for you that I goe away: for if I goe not away, the Comforter will not come vnto you: but if I depart, I will sende him vnto you.

8 And when he is come, he will reprove the world of sinne, and of righteousness, and of iudgement.

9 Of sinne, because they beleued not in me.

10 Of righteousness, because I goe to my Father, and ye shall see me no more.

11 Of iudgement, because the prince of this world is iudged.

12 I haue yet many things to say vnto you, but ye cannot beare them now.

13 Howbeit, when he is come which is the Spirit of trueth, he will lead you into all trueth: for he shall not speake of himselfe, but whatsoever he shall heare, shall he speake, and he will shew you the things to come.

14 He shall glorifie mee: for he shall receiue of mine, and shall shew it vnto you.

15 All things that the Father hath, are mine: therefore said I, that hee shall take of mine, and shew it vnto you.

16 A little while, and ye shall not see me: and againe a little while, and ye shall see mee: for I goe to the Father.

17 Then said some of his disciples among themselves, What is this that he saith vnto vs, A little while, and ye shall not see mee, and againe, a little while, and ye shall see mee, and, For I goe to the Father.

18 They said therefore, What is this that he saith, A little while? we know not what he saith.

19 Now Iesus knewe that they would aske him, and said vnto them, Doe yee enquire among your selues, of that I said, A little while, and yee shall not see mee: and againe, a little while, and yee shall see mee?

20 Verely, verely I say vnto you, that yee shall weepe and lament, and the world shall reioyce: and yee shall sorrow, but your sorrow shall be turned to ioy.

21 A woman when shee trauaileth hath power, whereby you may destroy every high thing which is lifted up against the knowledge of God. 2. Corin. 10. 12. 4 The doctrine of the Apostles proceeded from the holy Ghost, and is most perfecte. 5 The holy Ghost bringeth no new doctrine, but teacheth that which was vndered by Christes owne mouth, and imprinteth it in our mindes. 6 The grace of the holy Ghost is a most liuely glasse, wherein Christ is truly beholden with the most sharpe sighted eyes of faith, and not with the beclouded eyes of the flesh: whereby wee feele a continuall ioy euen in the midst of sorowes. 7 When a little time is once past. 8 For I passe to eternall glory, so that I shall be much more perfect with you then I was before: for then you shall see in deede what I am, and what I am able to doe.

2 The absence of Christ according to the flesh, is profitable to the Church, that we may wholly depend vpon his spirituall power.

3 The Spirit of God worketh mightily by the preaching of the word, that he constraineth the world, will it, or no, till it can confesse it owne righteousnesse, and Christes righteousness, and almightinesse.

4 He will reprove the world, that the world may be able to stand as a candle.

5 He reprobeth the sinne that he loved vs againe.

6 Iesus, when he is gone, is all gainefayers, were manifestly reprobated through the pouring out of the holy Ghost vpon the Church.

7 So that the very enemies of Christ were reprobated of sinne, in that they were constrained to confesse that they were deuiant, in that they beloued not, and therefore they said to Peter, Alas, we men and brethren, what shall we doe?

8 Of Christ himselfe: for when the world shall see, that I haue passed out the holy Ghost, they shall be constrained to confesse that I was iust, and was not condemned of my Father, when I went out of this world.

9 Of that auerrie and power which I haue both in heauen and earth.

10 That is, because they shall then vnderstand, and know in deede that I haue overcome the deuil and dee gouern the world, when all men shall see that they see themselves against you in vaine, for I will arme you with that heavenly power, whereby you may destroy every high thing which is lifted up against the knowledge of God.

11 The doctrine of the Apostles proceeded from the holy Ghost, and is most perfecte. 12 The holy Ghost bringeth no new doctrine, but teacheth that which was vndered by Christes owne mouth, and imprinteth it in our mindes. 13 The grace of the holy Ghost is a most liuely glasse, wherein Christ is truly beholden with the most sharpe sighted eyes of faith, and not with the beclouded eyes of the flesh: whereby wee feele a continuall ioy euen in the midst of sorowes. 14 When a little time is once past. 15 For I passe to eternall glory, so that I shall be much more perfect with you then I was before: for then you shall see in deede what I am, and what I am able to doe.

sorrow, because her houre is come: but as soon as she is delivered of the childe, shee remembreth no more the anguish, for ioi that a man is borne into the world.

22 And yee now therefore are in sorrow: but I will see you againe, and your hearts shall reioyce, and your ioi shall no man take from you.

23 And in that day shall yee aske me nothing. Verely, verely I say vnto you, Whatsoeuer ye shall aske the Father in my Name, he will giue it you.

24 Hitherto haue yee asked nothing in my Name: aske and ye shall receiue, that your ioi may be full.

25 These things haue I spoken vnto you in parables: but the time will come, when I shall no more speake to you in parables: but I shall shew you plainly of the Father.

26 At that day shall ye aske in my Name, and I say vnto you, that I will pray vnto the Father for you.

27 For the Father himselfe loueth you, because yee haue loued me, and haue beleued that I came out from God.

28 I am come out from the Father, & came into the world: againe I leaue the world, and goe to the Father.

29 His disciples said vnto him, Loe now speakest thou plainly, and thou speakest no parable.

30 Now know weeth that thou knowest all things, and needest not that any man should aske thee. By this wee beleue that thou art come out from God.

31 Iesus answered them, Doe you beleue now?

32 Behold, the houre commeth, and is alreadie come, that yee shall be scattered euerie man into his owne, and shall leaue me alone: but I am not alone: for the Father is with me.

33 These things haue I spoken vnto you, that in me yee might haue peace: in the world yee shall haue affliction, but be of good comfort: I haue ouercome the world.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Christ prayeth that his glory together with his Fathers may be made manifest. 9 The prayeth for his Apostles. 20 And for all beleuers.

These things spake Iesus, and lift vp his eyes to heauen, and said, Father, that thy houre is come: glorifie, thy Sonne, that thy Sonne may also glorifie thee,

2 As thou hast giuen him power ouer all flesh, that he should giue eternall life to all them that thou hast giuen him.

3 And this is life eternall, that they know thee to be the only very God, and whom thou hast sent, Iesus Christ.

4 I haue glorified thee on the earth: I haue finished the worke which thou gauest me to doe.

5 And now glorifie me, thou Father, with thine owne selfe, with the glory which I had with thee before the world was.

6 I haue declared thy Name vnto them, which thou gauest me out of the world: and they were, and thou gauest them me, and they haue kept thy words.

7 Now they know that all things whatsoeuer thou hast gaue me, are of thee.

8 For I haue giuen vnto them the words which thou gauest me, and they haue receiued them, and haue knowne surely that I came out from thee, and haue beleued that thou hast sent me.

9 I pray for them: I pray not for the world, but for them which thou hast giuen me: for they are thine.

10 And all mine are thine, and thine are mine, and I am glorified in them.

11 And now I am no more in the world, but these are in the world, and I come to thee. Holy Father, keepe them in thy Name, which thou hast giuen mee, that they may be one as we are.

12 While I was with them in the world, I kept them in thy Name: those that thou gauest me, haue I kept, and none of them is lost, but the child of perdition, that the Scripture might be fulfilled.

13 And now come I to thee, and these things speake I in the world, that they might haue my ioi fulfilled in themselves.

14 I haue giuen them thy word, and the world hath hated them, because they are not of the world, as I am not of the world.

15 I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the world, but that thou keepest them from euill.

16 They are not of the world, as I am not of the world.

17 Sanctifie them with thy truth: thy word is truth.

18 As thou diddest send me into the world, so haue I sent them into the world.

19 And for their sakes sanctifie I my selfe, that they also may be sanctified through the truth.

20 I pray not for these alone, but for them

He calleth the Father the only very God, to set him against all false gods, and not to shut out himselfe and the holy Ghost, for straightwaies he sayeth the knowledge of the Father and the knowledge of himselfe together, and according to his accustomed manner setteth forth the whole Godhead in the person of the Father: So as the Father alone said to be King, commander, wise, and dwelling in light, which no man can see, and which no man can understand, Rom. 1. 23. First of all he prayeth for those his disciples by whom he would haue the rest to be gathered together, and commendeth them vnto the Father, (hauing once received the whole company of the reprobate) because he receiued them of him, in to his custodie, and for that they embracing his doctrine, shall haue so many enemies, that there is no way for them to be saved, but by his helpe onely. He sheweth how they may lastingly election and chose, which was hidden in the good will and pleasure of God, which is the groundwork of our saluation. He sheweth how that euelllasting and hidden purpose of God is declared in Christ, by whom we are sanctified and sanctified, if we lay hold on him by faith, that although we may come to the glory of the election. Chap. 16. 27. He prayeth that his people may peaceably agree and be ioyned together in one, that as the God head is one, so they may be of one minde and one consent together. Psal. 133. 1. He sheweth what manner of deliuerance hee meaneth, not that they should be in no danger, but that they being preferred from all might procure by experience that the doctrine of saluation is true, which they receiued at his mouth to deliuer to others. That is, make them holy: and that is said to be holy, which is dedicated and made proper to God onely. He addeth moreover, that the Apostles haue a vocation common with him, and therefore that they must be holden vp by the selfe same vertue to giue vp themselves wholly to God, whereby hee being first, did consecrate himselfe to the Father. The true and substantiall sanctification of Christ, is set against the outward purifying. Secondly, hee offereth to God the Father all his, that is, how many soeuer shall beleue in him by the doctrine of the Apostles: that as hee cleaueth vnto the Father, receiving from him all fulnesse, so they being ioyned with him, may receiue life from him, and at length being together beloued in him, may also with him enjoy euelllasting glory.

also which shall beleue in me, through their word.

11. That they all may be one, as thou I O Father, and I in thee: Now that they may be also in vs, that the world may beleue that thou hast sent me.

12. And the glory that thou gavest me, I haue giuen them, that they may be one, as wee are one.

13. All in them, and thou in me, that they may be made perfect in one, and that the world may know that thou hast sent me, and hast loved them, as thou hast loved me, and wilt love them.

14. Father, I will that they which thou hast giuen mee, be with me, when I am with thee, that they may behold the glory which thou hast giuen mee: for thou lovedst me before the foundation of the world.

15. O righteous Father, the world also hath not known thee, but I haue known thee, and these haue known thee, that thou hast sent me.

16. And I haue declared vnto them thy Name, and will declare it, that the love which thou hast loved me, may begin in them, and I in them, and thou in me, I will be in them.

Chapter XVIII.

1. By Christ's power, whom Iudas betrayed, & the soldiers who came to the ground, & Christ was led to Caiaphas, and from him to Caiaphas, & being delivered to Pilate, he declared his kingdom.

2. When Iesus had spoken these things, he went forth with his disciples vnder the brooke Cedron, where was a garden, into the which he entered, and his disciples.

3. And Iudas which betrayed him, knew also the place: for Iesus oft times resorted thither with his disciples.

4. And Iudas then, after hee had receiued a band of men and officers of the high Priests, and of the Pharisees, came thither with lanterns and torches, and weapons.

5. Then Iesus, knowing all things that should come vnto him, went forth and said vnto them, Whome seeke yee?

6. They answered him, Iesus of Nazareth. Iesus said vnto them, I am hee. Now Iudas also which betrayed him, stood with them.

7. As soone then as he had said vnto them, I am hee, they went away backwards, and fell to the ground.

8. Then hee asked them againe, Whome seeke yee? And they said, Iesus of Nazareth.

9. Iesus answered, I said vnto you, that I am hee: therefore if ye seeke me, let these goe their way.

10. Thus was that the word might be fulfilled which he spake, Of them which thou gavest me haue I lost none.

11. Then Simon Peter hauing a sword, drew it, and smote the high Priests seruant, and cut off his right eare. Now the seruants name was Malchus.

12. Then said Iesus vnto Peter, Put up thy sword into the sheath: shall I not drinke of the cup which my Father hath giuen me?

13. Then the band and the captaine, and the officers of the Iewes, tooke Iesus and bound him.

14. And led him away to Annas first (for he was father in law to Caiaphas, which was the high Priest that same yeere).

15. And Caiaphas was he, that gave counsell to the Iewes, that it was expedient that one man should die for the people.

16. Now Simon Peter followed Iesus, and another disciple, and that disciple was known of the high Priest: therefore he went in with Iesus into the hall of the high Priest.

17. But Peter stood at the doore without. Then went out the other disciple which was known vnto the high Priest, and spake to her that kept the doore, and brought in Peter.

18. Then said the maid that kept the doore, vnto Peter, Art not thou also one of this mans disciples? He said, I am not.

19. And the seruants and officers stood there, which had made a fire of coales: for it was cold, and they warmed themselves. And Peter also stood among them, and warmed himselfe.

20. The high Priest then asked Iesus of his disciples, and of his doctrine.

21. Iesus answered him, I spake openly to the world: I neuer taught in the Synagogue and in the Temple, whither the Iewes resort continually, and in secret haue I said nothing.

22. Why askest thou me? Aske them which heard me what I said vnto them: behold, they know what I said.

23. When he had spoken these things, one of the officers which stood by, smote Iesus with his rod, saying, Answerest thou the high Priest so?

24. Iesus answered him, If I haue euill spoken, beare witness of the euill: but if I haue well spoken, why smitest thou me?

25. Nowe Annas had sent him bound vnto Caiaphas the high Priest.

26. And Simon Peter stood and warmed himselfe, and they said vnto him, Art not thou also of his disciples? Hee denied it, and said, I am not.

27. One of the seruants of the high Priest, his cousin whose eare Peter smote off, said, Did not I see thee in the garden with him?

28. Peter then denied againe, and immediately the cocke crew.

29. Then led they Iesus from Caiaphas into the common hall. Now it was morning, and they themselves went not into the common hall, lest they should be defiled, but that they might eate the Pasche.

30. Pilate then went out vnto them, & said, What accusation bring ye against this man?

31. They answered, and said vnto him, If he

7 He commeth catch with his by little and little, the knowledge of the Father, which is most in the Father, and the Father, that they may in him be glorified, of the Father, with the Father, came Iesus, with his disciples, and the Father, and the Son.

hee were not an euill doer, we would not haue deliuered him vnto thee.

31. Then said Pilate vnto them, Take yee him, and iudge him after your owne Lawe. Then the Iewes said vnto him, ^b It is not lawfull for vs to put any man to death.

32. ^a It was that the word of Iesus * might be fulfilled which he spake, ^c signifying what death he should die.

33. * So Pilate entred into the common hall againe, and called Iesus, and said vnto him, Art thou the King of the Iewes?

34. Iesus answered him, Sayest thou that of thy selfe, or did other tell it thee of me?

35. Pilate answered, Am I a Iewe? Thine owne nation, and the hie Priests haue deliuered thee vnto me. What hast thou done?

36. Iesus answered, my kingdome is not of this world: if my kingdome were of this world, my seruants would surely fight, that I should not be deliuered to the Iewes: but now is my kingdome not from hence.

37. Pilate then said vnto him, Art thou a King then? Iesus answered, Thou sayest that I am a King: for this cause am I borne, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should beare witnesse vnto the trueth: euery one that is of the trueth heareth my voice.

38. ^a Pilate said vnto him, ^d What is trueth? And when he had said that, he went out againe vnto the Iewes, and said vnto them, I finde in him no cause at all.

39. * But you haue a custome, that I should deliuer you one loofe at the Passeouer: will ye then that I loofe vnto you the King of the Iewes?

40. * Then ^e cryed they all againe, saying, Not him, but Barabbas: now this Barabbas was a murtherer.

CHAP. XIX.

¹ Pilate when Christ was scourged, ² and crowned with thorne, ⁴ was desirous to let him loofe. ⁸ but being overcome with the outrage of the Iewes, ¹⁶ hee deliuereth him to be crucified. ²⁶ Iesus committeth his mother to the disciple. ³⁰ Hauing tasted vineger, hee dyeth. ³⁴ And being dead, his side is pearced with a speare. ⁴⁰ He is buried.

Then * Pilate tooke Iesus and ^f scourged him.

2 And the souldiers platted a crowne of thornes, and put it on his head, and they put on him a purple garment.

3 And said, Haile King of the Iewes. And they smote him with ^g their rodde.

4 * Then Pilate went forth againe, and said vnto them, Behold, I bring him forth to you, that ye may know, that I finde no fault in him at all.

5 Then came Iesus forth wearing a crowne of thornes, and a purple garment. And Pilate said vnto them, Behold the man.

6 Then when the hie Priests and officers saw him, they cryed, saying, ^h Crucifie, crucifie him. Pilate said vnto them, Take ye him and crucifie him: for I finde no fault in him.

7 The Iewes answered him, We haue a law, and by our law he ought to die, because he made himselfe the Sonne of God.

8 ¶ When Pilate then heard that word, he was the more afraid,

9 And went againe into the common hall, and said vnto Iesus, Whence art thou? But Iesus gaue him none answer.

10 Then said Pilate vnto him, Speakest thou not vnto mee? Knowest thou not that I haue power to crucifie thee, and haue power to loofe thee?

11 Iesus answered, Thou couldest haue no power at all against mee, except it were giuen thee from aboue: therefore he that deliuered me vnto thee, hath the greater sinne.

12 From thencefoorth Pilate sought to loofe him, but the Iewes cried, saying, If thou deliuer him, thou art not Cæsars friend: for whosoever maketh himselfe a King, speaketh against Cæsar.

13 ¶ When Pilate heard this word, hee brought Iesus forth, and fate downe in the iudgement seate, in a place called, The Paucement and in Hebrew, ⁱ Gabbatha.

14 And it was the preparation of the Passeouer, and about the sixt houre: and he said vnto the Iewes, Behold your King:

15 But they cried, Away with him, away with him, crucifie him. Pilate said vnto them, Shall I crucifie your King? The high Priests answered, We haue no King but Cæsar.

16 ^j Then deliuered he him vnto them, to be crucified. And they tooke Iesus, and led him away.

17 * And he bare his owne crosse, and came into a place named of dead mens skulles, which is called in Hebrew, Golgotha:

18 Where they crucified him, and two other with him, on either side one, and Iesus in the middes.

19 ¶ And Pilate wrote also a title, and put it on the Crosse, and it was written, IESVS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE IEVVES.

20 This title then read many of the Iewes: for the place where Iesus was crucified, was neere to the citie: and it was written in Hebrew Greeke and Latine.

21 Then said the high Priests of the Iewes to Pilate, Write not, The king of the Iewes, but that he said, I am king of the Iewes.

22 Pilate answered, What I haue written, I haue written.

23 ¶ Then the * souldiers, when they had crucified Iesus, tooke his garments (and made foure parts, to euery souldier a part) and his coate: and the coate was without seame wouen from the top throughout.

24 Therefore they sayd one to another, Let vs not diuide it, but cast lots for it, whose it shall be. This was that the Scripture might be fulfilled, ³ Pilates conscience fighteth for Christ, but straightway it yeeldeth, because it is not vpholden with the singular vertue of God.

fulfilled, which sayth; * They parted my garments among them, and on my coate did cast lots. So the souldiers did these things indeed.

25 ¶ Then stood by the crosse of Iesus his mother, and his mothers sister, Mary the wife of Cleopas, and Mary Magdalene.

26 And when Iesus sawe his mother, and the disciple standing by, whom hee loued, hee said vnto his mother, Woman, behold thy sonne.

27 She said he to the disciple; Behold thy mother; & from that houre the disciple tooke her home vnto him.

28 ¶ After, when Iesus knew that all things were performed, that the Scripture might be fulfilled, he said, I thirst.

29 And there was set a vessell full of vine-ger: and they filled a sponge with vinegar, and put it about an Hylope stalk, and put it to his mouth.

30 Now when Iesus had receiued of the vineger, hee said, It is finished, and bowed his head, and gaue vp the ghost.

31 ¶ The Iewes then (because it was the Preparation, that the bodies should not re-maine vpon the crosse on the Sabbath day: for that Sabbath was an high day) besought Pilate that their legges might bee broken, and that they might be taken downe.

32 Then came the souldiers and brake the legges of the first, and of the other which was crucified with Iesus.

33 But when they came to Iesus, and sawe that he was dead already, they brake not his legges.

34 ¶ But one of the souldiers with a speare pierced his side, and forthwith came there out blood and water.

35 And he that saw it, bare record, and his record is true: and hee knoweth that he sayth true, that ye might beleue it.

Scripture should be fulfilled, * Not a bone of him shall be broken.

* They shall see him whom they haue thrust

38 ¶ And after these things, Ioseph of secretly for feare of the Iewes) besought Pilate that he might take downe the bodie of Iesus.

And Pilate gaue him licence. He came then

NOW the first day of the weeke came Mary Magdalene, early when it was yet darke, vnto the sepulchre, and saw the stone taken away from the tombe.

2 Then she ranne, and came to Simon Peter, and to the other disciple whom Iesus loued, and said vnto them, They haue taken away the Lord out of the sepulchre, and wee know not where they haue laid him.

3 Peter therefore went forth, & the other disciple, and they came vnto the sepulchre.

4 So they ranne both together, but the other disciple did outrunne Peter, and came first to the sepulchre.

5 And he stouped downe, and saw the linnen clothes lying: yet went he not in.

6 Then came Simon Peter following him, and went into the sepulchre, and saw the linnen clothes lie.

7 And the kerchiefe that was vpon his head, not lying with the linnen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by it selfe.

8 Then went in also the other disciple, which came first to the sepulchre, and hee saw it, and beleueed.

9 For as yet they knew not the Scripture,
That he must rise againe from the dead.

10 And the disciples went away againe vnto their owne home.

11 ¶ But Mary stood without at the sepulchre weeping: and as she wept, she bowed her selfe into the sepulchre,

12 And saw two Angels in white, sitting, the one at the head, and the other at the feete, where the bodie of Iesus had layen.

13 And they sayd vnto her, Woman, why weepest thou? She sayd vnto them, They haue taken away my Lord, and I know not where they haue layd him.

14 ¶ When shee had thus said, shee turned her selfe backe, and sawe Iesus standing, and knew not that it was Iesus.

weepest thou? whom seekest thou? Shee sup-to him, Sir, if thou hast borne him hence, tell me where thou hast laid him, and I will take him away.

goe to my brethren, and say vnto them, I ascend vnto my Father, and to your Father, and to my God, and your God.

18 Marie Magdalene came and told the disciples that shee had seene the Lord, and that he had spoken these things vnto her.

19 ¶ The same day then at night, which was the first day of the weeke, and when the doores were shut where the Disciples were assembled for feare of the Iewes, came Iesus and stood in the mids, and said to them. Peace be vnto you.

20 And when hee had so sayd, hee shewed vnto them his hands, and his side. Then were the Disciples glad when they had seene the Lord.

21 ¶ Then said Iesus to them againe, Peace be vnto you: as my Father sent mee, so send I you.

22 And when he had said that, he breathed on them, and saide vnto them, Receiue the holy Ghost.

23 ¶ Whoso euer sinnes ye remit, they are remitted vnto them: and whoso euer sinnes ye retaine, they are retained.

24 ¶ But Thomas one of the twelue called Didymus, was not with them when Iesus came.

25 The other Disciples therefore saide vnto him, We haue seene the Lord: but he said vnto them, Except I see in his hands the print of the nailes, and put my finger into the print of the nailes, and put mine hand into his side, I will not belecue it.

26 ¶ And eight dayes after, againe his disciples were within, and Thomas with them. Then came Iesus, when the doores were shut, and stood in the mids, and said, Peace be vnto you.

27 After said he to Thomas, Put thy finger here, and see mine hands, and put forth thine hand, and put it into my side, and be not faithlesse, but faithfull.

28 Then Thomas answered, and said vnto him, Thou art my Lord, and my God.

29 ¶ Iesus said vnto him, Thomas, because thou hast seene me, thou beleeuest: blessed are they that haue not seene, and haue beleeued.

30 ¶ And many other signes also did Iesus in the presence of his Disciples, which are not written in this booke.

31 But these things are written, that yee might beleeue, that Iesus is that Christ that Sonne of God, and that in beleeuing ye might haue life through his Name.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Iesus appeareth to his Disciples as they were a fishing, 6.

7 whom they know by a miraculous draught of Fishes.

15 He committeth the charge of the Sheepe to Peter, 18 and foretelleth him of the manner of his death.

After these things, Iesus shewed himselfe againe to his Disciples at the sea of Tiberias, and thus shewed he himselfe.

giueth a most full assurance of his Resurrection,

2 There were together Simon Peter, and Thomas, which is called Dydimus, and Nathanael of Cana in Galile, and the sonnes of Zebedeus, and two other of his disciples.

3 Simon Peter said vnto them, I goe a fishing. They said vnto him, Wee also will goe with thee. They went their way and entred into a ship straightway, and that night caught they nothing.

4 But when the morning was now come, Iesus stood on the shore: neuerthelesse the disciples knew not that it was Iesus.

5 Iesus then said vnto them, Sirs, haue ye any meat? They answered him, No.

6 Then he said vnto them, Cast out the net on the right side of the ship, and ye shall finde. So they cast out, and they were not able at all to draw it, for the multitude of fishes.

7 Therefore said the disciple whom Iesus loued, vnto Peter, It is the Lord. When Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, he girded his coate to him (for he was naked) and cast himselfe into the sea.

8 But the other disciples came by ship (for they were not farre from land, but about two hundred cubites) and they drew the net with fishes.

9 As soone then as they were come to land, they saw hotte coales, and fish layde thereon, and bread.

10 Iesus said vnto them, Bring of the fishes which ye haue now caught.

11 Simon Peter stepped forth and drew the net to land, full of great fishes, an hundred, fiftie and three: and albeit there were so many, yet was not the net broken.

12 Iesus said vnto them, Come, and dine. And none of the Disciples durst aske him, Who art thou? seeing they knew that he was the Lord.

13 Iesus then came and tooke bread and gaue them, and fish likewise.

14 This is now the third time that Iesus shewed himselfe to his disciples, after that hee was risen againe from the dead.

15 ¶ So when they had dined, Iesus said to Simon Peter, Simon the sonne of Iona, louest thou mee more then these? He said vnto him, Yea Lord, thou knowest that I loue thee. Hee said vnto him, Feed my lambes.

16 He said to him againe the second time, Simon the sonne of Iona, louest thou me? He said vnto him, Yea Lord, thou knowest that I loue thee. He said vnto him, Feed my sheepe.

17 He said vnto him the third time, Simon the sonne of Iona, louest thou me? Peter was sorrie, because he said to him the third time, Louest thou me? and said vnto him, Lord, thou knowest all things: thou knowest that I loue thee. Iesus said vnto him, Feed my sheepe.

18 ¶ Verily, verily I say vnto thee, When thou wast young, thou girdedst thy selfe, and walkedst whither thou wouldest: but when

Peter by his triple confession, is restored into his former degree from whence he fell by his triple denial: and therewithall is aduertised, that he is in deede a pastour, which sheweth his loue to Christ, in feeding his sheepe. It was more that he that had denied him this should confesse him thrise, that Peter might rather doubt of the forgiveness of his so grievous a sinne, now of his restoring to the office of the Apostleship. The violent death of Peter is foretold. They that took so many journeys, especially in the East country and in those places where the people used long garments, had need to be girded and trusted up.

Christ which is risen is not sought in this world, according to the flesh, but in heaven by faith whether he be gone before vs in the mids of the disciples, and said (now the number of names that were in one place were about an hundred and twentie.)

16 Yee men and brethren, this Scripture must needs haue bene fulfilled, which the holy Ghost by the mouth of Dauid spake before of Iudas, which was guide to them that tooke Iesus.

17 For hee was numbered with vs, and had obtained fellowship in this ministration.

18 Hee therefore hath purchased a field with the reward of iniquitie: and when hee had throwen downe himselfe headlong, he brast asunder in the mids, and all his bowels gushed out.

19 And it is known vnto all the inhabitants of Hierusalem, in so much, that the field is called in their owne language, Aceldama, that is, The field of blood.

20 For it is written in the booke of Psalmes; Let his habitation bee voide, and let no man dwell therein: also, Let another take his charge.

21 Wherefore of these men which haue companied with vs, all the time that the Lord Iesus was conuersant among vs, 22 Beginning from the Baptisme of Iohn vnto the day that hee was taken vp from vs, must one of them bee made a witnesse with vs of his resurrection.

23 And they presented two, Ioseph called Barfabas, whose surname was Iustus, and Matthias.

24 And they prayed, saying, Thou Lord, which knowest the hearts of all men, shewe whether of these two thou hast chosen.

25 That he may take the yee of this ministration and Apostleship, from which Iudas hath gone astray, to goe to his owne place.

26 Then they gaue forth their lots: and the lot fell on Matthias, and he was by a common consent counted with the eleuen Apostles.

The whole body of the Congregation, without making the Congregation priuie vnto it. 1 Word for word, went in and out, which kinde of speech betakeneth as much in the Hebrew tongue, as the exercising of a publique and painefull office, when they spake of such as were in any publique office, Deut. 31. 1. Chron. 27. 1. 2 From our companie. 3 The Apostles must be chosen immediately from God: and therefore after prayers, Matthias is chosen by lot, which is as it were, Gods owne voyce. 4 Openly, and by the voices of all the whole company. 5 That he may be fellow and partaker of his ministration. 6 Deputed from, or fallen from: And it is a Metaphore taken from the way: For callings are signified by the name of wayes, with the Hebrews.

CHAP. II.

1 The Apostles 4 filled with the holy Ghost 8 Speake with diuers tongues: 13 They are thought to bee drunke, 15 but Peter disprooueth that. 34 He teacheth that Christ is the Messias: 37 And seeing the hearers astonished, 38 he exhorteth them to repentance.

AND when the day of Pentecost was come, they were all with one accord in one place.

At that time it might euidently appeare to all the world, that they had all one office, one spirit, one faith, are by a double signe from heauen authorized, and anoynted with all the most excellent gifts of the holy Ghost, and especially with an extraordinary and necessary gift of tongues. 1 Word for word, was fulfilled: that is, was begun, as Luke 2. 42. For the Hebrews say, that a day, or a yeere is fulfilled or ended, when the former daies or yeeres are ended, and the other begun, Jer. 25. 12. And it shall come to passe, that when seven yeeres are ended, and the other begun, I will visite, &c. For the Lord did not bring home his people, after the seven yeeres were ended, but in the seventieth yeere: Now the day of Pentecost, was the fiftieth day after the feast of the Passouer. b The twelve Apostles, which were to bee the pillars of the Church.

2 And suddenly there came a sound from heauen, as of a rushing and mighty wind, and it filled all the house where they sate.

3 And there appeared vnto them clouen tongues, like fire, and it sate vpon each of them.

4 And they were all filled with the holy Ghost, & began to speake with other tongues, as the Spirit gaue them utterance.

5 And there were dwelling at Hierusalem Iewes, men that feared God, of euery nation vnder heauen.

6 Now when this was noised, the multitude came together, and were astonished, because that euery man heard them speake his owne language.

7 And they wondered all, and marueiled, saying among themselves, Behold, are not all these which speake, of Galilee?

8 How then heare wee euery man our owne language, wherein we were borne?

9 Parthians, and Medes, and Elamites, and the inhabitants of Mesopotamia, and of Iudca, and of Cappadocia, of Pontus, and Asia,

10 And of Phrygia, and Pamphylia, of Egypt, and of the parts of Libya, which is beside Cyrene, and strangers of Rome, and Iewes, and Profelites, 11 Creetes, and Arabians: we heard them speake in our owne tongues the wonderfull workes of God.

12 They were all then amazed, and doubted, saying one to another, What may this be?

13 And others mocked, and said, They are full of new wine.

14 But Peter standing with the Eleuen, lift vp his voice, and said vnto them, Yee men of Iudca, and yee all that inhabite Hierusalem, bee this knowne vnto you, and hearken vnto my words.

15 For these are not drunken, as yee suppose, since it is but the third houre of the day.

16 But this is that, which was spoken by the Prophet I Joel,

17 And it shall bee in the last dayes, saith God, I wil powre out my spirit vpon all flesh, and your sonnes, and your daughters shall propheticie, and your yong men shall see visions, and your old men shall dreame dreames.

18 And on my seruants, and on mine handmaidens I will powre out of my spirit in those dayes, and they shall propheticie.

19 And I will shew wonders in heauen above, and tokens in the earth beneath, blood, and fire, and vapour of smoke.

20 The Sunne shall bee turned into darkeness, and continuations: And by this reprochfull mocking we see, that there is no miracle so great and excellent, which the wickednesse of man doeth not speake euill of: b Peter his holinesse is to be marked, wherein the grace of the holy Ghost is to be seen, euen straight after the beginning. 1 After the sunne rising, which may bee about seven or eight of the clocke with vnto. 2 There is nothing that can dissolve questions and doubts, but testimonie taken out of the Prophets: for mens reasons may be ouerturned, but Gods voice cannot bee ouerturned. 3 Joel 2. 28. saith 24. 3. Peter setting the truth of God against the false accusation of men, sheweth in himselfe and in his fellowes, that that is fulfilled which Joel spake before concerning the full giuing of the holy Ghost in the latter dayes: which grace also is offered to the whole Church, to their certaine and vndoubted destruction, which doe condemne it. 4 All without exception, both vpon the Iewes and Gentiles. 5 That is, men.

nesse, and the Moone into blood, before that great and terrible day of the Lord come.

21 And it shall bee, that whosoever shall call on the Name of the Lord, shall be sauéd.

22 Yee men of Israel, heare these words, Iesus of Nazareth, a man approved of God among you with great workes and wonders, and signes, which God did by him in the mids of you, as yee your selues also know:

23 Him, I say, being deliuered by the determinate counsell, and foreknowledge of God, after you had taken with wicked hands, you haue crucified and slaine.

24 Whom God hath raised vp, and loosed the sorrowes of death, because it was vnpossible that he should be holden of it.

25 For Dauid saith concerning him, * I beheld the Lord alwayes before mee: for hee is at my right had, that I should not bee shaken.

26 Therefore did mine heart reioyce, and my tongue was glad, and moreouer also my flesh shall rest in hope, 27 Because thou wilt not leaue my soule in graue, neither wilt suffer thine holy one to see corruption.

28 Thou hast shewed mee the wayes of life, and shalt make mee full of ioy with thy countenance.

29 Men and brethren, I may boldly speake vnto you of the Patriarke Dauid, * that hee is both dead and buried, and his sepulchre remaineth with vs vnto this day.

30 Therefore, seeing he was a Prophet, and knew that God had sworne with an oath to him, that of the fruit of his loynes hee would raise vp Christ concerning the flesh, to set him vpon his throne,

31 Hee knowing this before, spake of the resurrection of Christ, that his soule should not be left in graue, neither his flesh should see corruption.

32 This Iesus hath God raised vp, whereof we are all witnesses.

33 Since then that he by the right hand of God hath bene exalted, and hath receiued of his Father the promise of the holy Ghost, hee hath shed forth this which yee now see and heare.

34 For Dauid is not ascended into heauen, but he saith, * The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, 35 Vntill I make thine enemies thy foote-stool.

36 Therefore, let all the house of Israel know for a suretie, that God hath made him both Lord, and Christ, this Iesus, I say, whom yee haue crucified.

37 Now when they heard it, they were pricked in their hearts, and said vnto Peter and the other Apostles, Men and brethren, what shall wee doe?

38 Then Peter said vnto them, Amend your liues, and be baptized euery one of you in the Name of Iesus Christ for the remission of sinnes, and ye shall receiue the gift of the holy Ghost.

39 For the promise is made vnto you, and to your children, and to all that are as farre off, euen as many as the Lord our God shall call.

40 And with many other words hee besought and exhorted them, saying, saue your selues from this froward generation.

41 Then they that gladly receiued his word, were baptized: and the same day there were added to the Church about three thousand foules.

42 And they continued in the Apostles doctrine, and fellowship, and breaking of bread, and prayers.

43 And feare came vpon euery soule, and many wonders and signes were done by the Apostles.

44 And all that beleeeued, were in one place, and had all things common.

45 And they solde their possessions and goods, and parted them to all men, as euery one had need.

46 And they continued daily with one accord in the Temple, and breaking bread at home, did eate their meate together with gladnesse and singlenesse of heart, 47 Praising God, and had fauour with all the people: and the Lord added to the Church from day to day, such as should be sauéd.

CHAP. III.

1 Peter going into the Temple with Iohn, 2 healeth the creeple. 9 To the people gathered together to see the miracle, 12 hee expoundeth the mystery of our saluation through Christ, 14 accusing their ingratitude, 19 and requiring their repentance.

Now Peter and Iohn went vp together into the Temple, at the ninth houre of prayer.

2 And a certaine man which was a creeple from his mothers wombe, was caried, whome they laid daily at the gate of the Temple called Beautiful, to aske almes of them that entred into the Temple.

3 Who seeing Peter and Iohn, that they would enter into the temple, desired to receiue an almes.

4 And Peter earnestly beholding him with Iohn, said, Look on vs.

5 And he gaue heed vnto them, trusting to receiue something of them.

6 Then said Peter, Siluer and gold haue I none,

4 The chiefest vte of all the gifts of the holy Ghost is to bring men to saluation by faith.

5 Christ being innocent, was by Gods promise crucified of wicked men.

6 Who is by those workes much God wrought by him so manifestly approved and allowed of, that no man can gainsay him.

7 Gods euergoing knowledge going before, which can neither be separated from his determinate counsell, as the Epicures say, neither yet bee the cause of euill.

8 For God is his euilless and vouchsafeable counsell, appointed the wicked out of Luda to an excellent end, and God doth that well, which the instruments doe ill.

9 Gods counsell doeth not excuse the Lawes, whose hands were wicked.

10 The fact is said to be theirs, by whose counsel and egging forward it is done.

11 Christ (as Dauid foretold) did not onely rise againe, but also was in the graue void of all corruption.

12 The death that was full of sorrow both of body and mind, therefore when death appeared conquerour and victor over those sorrowes, Christ is rightly said to haue overcome those sorrowes of death when as being dead, he overcome death, to liue for ever with his Father.

13 Thou wilt not suffer me to remaine in graue.

14 Thou hast opened me the way to let me liue.

20 Might and power of God. Psal 110. 1. 2. Christ is said to be made, because he was aduanced to that dignitie, and therefore it is not spoken of his nature, but of his estate and high dignitie.

Repentance and remission of sinnes in Christ, are two principles of the Gospel and therefore of our saluation.

and they are obtained by the promise apprehended by faith, and are ratified in vs by Baptisme, whereunto is ioyned the vertue of the holy Ghost.

4 The word that is vnto here, giueth vs to vnderstand that it was a free gift.

9 He is truly ioyned to the Church, which separateth himselfe from the wicked.

10 A notable example of the vertue of the holy Ghost: but such as are of age, are not baptized, before they make confession of their faith.

11 The marks of the true Church are the doctrine of the Apostles, the duties of charitie, the pure and simple administration of the Sacraments, and true inuocation of all the faithful.

12 Communicating of goods, and all other duties of charitie, as is shewed afterward.

13 The Lawes of the Lord, and therefore they did rather breake them then cut them. So by breaking of bread, they vnderstood that liuing together, and the banquet which they vsed to keepe.

14 And when they kept their lawe fast, they vsed to celebrate the Lords Supper, which euen in these dayes began to be corrupted, and Paul amendeth it, 1. Cor. 11. 13. So oft as the Lord thinketh it expedient, he bridleth the rage of strangers, that the Church may be planted, and haue some refreshing.

15 Charitie maketh all things common concerning the Lord, according as necessitie requireth.

16 The faithfull came together at the beginning with great fruit, not onely to the hearing of the word, but also to meate.

17 Christ, in healing a man that was borne lame, and well known to all men, both in place and time very famous, by the hands of this Apostles, doeth partly confirme them which beleeued, and partly also calleth other to beleeue.

3 And they laide hands on them, and put them in hold, vntill the next day: for it was now euentide.

4 Howbeit, many of them which heard the word, beleued, and the number of the men was about foue thousand.

5 And it came to passe on the morrow that their rulers and Elders, and Scribes, were gathered together at Ierusalem,

7 And when they had set them before them, they asked, By what power, or in what Name haue yee done this?

13 Psal. 2. 1.
14 Although the people of Israel was but one people, yet the place all number is here used, not so much for the twelve tribes, euerie one of which made a people, as for the great multitude of them, as though many nations had assembled themselves together, as Judges 5. 14. m The wicked execute Gods counsell, though they thinke nothing of it, but they are not therefore without fault. n Thou haddest d. reuined of thine absolute authoritie and power.

13 Now when they saw the boldnesse of Peter and Iohn, and vnderstood that they were vnlearned men and without knowledge, they marueiled, and knew them, that they had bene with Iesus:

14 And beholding also the man which was healed standing with them, they had nothing to say against it.

15 Then they commanded them to goe aside out of the Councill, and conferred among themselves.

16 Saying, What shall wee doe to these men? for surely a manifest signe is done by them, and is openly knowne to all them that dwell in Hierusalem: and we cannot denie it.

17 But that it bee noised no further among the people, let vs threaten and charge them, that they speake henceforth to no man in this Name.

18 So they called them, and commaunded them, that in no wise they should speake or teach in the Name of Iesus.

19 But Peter and Iohn answered vnto them, and sayd, Whether it bee right in the sight of God, to obey you rather then God, iudge yee

20 For wee cannot but speake the things which we haue seene and heard.

21 So they threatened them, and let them goe, and found nothing how to punish them, because of the people: for all men praised God for that which was done.

22 For the man was aboue fourtie yeeres olde, on whome this miracle of healing was shewed.

23 Then as soone as they were let go, they came to their fellowes, and shewed all that the hie Priests and Elders had said vnto them.

24 And when they heard it, they lift vp their voices to God with one accord, and said, O Lord, thou art the God which hast made the heauen, and the earth, the sea, and all things that are in them, 25 Which by the mouth of thy seruant Dauid hast said, * Why did the Gentiles rage, and the people imagine vaine things?

26 The Kings of the earth assembled, and the Rulers came together against the Lord, and against his Christ.

27 For doubtlesse, against thine holy Sonne Iesus, whom thou haddest anointed, both Herod and Pontius Pilate, with the Gentiles and the people of Israel gathered themselves together, 28 To doe whatsoeuer thine hand, and thy counsell had determined before to be done.

29 And now, O Lord, behold their threatenings, and graunt vnto thy seruants with all boldnesse to speake thy word,

30 So that thou stretch forth thine hand, that healing, and signes, and wonders may be done by the Name of thy holy Sonne Iesus.

31 And when as they had prayed, the place was shaken where they were assembled together, and they were all filled with the holy Ghost, and they spake the word of God boldly.

32 And the multitude of them that beleued, were of one heart, and of one soule: neither any of them saide, that any thing of that which he possessed, was his owne, but they had all things common.

33 And with great power gaue the Apostles witness of the resurrection of the Lord Iesus: and great grace was vpon them all.

34 Neither was there any among them, that lacked: for as many as were possessours of lands or houses, sold them, and brought the price of the things that were sold,

35 And laide it downe at the Apostles feete, and it was distributed vnto euery man, according as he had need.

36 Also Ioses which was called of the Apostles, Barnabas (that is by interpretation the sonne of consolation) being a leuite, and of the countrey of Cyprus, 37 Whereas hee had land, solde it, and brought the money, and laide it downe at the Apostles feete.

CHAP. V.

1 Ananias, for his deceite in keeping backe part of the price, 5 falleth downe dead, 20 and likewise Sapphira his wife. 12 Through diuers the Apostles miracles, 24 The faith is increased. 18 The Apostles that were imprisofore the Synode of the Priests, 36 through Gamaliels

But a certaine man named Ananias, with Sapphira his wife, sold a possession,

3 And kept away part of the price, his wife also being of counsell, and brought a certaine part, and laide it downe at the Apostles feete.

3 Then said Peter, Ananias, why hath Satan filled thine heart, that thou shouldest lie vnto the holy Ghost, and keepe away part of the price of this possession?

4 Whiles it remained, appertained it not vnto thee? and after it was solde, was it not in thine owne power? how is it that thou hast conceived this thing in thine heart? thou hast not lied vnto men, but vnto God.

5 Now when Ananias heard these words, hee fell downe, and gaue vp the ghost. Then great feare came on all them that heard these things.

6 And the yong men rose vp, and tooke him vp, and caied him out, and buried him.

7 And it came to passe about the space of three houres after, that his wife came in, ignorant of that which was done.

8 And Peter said vnto her, Tell mee, sold yee ye the land for so much? And shee sayd, Yea, for so much.

9 Then Peter sayd vnto her, Why haue ye agreed together to tempt the spirit of the Lord? beholde, the feet of them which haue buried thine husbaud, are at the doore, and shall carie thee out.

10 Then shee fell downe straightway at his feete, and yelded vp the ghost: and the yong men came in, and found her dead, and caryed her out, and buried her by her husbaud.

11 And great feare came on all the Church, and on as many as heard these things.

12 Thus by the handes of the Apostles were many signes & wonders shewed among the people (and they were all with one accord in Solomons porch.

13 And of the other durst no man ioine himselfe to them: neuertheless the people magnified them.

14 Also the number of them that beleued in the Lord, both of men and women, grewe more and more.

15 Insomuch that they brought the sicke into the streetes, and layde them on beds and couches, that at the least way the shadow of Peter, when hee came by, might shadow some of them.

16 There came also a multitude out of the cities round about vnto Hierusalem, bringing sicke folkes, and them which were vexed with vncleane spirits, who were all healed.

17 ¶ Then the chiefe Priest rose vp, and all they that were with him, (which was the sect of the Sadduces) and were full of indignation,

18 And layd hands on the Apostles, and put them in the common prison.

19 But the Angel of the Lord, by night opened the prison doores, and brought them forth, and said,

20 Go your way, and stand in the Temple, and speake to the people all the words of this life.

21 So when they heard it, they entred into the Temple early in the morning, & taught. And the chiefe Priest came, and they that were with him, and called the Councill together, and all the Elders of the children of Israel, and sent to the prison, to cause them to be brought.

22 But when the officers came and found them not in the prison, they returned and tolde it,

23 Saying, Certainly wee found the prison shut as sure as was possible, and the keepers standing without, before the doores: but when wee had opened, wee found no man within.

24 Then when the chiefe Priest, and the captaine of the Temple, and the high Priests heard these things, they doubted of them whereunto this would growe.

25 Then came one and shewed them, saying, Beholde, the men that yee put in prison, are standing in the Temple, and teach the people.

26 Then went the captaine with the officers, and brought them without violence (for they feared the people lest they should haue bene stoned)

27 And when they had brought them, they set them before the Councill, and the chiefe Priest asked them,

28 Saying, Did not wee straightly command you, that yee should not teach in this Name? and behold, ye haue filled Hierusalem with your doctrine, and ye would bring this mans blood vpon vs.

29 Then Peter and the Apostles answered, and sayd, Wee ought rather to obey God than men.

30 The God of our fathers hath raysted vp Iesus, whome yee slew, and hanged on a tree.

31 Him hath God lift vp with his right hand, to bee a Prince and a Sauour, to giue repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sinnes.

32 And we are his witnesses concerning these things which wee say: yea, and the holy Ghost, whom God hath giuen to them that obey him.

33 Now when they heard it, they brast for anger, and consulted to slay them.

34 Then stood there vp in the Councill a certaine Pharise named Gamaliel, a Doctor of the Lawe, honoured of all the people, and commanded to put the Apostles forth a litle space, 35 And sayd vnto them, Men of Israel, take heede to your selues, what yee intend to doe touching these men.

36 For before these times, rose vp Theudas boasting himselfe, to whome resorted a number of men, about a foure hundreth, who was slaine: and they all which obeyed him, were scattered, and brought to nought.

37 After this man, arose vp Iudas of Galilee, in the dayes of the tribute, and drew away much people after him: hee also perished, and all that obeyed him, were scattered abroad.

38 And now I say vnto you, Refraine your selues from these men, and let them alone: for if this counsell, or this worke be of men, it will come to nought:

39 But if it be of God, ye cannot destroy it, lest ye be found euen fighters against God.

40 And to him they agreed, and called the Apostles: and when they had beaten them, they commanded that they should not speake in the Name of Iesus, and let them goe.

41 So they departed from the Councill,

CHAP. VI.

2 The Apostles 3 appointe the office of Deaconship 5 to seuen chosen men: 8 Of whom Steuen, full of faith, is one: 12 He is taken, 13 and accused as a transgressor of Moses Lawes.

And in those dayes, as the number of the disciples grewe, there arose a murmuring of the Grecians toward the Hebrewes, because their widowes were neglected in the dayly ministring.

2 Then the twelue called the multitude of the disciples together, and sayd, It is not meete that we should leaue the word of God to serue the tables.

3 Wherefore brethren, looke yee out among you seuen men of honest report, and full of the holy Ghost, and of wisdom, which we may appoint to this businesse.

4 And wee wil giue our selues continually to prayer, and to the ministracion of the word.

5 And the saying pleased the whole multitude: & they chose Steuen, a man full of faith and of the lively Ghost, and Philip, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, and Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicolas a Proselite of Antiochia,

6 Which they set before the Apostles: and they prayed, and layd their hands on them.

7 And the word of God increased, and the number of the disciples was multiplied in Hierusalem greatly, and a great companie of the Priests were obedient to the faith.

8 Now Steuen full of faith and power, did great wonders and miracles among the people.

9 Then there arose certaine of the Synagogue, which are called Libertines, and Cyrenians, and of Alexandria, and of them of Cilicia, and of Asia, and disputed with Steuen.

10 But they were not able to resist the wisdom, and the Spirit by the which he spake.

11 Then they suborned men, which sayd, We haue heard him speak blasphemous words against Moses, and God.

12 Thus they moued the people and the Elders, and the Scribes: and running vpon him, caught him, and brought him to the Councill, laying on of hands, as it were consecrate to the Lord, such as were lawfully elected. e This ceremonie of laying on of hands, came from the Iewes, who used this order both in publick affaires, and offering of sacrifices: and also in private prayers and blessings, as appeareth Gen. 28. and the Church obserued this ceremonie. 1. Tim. 5. 22. acts 8. 17. but here is no mention made either of exorcism, or shaving, or vasing, or crossing, &c. 5 An happy ende of temptation. f This is the figure dytomyia, meaning by faith, the doctrine of the Gospell which endeth faith. 6 God exerciseth his Church first with euill words and slan-ders, then with imprisonments, afterward with scourgings, and by these meanes pre-pareth it in such sort, that at length hee causeth it to encounter with Satan and the world, euen to bloodshed and death, and that with good successe. g Excellent and singular gifts. 7 Schooles & Vniuersities were of old time addicted to false pastors, and were the instruments of Satan, to blowe abroad and defend false doctrines. h Of the company and Colledge, as it were. 8 False teachers, because they will not be o-uercome, flee from disputations to manifest and open slandering & false accusations. 9 The first bloody persecution of the Church of Christ, begonne and sprang from a Council of Priests, by the Suggestion of the Vniuersitie doctors.

13 And set forth false witnesses, which said, This man ceaseth not to speake blasphemous words against this holy place, and the Law.

14 For wee haue heard him say, That this Iesus of Nazareth shall destroy this place, and shall change the ordinances, which Moses gaue vs.

15 And as all that sate in the Councill, looked stedfastly on him, they saw his face as it had bene the face of an Angel.

inst: For seeing hee was to speake before the people, God beautified his countenance, to the end that with the very beholding of him, the Iewes mindes might be pearly and amazed.

CHAP. VII.

1 Steuen pleading his cause, sheweth that God chose the fathers, 20 before Moses was borne, 47 and before the Temple was built. 44 And that all outward ceremonies were ordained according to the heavenly patterne. 54 The Iewes gnashing their teeth, 59 stone him.

Then sayde the chiefe Priest, Are these things so?

2 And he said, Ye men, brethren, and Fathers, hearken. * That God of a glory appeared vnto our father Abraham, while he was in Mesopotamia, before he dwelt in Charran,

3 And sayd vnto him, Come out of thy countrey, and from thy kined, and come into the land which I shall shew thee.

4 Then came hee out of the land of the Chaldeans, and dwelt in Charran. And after that his father was dead, God brought him from thence into this land, wherein yee now dwell,

5 And he gaue him none inheritance in it, no, not the breadth of a foot: yet he promised that hee would giue it to him for a possession, and to his seed after him, when as yet hee had no childe.

7 But the nation to whom they shall be in bondage, will I iudge, saith God: and after that, they shall come forth and serue me in this place.

2 * Then certaine men fearing God, * carried Steven amongst them to be buried; and made great lamentation for him.

3 * But Saul made hauocke of the Church, and entred into euery house, and drew out both men and women, and put them into prison.

4 Therefore they that were scattered abroad, went to and fro preaching the word.

5 ¶ Then came Philip into the citie of Samaria, and preached vnto them.

6 And the people gaue heede vnto those things which Philip spake, with one accord, hearing and seeing the miracles which he did.

7 For vncleane spirits crying with a loude voice, came out of many that were possessed of them: and many taken with palsies, and that halted, were healed.

8 And there was great ioy in that citie.

9 * And there was before in the citie a certaine man called Simon, which vsed * witchcraft, and * bewitched the people of Samaria, saying that he himselfe was some great man.

10 To whom they gaue heede from the least to the greatest, saying, This man is that great power of God.

11 And they gaue heede vnto him, because that of long time he had bewitched them with forceries.

12 But as soone as they beleued Philip, which preached the things that concerned the kingdom of God, and the Name of Iesus Christ, they were baptized both men and women.

13 * Then Simon himselfe beleued also and was baptized, and continued with Philip, and wondred when he saw the signes & great miracles which were done.

14 ¶ Now when the Apostles, which were at Hierusalem, heard say, that Samaria had receiued the word of God, they sent vnto them Peter and Iohn, 15 Which when they were come downe, prayed for them, that they might receiue the * holy Ghost.

16 (For as yet he was fallen downe on none of them, but they were baptized onely in the Name of the Lord Iesus.)

17 Then layde they their hands on them, and they receiued the holy Ghost.

18 * And when Simon saw, that through laying on of the Apostles hands the holy Ghost was giuen, he offered them money, 19 Saying, Giue mee also this power, that on whomsoever I lay the hands, hee may receiue the holy Ghost.

26 ¹¹ Then the Angel of the Lord spake vnto Philip, saying, Arise, and goe toward the South vnto the way that goeth downe from Hierusalem vnto Gaza, which is waste.

27 And he arose and went on: and behold, a certaine Eunuch of Ethiopia, Candaces the Queene of the Ethiopiansⁱ chiefe Gouverneur, who had the rule of all her treasure, and came to Hierusalem to worship:

28 And as he returned sitting in his charet, he read Esaias the Prophet.

29 Then the Spirit said vnto Philip, Goe neere and ioyne thy selfe to yonder charet.

30 And Philip ran thither, and heard him reade the Prophet Esaias, and sayd, But vnderstandest thou what thou readeest?

31 And he sayd, How can I, except I had a guide? And he desired Philip that he would come vp and sit with him.

34 Then the Eunuch answered Philip, and sayd, I pray thee, of whom speaketh the Prophet this? of himselfe, or of some other man?

35 Then Philip opened his mouth, and began at the same Scripture, and preached vnto him Iesus.

36 And as they went on their way, they came vnto a certaine water, and the Eunuch sayd, See, here is water: what doeth let mee to be baptized?

37 ¹³ And Philip sayd vnto him, If thou beleeuest with all thine heart, thou mayest. Then he answered, and sayd, I beleeue that that Iesus Christ is that sonne of God.

38 Then he commanded the charetto stand still: and they went downe both into the water, both Philip and the Eunuch, and he baptized him.

39 And as soone as they were come vp out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord caught away Philip, that the Eunuch saw him no more: so he went on his way reioycing.

40 But Philip was found at Azotus, and he walked to and fro preaching in all the cities, til he came to Cefarea.

3 Now as hee iourneyed, it came to passe that as he was come neere to Damascus, suddenly there shined round about him a light from heauen.

4 And he fel to the earth and heard a voice, saying to him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou mee?

5 And he said, Who art thou, Lord? And the Lord said, I am Iesus whom thou persecutest: it is^c hard for thee to kicke against pricks.

6 He then both trembling and astonished, said, Lord, what wilt thou that I doe? And the Lord said vnto him, Arise and go into the citie, and it shall be told thee what thou shalt doe.

7 The men also which iourneyed with him, stood amased, hearing his^e voyce, but seeing no man.

8 And Saul arose from the ground, and opened his eyes, but sawe no man. Then led they him by the hand, and brought him into Damascus,

10 And there was a certaine disciple at Damascus named Ananias, and to him said the Lord in a vision, Ananias. And he said, Behold, I am here Lord.

11 Then the Lord said vnto him, Arise, and goe into the street which is called Straight, and seeke in the house of Iudas after one called Saul of^f Tarsus: for behold, he prayeth.

18 And immediatly there fell from his eyes as it had been scales, and suddenly hee receiued sight, and arose, and was baptized,

5 Wee are not forbidden to avoid and elchew the dangers and conspiracies that the enemies of God lay for vs, so that wee swaue not from our vocation, 6 In ancient time, no man was rashly or lightly receiued into the number of and amongst the sheepe of Christ, much lesse to be a Pastour, 7 The constant seruants of God must looke for danger after danger: yet God watcheth for them,

26 And when Saul was come to Hierusalem, hee assayed to ioyne himselfe with the disciples: but they were all afraid of him, and beleued not that he was a disciple.

27 But Barnabas tooke him, and brought him to the Apostles, and declared to them, how he had seene the Lord in the way, and that hee had spoken vnto him, and how hee had spoken boldly at Damascus in the Name of Iesus.

28 And he was conuersant with them at Hierusalem,

29 And spake boldly in the Name of the Lord Iesus, and spake and disputed against the Grecians, but they went about to slay him,

30 But when the brethren knew it, they brought him to Cefarea, and sent him forth to Tarsus.

3 The ministers of the word may change their place by the aduise and counsell of the Congregation and Church, 9 The end of persecutions is the building of the Church, so that we will patiently waite for the Lord,

31 Then had the Churches rest through all Iudea, and Galile, and Samaria, and were edified, and walked in the feare of the Lord, and were multiplied by the comfort of the holy Ghost.

32 And it came to passe, as Peter walked throughout all quarters, hee came also to the Saints which dwelt at Lydda.

33 And there he found a certaine man named Aeneas, which had kept his couch eight yeeres, and was sicke of the palfie.

34 Then sayd Peter vnto him, Aeneas, Iesus Christ maketh thee whole: arise, and trusse thy couch together. And hee arose immediatly.

35 And all that dwelt at Lydda and Saron, saw him, and turned to the Lord.

36 There was also at Ioppa a certaine woman, a disciple named Tabitha (which by interpretation is called Dorcas) she was full of good workes and almes which shee did.

37 And it came to passe in those dayes, that she was sicke and died: and when they had washed her, they laid her in an vpper chamber.

38 Now forasmuch as Lydda was neere to Ioppa, and the disciples had heard that Peter was there, they sent vnto him two men, desiring that hee would not delay to come vnto them.

39 Then Peter arose and came with them: and when he was come, they brought him into the vpper chamber, where all the widowes stood by him weeping, and shewing the coats and garments which Dorcas made, while she was with them.

40 But Peter put them all forth, and kneeled downe, and prayed, and turned him to the body, and said, Tabitha, Arise. And shee opened her eyes, and when she saw Peter, she vp.

41 Then he gaue her the hand and lift her vp, and called the Saints and widowes, and restored her alieue.

42 And it was knowne throughout all Ioppa, and many beleued in the Lord.

43 And it came to passe that he taried many dayes in Ioppa with one Simon a Tanner.

Furthermore there was a certaine man in Cefarea called Cornelius, a captaine of the band called the Italian band,

A deuout man, and one that feared God with all his household, which gaue much almes to the people, and prayed God continually.

This is a borrowed kinde of speech, which signifieth a discomfiment & increase, 10 Peters Apostleship is confirmed by healing of the man that was sicke of the palfie.

Lydda was a cite of Palestine, and Saron a champion country, and a place of good pasture, between Cefarea of Palestine and the mountain Tabor, and the lake of Genesareth, which extendeth itselfe in great length beyond Ioppa.

Peter declareth evidently by raising up a dead body through the Name of Christ, that hee preacheth the glad tidings of life.

Peter commendeth the first fruites of the Gentiles to God by the meanes of two miracles. 3 So that he was shipped one God, and was no Idolater, 4 he could be voyd of faith in Christ, because he was a deuout man: but as yet hee knew not that he was come.

44 While Peter yet spake these words, the holy Ghost fell on all them which heard the word.

45 So they of the circumcision which beleueed, were astonished, as many as came with Peter, because that on the Gentiles also was powred out the gift of the holy Ghost.

46 For they heard them speake with tongues, and magnifie God. Then answered Peter, 47 Can any man forbid water, that these should not be baptized, which haue receiued the holy Ghost, as well as we?

48 So he commanded them to be baptized in the Name of the Lord. Then prayed they him to tarie certaine dayes.

CHAP. XI.

² Peter being accused for going to the Gentiles, & defendeth himselfe. ²² Barnabas is sent to Antiochia, ²⁶ Where the disciples are called Christians: ²⁸ And there Agabus foretelleth a famine to come.

Now the Apostles and the brethren that were in Iudea, heard that the Gentiles had also receiued the word of God.

2 And when Peter was come vp to Hierusalem, they of the circumcision contended against him,

3 Saying, Thou wentest in to men vncircumcised, and hast eaten with them.

4 Then Peter began, and expounded the thing in order to them, saying,

5 I was in the citie of Ioppa, praying, and in a trance I sawe this vision, A certaine vessell comming downe as it had bene a great sheet, let downe from heauen by the foure corners, and it came to me.

6 Toward the which when I had fastened mine eyes, I considered, and saw foure footed beasts of the earth, and wilde beasts, and creeping things, and fowles of the heauen.

7 Also I heard a voyce, saying vnto me, Arise, Peter: slay and eate.

8 And I said, God forbid, Lord: for nothing polluted or vncleane hath at any time entred into my mouth:

9 But the voyce answered me the second time from heauen, The things that God hath purified, pollute thou not.

10 And this was done three times, and all were taken vp againe into heauen.

11 Then behold, immediatly there were three men already come into the house where I was, sent from Cesarea vnto me.

12 And the Spirit saide vnto mee, that I should go with them, without doubting: more-ouer, these sixe brethren came with me: and we entred into the mans house.

13 And he shewed vs how hee had seene an Angel in his house, which stood and saide to him, Send men to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter.

14 Hee shall speake wordes vnto thee, whereby both thou and all thine house shall be saved.

15 And as I beganne to speake, the holy Ghost fell on them, euen as vpon vs at the beginning.

16 Then I remembred the worde of the Lord, how he said, John baptized with water, but yee shall bee baptized with the holy Ghost.

17 Forasmuch then as God gaue them a like gift, as hee did vnto vs, when we beleueed in the Lord Iesus Christ, who was I, that I could let God?

18 When they heard these things, they held their peace, and glorified God, saying, Then hath God also to the Gentiles granted repentance vnto life.

19 ¶ And they which were scattered abroad because of the affliction that arose about Steuen, went throughout till they came vnto Phenice and Cyprus, and Antiochia, preaching the word to no man, but vnto the Iewes onely.

24 Now some of them were men of Cyprus and of Cyrene, which when they were come into Antiochia, spake vnto the Grecians, and preached the Lord Iesus.

21 And the hande of the Lord was with them, so that a great number beleueed and turned vnto the Lord.

22 Then tidings of those things came vnto the eares of the Church, which was in Hierusalem, and they sent forth Barnabas, that he should goe vnto Antiochia.

23 Who when he was come and had seene the grace of God, was glad, and exhorted all, that with purpose of heart they would continue in the Lord.

24 For he was a good man, and full of the holy Ghost, and faith, and much people ioyned themselues vnto the Lord.

25 ¶ Then departed Barnabas to Tarsus to seeke Saul:

26 And when he had found him, he brought him vnto Antiochia: and it came to passe that a whole yeere they were conuersant with the Church, and taught much people, insomuch that the disciples were first called Christians in Antiochia.

27 In those dayes also came Prophets from Hierusalem vnto Antiochia.

28 And there stood vp one of them named Agabus, and signified by the Spirit, that there should be great famine thorowout al the world, which also came to passe vnder Claudius Cesar.

⁵ The Church of Antiochia, the new Hierusalem of the Gentiles was extraordinarily called.

⁶ The Apostles doe not rashly condemne an extraordinary vocation, but yet they iudge it by the effects.

⁷ There was no contention amongst the Apostles either of vnting, or of holding places and degrees.

⁸ God doeth so wrappe vp his Church with the wicked, in his scourges and plagues which he lendeth vnto the earth, that notwithstanding he prouideth for it conveniently.

8 All Congregations of Churches make one body.

9 That is, that the threefold Deity consisteth in one person, for it belongeth to him all these things done orderly and decently, and therefore it is said, that they sent these things to the Elders, that is, to the governors of the Church.

10 God giueth his Church a true but for a lile time.

11 This name Herod was common to all those that came of the stocke of Herod. A scilicet, whose surname was Agrippa: but he that is spoken of here, was nephew to Herod the great, sonne of Aristobolus, and Father to that Agrippa who is spoken of afterward.

12 Violently, his cause being not once heard.

13 It is an old fashion of Tyrants to procure the fauour of the wicked, with the blood of the godly.

14 The tyrants & wicked make a gallow for themselves even then when they doe most according to their owne will & fantasie.

15 The prayers of the godly ouerturne the counsell of Tyrants, obtaine Angells of God, breake the prison, vnloose the chaines, put Satan to flight and preferue the Church.

16 Chap. 5. 19. c In the prison.

17 There was no contention amongst the Apostles either of vniuersing, or of holding places and degrees.

18 God doeth so wrappe vp his Church with the wicked, in his scourges and plagues which he sendeth vpon the earth, that notwithstanding he prouideth for it conveniently.

19 ⁸ Then the Disciples every man according to his abilitie, purposed to send succour vnto the brethren which dwelt in Iudea.

20 Which thing they also did, and sent it to the Elders, by the hand of Barnabas & Saul.

21 And when Peter knocked at the entrie doore, a maide came forth to hearken, named Rhode.

22 But when she knew Peters voyce, shee opened not the entrie doore for gladnesse, but ran in, and told how Peter stood before the entrie.

23 But they saide vnto her, Thou art mad. Yet shee affirmed it constantly, that it was so. Then said they, It is his Angel.

24 But Peter continued knocking, & when they had opened it, and sawe him, they were astonied.

25 And hee beckned vnto them with the hand, to hold their peace, and told them how the Lord had brought him out of the prison. And he said, Goe shew these things vnto Iames and to the brethren: and he departed and went into another place.

26 Now as it was day, there was no final trouble among the souldiers, what was become of Peter.

27 And when Herod had sought for him, and found him not, he examined the keepers, & commanded them to be led to be punished. And he went downe from Iudea to Cesarea, and there abode.

28 Then Herod was Angry with them of Tyrus and Sydon, but they came all with one accord vnto him, and perswaded Blastus the Kings Chamberlaine, and they desired peace, because their countrey was nourished by the Kings land.

29 And vpon a day appointed, Herod arrayed himselfe in royall apparell, and sat on the iudgement seat, & made an oration vnto them.

30 And the people gaue a shout, saying, The voyce of God, and not of man.

31 But immediatly the Angel of the Lord smote him, because hee gaue not glory vnto God, so that he was eaten of wormes, and gaue vp the ghost.

32 And the word of God grewe and multiplied.

33 So Barnabas & Saul returned from Hierusalem, when they had fulfilled their office, & tooke with them Iohn, whose surname was Marke.

34 Now when they were past the first and the second watch, they came vnto the yron gate that leadeth vnto the citie, which opened to them by it owne accord, and they went out, and passed through one street, and by and by the Angel departed from him.

35 And when Peter was come to himselfe, he said, Now I know for a trueth, that the Lord hath sent his Angel, and hath deliuered me out of the hand of Herod, and from all the waiting for of the people of the Iewes.

36 And as he considered the thing, he came to the house of Mary, the mother of Iohn, whose surname was Marke, where many were gathered together, and prayed.

37 Holy meetings in the night as well of men as women (when they cannot be suffered in the day time) are allowable by the example of the Apostles.

40 The holy Ghost commandeth that Paul and Barnabas be separated vnto him. 6 At Paphus 8 Elymas the sorcerer 11 is stricken blind: 14 From whence being come to Antioch: 17 they preach the Gospel, 45 The Iewes vehemently withstanding them.

41 Here were also in the Church that was at Antiochia, certaine Prophets and teachers, as Barnabas, and Simeon called Niger, and Lucius of Cyrene, and Manahan (which had bin brought vp with Herod the Tetrarch) and Saul.

42 Now as they ministred to the Lord, and fasted, the holy Ghost said, Separate mee

3 Then tasted they and prayed, and layd their hands on them, and let them goe.
4 And they, after they were sent forth of the holy Ghost, came downe vnto Seleucia, and from thence they sailed to Cyprus.
5 And when they were at Salamis, they preached the word of God in the Synagogues of the Iewes: and they had also Iohn to their minister.
6 So when they had gone throughout the Ile vnto Paphus, they found a certaine forcerer, a false Prophet, being a Iew, named Bar-ielus.
7 Which was with the Deputie Sergius Paulus, a prudent man. Hee called vnto him Barnabas and Saul, and desired to heare the word of God.
8 But Elymas, the forcerer (for so is his name by interpretation) withstood them, and sought to turne away the deputie fro the faith.
9 Then Paul (which also is called Paul) being full of the holy Ghost, set his eyes on him,
10 And said, O full of all subtiltie and all mischiefe, the childe of the deuill, and enemie of all righteousness, wilt thou not cease to peruert the straight wayes of the Lord?
11 Now therefore beholde, the hand of the Lord is vpon thee, and thou shalt be blind, and not see the sunne for a season. And immediately there fell on him a mist and a darkenesse, and he went about, seeking some to leade him by the hand.
12 Then the Deputie when hee saw what was done, beleueed, and was astonied at the doctrine of the Lord.
13 Now when Paul and they that were with him, were departed by ship from Paphus, they came to Perga a citie of Pamphylia: then Iohn departed from them, and returned to Hierusalem.
14 But when they departed from Perga, they came to Antiochia a citie of Pisidia, and went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath day, and sat downe.
15 And after the lecture of the Lawe and Prophets, the rulers of the Synagogue sent vnto them, saying, Ye men and brethren, if ye haue any word of exhortation for the people, say on.
16 Then Paul stood vp and beckened with the hand, and said, Men of Israel, and ye that feare God, hearken.

18 And about the time of fourtie yeeres, suffered he their manners in the wilderness.
19 And he destroyed seven nations in the land of Chanaan, and diuided their land to them by lot.
20 Then afterward he gaue vnto them Iudges about foure hundred and fiftie yeeres, vnto the time of Samuel the Prophet.
21 So after that, they desired a King, and God gaue vnto them Saul the sonne of Cis, a man of the tribe of Benjamin by the space of fortie yeeres.
22 And after hee had taken him away, hee raised vp Dauid to be their King, of whom he witnessed, saying, I haue found Dauid the sonne of Iesse, a man after mine owne heart, which will doe all things that I will.
23 Of this mans seed hath God according to his promise raised vp to Israel, the Sauiour Iesus:
24 When Iohn had first preached before his coming the baptisme of repentance to all the people of Israel.
25 And when Iohn had fulfilled his course, he said, Whom ye thinke that I am, I am not he: but behold, there cometh one after me, whose shoe of his feete I am not worthy to loofe.
26 Ye men and brethren, children of the generation of Abraham, & whosoever among you feareth God, to you is the word of this saluation sent.
27 For the inhabitants of Hierusalem, and their rulers, because they knew him not, nor yet the words of the Prophets, which are read euery Sabbath day, they haue fulfilled them in condemning him.
28 And though they found no cause of death in him, yet desired they Pilate to kill him.
29 And when they had fulfilled all things that were written of him, they tooke him down from the tree, and put him in a sepulchre.
30 But God raised him vp from the dead.
31 And he was seene many dayes of them, which came vp with him from Galile to Hierusalem, which are his witnesses vnto the people.
32 And we declare vnto you, that touching the promise made vnto the fathers, 33 God hath fulfilled it vnto vs their children, in that he raised vp Iesus, euen as it is written in the second Psalme, Thou art my sonne: this day haue I begotten thee.

45 But when the Iewes saw the people, they were full of enuie, and spake against those things which were spoken of Paul, contrarying them, and railing on them.

46 ¶ Then Paul and Barnabas spake boldly, and said, It was necessary that the word of God should first haue beene spoken vnto you: but seeing you put it from you, and iudge your selues vnworthy of euerlasting life, loe wee turne to the Gentiles.

47 Forsooth the Lord commaunded vs, saying, * I haue made thee a light of the Gentiles, that thou shouldest be the saluation vnto the end of the world.

C H A P. XIIII.

1 Paul and Barnabas * are persecuted from Iconium. 6 At Lystra Paul 18 braleth a creeple. 13 They are about to doe sacrifice vnto them, 15 but they forbid it. 19 Paul by the perswasion of certaine Iewes, is stoned: 23 From thence passing through diuers Churches, 26 They returne to Antiochia.

And it came to passe in * Iconium, that they went both together into the Synagogue of the Iewes, and so spake, that a great multitude both of the Iewes and of the Grecians beleueed.

2 And the vnbeleueing Iewes stirred vp, and corrupted the mindes of the Gentiles against the brethren.

3 So therefore they abode there a long time, and spake boldly in the Lord, which gave testimony vnto the word of his grace, & caused signes and wonders to be done by their hands.

4 But the multitude of the citie was diuided: and some were with the Iewes, and some with the Apostles.

5 And when there was an assault made both of the Gentiles, and of the Iewes with their rulers, to doe them violence, and to stone them,

6 They were ware of it, and * fled vnto Lystra, and Derbe, cities of Lyeaonia, and vnto the region round about,

7 And there preached the Gospel.

8 ¶ Now there sate a certaine man at Lystra, impotent in his feet, which was a creeple from his mothers wombe, who had neuer walked.

9 He heard Paul speake: who beholding him, and perceiuing that he had faith to be healed,

10 Said with a loud voice, Stand vp right on thy feet. And he leaped vp, and walked.

11 Then when the people sawe what Paul had done, they lift vp their voices, saying in the speech of Lyeaonia, Gods are come downe to vs in the likenesse of men.

12 And they called Barnabas, Iupiter: and Paul, Mercurius. because hee was the chiefe speaker.

13 Then Iupiters Priest, which was before their citie, brought bulles with garlands vnto the * gates, and would haue sacrificed with the people.

14 But when the Apostles, Barnabas and Paul heard it, they rent their clothes, and ranne in among the people, crying,

15 ¶ And saying, O men, why doe ye these things? We are euen men subiect to the * like passions that ye be, and preach vnto you, that ye should turne from these * vaine things vnto the the liuing God, * which made heauen and earth, and the sea, and all things that in them are.

16 Who in times past * suffered all the Gentiles to walke in their owne wayes.

17 Neuertheles, he left not himselfe without witnesse, in that hee did good and gaue vs raine from heauen, and fruitfull seasons, filling our hearts with food, and gladnesse.

18 And speaking these things, scarce appeared they the multitude, that they had not sacrificed vnto them.

19 Then there came certaine Iewes from Antiochia and Iconium, which when they had perswaded the people, * stoned Paul, and drew him out of the citie, supposing he had beene dead.

20 Howbeit, as the disciples stood about him, he arose vp, and came into the citie, and the next day he departed from Barnabas to Derbe.

21 And after they had preached the glad tidings of the Gospel to that citie, and had taught many, they returned to Lystra, and to Iconium, and to Antiochia,

22 Confirming the disciples hearts, and exhorting them to continue in the faith, affirming that wee must through many afflictions enter into the kingdome of God.

23 And when they had ordeined them Elders by election in euery Church, and prayed, and fasted, they commended them to the Lord in whom they beleueed.

24 Thus they went throughout Pisidia, and came to Pamphylia.

25 And when they had preached the word in Perga, they came downe to Attalia,

26 And thence sailed to Antiochia, * from whence they had bene commended vnto the grace of God, to the worke, which they had fulfilled.

27 And when they were come and had gathered the Church together, they rehearsed all the things that God had done by them, & how hee had opened the doore of faith vnto the Gentiles.

28 So there they abode a long time with the disciples.

1 Certaine goe about to bring in circumcision at Antiochia. 6 About which matter the Apostles consult. 19 & what must be done. 23 they declare by letters. 39 Paul and Barnabas 36 are at great variance.

Then came downe a certaine from Iudea, and taught the brethren, saying, Except ye be circumcised after the maner of Moses, yee cannot be saued.

2 And when there was great dissention, The first strife was concerning the office of Christ, whether wee be iued by his onely righte ouerle apprehended by faith, or we haue neede also to obserue the lawe. a Epiphanius is of opinion that this was Cerinthus. 3 Meetings of Congregations were instituted to suppress heresies, whereunto certaine were sent by common consent in the name of all.

and disputation by Paul and Barnabas against them, they ordeined that Paul and Barnabas, and certaine other of them, should goe vp to Hierusalem vnto the Apostles & Elders about this question.

3 Thus being brought forth by the Church, they passed through Phenice and Samaria, declaring the conuersion of the Gentiles, and they brought great ioy vnto all the brethren.

4 And when they were come to Ierusalem, they were receiued of the Church, and of the Apostles and Elders, and they declared what things God had done by them.

5 But said they, certaine of the sect of the Pharises, which did beleuee, rose vp, saying, that it was needfull to circuncise them, and to command them to keepe the lawe of Moses.

6 Then the Apostles and Elders came together to looke to this matter.

7 And when there had bene great disputation, Peter rose vp, and saide vnto them, * Ye men and brethren, yee know that a good while agoe, amongst vs God chose out me, that the Gentiles by my mouth should heare the word of the Gospel, and beleuee.

8 And God which knoweth the hearts, bare them witnesse, in giuing vnto them the holy Ghost euen as he did vnto vs.

9 And he put no difference betweene vs and them, after that * by faith he had purified their hearts.

10 Now therefore, why tempt yee God, to lay a yoke vpon the disciples necks, which neither our fathers, nor we were able to beare?

11 But we beleuee, through the grace of the Lord Iesus Christ to be saued, euen as they doe.

12 Then all the multitude kept silence, and heard Barnabas and Paul, which tolde what signes and wonders God had done among the Gentiles by them.

13 And when they held their peace, James answered, saying, Men and brethren, hearken vnto me.

14 Simeon hath declared how God first did visite the Gentiles, to take of them a people vnto his Name.

15 And to this agree the words of the Prophets, as it is written,

16 * After this I will returne, and will build againe the tabernacle of Daud, which is fallen downe, and the ruines thereof wil I build againe, and I will set it vp,

17 That the residue of men might seeke after the Lord, and all the Gentiles vpon whome my Name is called, saith the Lord which doeth all these things.

18 From the beginning of the world, God knoweth all his workes.

7 James confirmeth the calling of the Gentiles out of the word of God, therein agreeing to Peter. * Actes 9. 31. h And therefore nothing commeth to Paul by persons, but by Gods appointment.

8 In matters indifferent, we may so farre beare with the weakenes of our brethren, as they may have time to be instructed, 9 From sacrifices, or from things which were kept in Idoles temples. 10 In a lawfull Synode, neither they which are appointed and chosen Judges, appoint and determine any thing tyrannously or upon a lordliness, neither doeth the common multitude let themselves tumultuously against them which sit as Judges by the word of God: as the like order still is holden in publishing and ratifying those things which have bene so determined and agreed upon. 11 The Council of Hierusalem concluded, that they trouble mens consciences, which teach vs to seeke salvation in any other meane than in Christ only, apprehending by which, from whence cometh they come, & whom they pretend to be authors of their vocation. 12 From our congregation. 13 A forsworn multitude of such taken of them which pull downe that that was built up: and it is every wayfull metaphors in the Scriptures, to say the Church is built, for the Church is planted and established. 14 We have greatly feared their law. 15 That is, a lawfull Council, which the holy Ghost ruleth. 16 First they made mention of the holy Ghost, that he may not seeme to be any mans work. 17 Not that men use any authority of themselves, but to shew the faithfulness that they used in their ministerie and labour. 18 This was no precept necessary but in respect of the state of that time, that the Gentiles and the Jewes might peaceably live together with lesse occasion of quarrell. 19 Charitie is requisite even in things indifferent. 20 It is requisite for all people to know certainly what to hold in matters of faith and religion and not that the Church by ignorance & knowing nothing, should depend upon the pleasure of a few. 21 This is an Hebrew kinde of speech, which is as much to say, as the brethren wish: that them all prosperous successe, and the Church dismissed them with good leave.

19 Wherefore my sentence is, that wee trouble not them of the Gentiles that are turned to God,

20 But that we send vnto them, that they abstaine themselves from filthinesse of idoles, and fornication, and that is strangled, and from blood,

21 For Moses of old time hath in euery citie them that preach him, seeing hee is read in the Synagogues euery Sabbath day.

22 Then it seemed good to the Apostles and Elders with the whole Church, to send chosen men of their owne companie to Antiochia with Paul and Barnabas: to wit, Iudas whose surname was Barsabas, and Silas, which were chiefe men among the brethren,

23 And wrote letters by them after this manner, THE APOSTLES, and the Elders, and the brethren, vnto the brethren which are of the Gentiles in Antiochia, and in Syria, and in Cilicia, send greeting.

24 Forasmuch as we haue heard, that certaine which went out from vs, haue troubled you with words, and cumbered your mindes, saying, Yee must be circumcised and keepe the Law, to whome wee gaue no such commaundement,

25 It seemed therefore good to vs, when wee were come together with one accord, to send chosen men vnto you, with our beloved Barnabas and Paul,

26 Men that haue giuen vp their liues for the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ.

27 Wee haue therefore sent Iudas and Silas, which shall also tell you the same things by mouth.

28 For it seemed good to the holy Ghost, and to vs, to lay no more burthen vpon you, then these necessary things.

29 That is, that yee abstaine from things offered to idoles, and blood, and that that is strangled, and from fornication: from which if ye keepe your selues, ye shall doe well. Fare ye well.

30 Now when they were departed, they came to Antiochia, and after that they had assembled the multitude, they deliuered the Epistle.

31 And when they had read it, they reioyced for the consolation.

32 And Iudas and Silas being Prophets, exhorted the brethren with many words, and strengthened them.

33 And after they had taried there a space, they were let goe in peace of the brethren vnto the Apostles.

34 Notwithstanding Silas thought good to abide there still.

35 Paul also and Barnabas continued in Antiochia, teaching and preaching with many other, the word of the Lord.

36 ¶ But after certaine dayes, Paul sayd vnto Barnabas, Let vs returne, and visite our brethren in euery citie, where wee haue preached the word of the Lord, and see how they doe.

37 And Barnabas counselled to take with them Iohn, called Marke.

38 But Paul thought it not meete to take him vnto their company, which departed from them from Pamphylia, and went not with them to the worke.

39 Then were they so stirred, that they departed asunder one from the other, so that Barnabas tooke Marke, and sailed vnto Cyprus.

40 And Paul chose Silas and departed, being commended of the brethren vnto the grace of God.

41 And he went thorow Syria and Cilicia, stablishing the Churches.

¶ They were in great heat: But herein we haue to consider the force of Gods counsell: for by this means it came to passe, that the doctrine of the Gospel was exercised in many places.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Paul having circumcised Timotheus, 12 being at Philippi, 14 instructed Lydia in the faith. 16 The spirit of Diuination 18 was by him cast out: 20 and for that cause 22 they are whipped, 24 and imprisoned. 26 Through an earthquake 27 the prison doores are opened. 31. 32 The layler receiveth the faith.

¶ Then came hee to Derbe and to Lystra: and behold, a certaine disciple was there, named Timotheus, a womans sonne, which was a Jewesse and beleueed, but his father was a Grecian,

2 Of whom the brethren which were at Lystra and Iconium, reported well.

3 Therefore Paul would that hee should goe forth with him, and tooke and circumcised him, because of the Jewes, which were in those quarters: for they knew all, that his father was a Grecian.

4 And as they went through the cities, they deliuered them the decrees to keepe, ordeined of the Apostles and Elders, which were at Ierusalem.

5 And so were the Churches stablished in the faith, and increased in number daily.

6 ¶ Now when they had gone throughout Phrygia, and the region of Galatia, they were forbidden of the holy Ghost to preach the word in Asia.

7 Then came they to Mysia, and sought to goe into Bithynia: but the Spirit suffered them not.

8 Therefore they passed through Mysia, and came downe to Troas.

9 Where a vision appeared to Paul in the election, and the calling may proceed of grace. d Hee sheweth not why they were forbidden, but onely that they were forbidden teaching vs to obey, and not to enquire. 5 They are the ministers of the Gospel, by whom he helpeth such as are liket to perish.

14 Congregations or Churches doe easily degenerate, vnlesse they be diligently seene vnto, and therefore went these Apostles to ouersee such as they had planted, and for this cause also Synodes were instituted and appointed. 15 A lamentable example of discord between excellent men and very great friends, yet not for profane or their priuate affairs, neither yet for doctrine. 16 God visiteth the faults of his seruants to the profit and building of the Church: yet we haue to take heed, euen in the best matters, that we passe not measure in our heate.

1 Paul himselfe doth not receive Timothee into the ministerie without sufficient testimony, and allowance of the brethren. 2 Re. 16. 21. Phil. 2. 10. 1. Thess. 3. 2. 3 Paul in his latter Epistle to Timothee commendeth the godliness of Timothees mother and grandmother. 4 Both for his godliness & honestie. 5 Timothee is circumcised, not simply for any necessity, but in respect of the time only to win the Jewes. 6 Charitie is to be obserued in things indifferent, that so regard be had both of the weak, and the quierness of the Church. 7 These degrees which hee spake of in the former Chapter. 8 God appointeth certain and determinate times to open & seeke forth his truth, both the elect and the called. 9 Hee sheweth not why they were forbidden, but onely that they were forbidden teaching vs to obey, and not to enquire. 5 They are the ministers of the Gospel, by whom he helpeth such as are liket to perish.

night. There stood a man of Macedonia, and prayed him, saying, Come into Macedonia, and helpe vs.

6 The Saints did not easily beleue euery vision.

10 And after he had seene the vision, immediately we prepared to goe into Macedonia, being assured that the Lord had called vs to preach the Gospel vnto them.

11 Then went wee forth from Troas, and with a straight course came to Samothracia, and the next day to Neapolis,

7 God beginneth his kingdom in Macedonia by the conuersion of a woman, and so sheweth that there is no acceptation of persons in the Gospel.

¶ And from thence to Philippi, which is the chiefe citie in the parts of Macedonia, and whose inhabitants came from Rome to dwell there, and we were in that citie abiding certaine dayes.

13 And on the Sabbath day, we went out of the citie, besides a Riuer, where they were wont to pray: and we sat downe, and spake vnto the women, which were come together.

8 Where they were wont to assemble themselves.

14 And a certaine woman named Lydia, a seller of purple, of the citie of the Thyatirians, which worshipped God, heard vs: whose heart the Lord opened, that she attended vnto the things, which Paul spake.

9 The Lord only openeth the heart to heare the word which is preached.

15 And when she was baptized, and her household, she besought vs, saying, If yee haue iudged me to be faithfull to the Lord, come into mine house, and abide there: and shee constrained vs.

10 An example of a godly husband.

16 And it came to passe that as we went to prayer, a certaine maide hauing a spirit of diuination, met vs, which gate her masters much vantage with diuining.

11 Satan transformeth himselfe into an Angel of light, and couereth to enter by vndermining, but Paul openly letteth him, and casteth him out.

17 Shee followed Paul and vs, and cryed, saying, These men are the seruants of the most high God, which shew vnto you the way of saluation.

12 This is a proper note of Apello, which was wont to give answers to them that asked him.

18 And this did shee many dayes: but Paul being grieved, turned about, and said to the spirit, I command thee in the Name of Iesus Christ, that thou come out of her. And he came out the same houre.

13 Paul made no haste to this miracle, for he did all things as he was led by the Spirit.

19 Now when her masters sawe that the hope of their gaine was gone, they caught Paul and Silas, and drew them into the market place vnto the Magistrates, 14 Couetousnes of lucre & gaines is an occasion of persecuting the trueth. In the meane season, God sparing Timothy, calleth Paul and Silas as the stronger to battell.

20 And brought them to the gouernours, saying, These men which are Iewes, trouble our city, 15 Couetousnes pretendeth a desire of common peace and godlinesse.

21 And preach ordinances, which are not lawfull for vs to receiue, neither to obserue, seeing we are Romanes.

16 It is an argument of the deuill, to vrg the authoritie of an cesters without any distinction.

22 The people also rose vp together against them, and the gouernours rent their clothes, and commaunded them to be beaten with rods.

17 An example of euill Magistrates, to obey the furie and rage of the people.

23 And when they had beaten themfore, they cast them into prison, commaunding the Iayler to keepe them surely.

18 Because hee would be more sure of them, hee set them fast in the stocks.

24 Who hauing receiued such commandement, cast them into the inner prison, and made their feet fast in the stockes.

19 The prayers of the godly doe shake both heauen and earth.

25 Now at midnight Paul & Silas prayed, and sung Psalmes vnto God: and the prisoners heard them.

26 And suddenly there was a great earthquake: so that the foundation of the prison was shaken: and by and by all the doores opened, and euery mans bands were loosed.

27 Then the keeper of the prison waked out of his sleepe, and when hee saw the prison doores open, he drew out his sword and would haue killed himselfe, supposing the prisoners had bene fled.

16 The mercifull Lord, so oft as he lieth, d aweth men to life euenthrough the midst of death, & whereas iustly they deserued great punishment, he sheweth them great mercie.

28 But Paul cryed with a loud voice, saying, Doe thy selfe no harme: for wee are all here.

29 Then he called for a light, and leaped in, and came trembling, and fell downe before Paul and Silas, 17 In meane which are especially extraordinary, we ought not to moue our foot forward, vnlesse that God goe before vs.

30 And brought them out, and sayd, Sirs, what must I doe to be saved?

31 And they said, Beleeue in the Lord Iesus Christ, and thou shalt bee saued, and thine household.

32 And they preached vnto him the word of the Lord, and to all that were in the house.

33 Afterward hee tooke them the same houre of the night, and washed their stripes, and was baptized with all that belonged vnto him, straightway.

18 God with one like same hand woundeth and healeth when it pleaseth him.

34 And when hee had brought them into his house, hee set meate before them, and reioyced that hee with all his household beleued in God.

35 And when it was day, the gouernours sent the sergeants, saying, Let those men goe.

19 Shame and confusion is in proccesse of time the reward of wicked and vnjust Magistrates.

36 Then the keeper of the prison told these words vnto Paul, saying, The gouernours haue sent to loose you: now therefore get you hence, and goe in peace.

20 We must not render injury for injury, and yet not withstanding it is lawfull for vs to vie such helps as God giueth vs, to bridle the outrageousnesse of the wicked, that they hurt not other in like sort.

37 Then said Paul vnto them, After that they haue beaten vs openly vncondemned, which are Romanes, they haue cast vs into prison, and now would they put vs out priuily? nay verely: but let them come and bring vs out.

21 The wicked are not moued with the feare of God, but with the feare of men: and by that means also God prouideth for his when it is needfull.

38 And the sergeants tolde these words vnto the gouernours, who feared when they heard that they were Romanes.

39 Then came they and prayed them, and brought them out, and desired them to depart out of the citie.

40 And they went out of the prison, and entred into the house of Lydia: and when they had seene the brethren, they comforted them, and departed.

22 We may eschew dangers, so that we neuer neglect our duetie.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Paul at Thessalonica 3 preaching Christ, 6. 7 is entertained of Iason: 10 He is sent to Berea: 15 from thence comming to Athens, 19 in Mars street 23 hee preacheth the liuing God to them vnknown, 34 and so many are conuerted vnto Christ.

Now as they passed through Amphipolis, and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where was a Synagogue of the Iewes.

2 And The calling out of Silas and Paul was the saving of many other.

2 Christ is therefore the Mediator, because he was crucified and rose againe: much lesse is he to be rejected because the cross is ignominious.

3 Although the zeale of the vnfaithfull seeme neuer so goodly, yet at length it is found to haue neither truth nor equity. But yet the wicked cannot doe what they list, for euen among themselves God stirreth vp some, whose helpe he vseth to the deliuerance of his.

9 It is not forgaue that the Lewes of Berea were so commended, for they brought Paul safe from Macedonia Athens, and there is in distance betwixt those two, all The Galia, and Boetia, and Attica.

9 In comparing the wisdom of God with mans wisdom, men scoffe and mocke at that which they vnderstand not: And God vseth the curiouse of fooles to gather together his elect. f He could not forbear. g Slauishly giuen to idolatry: Paganus writeth that there were more idols in Athens then in all Grecia, yea they had always dedicated to Shame, and Feme, and Lust, whom they made goddes.

2 And Paul, as his manner was, went in vnto them, and three Sabbath dayes disputed with them by the Scriptures,

3 Opening, and alleading that Christ must haue suffered, and risen againe from the dead: and this is Iesus Christ, whom, said hee, I preach to you.

4 And some of them beleueed, and ioy- ned in company with Paul and Silas: also of the Grecians that feared God a great multi- tude, and of the chiefe women not a few.

5 But the Iewes which beleueed not, mooued with enuie, tooke vnto them certaine vagabonds, and wicked fellowes, and when they had assembled the multitude, they made a tumult in the citie, and made assault against the house of Iason, and sought to bring them out to the people.

6 But when they found them not, they drew Iason and certaine brethren vnto the heads of the citie, crying, These are they which haue subuerted the state of the world, and here they are,

7 Whom Iason hath receiued, and these all doe against the decrees of Cesar, saying that there is another King one Iesus.

8 Then they troubled the people, and the heads of the city, whē they heard these things,

9 Notwithstanding when they had receiued sufficient assurance of Iason and of the o- ther, they let them goe.

10 And the brethren immediatly sent a- way Paul and Silas by night vnto Berea, which when they were come thither, entred into the Synagogue of the Iewes.

11 These were also more noble men then they which were at Thessalonica, which recei- ued the word with all readinesse, and searched the Scriptures dayly, whether those things were so.

12 Therefore many of them beleueed, and of honest women, which were Grecians, and men not a few.

13 ¶ But when the Iewes of Thessalonica knew, that the word of God was also preached of Paul at Berea, they came thither also, and mooued the people.

14 But by and by the brethren sent away Paul to goe as it were to the sea: but Silas and Timotheus abode there still.

15 And they that did conduct Paul, brought him vnto Athens: and when they had receiued a commandement vnto Silas and Timotheus, that they should come to him at once, they departed.

16 ¶ Now while Paul waited for them at Athens, his spirit was stirred in him, when he saw the citie subiect to idolatrie.

17 Therefore he disputed in the Synagogue with the Iewes, and with them that were reli- gious, and in the market dayly with whomso- euer he met.

18 Then certaine Philosophers of the E- pictures, and of the Stoikes, disputed with him, and some said, What will this babbler say? O- thers said, He seemeth to be a setter forth of strange gods (because he preached vnto them Iesus, and the resurrection.)

19 And they tooke him, and brought him into Mars streete, saying, May we not know, what this new doctrine, whereof thou spea- kelt, is?

20 For thou bringest certain strange things vnto our eares: wee would know therefore, what these things meane.

21 For all the Athenians, and strangers which dwelt there, gaue themselves to nothing else, but either to tell, or to heare some newes.

22 Then Paul stood in the mids of Mars streete, and said, Yee men of Athens, I per- ceiue that in all things yee are too supersti- tious.

23 For as I passed by, and beheld your deu- otions, I found an altar wherein was writ- ten, VNTO THE VNKNOVEN GOD. Whom ye then ignorantly worship, him shew I vnto you.

24 God that made the world, and all things that are therein, seeing that he is Lord of heauen and earth, dwelleth not in temples made with hands,

25 Neither is worshipped with mens hands, as though he needed any thing, seeing he giueth to all life, and breath, and all things,

26 And hath made of one blood all mankinde, to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath assigned the seasons which were or- deined before, and the bounds of their habi- tation,

27 That they should seeke the Lord, if so be they might haue groped after him, and found him, though doublelesse he be not farre from euery one of vs.

28 For in him we liue, and mooue, and haue our being, as also certaine of your owne Poets haue sayd, For wee are also his genera- tion.

29 Forasmuch then, as we are the genera- tion of God, we ought not to thinke that the Godhead is like vnto golde, or siluer, or stone grauen by arte and the inuention of man.

30 And the time of this ignorance God

13 It is a most foolish and vaine thing to compare the Creator with the creature, to limit him within a place which can bee comprehended in no place, and to thinke to allure him with gifts, of whom all men haue receiued all things whatsoever they haue: And these are the fountaines of all idolatrie. Chap. 7. 48. * Psal. 50. 8. 14 God is wonderfull in all his workes, but especially in the worke of man: not that wee should stand amazed at his workes, but that we should lift our eyes to the workman.

b I haue searcht Paul met with, that would suffe him to talke with him, he reasoned with him so throughly did he burne with the zeale of Gods glory.

10 Two sectes especially of the Philo- sopher, do set themselves against Christ: the pictures, which make a mocke and scotie at all religions: and the Stoikes, which deter- mine vpon mat- ters of religion according to their owne braines.

i Word for word, I haue gathered: a borrowd kind of speech taken of birds which spoile corne, and is ap- plied to them which without all arte bluster out such knowledge as they haue got- ten by hearing this man and that man.

k This was a place called as you would say, Mars hill, where the Iude- ges sat, which were called Areo- pagita, vpon weighty affayres, which in old time arraigned Socras- tes and after con- demned him of impietie.

11 The wisdom of man is vaine.

12 The idolat- ers themselves minister most strong and for- cible argument against their own supersticio.

l T stand in too poore and stre- uile a feare of your gods.

m What fouer men worship for religious sake, that we call deuotion.

n Paganus in his Attick ma- ket mention of the altar which the Athenians had dedicated to vn- knowne gods: and Laertius in his Epimenides ma- keth mention of an altar that had no name intitled.

regarded

1 The casting out of Silas and Paul was the si- uing of many other.

regarded not: but now he admonisheth all men euery where to repent.

31 Because he hath appointed a day in the which he will iudge the world in righteousness, by that man whom he hath appointed, ^{whereof} he hath giuen an assurance to all men, in that he hath raised him from the dead.

32 Now when they heard of the resurrection from the dead, some mocked, and other said, We will heare thee againe of this thing.

33 And so Paul departed from among them.

34 Howbeit certaine men claue vnto Paul, and beleued: among whome was also Denys Arcopagita, and a woman named Damaris, and other with them.

CHAP. XVIII.

As Paul at Corinth 6 taught the Gentiles, 9 the Lord comforteth him. 12 He is accused before Gallio, 16 but in vaine: 18 From thence he sailed to Syria, 19 and so to Ephesus. 23 At Galatia and Phrygia hee strengtheneth his disciples. 24 Apollos being more perfectly instructed by Aquila, 28 preacheth Christ with great efficacy.

After these things, Paul departed from Athens, and came to Corinthus.

2 And found a certaine Iew named Aquila, borne in Pontus, lately come from Italie, and his wife Priscilla, (because that Claudius had commanded all Iewes to depart from Rome) and he came vnto them.

3 And because he was of the same craft, he abode with them and wrought (for their craft was to make tents)

4 And hee disputed in the Synagogue euery Sabbath day, and exhorted the Iewes, and the Grecians.

5 Now when Silas and Timotheus were come from Macedonia, Paul, forced in spirit, testified to the Iewes that Iesus was the Christ.

6 And when they resisted and blasphemed, hee shooke his raiment, and said vnto them, Your blood be vpon your owne head: I am cleane: from henceforth will I goe vnto the Gentiles.

7 So he departed thence, and entred into a certaine mans house, named Iustus, a worshipper of God, whose house ioyned hard to the Synagogue.

8 And Crispus the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue, beleued in the Lord with all his household: and many of the Corinthians hearing it, beleued and were baptized.

9 Then said the Lord to Paul in the night by a vision, Feare not, but speake and hold not thy peace.

10 For I am with thee, and no man shall lay hands on thee to hurt thee: for I haue much people in this citie.

11 So he continued there a yeere and fixe months, and taught the word of God among them.

12 ¶ Nowe when Gallio was deputie of Achaia, the Iewes arose with one accord against Paul, and brought him to the iudgement seate.

13 Saying, This fellow perswadeth men to worship God otherwise then the Lawe appointeth.

14 And as Paul was about to open his mouth, Gallio said vnto the Iewes, If it were a matter of wrong, or an euill deeде, O yee Iewes, I would according to reason maintaine you.

15 But if it be a question of wordes and names, and of your Lawe, looke yee to it your selues: for I will bee no iudge of those things.

16 And he draue them from the iudgement seate.

17 Then tooke all the Grecians Sosthenes the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue, and beat him before the iudgement seate: but Gallio cared nothing for those things.

18 ¶ But when Paul had taried there yet a good while, hee tooke leaue of the brethren and sailed into Syria (and with him Priscilla and Aquila) after that he had shorne his head in Cenchrea: for he had a vow.

19 Then he came to Ephesus, and left them there: but he entred into the Synagogue, and disputed with the Iewes.

20 ¶ Who desired him to tarie a longer time with them: but he would not consent,

21 But bade them farewell, saying, I must needs keepe this feast that commeth, in Ierusalem: but I will returne againe vnto you, if God will. So he sailed from Ephesus.

22 ¶ And when he came downe to Cenchrea, he went vp to Ierusalem: and when he had saluted the Church, he went downe vnto Antiochia.

23 Now when he had taried there a while, he departed, and went through the countrey of Galatia and Phrygia by order, strengthening all the disciples.

24 ¶ And a certaine Iew, named Apollos, borne at Alexandria, came to Ephesus, an eloquent man, and mightie in the Scriptures.

25 The same was instructed in the way of the Lorde, and hee spake feruently in the Spirit, and taught diligently the things of the Lord, and knew but the baptisme of Iohn onely.

26 And he began to speake boldly in the Synagogue. Whom when Aquila and Priscilla had heard, they tooke him vnto them, and expounded vnto him the way of God more perfectly.

27 ¶ So he came to the city of Corinth, and went into the Synagogue, and taught there.

28 ¶ And as hee taught there, came Crispus the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue, and all his house, and they were baptized, along with many of the Corinthians, which hee had taught.

29 ¶ And when Gallio was deputie of Achaia, the Iewes arose with one accord against Paul, and brought him to the iudgement seate.

30 ¶ Saying, This fellow perswadeth men to worship God otherwise then the Lawe appointeth.

31 ¶ And as Paul was about to open his mouth, Gallio said vnto the Iewes, If it were a matter of wrong, or an euill deeде, O yee Iewes, I would according to reason maintaine you.

33 ¶ And he draue them from the iudgement seate.

34 ¶ Then tooke all the Grecians Sosthenes the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue, and beat him before the iudgement seate: but Gallio cared nothing for those things.

35 ¶ But when Paul had taried there yet a good while, hee tooke leaue of the brethren and sailed into Syria (and with him Priscilla and Aquila) after that he had shorne his head in Cenchrea: for he had a vow.

37 ¶ Who desired him to tarie a longer time with them: but he would not consent,

38 But bade them farewell, saying, I must needs keepe this feast that commeth, in Ierusalem: but I will returne againe vnto you, if God will. So he sailed from Ephesus.

39 ¶ And when he came downe to Cenchrea, he went vp to Ierusalem: and when he had saluted the Church, he went downe vnto Antiochia.

40 ¶ Now when he had taried there a while, he departed, and went through the countrey of Galatia and Phrygia by order, strengthening all the disciples.

43 ¶ And he began to speake boldly in the Synagogue. Whom when Aquila and Priscilla had heard, they tooke him vnto them, and expounded vnto him the way of God more perfectly.

44 ¶ So he came to the city of Corinth, and went into the Synagogue, and taught there.

45 ¶ And as hee taught there, came Crispus the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue, and all his house, and they were baptized, along with many of the Corinthians, which hee had taught.

46 ¶ And when Gallio was deputie of Achaia, the Iewes arose with one accord against Paul, and brought him to the iudgement seate.

47 ¶ Saying, This fellow perswadeth men to worship God otherwise then the Lawe appointeth.

48 ¶ And as Paul was about to open his mouth, Gallio said vnto the Iewes, If it were a matter of wrong, or an euill deeде, O yee Iewes, I would according to reason maintaine you.

49 ¶ But if it be a question of wordes and names, and of your Lawe, looke yee to it your selues: for I will bee no iudge of those things.

50 ¶ And he draue them from the iudgement seate.

63 ¶ And when Gallio was deputie of Achaia, the Iewes arose with one accord against Paul, and brought him to the iudgement seate.

64 ¶ Saying, This fellow perswadeth men to worship God otherwise then the Lawe appointeth.

65 ¶ And as Paul was about to open his mouth, Gallio said vnto the Iewes, If it were a matter of wrong, or an euill deeде, O yee Iewes, I would according to reason maintaine you.

66 ¶ But if it be a question of wordes and names, and of your Lawe, looke yee to it your selues: for I will bee no iudge of those things.

67 ¶ And he draue them from the iudgement seate.

68 ¶ Then tooke all the Grecians Sosthenes the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue, and beat him before the iudgement seate: but Gallio cared nothing for those things.

69 ¶ But when Paul had taried there yet a good while, hee tooke leaue of the brethren and sailed into Syria (and with him Priscilla and Aquila) after that he had shorne his head in Cenchrea: for he had a vow.

70 ¶ Then he came to Ephesus, and left them there: but he entred into the Synagogue, and disputed with the Iewes.

71 ¶ Who desired him to tarie a longer time with them: but he would not consent,

72 But bade them farewell, saying, I must needs keepe this feast that commeth, in Ierusalem: but I will returne againe vnto you, if God will. So he sailed from Ephesus.

73 ¶ And when he came downe to Cenchrea, he went vp to Ierusalem: and when he had saluted the Church, he went downe vnto Antiochia.

74 ¶ Now when he had taried there a while, he departed, and went through the countrey of Galatia and Phrygia by order, strengthening all the disciples.

75 ¶ And a certaine Iew, named Apollos, borne at Alexandria, came to Ephesus, an eloquent man, and mightie in the Scriptures.

76 ¶ The same was instructed in the way of the Lorde, and hee spake feruently in the Spirit, and taught diligently the things of the Lord, and knew but the baptisme of Iohn onely.

77 ¶ And he began to speake boldly in the Synagogue. Whom when Aquila and Priscilla had heard, they tooke him vnto them, and expounded vnto him the way of God more perfectly.

78 ¶ So he came to the city of Corinth, and went into the Synagogue, and taught there.

27 And when hee was minded to goe into Achaia, the brethren exhorting him, wrote to the disciples to receiue him: and after hee was come thither, he holpe them much which had beleueed through grace.

28 For mightily he confuted publickly the Iewes, with great vehemencie, shewing by the Scriptures, that Iesus was that Christ.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Certaine disciples at Ephesus, 2 hauing onely receiued Iohns baptisme, 3 and knew not the visible giftes of the holy Ghost wherewith God had beautified his samer kingdome. 4 are baptized in the Name of Iesus. 5 The Iewish exorcists 16 are beaten of the deuill. 19 Conuincing bookes are burnt. 24 Demetrius 29 raiseth sedition against Paul.

And it came to passe, while Apollos was at Corinthus, that Paul when hee passed thorow the vpper coasts, came to Ephesus, and found certaine disciples,

2 And said vnto them, Haue yee receiued the holy Ghost since ye beleueed? And they said vnto him, We haue not so much as heard whether there be an holy Ghost.

3 And hee said vnto them, Vnto what were ye then baptized? And they said, Vnto Iohns baptisme.

4 Then said Paul, Iohn verely baptized with the baptisme of repentance, saying vnto the people, that they should beleuee in him which should come after him, that is, in Christ Iesus.

5 And when they heard it, they were baptized in the Name of the Lord Iesus.

6 So Paul laid his hands vpon them, and the holy Ghost came on them, and they spake the tongues and prophced.

7 And all the men were about twelue.

8 Moreover hee went into the Synagogue, and spake boldly for the space of three moneths, disputing & exhorting to the things that appertaine to the kingdome of God.

9 But when certaine were hardened, and disobeyed, speaking euill of the way of God before the multitude, he departed from them, and separated the disciples, and dispued daily in the schoole of one Tyrannus.

10 And this was done by the space of two yeeres, so that all they which dwelt in Asia, heard the word of the Lord Iesus, both Iewes and Grecians.

11 And God wrought no small miracles by the hands of Paul,

12 So that from his body were brought vnto the sicke, kerchiefes, or handkerchiefes, and the diseases departed from them, and the euill spirits went out of them.

13 Then certaine of the vagabond Iewes, tooke in hand to name ouer them which had euill spirits, the Name of the Lord Iesus, saying, We adiuere you by Iesus, whom Paul preacheth.

14 (And there were certaine sons of Sceua a Iew, the Priest, about seuen which did this)

15 And the euill spirit answered, and said, Iesus I acknowledge, and Paul I knowe: but who are yee?

16 And the man in whom the euill spirit was, ranne on them, and ouercame them, and prevailed against them, so that they fled out of that house naked, and wounded.

17 And this was knowne to all the Iewes and Grecians also, which dwelt at Ephesus, and feare came on them all, and the Name of the Lord Iesus was magnified,

18 And many that beleueed, came and confessed, and shewed their workes.

19 Many of them also which vsed curious artes, brought their bookes, and burned them before all men: and they counted the price of them, and found it fittie thousand pieces of siluer.

20 So the word of God grew mightily, and prevailed.

21 Now when these things were accomplished, Paul purposed by the Spirit to passe through Macedonia and Achaia, and to goe to Hierusalem, saying, After I haue benee there, I must also see Rome.

22 So sent he into Macedonia two of them that ministered vnto him, Timotheus and Erastus, but he remained in Asia for a season.

23 And the same time there arose no small trouble about that way.

24 For a certaine man named Demetrius a siluer smith, which made siluer Temples of Diana, brought great gaines vnto the craftsmen,

25 Whom hee called together, with the workemen of like things, and said, Sirs, yee know that by this craft we haue our goods:

26 Moreover yee see and heare, that not alone at Ephesus, but almost throughout all Asia this Paul hath perswaded, and turned away much people, saying, That they be not gods which are made with hands.

27 So that not onely this thing is dangerous vnto vs, that this our portion shall be reprinted, but also that the temple of the great goddesse Diana should be nothing esteemed, and that it would come to passe that her magnificence, which all Asia and the world worshippeth, should be destroyed.

28 Now when they heard it, they were full of wrath, and cryed out, saying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.

29 And the whole citie was full of confusion, and they rushed into the common place with one assent, and caught Gaius, and Aristarchus, men of Macedonia, and Pauls companions of his iourney.

30 And when Paul would haue entred in vnto the people, the disciples suffered him not.

31 Certaine also of the chiefe of Asia which were his friends, sent vnto him, desiring him that he would not present himselfe in the Common place.

9 In stead of reason, the idolaters are sufficiently contented with their owne madnesse & outcries, and these are the greatest defences that they haue.
10 An example of a politike man, who redemeth peace and quietnesse which lies, which Paul would neuer haue done.
11 The Ephesians believed superstitiously, that the image of Diana came downe from heauen to them.
12 Hee sought to accuse any man at 13 For there are certaine dayes appointed for ciuill causes or matters of iudgement, and the Deputies sit.

15 He speaketh of a lawfull assembly not only to except against the disorderd burly burly of the people, but also against all meeting and coming together which was not by order: for there were certaine dayes appointed to call people together in.

32 Some therefore cried one thing, and some another: for the assembly was out of order, and the more part knew not wherefore they were come together.

33 And some of the company drew forth Alexander, the Iewes thrusting him forwards, Alexander then beckeoned with the hand, and would haue excused the matter to the people.

34 But when they knewe that hee was a Iewe, then arose a shout almost for the space of two houres, of all men crying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.

35 Then the Towne-clerke when he had stayed the people, sayd, Yee men of Ephesus, what man is it that knoweth not how that the cite of the Ephesians is a worshipper of the great god Iesse Diana, and of the image, which came downe from Iupiter?

36 Saying then that no man can speake against these things, yee ought to be appeased, and to doe nothing rashly.

37 For yee haue brought hither these men, which haue neither committed sacriledge, neither doct blaspheme your goddesse.

38 Wherefore, if Demetrius and the craftsmen, which are with him, haue a matter against any man, the lawe is open, and there are Deputies: let them accuse one another.

39 But if ye inquire any thing concerning other matters, it may be determined in a lawfull assembly.

40 For we are euen in iopardie to be accused of this dayes sedition, for as much as there is no cause, whereby we may giue a reason of this course of people.

41 And when he had thus spoken, hee let the assembly depart.

C H A P. XX.

1 Paul appointed to goe to Macedonia. 7 In Troas preaching vntill midnight, 9 Eutychus fell downe dead out of a window, 10 hee raised him to life: 13 At Miletum, 17 hauing called the Elders of Ephesus together, 23 hee declareth what things shall come vpon himselfe, 28 and others.

NOW after the tumult was appeased, Paul called the disciples vnto him, and embraced them, and departed to go into Macedonia.

2 And when hee had gone through those parts, and had exhorted them with many words, he came into Grecia.

3 And hauing taried there three moneths, because the Iewes laid wait for him, as hee was about to saile into Syria, hee purposed to returne through Macedonia.

4 And there accompanied him into Asia, Sopater of Berea, and of them of Thessalonica, Aristarchus, and Secundus, and Gaius of Derbe, and Timotheus, and of them of Asia, Ty-chicus, and Trophimus.

5 These went before, and taried vs at Troas.

6 And we sailed forth from Philippi, after the dayes of vnleauened bread, and came vnto them to Troas in fve dayes, where we abode seuen dayes.

7 And the first day of the weeke, the disciples being come together to breake bread, Paul preached vnto them, ready to depart on the morrow, and continued the preaching vnto midnight.

8 And there were many lights in an upper chamber, where they were gathered together.

9 And there sat in a window a certaine yong man named Eutychus, fallen into a dead sleepe: and as Paul was long preaching, hee overcame with sleepe fell downe from the third loft, and was taken vp dead.

10 But Paul went downe, and laid himselfe vpon him, and embraced him, saying, Trouble not your selues: for his life is in him.

11 Then when Paul was come vp againe, and had broken bread, and eaten, hauing spoken a long while till the dawning of the day, he so departed.

12 And they brought the boy aliue, and they were not a little comforted.

13 Then we went before to ship, and sailed vnto the isle Assos, that we might receiue Paul there: for so had he appointed and would himselfe goe aloofe.

14 Now when he was come vnto vs to Assos, and we had receiued him, we came to Mitylenes.

15 And we sailed thence, and came the next day ouer against Chios, and the next day we arriued at Samos, and taried at Trogyllium: the next day we came to Miletum.

16 For Paul had determined to saile by Ephesus, because hee would not spend the time in Asia: for hee hasted to be, if hee could possible, at Hierusalem at the day of Pentecost.

17 Wherefore from Miletum, hee sent to Ephesus, & called the Elders of the Church.

18 Who when they were come to him, he said vnto them, Yee know from the first day that I came into Asia, after what manner I haue bene with you at all seasons,

19 Seruing the Lorde with all modestie, and with many teares, and tentations, which came vnto mee by the layings awaite of the Iewes,

20 And how I kept backe nothing that was profitable, but haue shewed you, & taught you openly and throughout euery house,

21 Witnessing both to the Iewes, and to the Grecians the repentance toward God, and faith toward our Lord Iesus Christ.

22 And now behold, I goe bound in the Spirit vnto Hierusalem, and know not what things shall come vnto me there, 23 Saue that the holy Ghost witnesseth in euery cite, saying, that bonds and afflictions abide me.

24 But I passe not at all, neither is my life deare vnto my selfe, so that I may fulfill my course

3 Assemblies in the night time cannot be iustly condemned, neither ought, while the cause is good.

4 Word for word, the first day of the Sabbath, that is, upon the Lords day: so that by this place, and by 1 Cor 16.2, it is not amiss gathered, that in those dayes the Christians were wont to assemble themselves solemnly together upon that day.

5 The devil minding to trouble the Church with a great offence, giueh Paul a singular occasion to confirme the Gospel.

6 Paul an earnest and diligent follower of Christ, making halfe to his bonds without any ceasing or stopping in his race, doeth first of all as it were make his testament, wherein he giueh an account of his former life, defendeth the doctrine which he taught, and exhorteth the Pastors of the Church to perseuere and goe forward with continuance in their office.

7 According to the situation of these places in this isle, the distance betwene Ephesus and Miletum, was about 400, furlongs, which maketh almost fiftie dutch miles.

8 A lively image of a true Pastor, who refrained not to speake, neither dissimiled in any respect whatsoever, rather for feare or lucre, sake.

9 He testifieth that hee goeth to his bonds by the commandement of God.

10 He calleth that mission of the holy Ghost, which enforced him to take his iourney to Hierusalem, the bond of the Spirit, which he followed with all his heart.

1 Paul departeth from Ephesus by the consent of the Church, not to be idle or at rest, but to take paines in another place.
2 A former so great trouble, there was neede of a long exhortation.
3 A forward zeale is the guide and instructor to murders: and we are not debarred by the wisdom of God to prevent the endeauours of wicked men.

11 He taried at Troas, and ended his iourney to Hierusalem, the bond of the Spirit, which he followed with all his heart.

course with ioy, and the ministration which I haue receiued of the Lord Iesus, to retestifie the Gospel of the grace of God.

25 And now behold, I know that hence-foorth ye all, through whom I haue gone preaching the kingdom of God, shall see my face no more.

26 Wherefore I take you to record this day, that I am pure from the blood of all men.

27 For I haue kept nothing backe, but haue shewed you all the counsell of God.

28 Take heede therefore vnto your selues, and all the flocke, wherof the holy Ghost hath made you ouerscers, to feed the Church of God, which he hath purchased with that his owne blood.

29 For I know this, that after my departing shal grievous wolves enter in among you, not sparing the flocke.

30 Moreouer of your owne selues shal men arise speaking peruerse things, to draw disciples after them.

31 Therefore watch, and remember, that by the space of three yeres I ceased not to warne euery one, both night and day with teares.

32 And now brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build further, and to giue you an inheritance among all them, which are sanctified.

33 I haue coueted no mans siluer, nor golde, nor apparell.

34 Yea, ye know that these hands haue ministrated vnto my necessities, and to them that were with me.

35 I haue shewed you all things, how that so labouring, ye ought to support the weake, and to remember the words of the Lord Iesus, how that hee said, It is a blessed thing to giue, rather then to receiue.

36 And when he had thus spoken, he kneeled downe, and prayed with them all.

37 Then they wept all abundantly, and fell on Pauls necke, and kissed him,

38 Being chiefly fory for the words which heespake, That they should see his face no more. And they accompanied him vnto the shippe.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Paul goeth toward Hierusalem. 8 At Cesarea hee talketh with Philip the Euangelist. 10 Agabus foretelleth him of his bonds. 17 After he came to Hierusalem, 26 and into the Temple, 27 the Iewes laide hands on him. 32
Lyfias the captaine taketh him from them.

And as we lanced forth, and were departed from them, wee came with a straight course vnto Coos, and the day following vnto the Rhodes, and from thence vnto Patara.

2 And wee found a shippe that went ouer

vnto Phenice, and went aboard, and set foorth.

3 And when wee had discovered Cyprus, wee left it on the left hand, and sailed toward Syria, and arriued at Tyrus: for there the ship vnladed the burden.

4 And when we had found disciples, we taried there seuen dayes. And they tolde Paul through the Spirit, that he should not goe vp to Hierusalem.

5 But when the dayes were ended, wee departed and went our way, and they all accompanied vs with their wiues and children, euen out of the citie: and we kneeling downe on the shore, prayed.

6 Then when we had embraced one another, we tooke ship, and they returned home.

7 And when we had ended the course from Tyrrus, wee arriued at Ptolemais, and saluted the brethren, and abode with them one day.

8 And the next day, Paul and we that were with him, departed, and came vnto Cesarea:
and wee entred into the house of Philip the Euangelist, which was one of the seuen Deacons, and abode with him.

9 Now hee had foure daughters virgines, which did prophetic.

10 And as wee taried there many dayes, there came a certaine Prophet from Iudea, named Agabus.

11 And when he was come vnto vs, he tooke Pauls girdle, and bound his owne handes and feete, and said, Thus sayth the holy Ghost, So shall the Iewes at Hierusalem binde the man that oweth this girdle, and shall deliuer him into the hands of the Gentiles.

12 And when wee had heard these things, both we and other of the same place besought him that he would not goe vp to Hierusalem.

13 Then Paul answered, and saide, What doe ye weeping and breaking mine heart? For I am readie not to bee bound onely, but also to die at Hierusalem for the Name of the Lord Iesus.

14 So when hee would not be perswaded, we ceased saying, The wil of the Lord be done.

15 And after those dayes we trusted vp our fardels, and went vp to Hierusalem.

16 There went with vs also certaine of the disciples of Cesarea, and brought with them one Mnason of Cyprus, an olde disciple, with whom we should lodge.

17 And when we were come to Hierusalem, the brethren receiued vs gladly.

18 And the next day Paul went in with vs vnto Iames: and all the Elders were there assembled.

19 And when he had embraced them, he told by order all things, that God had wrought among the Gentiles by his ministration.

20 So when they heard it, they glorified
God, and said vnto him, Thou seeest, brother, how many thousand Iewes there are which beleeue, and they are all zealous of the Law:

21 Now they are informed of thee, that thou teachest all the Iewes, which are among the Gentiles, to forsake Moses, and sayest that they ought not to circumcise their sonnes, neither to liew after the customes.

22 What is then to be done? the multitude must needs come together: for they shal heare that thou art come.

23 Doe therefore this that wee say to thee. We haue foure men, which haue made a vow,

24 Them take, and ^dpurifie thy selfe with them, and ^econtribute with them, that they may ^fhaue their heads: & all shal know, that those things, whereof they haue been informed concerning thee, are nothing, but that thou thy selfe also walkest and keepest the Law.

25 For as touching the Gentiles, which beleue, we haue written, and determined that they obserue no such thing, but that they keep themselves from things offered to idoles, and from blood, and from that that is strangled, and from fornication.

26 Then Paul tooke the men, and the next day was purified with them, & entred into the Temple, ^gdeclaring the accomplishment of the dayes of the purification, vntill that an offering should be offered for euery one of them.

27 And when the seuen dayes were almost ended, the Iewes which were of Asia (when they sawe him in the Temple) moued all the people, and laid hands on him,

28 Crying, Men of Israel, helpe: this is the man that teacheth all men euery where against the people, and the Law, and this place: moreover, he hath brought Grecians into the Temple, and hath polluted this holy place.

29 For they had seene before Trophimus an Epheſian with him in the citie, whome they supposed that Paul had brought into the Temple.

30 Then all the citie was moued, and the people ranne together: and they tooke Paul, and drew him out of the Temple, and forthwith the doores were shut.

31 But as they went about to kill him, tidings came vnto the chiefe captaine of the band, that all Hierusalem was on an uproare.

32 Who immediatly tooke souldiers and Centurions, and ranne downe vnto them: and when they sawe the chiefe captaine and the souldiers, they left beating of Paul.

33 Then the chiefe captaine came neere and tooke him, and commanded him to bee bound with two chaines, and demanded who he was, and what he had done.

34 And one cryed this, another that, among the people. So when he could not know the certaintie for the tumult, he commanded him to be led ipto the castle.

35 And when he came vnto the grieces, it was so that he was borne of the souldiers, for the violence of the people.

36 For the multitude of the people followed after, crying, Away with him.

37 And as Paul should haue bene led into the castle, he said vnto the chiefe captaine. May I speake vnto thee? Who said, Canst thou speake Greeke?

38 Art not thou the Egyptian who before these dayes raised a sedition, and led out into the wilderness foure thousand men that were murthers?

39 The Paul said, Doubtlesse, I am a man which am a Iewe, and citizen of Tarsus, a famous citie in Cilicia, and I beseech thee, suffer me to speake vnto the people.

40 And when hee had given him licence, Paul stood on the grieces, and beckened with the hand vnto the people: and when there was made great silence, hee spake vnto them in the Hebrew tongue, saying,

CHAP. XXII.

1 Paul yeeldeth a reason of his faith, 22 and the Iewes heare him a while. 32 But so soone as they cryed out, 24 hee is commanded to be scourged and examined, 27 and so declareth that he is a citizen of Rome.

YE men, brethren and fathers, heare my defence now towards you.

2 (And when they heard that he spake in the Hebrew tongue to them, they kept the more silence, and he said)

3 I am verely a man, which am a Iewe, borne in Tarsus in Cilicia, but brought vp in this citie at the feete of Gamaliel, and instructed according to the perfect manner of the Law of the Fathers, and was zealous toward God, as ye all are this day.

4 And I persecuted this way vnto the death, binding and deliuering into prison both men and women.

5 As also the chiefe Priest doeth beare me witnesse, and all the company of the Elders, of whom also I receiued letters vnto the brethren, and went to Damascus to bring them which were there, bound vnto Hierusalem, that they might be punished.

6 And so it was, as I iourneyed and was come neere vnto Damascus about noone, that suddenly there shone from heauen a great light round about me.

7 So I fell vnto the earth, and heard a voice, saying vnto mee, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

8 Then I answered, Who art thou, Lord? And hee said to me, I am Iesus of Nazareth, whom thou persecutest.

9 Moreouer they that were with me, saw in deed a light and were afraid: but they heard not the voice of him that spake vnto me.

10 Then I said, What shall I doe, Lord? And the Lord said vnto me, Arise, and goe into Damascus: and there it shall be tolde thee of all things, which are appointed for thee to doe.

11 So when I could not see for the glory of that light, I was led by the hand of them that were with me, and came into Damascus.

^d That is, consecrate thy selfe: for hee speaketh not here of the unclean, but of such as be subject to the vow of the Nazarites.
^e That is, may be known, that thou wast not only present at the vow, but also a chiefe man in it: and therefore it is said afterwards, that Paul declared the dayes of purification: for although the charges for the Nazarites offerings were appointed, yet they might add somewhat vnto them, Num. 6. 3. 1.
^f Chap. 18. 18.
^g The Priests were to be aduertised of the accomplishment of the dayes of the purification, because there were sacrifices to be offered the same day, that their vow was ended.
^h A preposterous zeale is the cause of great confusion, and great mischiefs.

⁶ God findeth some euen amongst the wicked and profane themselves, to hinder the endeours of the rest.

^g Touching this Egyptian which assembled a thicke throng, and many read Iosaphat Chap. 12.

¹ Paul making a short declaration of his former life, prooeth both his vocation and doctrine to be of God.

^a That is, his daily hearer: the reason of this speech is this, for that they which teach, sit commonly in the higher place, speaking to their scholars: which is upon forme: beneath: and therefore he sayth, at the feete of Gamaliel.

would neither eate nor drinke, till they had killed Paul.

13 And they were more then fortie, which had made this conspiracie.

14 And they came to the chiefe Priests and Elders, and saide, Wee haue bound our selues with a solemne curse, that we will earnothing, vntill we haue slaine Paul.

2 Te and the Senate requiring the same to be done, lest that the Tribune should thinke that it was demanded of him at some private mans suite.

15 Now therefore, yee and the 8 Council signifie to the chiefe captaine, that hee bring him forth vnto you to morrow, as though you would knowe some thing more perfectly of him, and we, or euer he come neere, will be readie to kill him.

16 But when Pauls sisters sonne heard of their laying await, hee went, and entred into the castle, and tolde Paul.

11 The wisdoms of the Spirit must be ioynd with simplicitie.

17 And Paul called one of the Centurions vnto him, and saide, Take this young man hence vnto the chiefe captaine: for hee hath a certaine thing to shew him.

18 So hee tooke him, and brought him to the chiefe captaine, and said, Paul the prisoner called mee vnto him, and prayed mee to bring this young man vnto thee, which hath some thing to say vnto thee.

19 Then the chiefe captaine tooke him by the hand, and went apart with him alone, and asked him, What hast thou to shew me?

20 And he said, The Iewes haue conspired to desire thee, that thou wouldest bring forth Paul to norow into the Council, as though they would inquire somewhat of him more perfectly:

21 But let them not perswade thee: for there lie in waite for him of them, more then fortie men, which haue bound themselves with a curse, that they will neither eate nor drinke, till they haue killed him: and now are they readie, and waite for thy promise.

12 There is no counsell against the Lord and his seruants. If Greke, that thou hast feared these things to me.

22 The chiefe captaine then let the yong man depart, after hee had charged him to vtter it to no man, that hee had shewed him these things.

23 And hee called vnto him two certaine Centurions, saying, Make ready two hundred souldiers, that they may goe to Cesarea, and horsemen threescore and tenne, and two hundred with darters, at the third houre of the night.

24 And let them make readie an horse, that Paul being set on, may bee brought safe vnto Felix the Gouvernour.

13 Lysias is suddenly made by the Lord, Pauls patrone.

25 And he wrote an Epistle in this maner: 26 Claudius Lysias vnto the most noble Gouvernour Felix sendeth greeting.

27 As this man was taken of the Iewes, and should haue bene killed of them, I came vpon them with the garison, and rescued him, perceiuing that he was a Romane.

28 And when I would haue knowen the cause, wherefore they accused him, I brought him forth into their Council.

29 There I perceiued that hee was accused of questions of their Law, but had no crime worthy of death, or of bonds.

30 And when it was shewed me, how that the Iewes laide waite for the man, I sent him straightway to thee, and commaunded his accusers to speake before thee the things that they had against him. Farewell.

31 Then the souldiers as is was commaunded them, tooke Paul, & brought him by night to Antipatris.

32 And the next day, they left the horsemen to goe with him, and returned vnto the castle.

33 Now when they came to Cesarea, they deliuered the Epistle to the Gouvernour, and presented Paul also vnto him.

34 So when the Gouvernour had read it, he asked of what prouince hee was: and when he vnderstood that he was of Cilicia, 35 I will heare thee, said hee, when thine accusers also are come, and commaunded him to be kept in Herods iudgement hall.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 Tertullus accuseth Paul: 10 He answereth for himselfe. 21 He preacheth Christ to the Gouvernour and his wife. 27 Felix hopeth, but in vaine, to receive a bribe, 28 who going from his office, leaueth Paul in prison.

Now¹ after fise dayes, Ananias the high Priest came downe with the Elders, and with Tertullus a certaine oratour, which appeared before the Gouvernour against Paul.

2 And when he was called forth, Tertullus began to accuse him, saying, Seeing that we haue obtained great quietnesse,^a through thee, and that many^b worthy things are done vnto this nation through thy prouidence,

3 Wee acknowledge it wholly, and in all places most noble Felix, with all thanks.

4 But that I bee not tedious vnto thee, I pray thee, that thou wouldest heare vs of thy curtesie a fewe words.

5 Certainly wee haue found this man a pestilent fellow, and a moouer of sedition among all the Iewes throughout the world, and a chiefe maintainer of the sect of the Nazarites:

6 And hath gone about to pollute the temple: therefore wee tooke him, and would haue iudged him according to our Law:

7 But the chiefe captaine Lysias came vpon vs, and with great violence tooke him out of our hands,

8 Commanding his accusers to come to thee: of whom thou mayest (if thou wilt enquire) know all these things whereof wee accuse him.

9 And the Iewes likewise^f affirmed, saying that it was so.

10² Then Paul after that the Gouvernour had beckened vnto him that he should speake, f Confirmed Tertullus his saying. 2 Tertullus by the deuils rhetoricke beginning with flattery, maketh an end with lies: but Paul vying heavenly eloquence, and but a simple beginning, casteth off from himselfe the crime of sedition, wherewith hee was burdened, with a simple deniall.

answered,

Paul pleaded his cause two yeeres before Felix departed out of the province Chap. 27. but he had governed Trebonius and Sabinus, and Gallus, before that Claudius made him governor of Iudaea.

Josephus writes his story of the Iewes wars, lib. 2. cap. 11.

They cannot lay forth before thee, and promise by good reasons.

3 Paul goeth in the case of religion, from a state of civill to a state of quality, not only not denying that religion which was objected against him, but also proving it to be true, to be heavenly and from God, and to be the oldest of all religions.

4 Paul in conclusion telleth the thing which was done truly, which Terullus had before divers wayes corrupted.

5 And while I was busy about these things, I hereby it up, where the chief of Asia were Paul his enemies, and those that stirred up the people against him.

6 Whether the Tribune brought me.

7 The Judge suspendeth his sentence, because the matter is doubtful.

8 Felix could not iudge whether he had done wickedly in the matters of his religion or no, until hee had better understanding of that way which Paul professed: and as for other matters touching the sedition, hee thought good to deferre it till hee heard Lysias, and therefore hee gave Paul somewhat more liberties.

9 God is a most faithfull keeper of his seruants, and the force of the truth is wonderful, even amongst men which are otherwise prophane.

10 This Drusilla was Agrippa his sister, of whom Luke speaks after ward, a very barles and licentious woman, and being the wife of Azereus king of the Emesens, who was circumcised, departed from him, and went to this Felix the brother of one Pallas, who was sometime Nero his bondman.

11 This Drusilla was Agrippa his sister, of whom Luke speaks after ward, a very barles and licentious woman, and being the wife of Azereus king of the Emesens, who was circumcised, departed from him, and went to this Felix the brother of one Pallas, who was sometime Nero his bondman.

12 This Drusilla was Agrippa his sister, of whom Luke speaks after ward, a very barles and licentious woman, and being the wife of Azereus king of the Emesens, who was circumcised, departed from him, and went to this Felix the brother of one Pallas, who was sometime Nero his bondman.

14 This Drusilla was Agrippa his sister, of whom Luke speaks after ward, a very barles and licentious woman, and being the wife of Azereus king of the Emesens, who was circumcised, departed from him, and went to this Felix the brother of one Pallas, who was sometime Nero his bondman.

15 This Drusilla was Agrippa his sister, of whom Luke speaks after ward, a very barles and licentious woman, and being the wife of Azereus king of the Emesens, who was circumcised, departed from him, and went to this Felix the brother of one Pallas, who was sometime Nero his bondman.

answered, I doe the more gladly answere for my selfe, for as much as I knowe that thou hast bene of many yeeres a Iudge vnto this nation.

11 Seeing that thou mayest knowe, that there are but twelue dayes since I came vnto worship in Hierusalem.

12 And they neither found me in the Temple disputing with any man, neither making uproare among the people, neither in the Synagogues, nor in the citie.

13 Neither can they prouoe the things, whereof they now accuse me.

14 But this I confesse vnto thee, that after the way (which they call heresie) so worship I the God of my Fathers, beleeuing all things which are written in the Lawe and the Prophets.

15 And haue hope towards God, that the resurrection of the dead, which they themselves looke for also, shall be both of iust and vniust.

16 And herein I endeouour my selfe to haue a cleare conscience toward God and toward men.

17 Now after many yeeres, I came and brought almes to my nation and offerings.

18 At what time, certaine Iewes of Asia found me purified in the Temple, neither with multitude, nor with tumult.

19 Who ought to haue bene present before thee, & accuse me, if they had ought against me.

20 Or let these themselves say, if they haue found any vniust thing in me, while I stood in the Council.

21 Except it bee for this one voyce, that I cried standing among them, Of the resurrection of the dead am I accused of you this day.

22 Now when Felix heard these things, he deferred them, and said, When I shall more perfectly knowe the things which concerne this way, by the comming of Lysias the chiefe captaine, I will decide your matter.

23 Then hee commanded a Centurion to keepe Paul, and that hee should haue ease, and that he should forbid none of his acquaintance to minister vnto him, or to come vnto him.

24 And after certaine dayes, came Felix with his wife Drusilla, which was a Iewesse, and he called forth Paul, and heard him of the faith in Christ.

25 And as he disputed of righteousness and temperance, and of the iudgement to come, Felix trembled, and answered, Go thy way for this time, and when I haue conuenient time, I will call for thee.

26 He hoped also that money should haue bene giuen him of Paul, that he might loose him: wherefore he sent for him the offerer, and communed with him.

This Drusilla was Agrippa his sister, of whom Luke speaks after ward, a very barles and licentious woman, and being the wife of Azereus king of the Emesens, who was circumcised, departed from him, and went to this Felix the brother of one Pallas, who was sometime Nero his bondman.

27 When two yeeres were expired, Porcius Festus came into Felix rounie: and Felix willing to get fauour of the Iewes, left Paul bound.

and by it will be extinguished: but in the meane season wee haue neede of patience, and that continually. For whereas hee had behaued himselfe very wickedly in the prisoners, had it not bene for fauour of his brother Pallas, hee should haue died for it: so that we may gather hereby, why he would haue pleased the Iewes.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Festus succeeding Felix, 6. commanded Paul to be brought forth. 11. Paul appealeth vnto Cesar. 14. Festus openeth Pauls matter to King Agrippa, 23. and bringeth him before him, 27. that hee may vnderstand his cause.

When Festus was then come into the Prouince, after three dayes hee went vp from Cesarea, vnto Hierusalem.

2 Then the high Priest, and the chiefe of the Iewes appeared before him against Paul: and they belought him,

3 And desired fauour against him, that he would send for him to Hierusalem: and they laid waite to kill him by the way.

4 But Festus answered, that Paul should be kept at Cesarea, and that he himselfe would shortly depart thither.

5 Let them therefore, said hee, which among you are able, come downe with vs: and if there be any wickednes in the man, let them accuse him.

6 Now when hee had taried among them no more then ten dayes hee went downe to Cesarea, and the next daye late in the iudgement seate, & commanded Paul to be brought.

7 And when hee was come, the Iewes which were come from Hierusalem, stood about him, and laid many and grieuous complaints against Paul, whereof they could make no plaine prooue,

8 Forasmuch as he answered, that hee had neither offended any thing against the law of the Iewes, neither against the Temple, nor against Cesar.

9 Yet Festus willing to get fauour of the Iewes, answered Paul and said, Wilt thou goe vp to Hierusalem, and there be iudged of these things before me?

10 Then said Paul, I stand at Cessars iudgement seat, where I ought to be iudged: to the Iewes I haue done no wrong, as thou very well knowest,

11 For if I haue done wrong, or committed any thing worthy of death, I refuse not to die: but if there be none of these things whereof they accuse me, no man to pleasure them, can deliuer me to them: I appeale vnto Cesar.

12 Then when Festus had spoken with the Council, hee answered, Hast thou appealed vnto Cesar, vnto Cesar shalt thou goe.

13 And after certaine dayes, King Agrippa and Bernice came downe to Cesarea to salute Festus.

14 And when they had remained there many dayes, Festus declared Pauls cause vnto

7 In a naughty minde, that is guiltie to it selfe, although sometime there bee some shew of equitie, yet by

1 Satanis ministers are subtil and diligent in seeking all occasions: but God who watcheth for his hindred all their counsels easily.

2 We may rapel an inidie iustly but not with iniurie.

3 They could not prouoe them certainly and with vndoubted reasons.

4 Festus thinking no such thing, even before kings, bringing to light the wickednesse of the Iewes, and Pauls innocencie, doth maruelously confirme the Church of God.

5 This Agrippa was Agrippa a his sonne, whose death Luke speaks of before, and Bernice was his sister.

the King, saying, There is a certaine man left in prison by Felix.

15 Of whom when I came to Hierusalem, the high Priestes and Elders of the Iewes informed me, and desired to haue iudgement against him.

16 To whom I answered, that it is not the manner of the Romanes for fauour to deliuer any man to the death, before that he which is accused, haue the accusers before him, and haue place to defend himselfe, concerning the crime.

17 Therefore when they were come hither, without delay the day following I sate on the iudgement seate, and commanded the man to be brought forth.

18 Against whom when the accusers stood vp, they brought no crime of such things as I supposed:

19 But had certaine questions against him of their owne superstition, and of one Iesus which was dead, whome Paul affirmed to be aliue.

20 And because I doubted of such manner of question, I asked him whether hee would go to Hierusalem, and there bee iudged of these things.

21 But because he appealed to be referred to the examination of Augustus, I commanded him to bee kept, till I might send him to Cesar.

22 Then Agrippa said vnto Festus. I would also heare the man my selfe. To morow, said he, thou shalt heare him.

23 And on the morow when Agrippa was come and Bernice with great pompe, and were entred into the Common hall with the chiefe Captaines and chiefe men of the citie, at Festus commaundement Paul was brought forth.

24 And Festus said, King Agrippa, and all men which are present with vs, see this man, about whome all the multitude of the Iewes haue called vpon me, both at Hierusalem, and here, crying, that hee ought not to liue any longer.

25 Yet I haue found nothing worthy of death, that he hath committed: neuertheless, seeing that hee hath appealed to Augustus, I haue determined to send him.

26 Of whome I haue no certaine thing to write vnto my lord: wherefore I haue brought him forth vnto you, and specially vnto thee, King Agrippa, that after examination had, I might haue somewhat to write:

27 For me thinketh it vnreasonable to send a prisoner, and not to shewe the causes which are laid against him.

CHAP. XXVI.

2 Paul in the presence of Agrippa, 4 declareth his life from his childhood, 16 and his calling, 22 with such efficacy of wordes, 28 that almost he perswadeth him to Christianitie. 30 But he and his companie depart, doing nothing in Pauls matter.

Then Agrippa saide vnto Paul, Thou art permitted to speake for thy selfe. So Paul stretched forth the hand, and answered for himselfe.

2 I thinke my selfe happy, King Agrippa, because I shall answer this day before thee of all the things whereof I am accused of the Iewes.

3 Chiefly, because thou hast knowledge of all customs, and questions which are among the Iewes: wherefore I beseech thee to heare me patiently.

4 As touching my life from my childhood, and what it was from the beginning among mine owne nation at Hierusalem, know all the Iewes.

5 Which know me heretofore, euen from my Elders (if they would testifie) that after the most strait sect of our religion, I liued a Pharisee.

6 And now I stand and am accused for the hope of the promise made of God vnto our Fathers.

7 Whereunto our twelue tribes instantly seruing God day and night, hope to come: for the which hopes sake, O King Agrippa, I am accused of the Iewes.

8 Why should it be thought a thing incredible vnto you, that God should raise againe the dead?

9 I also verely thought in my selfe, that I ought to doe many contrary things against the Name of Iesus of Nazareth.

10 Which thing I also did in Hierusalem: for many of the Saints I shut vp in prison, hauing receiued authoritie of the high Priests, and when they were put to death, I gaue my sentence.

11 And I punished them throughout all the Synagogues, and compelled them to blaspheme, and being more madde against them, I persecuted them, euen vnto strange cities.

12 At which time, euen as I went to Damascus with authoritie, and commission from the high Priests, 13 At midday, O King, I saw in the way a light from heauen, passing the brightnesse of the Sunne, shine round about me, and them which went with me.

14 So when we were all fallen to the earth, I heard a voice speaking vnto mee, and saying in the Hebrew tongue, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? It is hard for thee to kicke against prickes.

15 Then I said, Who art thou, Lord? And he said, I am Iesus whom thou persecutest.

16 But rise and stand vpon thy feete: for I haue appeared vnto thee for this purpose, to appoint thee a Minister and a witnesse, both of the things which thou hast seene, and of the things in the which I will appeare vnto thee,

17 Deliuering thee from this people, and from the Gentiles, vnto whom now I send thee,

18 To

The Romanes do not deliuer any man to be punished before, &c.

The profane and wicked take an occasion to censure the true doctrine, by reason of private controuersies & contentions of men betwix themselves: but the truth neuertheless abideth in the meane season safe and sure.

This profane man calleth the Iewish religion superstition, and that before King Agrippa, but he knoweth not: for the rulers of promiscuity by reason of the manifeste empire of Rome, used to persecute themselves before Kings.

That is fulfilled in Paul, which the Lord before had told to Ananias of him, Chap. 9. 15. a Gorgeously like a Prince.

To Augustus. Good princes refused this name at the first, to wit, to be called Lords, but afterward they admitted it, as we read of Traianus.

To haue a skilfull Iudge, is a great and singular gift of God.

Paul diuideth the history of his life into two times: for the first he calleth his aduersaries witnesses: for the latter, the Fathers and Prophetes.

What I was, and where, and how I liued.

That my parents were Pharisees.

The fall of the Pharisees was the most exquisite among all the sects of the Iewes, for it was better then all the rest.

There are three chiefe and principall witnesses of true doctrine, God, the true Fathers, and the content of the Church.

He prooueth the resurrection of the dead, first by the power of God, then by the resurrection of Christ, whereof he is a sufficient witnesse.

Chap. 9. 3.

I confessed to and allowed of their doing: for he was not a Iudge.

By extreme punishment.

Chap. 9. 2.

The end of the Gospel is to save them which are brought to the knowledge of Christ, and are justified and sanctified in him, being laid hold on by faith. 6 Paul alleged God so be author of the office of his Apostleship, and his grace, as a witness. * Chap. 9. 22, 23, and 13. 4.

* Chap. 13. 4. Christ is the end of the Law, and the Prophets.

To every one. That Christ should not be such a king as the Jews dreamed of, but one appointed to bear our miseries, and the punishment of our sinnes.

The first of them, which are raised from the dead.

Life, yea, and that a most blessed life which shall be endless: and this is for a gainst darknesse, which almost in all ages signifies sometime death, and sometimes miserie and calamitie.

The wisdom of God is made to fooles, yet notwithstanding we must boldly avouch the truth.

Secretly and privately.

Paul as it were forgetting himselfe that he stood a prisoner to defend his cause, forgetteth not the office of his Apostleship.

I would to God that not only almost, but thoroughly and altogether, both thou and all that heare me this day might be made as I am, my bonds only except.

Paul is so solemnly quit, and yet not dismissed.

Paul with many other prisoners, & through the midst of many deaths, is brought to Rome, but yet by Gods owne hand as it were, and set forth and commended vnto the world with many singular testimonies.

18 To open their eyes, that they may turne from darkenesse to light, and from the power of Satan vnto God; that they may receive forgiveness of sinnes, and inheritance among them, which are sanctified by faith in mee.

19 Wherefore, King Agrippa, I was not disobedient vnto the heavenly vision;

20 But shewed first vnto them of Damascus, and at Hierusalem, and throughout all the coasts of Iudea, and then to the Gentiles, that they should repent and turne to God, and doe workes worthy amendment of life.

21 For this cause the Jewes caught me in the Temple, and went about to kill me.

22 Neuertheles, I obtained helpe of God, and continue vnto this day, witnessing both to small and to great, saying none other things, then those which the Prophets and Moses did say should come,

23 To wit, that Christ should suffer; and that hee should bee the first that should rise from the dead, & should shew light vnto this people, and to the Gentiles.

24 And as he thus answered for himselfe, Festus said with a loud voyce, Paul, thou art besides thy selfe: much learning doeth make thee mad.

25 But hee said, I am not madde, O noble Festus, but I speake the wordes of trueth and sobernesse.

26 For the king knoweth of these things, before whome also I speake boldly: for I am perswaded that none of these things are hidden from him: for this thing was not done in a corner.

27 O King Agrippa, beleueest thou the Prophets? I know that thou beleueest:

28 Then Agrippa sayd vnto Paul, Almost thou perswadest me to become a Christian.

29 Then Paul said, I would to God that not only thou, but also all that heare me to day, were both almost, and altogether such as I am, except these bonds.

30 And when he had thus spoken, the King rose vp, and the Gouvernour, and Bernice, and they that sate with them.

31 And when they were gone apart, they talked betweene themselves, saying, This man doeth nothing worthy of death, nor of bonds.

32 Then said Agrippa vnto Festus, This man might haue bene loosed, if he had not appealed vnto Cesar.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Paul 7. 9 foretelleth the perill of the voyage; 11 but he is not beleued. 14 They are tossed to and fro with the tempest, 21. 41 and suffer shipwracke: 34 Yet all safe and sound 44 escape to land.

Now when it was concluded, that wee should saile into Italy, they deliuered both Paul, and certaine other prisoners vnto a Centurion named Iulius, of the band of Augustus.

2 And we entred into a shippe of Adramyttium, purposing to saile by the coastes of Asia, and lanchd forth, and had Aristarchus of Macedonia, a Thessalonian, with vs.

3 And the next day we arrived at Sidon: and Iulius courteously intreated Paul, and gaue him libertie to goe vnto his friends, that they might refresh him.

4 And from thence we launched; and sailed hard by Cyprus, because the windes were contrary.

5 Then sailed we ouer the sea, by Cilicia, and Pamphylia, and came to Myra a citie in Lycia.

6 And therethe Centurion found a shippe of Alexandria, sailing into Italy, and put vs therein:

7 And when wee had sailed slowly many dayes, and scarce were come against Gnidum, because the winde suffered vs not; wee sailed hard by Candie, neere to Salmone,

8 And with much adoe sailed beyond it, and came vnto a certaine place called the Faire hauens, neere vnto the which was the citie Lasea.

9 So when much time was spent, and sailing was now iopardous, because also the Fast was now passed, Paul exhorted them,

10 And said vnto them, Sirs, I see that this voyage will be with hurt and much damage, not of the lading and shippe onely, but also of our liues.

11 Neuerthelesse the Centurion beleued rather the gouernour and the master of the shippe, then thote things which were spoken of Paul.

12 And because the hauen was not commodious to winter in, many tooke counsell to depart thence, if by any meanes they might attaine to Phenice, there to winter, which is an hauen of Candie, and lieth toward the Southwest, and by West, and Northwest and by West.

13 And when the Southerne winde blew softly, they supposing to attaine their purpose, loosed neerer, and sailed by Candie.

14 But anon after, there arose by it a stormie wind called Euroclydon.

15 And when the ship was caught, & could not resist the wind, we let her goe, and were carried away.

16 And wee ranne vnder a litle Ile named Clauda, and had much adoe to get the boat.

17 Which they tooke vp and vsed all helpe, vndergirding the ship, fearing lest they should haue fallen into Syrtes, and they strake saile, and so were caried.

18 The next day when wee were tossed with an exceeding tempest, they lightned the shippe.

19 And

An Angel with Paul. The Actes. His ship-wracke.

19 And the third day wee cast out with our owne hands the tackling of the ship.

20 And when neither sunne nor starres in many dayes appeared, and no small tempest lay vpon vs, all hope that we should be saued, was then taken away.

21 But after long abstinence, Paul stood forth in the mids of them, and said, Sirs, ye should haue hearkned to me, and not haue loosed from Candie: so should ye haue gained this hurt and losse.

22 But now I exhort you to bee of good courage: for there shall be no losse of any mans life among you, saue of the ship onely.

23 For there stood by me this night the angel of God, whose I am, and whom I serue, 24 Saying, Feare not, Paul: for thou must be brought before Cesar: and loe, God hath giuen vnto thee freely all that saile with thee.

25 Wherefore, sirs, be of good courage: for I beleue God that it shall bee so as it hath bene told me.

26 Howbeit, we must be cast into a certaine Iland.

27 And when the fourteenth night was come, as we were caried to and fro in the Adriaticall sea about mid-night, the shipmen deemed that some Countrey approached vnto them,

28 And sounded, and found it twentie fathoms: and when they had gone a litle further, they sounded againe, and found fiftene fathoms.

29 Then fearing lest they should haue fallen into some rough places, they cast foure ankers out of the sterne, and wished that the day were come.

30 Now as the mariners were about to flee out of the ship, & had let downe the boate into the Sea vnder a colour as though they would haue cast ankers out of the foreship, 31 Paul saide vnto the Centurion and the souldiers, Except these abide in the ship, ye can not be safe.

32 Then the souldiers cut off the ropes of the boate, and let it fall away.

33 And when it began to be day, Paul exhorted them all to take meate, saying, This is the fourteenth day that ye haue taried, and continued fasting, receiuing nothing:

34 Wherefore I exhort you to take meate: for this is for your safegard: for there shall not an haire fall from the head of any of you.

35 And when he had thus spoken, he tooke bread and gaue thanks to God, in presence of them all, and brake it, and began to eate.

36 Then were they all of good courage, and they also tooke meate.

37 Now we were in the ship in all two hundred threescore and fixteene soules.

38 And when they had eaten enough, they lightened the ship, and cast out the wheat into the Sea:

39 And when it was day, they knew not the countrey, but they spied a certaine creeke with a banke, into the which they were minded (if it were possible) to thrust in the ship.

40 So when they had taken vp the ankers, they committed the ship vnto the sea, and loosed the rudder bonds, and hoisted vp the maine saile to the winde, and drew to the shoare.

41 And when they fell into a place, where two Seas met, they thrust in the shippe: and the forepart stucke fast, and could not be mooued, but the hinder part was broken with the violence of the waues.

42 Then the souldiers counsell was to kill the prisoners, lest any of them, when hee had swomme out, should flee away.

43 But the Centurion willing to saue Paul, stayed them from this counsell, and commanded that they that could swimme, should cast themselues first into the Sea, and goe out to lande.

44 And the other, some on boards, and some on certaine pieces of the shippe: and so it came to passe, that they came all safe to land.

CHAP. XXVIII.

The Barbarians courteously towards Paul and his company. A viper on Pauls hand: 6 Hee shaketh it off without harme: 8 Publius 9 and others are by him healed. 11 They depart from Melita, 16 and come to Rome. 17 Paul openeth to the Iewes: 20 the cause of his coming: 22 He preacheth Iesus 30 two yeres.

AND when they were come safe, then they knew that the Ile was called Melita.

2 And the Barbarians shewed vs no little kindeesse: for they kindled a fire, and receiued vs euery one, because of the present showre, and because of the cold.

3 And when Paul had gathered a number of sticks, and layed them on the fire, there came a viper out of the hear, and leapt on his hand.

4 Now when the Barbarians sawe the worrne hang on his hand, they saide among themselues, This man surely is a murderer, whome, though he hath escaped the sea, yet Vengeance hath not suffered to liue.

5 But hee shooke off the worrne into the fire, and felt no harme.

6 Howbeit they waited when hee should haue swolne, or fallen downe dead suddenly:

but after they had looked a great while, they sawe no inconuenience come to him, they changed their mindes, and said, That he was a God.

7 In the same quarters, the chiefe man of the Ile (whose name was Publius) had possessions: the same receiued vs, and lodged vs three dayes courteously.

8 And so it was, that the father of Publius lay sicke of the feuer, and of a bloodie fluxe: to whom Paul entred in, and when he prayed, he

5 God spareth the wicked for a time, for his elect and chosen sake.

6 The promise is made effectuell through faith.

7 We attaine and come to the promised and sure saluation through the midst of tempests and death to selfe.
8 For Paulus writeth that the Adriaticall sea beate vpon the East shoare of Sicilia.
9 That they drew nere to some countrey.

8 There is none so foule an acte, whereunto distrust and an euil conscience do not enforce men.

9 Although the performing of Gods promises doeth not simply depend vpon second causes, yet they make themselves vnworthy of Gods bountifullnesse, which doe not embrace those meanes which God offereth them, either vpon rashnesse or distrust.

10 When the world trebleth, the faithfull alone be not only quiet but con- fume others by their example.
11 This is a promise which the Hebrews vse, whereby it is meant, that they shall be safe, and not one of them perish.

11 Then are tempests mooued all to be feared and looked for, when the port or haven is nearest.
12 A creek is a sea within land, as the Adriaticall sea, and the Persian sea.

13 It is a place called, because the sea toucheth it on both sides.

14 There is no where more vnfairfull and vncharitable then in vableness.

15 God findeth euery man his enemies them, whose helpe he wish to preiure him.

16 The goodness of God ouercometh mans malice.

17 That is, which at this day we call Melita.

18 The godly are sure to haue danger vpon danger, but they haue alwayes a glorious issue.
19 Although aduersitie be the punishment of sinne, yet seeing that God in punishing of men doth not alwayes respect sinne, they iudge rashly, which either doe not wait for the end, or doe iudge and esteeme of men according to prosperitie or aduersitie.

20 Right & reason.
21 The Greek word signifies to be inflamed or to swell: moreover, Discoerides in his 6. booke chap. 38. writeth that the biting of a viper, causeth a swelling of the body, and so 22 As Alexander, in his remedies against poison.

23 There is nothing more vnconstant eury way, then they which are ignorant of true religion.

24 It neuer yet repented any man, that receiued the seruant of God, were he neuer so miserable & poore.

5 Although Paul were a captive yet the vertue of God was not captiue.
6 God doeth well to strangers for his childrens sake.
7 Idoles do not defile the saints, which doe in no wise content vnto them.
8 So they offend not the forepart of their feet.
9 When upon their ships were called by such names.
10 God boweth and bendeth the hearts euen of prophane men, as it pleaseth him to fauour him.

he laid his hands on him, and healed him.

9 When this then was done, other also in the Ile, which had diseases, came to him, and were healed.

10 Which also did vs great honour: and when we departed, they laded vs with things necessarie.

11 ¶ Now after three moneths wee departed in a ship of Alexandria, which had wintered in the Ile, whose badge was Castor and Pollux.

12 And when we arriued at Syracuse, we taried there three dayes.

13 And from thence we set a compass, and came to Rhegium: and after one day, the South winde blew, and wee came the second day to Putioli:

14 Where wee found brethren, and were desired to tary with them seuen dayes, and so we went toward Rome.

15 ¶ And from thence, when the brethren heard of vs, they came to meete vs at the market of Appius, and at the Three tauernes, whom when Paul saw, hee thanked God, and waxed bold.

16 So when we came to Rome, the Centurion deliuered the prisoners to the generall Captaine: but Paul was suffered to dwell by himselfe with a souldier that kept him.

17 And the third day after, Paul called the chiefe of the Iewes together: and when they were come, he said vnto them, Men and brethren, though I haue committed nothing against the people, or Lawes of the fathers, yet was I deliuered prisoner from Hierusalem into the hands of the Romanes:

18 Who when they had examined mee, would haue let me goe, because there was no cause of death in me:

19 But when the Iewes spake contrary, I was constrained to appeale vnto Cesar, not because I had ought to accuse my nation of.

20 For this cause therefore haue I called for you, to see you, and to speake with you: for that hope of Israels sake, I am bound with this chaine.

21 Then they said vnto him, Wee neither receiued letters out of Iudea concerning thee, neither came any of the brethren that shewed or spake any euill of thee.

22 But wee will heare of thee what thou thinkest: for as concerning this sect, we know that euery where it is spoken against.

23 And when they had appointed him a day, there came many vnto him into his lodging, to whom hee expounded & testifying the kingdome of God, and perswading them those things that concerne Iesus, both out of the Law of Moses, and out of the Prophets, from morning to night.

24 And some were perswaded with the things which were spoken, and some beleued not.

25 Therefore when they agreed not among themselues, they departed, after that Paul had spoken one worde, so wit, Well spake the holy Ghost by Esaias the Prophet vnto our fathers,

26 Saying, * Goe vnto this people, and say, By hearing yee shall heare, and shall not vnderstand, and seeing ye shall see, and not perceiue.

27 For the heart of this people is waxed fatte, and their eares are dull of hearing, and with their eyes haue they winked lest they should see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and vnderstand with their heart, and should returne that I might heale them.

28 Be it knowen therefore vnto you, that this saluation of God is sent to the Gentiles, and they shall heare it.

29 And when hee had said these things, the Iewes departed, and had great reasoning among themselues.

30 And Paul remained two yeres full in an house hired for himselfe, and receiued all that came in vnto him, 31 Preaching the kingdome of God, and teaching those things which concerne the Lord Iesus Christ, with all boldnes of speech, without let.

11 The Lawe and the Gospel agree well together.

8 By good reasons, and proved that the kingdome of God foretold them by the Prophets, was come.

13 The Gospel is a sauour of life to them that beleue, and a sauour of death to them that be disobedient.

14 The vnbeleueers doe willingly resist the trueth, and yet not by chance.

rom. 1.8. They made as though they saw not that which they saw against their wills: yea they did see, but they would not see.

15 The vnbeleefe of the reprobate & castawayes cannot cause the trueth of God to be of none effect.

16 Not the Gospel, but the contempt of the Gospel is the cause of strife and debate.

17 The word of God cannot be bound.

13 Now my brethren, I would that yee should not be ignorant, how that I haue oftentimes purposed to come vnto you (but haue bene let hitherto) that I might haue some fruit also among you, as I haue among the other Gentiles.

14 I am debter both to the Grecians, and to the Barbarians, both to the wisemen and to the vnwife.

15 Therefore as much as in me is, I am ready to preach the Gospel to you also that are at Rome.

16 For I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ: for it is the ^a power of God vnto saluation to euery one that beleeueth, to the Iew first, and also to the ^y Grecian.

17 ⁶ For by it the righteousness of God is reueiled from ² faith to faith : ⁷ as it is written :
* The iust shall liue by faith.

18 ^a For the wrath of God is reuiled from heauen against ^a all vngodlinesse, and vnrighteousnesse of men, which withhold the ^b trueth in vnrighteousnesse.

19 ⁹ Forasmuch as that, which may be known of God, is manifest in ^c them: for God hath shewed it vnto them.

20 For the inuisible things of him, that is, his eternall power and Godhead are scene by the creation of the world, being^d considered in his workes, to the intent that they should be without excuse:

21 Because that when they knew God, they full, but became ^f vaine in their thoughts, and their foolish heart was full of darkenesse.

h. For the true God they took another.
10 The vniuersal countenances of men be lieth forth first in this, that ouer against nature following their lusts, they defiled themselves one with another, by the iudgement of God.
11 The contempt of religion is the fountain of all mischief.
12 As a left iudge, I am more ready for their desires.
13 He proueth the vniuersal countenances of man by a large rehearsal of many kinds of wickedness, from which (if not from all, yet at the least from many of them) no man is altogether free.
14 Into a mad & forward minde, whereby is cometh to passe, that the consciences being ouercome, and having almost no more remembrance of shame, mindeless heading into all kind of mischief.
15 Unmindfull of their countenances and bargaines.
16 By the Law of God he meaneth that which the Philosophers called the Law of nature, and the Lawyers termed the Law of nations.
17 Where follows on partakers with them in their wickedness, and beside them, command them which do amiss.
18 He conuinceth them which would seeme to be exempted out of the number of other men, because they reprehend other mens faults, and faith, that they are least of all to be excused, for if they were well and narrowly searched (as God surely doeth) they themselves would be found guiltie in those things which they reprehend, and punish in other: so that in condemning other, they pronounce sentence against themselves.
19 Paul allegeth no places of Scripture, for hee reasoneth generally against all men: but hee bringeth such reasons as euery man is perswaded of in his minde, so that the diuill himselfe is not able to plucke them cleane out.
20 Considering and iudging things aright, and not by any outward shew.

wife, they became fooles.
23 For they turned the glory of the incorruptible God to the similitude of the image of a corruptible man, and of birdes, and fourfooted beasts, and of creeping things.
24 Wherefore also God gaue them vp to their hearts lusts, vnto vncleannes, to defile their owne bodies betweene themselves.
25 Which turned the truth of God vnto a lie, and worshipped and serued the creature, forsaking the Creatour, which is blessed for euer, Amen.
26 For this cause God gaue them vp vnto vile affections: for euen their women did change the naturall vse into that which is against nature.
27 And likewise also the men left the naturall vse of the woman, and burned in their lust one toward another, and man with man wrought filthinesse, and receiued in themselves such recompense of their error, as was meet.
28 For as they regarded not to acknowledge God, euen so God deliuered them vp vnto a reprobate minde, to doe those things which are not conuenient.
29 Being full of all vnrighteousnesse, fornication, wickednesse, couetousnesse, maliciousnesse, full of enuy, of murther, of debate, of deceit, taking all things in the euil part, whisperers,
30 Backbiters, haters of God, doers of wrong, proude, boasters, inuentors of euill things, disobedient to parents, without vnderstanding, covenant breakers, without naturall affection, such as can neuer bee appeased, mercilesse.
31 Which men, though they knewe the Law of God, how that they which commit such things are worthy of death, yet not onely doe the same, but also fauour them that doe them.

CHAP. II.

1 He bringeth all before the iudgement seat of God. 12 The excuse that the Gentiles might pretend. 14 Of ignorance, he taketh quite away. 17 Hee vrgeth the Iewes with the written Law. 23 In which they boasted: 27 And so maketh both Iew and Gentile alike.

Therefore thou art inexcusable, O man, whoeuer thou art that condemnest: for in that thou condemnest another, thou condemnest thy selfe: for thou that condemnest, doest the same things.

But wee know that the iudgement of God is according to truth, against them which commit such things,

And thinkest thou this, O thou man, that condemnest them which doe such things, and doest the same, that thou shalt escape the iudgement of God?

Or despisest thou the riches of his bountifullnesse, and patience, and long sufferance, not knowing that the bountifullnesse of God leadeth thee to repentance?

But thou, after thine hardnesse, and heart that cannot repent, heapest vp as a treasure vnto thy selfe wrath against the day of wrath; and of the declaration of the iust iudgement of God,

Who will reward euery man according to his works:

That is to them which through patience in well doing, seeke glory, and honour, and immortalitie, euerlasting life:

But vnto them that are contentious and disobey the truth, and obey vnrighteousnesse, shall be indignation and wrath.

Tribulation and anguish shall be vpon the soule of euery man that doeth euill: of the Iew first, and also of the Grecian.

But to euery man that doeth good, shall be glory, and honour, and peace: to the Iew first, and also to the Grecian.

For there is no respect of persons with God.

For as many as haue sinned without the Lawe, shall perish also without the Lawe: and as many as haue sinned in the Lawe, shall be iudged by the Lawe,

(For the hearers of the Lawe are not righteous before God: but the doers of the Lawe shall be iustified.)

For when the Gentiles which haue not the Lawe, doe by nature, the things contained in the Lawe, they hauing not a Lawe, are a Lawe vnto themselves,

Which shew the effect of the Lawe written in their hearts, their conscience also bearing witness, and their thoughts accusing one another, or excusing,

At that day, when God shall iudge the secrets of men by Iesus Christ, according to my Gospel.

Beholde, thou art called a Iew, and reatest in the Lawe, and gloriest in God,

And knowest his will, and tryest the things that dissent from it, in that thou art instructed by the Lawe:

And perswadest thy selfe that thou art a guide of the blinde, a light of them which are in darkenesse, of the Lawe doeth iustifie. b Shall be pronounced iust before Gods iudgement seat: which is true ind. ed if any such could be found that had fulfilled the Law: but seeing Abraham was not iustified by the Law, but by faith, it followeth that no man can be iustified by works. 6 Hee preuenteth an obiection which might be made by the Gentiles, who although they haue not the Law of Moses, yet they haue no reason why they may excuse their wickednes, in that they haue somewhat written in their hearts in stead of a Law, as men, that torbid and punish some things as wicked, & command & commend other some as good. 7 Not simply, but in comparison of the Iewes. 8 Command honest things, and forbid dishonest. 9 This knowledge is a naturall knowledge. 7 God deferreth many iudgements, which notwithstanding he will execute at their conuenient time by Iesus Christ, with a most strict examination, not onely of words and deedes, but of thoughts also, be they neuer so hidden or secret. 10 As my doctrine witnesseth which I am appointed to preach. 8 Hee proueth by the testimonie of Dauid, and the other Prophets, that God bestowed greatest benefits vpon the Iewes, in giuing them also the Law, but that they are most vnthankfull & vnkindest of all men. 9 Cast thy and discern what things are from Gods will. 10 Or, allowest the things that are excellent.

A vehement & grievous crying out against them that please themselves because they see more the other doe, and yet are no whit better then others are.

following. 3 By truth, hee meaneth that knowledge which we haue of nature. 4 Gods indignation against sinners, which shall quickly be kindled.

5 God doeth not measure men either by their blood or by their country, either to reuenge them or to cast them away.

6 Hee applieth that generall accusation of mankind particularly both to the Gentiles, and to the Iewes.

7 Hee preuenteth an obiection which might be made by Iewes whom the Lawe doth not excuse, but condemne, because that not the hearing of the Lawe, but the keeping

The Iewes preferment. To the Romanes. Not one righteous.

The Iewes teach and flatter in the knowledge of the truth. As though he said that the Lawe under a colour of an outward serving of God, should be a way to the knowledge of the truth. But they did nothing but to flatter the Lawe.

He precisely presumed their obedience, which for an holiness in circumcision, and the outward observation of the Lawe. So that he sheweth that the outward circumcision, if it be separated from the inward, doth not only not iustifie, but also condemne them that are indeed circumcised, of whom it is required that, which is significant, that is to say, cleanness of the heart and the whole life according to the commandment of the Law, so that if there be a man vncircumcised according to the flesh, who is circumcised in heart, he is farre better and more to be counted of, then any Iewe that is circumcised according to the flesh only.

This is the figure Metonymie, for, if the vncircumcised, the state and condition of the vncircumcised. He which is vncircumcised by nature and blood. Paul useth oftentimes to set the letter against the Spirit: but in this place, the circumcision which is according to the letter, is the cutting off of the foreskinne, but the circumcision of the Spirit, is the circumcision of the heart, that is to say, the spiritual end of the ceremonie, is true holiness and righteousness, whereby the people of God are known from prophane & heathenish men. By the outward ceremonie only. Whose force is inward, and in the heart.

20 An instructed of them which lacke discretion, a teacher of the vnlearned, which hast the forme of knowledge and of the truth in the Lawe.

21 Thou therefore, which teachest another, teachest thou not thy selfe in thou that preachest, A man should not steale, doest thou steale?

22 Thou that sayest, A man should not commit adultery, doest thou commit adultery? thou that abhorrest idoles, committest thou sacrifice?

23 Thou that gloriest in the Lawe, through breaking the Lawe, dishonourest thou God?

24 For the Name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles through you, as it is written.

25 For circumcision verely is profitable, if thou doe the Lawe: but if thou be a transgressor of the Lawe, thy circumcision is made vncircumcision.

26 Therefore, if the vncircumcision keepe the ordinances of the Lawe, shall not his vncircumcision be counted for circumcision?

27 And shall not vncircumcision which is by nature, (if it keepe the Lawe) condemne thee which by the letter and circumcision art a transgressor of the Lawe?

28 For he is not a Iewe, which is one outward: neither is that circumcision, which is outward in the flesh.

29 But hee is a Iewe which is one within, and the circumcision is of the heart, in the spirit, not in the letter, whose prayse is not of men, but of God.

That is circumcised according to the flesh only. q This is the figure Metonymie, for, if the vncircumcised, the state and condition of the vncircumcised. He which is vncircumcised by nature and blood. Paul useth oftentimes to set the letter against the Spirit: but in this place, the circumcision which is according to the letter, is the cutting off of the foreskinne, but the circumcision of the Spirit, is the circumcision of the heart, that is to say, the spiritual end of the ceremonie, is true holiness and righteousness, whereby the people of God are known from prophane & heathenish men. By the outward ceremonie only. Whose force is inward, and in the heart.

CHAP. III.

1 He giueth the Iewes some preferment, for the comenants sake, 4 but yet such, as wholly dependeth on Gods mercie, 9 That both Iewes and Gentiles are sinners, 11 hee proueth by Scriptures, 19 and shewing the vse of the Lawe, 28 hee concludeth that we are iustified by faith.

WHat is then the preferment of the Iew? or what is the profit of circumcision?

2 Much euery manner of way: for chiefly, because vnto them were of credit committed the oracle of God.

3 For what, though some did not beleue? shall their vnbeleife make the faith of God without effect?

4 God forbid: yea, let God be true and euery man a liar, as it is written, That thou mightest be iustified in thy words, and ouer-come, when thou art iudged.

5 Now if our vnrighteousnesse commend the righteousness of God, what shall we say? Is God vnrighteous which punisheth? (I speake as a man.)

6 God forbid: else how shall God iudge the world?

7 For if the veritie of God hath more abounded through my lie vnto his glory, why am I yet condemned as a sinner?

8 And (as wee are blamed, and as some as firme, that we say) why doe wee not euill, that good may come thereof? whose damnation is iust.

9 What then? are wee more excellent? No, in no wise: for wee haue already proued, that all, both Iewes and Gentiles are vnder sinne.

10 As it is written, There is none righteous, no not one.

11 There is none that vnderstandeth: there is none that seeketh God.

12 They haue all gone out of the way: they haue bene made altogether vnprofitable: there is none that doeth good, no not one.

13 Their throte is an open sepulchre: they haue vsed their tongues to deceit: the poison of aspes is vnder their lips.

14 Whose mouth is full of cursing and bitterness.

15 Their feet are swift to shed blood.

16 Destruction and calamitie are in their wayes.

17 And the way of peace haue they not known.

18 The feare of God is not before their eyes.

19 Now wee know that whatsoever the Law sayeth, it saith it to them which are vnder the Law, that euery mouth may be stopped, and all the world be subiect to the iudgement of God.

20 Therefore by the workes of the Law shall no flesh be iustified in his sight: for by the Law cometh the kingdome of sinne.

21 But now is the righteousness of God made manifest without the Law, hauing witness of the Law and of the Prophets,

22 To wit, the righteousness of God by Prophets. Are guiltie of sinne. Psal. 14. 1. 3. & 53. 1. 3. Psal. 5. 10. Psal. 143. 3. Psal. 10. 7. Esai. 59. 7. 1 An innocent and peaceable life. Psal. 36. 1. 5 Hee proueth that this grieuous accusation which is vnto David & Esaias, doth properly concerne the Iewes. m The Law of Moses. 6 A conclusion of all the former disputation, from the 18. ver. of the 1. chapter. Therefore saith the Apostle, No man can hope to be iustified by any Law, whether it be that general Law, or the particular Law of Moses, & therefore to be saued: seeing it appeareth (as we haue already proued) by comparing the Law and mans life together, that all men are sinners, and therefore worthy of condemnation in the sight of God. n Be found guiltie before God. o By that, that the Law can by vs be performed. p Flesh here taken for man, as in many other places, and furthermore hath here greater force: for it is put to shew the contrarietie betwixt God and man: as if you would say, Man who is nothing els but a piece of flesh defiled with sinne, and God who is most pure and most perfect in himselfe. q Absolved before the iudgement seat of God. r A secret sitting of the righteousness which is before men, but they neuer so iust, against the iustice which can stand before God: now there is no righteousness can stand before God, but the righteousness of Christ onely. 7 Therefore saith the Apostle, Let that men should perish, God doeth now exhibit that which he promised of old, that is to say, a way whereby we may be iustified and saued before him without the Law. 8 The matter, as it were, of this righteousness is Christ Iesus apprehended by faith, and for this end offered to all people, as without him all people are shut out from the kingdome of God.

As much as thou shewest forth an euill taken of thy righteousness, confidence and faith by preferring him who had broken the comenants.

Another preuention issuing out of the former argument, that the iustice of God is in such sort commended and set forth by our vnrighteousnesse, that therefore God forgetteth not, that he is the iudge of the world, & therefore a most severe reuenger of vnrighteousnesse.

Trachin, and all the fruits thereof.

Therefore I speake not these words in mine owne person, as though I thought so, but this is the talke of many wise men, which is not subject to the will of God.

A third objection, which addeth somewhat to the former, if sinners doe turne to the glory of God, they are not onely not to be punished, but wee ought rather to giue our selues to them: which blasphemie Paul contending to cule and detest, pronounceth iust punishment against such blasphemers.

The wrath and easianse.

Another answer to the first objection: that the Iewes, if they be considered in themselves, are no better then other men are: as it hath bene long since pronounced by the mouth of the

1 The first meeting with or presenting an objection of the Iewes: what then haue the Iewes no more preferment then the Gentiles? yes, that haue they, saith the Apostle on Gods behalfe, for hee committed the tables of the comenants to them, so that the vnbeleife of a few, cannot cause the whole nation without exception to be cast away of God, who is true, and who also voucheth their vnworthinesse to commend and set forth his goodnesse. a The Iewes state and condition was chiefly, b Wordes, c Brake the comenants, d The faith that God gaue, e That thy iustice may be plainly seene.

1 A new argument of greater weight, taken from the example of Abraham: believers: this is the position, if Abraham be considered in himselfe, by his works, he desired no wherein to trusting of God, but not without imputation the faith of ^f Iesus Christ, vnto all, and vpon all that beleuee.

23 For there is no difference: for all haue sinned, and are deuiued of the ^g glory of God,

24 And are iustified ^h freely by his grace, through the redemption that is in Christ Iesus,

25 Whom God hath set forth ⁱ to be a reconciliation through faith in his ^k blood to declare his righteousness, by the forgiveness of the sinnes that were passed,

26 Through the ^l patience of God to shew at this time his righteousness, that he might be iust, and a ^m minister of him which is of the ⁿ faith of Iesus.

27 Where is then thereioying? It is excluded, By what ^o Law? of workes? Nay: but by the Law of faith.

28 Therefore wee conclude, that a man is iustified by faith, without the workes of the Lawe, 29 God, is he the God of the ^p Iewes onely, and not of the Gentiles also? Yes, euen of the Gentiles also,

30 For it is one God, who shall iustifie ^q circumcision of faith, and vncircumcision through faith.

31 Doe we then make the law of ^r none effect through faith? God forbid: yea, wee establish the Law.

To be short, the ende is the setting forth of the goodnesse of God, that by this means it may appeare, that he is mercifull in deede, and constant in his promises, as he hath freely, and of meere grace, iustified the beleueers. ^a This name of blood, call'd a backe to the figure of the old sacrifice, sheweth the substance of which sacrifice is in Christ. ^b Of those sinnes which we committed, when we were his enemies. ^c Through his patience, and suffering nature. ^d To wit, when Paul wrote this, ^e That he might be iust exceeding true and faithful. ^f Making him iust and without blame, by putting Christ righteously vnto him. ^g Of the number of them which by faith lay hold vpon Christ, vnto whom are they which looke to be saved by circumcision; that is by the Law. ^h An argument to proue this conclusion, that we are iustified by faith without workes, taken from the end of iustification. The end of iustification is the glory of God alone: therefore we are iustified by faith without workes: for if wee were iustified either by our owne workes onely, or partly by faith, and partly by workes, the glory of this iustification should not be wholly giuen to God. ⁱ By what doctrine? namely the doctrine of workes hath this condition ioynd with it, if thou doest: and the doctrine of faith hath this condition, as I haue beleue. ^j Another argument of an absurditie: if iustification depended vpon the law of Moses, then should God be a Saviour to the Iewes onely. Again, if he should save the Iewes after one sort, and the Gentiles after another, he should not be one and like himselfe. Therefore he will iustifie both of them, after one selfe same manner, that is to say, by faith. Moreover, this argument must be ioynd to that which followeth next, that his conclusion may be firme and euident. ^k God is said to be their God, after the manner of the Scripture, whom he leueth and tendereth. ^l The circumcision. ^m The taking away of an objection: yet is not the Law taken away therefore, but is rather established, as it shall be declared in his proper place. ⁿ Vaine, void, to no purpose, and of no force. ^o We make it effectual and strong.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Hee proueth that which he said before of faith, by the example of Abraham, 3. 6. and the testimonie of the Scripture: and sen times in the chapter hee beateth vpon this word Imputation.

What shall we say then, that Abraham our father hath found concerning the ^a flesh?

2 For if Abraham were iustified by workes, hee hath wherein to reioyce, but not with God.

3 For what saith the Scripture? Abraham beleueed God, and it was counted to him for righteousness.

A new argument of great weight, taken from the example of Abraham the father of all beleuers: And this is the proposition, if Abraham be considered in himselfe, by his workes, he hath deserved nothing wherein to reioyce with God. ^a By workes, as appeareth in the next verse. ^b A preventing of an objection, Abraham may well reioyce, & extol himselfe amongst men, but not with God. ^c A confirmation of the proposition: Abraham was iustified by imputation of faith, therefore freely without any respect of his workes.

4 Now to him that ^b worketh, the wages is not ^c counted by fauour, but by debt:

5 But to him that worketh not, but beleueth in him that ^d iustificieth the vngodly, his faith is counted for righteousness.

6 Euen as Dauid declareth the blessednes of the man, vnto whom God imputeth righteousness without workes, saying,

7 Blessed are they, whose iniquities are forgiven, and whose sinnes are couered.

8 Blessed is the man, to whom the Lord imputeth not sinne.

9 Came this ^e blessednesse then vpon the circumcision onely, or vpon the vncircumcision also? For we say, that faith was imputed vnto Abraham for righteousness.

10 How was it then imputed? when he was circumcised, or vncircumcised? not when he was circumcised, but when he was vncircumcised.

11 After he received the ^f signe of circumcision, as the scale of the righteousness of the faith which hee had, when he was vncircumcised, that hee should be the father of all them that beleuee, not being circumcised, that righteousness might be imputed to them also,

12 And the father of circumcision, not vnto them onely which are of the circumcision, but vnto them also that walke in the steps of the faith of our father Abraham, which he had when he was vncircumcised.

13 For the promise that he should be the ^g heire of the word, was not giuen to Abraham, or to his seed, through the ^h Law, but through the righteousness of faith.

14 For if they which are of the ⁱ Lawe, be heires, faith is made voyde, and the promise is made of none effect.

15 For the law causeth wrath: for where no Lawe is, there is no transgression.

16 Therefore it is by faith, that it might come by grace, and the promise might be sure to all the ^j seede, not to that only which is of the Law: but also to that which is of the faith of Abraham, who is the father of vs all,

17 (As it is written, I haue made thee a of an objection. Why then was Abraham circumcised, if he were already iustified? That the gift of righteousness (saith he) might be confirmed in him, ^k Circumcision, which is a signe: as we say the Sacrament of baptism, for baptism which is a Sacrament of Circumcision was called before, a signe, in respect of his owne sacrament: now Paul sheweth the force and substance of that signe, that is, what end it is used to wit, not only to signify, but also to scale vp the righteousness of faith, whereby we come to possesse Christ himselfe: for the holy Ghost worketh that inwardly in deede, which the Sacraments being ioynd with the word, do represent. ^l An applying of the example of Abraham to the vncircumcised beleuers, whose father also he maketh Abraham. ^m An applying of the same example, to the circumcised beleuers, whose father Abraham is, but yet by faith. ⁿ A reason why the seed of Abraham is to be esteemed by faith, because that Abraham himselfe through faith was made partaker of that promise, whereby he was made the father of all nations, ^o That all the nations of the world should be his children: or by the world, may be understood the land of Canaan. ^p For workes that he had done, or vpon this conclusion that he should fulfill the law. ^q A double confirmation of that reason: the one is that the promise cannot be apprehended by the law, and therefore it should be frustrate: the other, that the condition of faith should be ioynd in vaine to that promise which should be apprehended by workes. ^r If they be heires which haue fulfilled the Law. ^s A reason of the first confirmation, why the promise cannot be apprehended by the law: because that the Law doth not reconcile God and vs, but rather denounceth his anger against vs, for so much as no man can obserue it. ^t The conclusion of this argument: The saluation & iustification of posterity of Abraham (that is, of the Church which is gathered together of all people) proceedeth of faith which layeth hold on the promise made vnto Abraham, & which promise Abraham himselfe first of all laid hold on. ^u To all the beleuers. ^v That is to say, not onely of them which beleue, and are also circumcised according to the Law, but of them also which without circumcision, and in respect of faith onely, are counted amongst the Children of Abraham.

The first proofe of the confirmation, taken of contraries: to him that deserueth any thing by his labour the wages is not counted by fauour, but by debt: but to him that hath done nothing but beleueth in him which promitteth freely, faith is imputed. ¹ To him that hath deserved any thing by his workes. ² Is not reckoned. ³ That maketh him, which is wrought in him, fauour, just in Christ. ⁴ Another proofe of the same confirmation: Dauid putteth blessednesse to free pardon of sinnes, therefore iustification also. ⁵ A new proposition: that this manner of iustification belongeth both to vncircumcised, and also to the circumcised, as is declared in the person of Abraham. ⁶ This saying of Dauid, where he sayeth, I will glorify thee, is the first. ⁷ Hee proueth that it belongeth, to the vncircumcised (for there was no doubt of the circumcised in this sort: Abraham was iustified in circumcision, therefore this iustification belongeth also to the vncircumcised. Nay it doeth not apperteyne to the circumcised, in respect of the circumcision, much lesse are the vncircumcised shut out for their vncircumcision. ⁸ A preventing 17 This father of many nations) men before God whom he beleeded, who quickned the dead, and calleth those things which be not, as though they were.

18 Which Abraham aboue hope, beleued vnder hope, that he should be the father of many nations: according to that which was spoken to him, So shall thy seed be.

19 And he not weak in the faith, considered not his owne body, which was now dead, being almost an hundred yeere old, neither the deadnesse of Saraes wombe.

20 Neither did he doubt of the promise of God through vnbeliefe, But was strengthened in the faith, and gaue glory to God.

21 Being fully assured that he which had promised was able to do it.

22 And therefore it was imputed to him for righteousness.

23 Now it is not written for him onely, that it was imputed to him for righteousness.

24 But also for vs, to whom it shalbe imputed for righteousness, which beleue in him that raised vp Iesus our Lord from the dead.

25 Who was deliuered to death for our finnes, and is risen againe for our iustification.

CHAP. V.

1 Hee amplifieth 2 Christs righteousness, which is layde hold on by faith, 3 who was giuen for the weak, 8 and sinfull. 14 He compareth Christ with Adam, 17 Death with life, 20 and the Law with Grace.

Then being iustified by faith, we haue peace toward God through our Lord Iesus Christ,

2 By whom also through faith, we haue had this access vnto this grace, wherein we stand, and reioyce vnder the hope of the glory of God.

3 Neither that onely, but also we reioyce in tribulations, knowing that tribulation bringeth forth patience;

4 And patience experience, and experience hope,

5 And hope maketh not ashamed, because the loue of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the holy Ghost, which is giue vnto vs.

6 For Christ, when we were yet of no age, and in whom faith it selfe is effectual.

7 By which grace, that is, by which gracious love and good will, or that state wheremto we are graciously taken, we stand stedfast.

8 A preventing of an obedienc against them, which beholding the daily miseries and calamities of the Church, thinke that the Christians dreame, when they brag of their felicity: to whom the Apostle answereth, that their felicity is laide vp vnder hope in another place: which hope is so certaine and sure, that they do no lesse reioyce for that happinesse then if they did presently enjoy it.

9 Our minds are not only quiet and stilled, but also we are maruailously glad, & conceiue great ioy for that heavenly inheritance, which we wait for vs.

10 Tribulation it selfe giue vs diuers and sundry wayes occasions to reioyce, much lesse doeth it make vs miserable.

11 Tam. 1. 2. 3. Afflictions accompanie vs to patience, and patience assureth vs of the goodnesse of God, and this experience confirmeth and fostereth our hope, which neuer deceiueth vs.

12 The ground of hope is an assured testimony of the confidence, by the gift of the holy Ghost, that we are beloued of God, and this is nothing else but that which we call faith, wherewith it followeth, that through faith our consciences are quieted.

13 Wherewith hee longeth vs. 7 A sure comfort in aduersitie, that our peace and quietnesse of conscience be not troubled: for hee that so loued them that were of no strength and while they were yet sinners, that hee died for them, how can hee neglect them being now sanctified and liuing in him?

7 Doubtlesse one will scarce die for a righteous man: but yet for a good man it may be that one dare die.

8 But God secreteth out his loue towards vs, seeing that while we were yet sinners, Christ dyed for vs.

9 Much more then, being now iustified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him.

10 For if when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God, by the death of his Sonne, much more being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life.

11 And not onely so, but we also reioyce in God through our Lord Iesus Christ, by whom we haue now receiued the atonement.

12 Wherefore, as by one man sinne entred into the world, and death by sinne, and so death went ouer all men: in whom all men haue sinned.

13 For vnto the time of the Law was sinne in the world, but sinne is not imputed, while there is no law.

14 But death reigned from Adam to Moses, euen over them also that sinned not after the like manner of the transgression of Adam, which was figure of him that was to come.

15 But yet the gift is not for, as is the offence: for if through the offence of that one, many be dead, much more the grace of God, and the gift by grace, which is by one man Iesus Christ, hath abounded vnto many.

16 Neither is the gift so as that which entred in by one that sinned: for the fault came of one offence vnto condemnation: but the gift is of many offences to iustification.

17 For if by the offence of one, death reigned through one, much more shall they which receiue that abundance of grace, and of that gift of that righteousness, reigne in life through one, that is, Iesus Christ.

from Adam into vs, and all the fruits thereof: so that in Christ we do not onely cease to be vniust, but we begin also to be iust.

18 From Adam in whom all haue sinned, both guiltinesse and death (which is the punishment of the guiltinesse) came vpon all.

19 By Adam, who is compared with Christ, like to him in this, that both of them made those which are their partakers of their sinne: but they are unlike in this, that Adam deriueth sinne into them that are his, euen of nature, and that to death, but Christ maketh them that are his, partakers of his righteousness by grace, and that vnto life.

20 By sinne, we meane that disease which is hurt by inheriencie, and men commonly call it original sinne: for so be useth to call that sinne in the singular number, wherem of wee speake of the fruits of it, be vsith the plural number, calling them sinnes.

21 That is, in Adam.

22 That this is so, that both guiltinesse and death began not after the giuing and transgressing of Moses Law, in appeareth manifestly by that, that men died before that Law was giuen for in that they died, sinne, which is the cause of death, was then and in such sort, that it was also imputed: wherupon it followeth that there was then some Law, the breach wherof was the cause of death.

23 Euen from Adams descent.

24 Where there is no Law made, no man is punished in conscience, and guiltis.

25 But that this Law was not the vniuersall Law, and that that death did not proceede from any actual sinne of every one particularly, it appeareth hereby, that the very infants which neither could yet know nor transgresse that naturall Law, are notwithstanding dead as well as Adam.

26 Our first sinne.

27 For after that sort as they sin that are of more years, following their lust: but yet the whole posterity was corrupted in Adam when as hee was first & willingly sinned.

28 Now that first Adam answereth the latter, who is Christ, as it is after ward declared.

29 Adam and Christ are compared together in this respect, that both of them doe giue and yeeld to theirs, that which is their owne but herein first they differ, that Adam by nature hath spread his fault to the destruction of many, but Christs obediencie hath by grace overflowed many.

30 Then, Adam.

31 Another inequality consisteth in this, that by Adams one offence men are made guilty, but the righteousness of Christ imputed vnto vs freely, doth not onely absolue vs from that one fault, but from all other.

32 To the sentence of absolution, wherby we are quiet and pronounced righteous.

33 The third difference is, that the righteousness of Christ being imputed, vnto vs by grace, is of greater power to bring life, then the offence of Adam is to addit his posterity to death.

34 As partakers of cruce and euertlasting life.

18 Likewise then as by the offence of one, the fault came on all men to condemnation, so by the justifying of one, the benefit abounded toward all men to the justification of life.

19 For as by one mans disobedience many were made sinners, so by that obedience of that one shall many also be made righteous.

20 Moreover the Law entered thereupon that the offence should abound: nevertheless, where sinne abounded, there grace abounded much more.

21 That sinne had reigned unto death, so might grace also reign by righteousness unto eternal life through Iesus Christ our Lord.

22 The ground of this whole consideration is this, that the corruption of our nature is not by nature, but by the fall of man. For as the corruption of our nature is not by nature, but by the fall of man, so the grace of God is not by nature, but by the fall of man. For as the corruption of our nature is not by nature, but by the fall of man, so the grace of God is not by nature, but by the fall of man.

CHAP. VI.

1 He cometh to sanctification, which is the putting on of Christ's righteousness by faith, and the putting on of the Law of holiness of life, 16 briefly making mention of the Law of holiness of life.

2 What shall we say then? Shall we continue still in sinne, that grace may abound? God forbid.

3 How shall we that are dead to sinne live yet therein?

4 Know ye not, that all we which have beene baptized into Iesus Christ, have beene baptized into his death?

5 We are buried then with him by baptism into his death, that like as Christ was raised up from the dead to the glory of the father so we also should walke in newnesse of life.

6 For if we be planted with him to the similitude of his death, even so shall we be to the similitude of his resurrection.

7 Knowing this, that our old man is crucified with him, that the body of sinne might be destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sinne.

8 For he that is dead, is freed from sinne.

9 Wherefore, if we be dead with Christ, we beleeve that we shall live also with him.

10 Knowing that Christ being raised from the dead, dieth no more: death hath no more dominion over him.

11 For in that he died, he died once to sinne: but in that he lieth, he lieth to God.

12 Likewise thinke ye also, that ye are dead to sinne, but are alive to God in Iesus Christ our Lord.

13 Let not sinne reigne therefore in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in the lusts thereof.

14 Neither give ye your members as weapons of righteousness unto sinne: but give your members unto God, as they that are alive from the dead, and give your members as weapons of righteousness unto God.

15 For sinne shall not have dominion over you: for ye are not under the Law, but under grace.

16 What then? shall we sinne, because we are not under the Law, but under grace? God forbid.

17 Know ye not, that to whomsoever ye give your selves as servants to obey, his servants ye are, to whom ye obey, whether it be of sinne unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness?

18 But God be thanked, that ye have beene the servants of sinne, but ye have obeyed from the heart unto the forme of the doctrine, whereunto ye were delivered.

19 Being then made free from sinne, ye are made the servants of righteousness.

20 I speake after the manner of man, because of the infirmity of your flesh: for as ye have given your members servants to uncleannes and to iniquitie, to commit iniquitie, so now give your members servants unto righteousness in holiness.

21 For when ye were the servants of sinne, ye were freed from righteousness.

22 What fruit had ye then in those things, whereof ye are now ashamed? For the end of those things is death.

23 But now being freed from sinne, and made servants unto God, ye have your fruit in holiness, and the end, everlasting life.

24 For the wages of sinne is death: but the gift of God is eternal life, through Iesus Christ our Lord.

bee destroyed, that henceforth we should not serve sinne.

For he that is dead, is freed from sinne.

Wherefore, if we be dead with Christ, we beleeve that we shall live also with him.

For in that he died, he died once to sinne: but in that he lieth, he lieth to God.

For the wages of sinne is death: but the gift of God is eternal life, through Iesus Christ our Lord.

This kind of speech hath a force in it: for hee meaneth thereby that the doctrine of the Gospel is like unto a certain mould which we are cast into, to be framed and fashioned like unto it.

Righteousnesse had no rule over you, 10 An exhortation to the studie of righteousness and hatred of sinne, the contrary ends of both being set downe before vs. 11 The reward or payment. 12 Death is the punishment due to sinne, but we are sanctified freely, unto life everlasting.

CHAP. VII.

Hee declareth what it is, to be no more under the Law, 2 by an example taken of the Law of marriage: 7. 12 And lest the Law should seeme faultie, 14 hee prooveth, that our sinne is the cause 13 that the same is an occasion

17 Therefore to be short, as by one mans offence, the guiltiness came on all men to make themselves dead to sinne: so by the righteousnesse of one, the righteousnesse shall come on all men to make themselves alive to God.

18 Likewise then as by the offence of one, the fault came on all men to condemnation, so by the iustifying of one, the benefit abounded toward all men to the iustification of life.

19 For as by one mans disobedience many were made sinners, so by that obedience of that one shall many also be made righteous.

20 Moreover the Law entered thereupon that the offence should abound: nevertheless, where sinne abounded, there grace abounded much more.

21 That as sinne had reigned vnto death, so might grace also reigne by righteousness vnto eternal life through Iesus Christ our Lord.

22 The ground of this whole comparison is this, that the two men are let as two stocks or roots, so that out of the one sinne by nature, out of the other righteousness by grace doth spring forth vpon others. So then, from sinne we are not only by following the steps of our forefather, but by taking corruption of him by inheritance. 2. This word, Many, is set against this word, a few. 3. Apprehending of an objection why then did the Law of Moses enter thereupon? that men might be so much the more guiltie, and the benefit of Gods grace in Christ Iesus be so much the more glorious. 4. Besides that default which all men were infected withal by being defiled with one mans sinne, the Law entered. 5. Grace was poured so plentifully from heauen, that it did not only counterwaite sinne, but also more than passed it.

CHAP. VI.

1 He cometh to sanctification, without which, there is no man putteth on Christs righteousness for growth, 2 by an argument taken of Baptisme, 3 and thereupon exhorteth to holiness of life, 4 briefly making mention of the Law transgressed.

What shall we say then? Shall we continue still in sinne, that grace may abound? God forbid.

13 Neither giue yee your members as weapons of unrighteousnesse vnto sinne: but giue your selues vnto God, as they that are alive from the dead, and giue your members as weapons of righteousness vnto God.

14 For sinne shall not haue dominion ouer you: for ye are not vnder the Law, but vnder grace.

15 What then? shall we sinne, because we are not vnder the Law, but vnder grace? God forbid.

23 For the wages of sinne is death: but the gift of God is eternall life, through Iesus Christ our Lord.

This kind of speech hath a force in it: for hee meaneth thereby that the doctrine of the Gospel is like vnto a certaine mould which we are cast into, to be formed and fashioned like vnto it. 1. Righteousnesse had no rule ouer you. 2. An exhortation to the studie of righteousness and hatred of sinne, the contrary ends of both being set downe before vs. 3. The reward or payment. 4. Death is the punishment due to sinne, but we are sanctified freely, vnto liue everlasting.

CHAP. VII.

2 Hee declareth what it is, to be no more vnder the Law, 2 by an example taken of the Law of marriage: 7. 12 And lest the Law should seeme faultie, 14 hee proueth, that our sinne is the cause 13 that the same is an occasion

1 The end of sanctification which we haue at, and shall as long as we liue, to wit, when God shall be all in all.

2 He proueth it by the effects of death, vying a comparison of Christs death with his members.

3 Once for all. 4 With God. 5 An exhortation to contend and strive with corruption and all the effects thereof.

6 By ringing. 7 Paul meaneth that chiefest and high rule, which no man may resist against, and if any do, yet it is in vaine.

8 To sinne, as to a lord or tyrant. 9 Your mind and all the powers of it. 10 As instruments to commit wickedness withal.

11 He granteth, that sinne is not yet so dead in vs that it is utterly extinct: but he prometh victory to them that contend manfully, because wee haue the grace of God giuen vs, which worketh so, that the Law is not now in vs the power & instrument of sinne.

12 To be vnder the Law and vnder sinne, signifies all one, in respect of them which are not sanctified, as on the contrary side to be vnder grace and righteousness, agree to them that are regenerate.

Now these are contraries, so that one cannot agree with the other: Therefore let righteousness expell sinne.

13 John 8. 34. 3. pet. 3. 19.

14 By nature we are slaves to sinne and free from righteousness, but by the grace of God we are made seruants to righteousness, and therefore free from sinne.

15 This kind of speech hath a force in it: for hee meaneth thereby that the doctrine of the Gospel is like vnto a certaine mould which we are cast into, to be formed and fashioned like vnto it.

16 Righteousnesse had no rule ouer you. 17 An exhortation to the studie of righteousness and hatred of sinne, the contrary ends of both being set downe before vs. 18 The reward or payment. 19 Death is the punishment due to sinne, but we are sanctified freely, vnto liue everlasting.

1 Hee putteth now to another benefit of Christs, which is called sanctification or regeneration. 2 Further more, hee saith though the guiltiness of sinne be not imputed to vs, yet the corruption remaineth in vs: the which sanctification that followeth iustification, is called by little and little. 3 The benefits of iustification and sanctification, are alwayes joined together inseparably, and both of them proceede from Christ by the grace of God: Now Sanctification is the abolishing of sinne, that is, of our naturall corruption, into whose place succeedeth the cleanness and purenesse of nature reformed. 4 They are said of Paul to be dead to sinne, which are in such sort made partakers of the vertue of Christs, that their naturall corruption is dead in them, that is, the force of it is put out, and a bringing forth of better fruites: And on the other side, they are said to liue in sinne which are in the flesh, that is, whom the spirit of God hath not deliuered from the slavery of the corruption of nature. 5 There are three parts of this Sanctification: to wit, the death of the olde man or sinne, his buriall, and the resurrection of the new man, descending into vs from the vertue of the death, buriall, and resurrection of Christ, of which benefit our baptism is a signe and pledge. 6 Gal. 3. 27. 7 To the end that growing up in one with him, we should receive his strength, to quench sinne in us, and to make vs new men. 8 Col. 3. 12. 9 That Christ himselfe being discharged of his sinne and weakness, might liue in glory with God for ever. 10 And wee which are his members, for this end, that being made partakers of the selfe same vertue, we should begin to lead a new life, as though wee were already in heauen. 11 Ephes. 4. 23. colos. 3. 8. heb. 12. 1. 1. Pet. 2. 1. 4. The death of sinne and the life of righteousness, or our ingrafting into Christ, and growing vp into one with him, cannot be separated by any means neither in death nor life: whereby it followeth, that no man is sanctified, which liueth stil to sinne, and therefore is no man made partaker of Christs baptism, which repenteth not and turneth not from his wickednesse: for as hee said before, the Law is not subuerted but established by faith. 12 1 Cor. 6. 11. 2. tim. 2. 19. 13 In so much as by means of the strength which cometh from him to vs, wee so die to sinne, as wee dead. 14 For we become every day more perfite then other: for we shall neuer be perfectly sanctified, as long as we liue in vs. 15 All our whole nature, as we are conceived and borne into this world with sinne, which is called olde, partly by comparing that olde Adam with Christ, and partly also in respect of the deformation of our corrupt nature, which we change with a new. 16 Our corrupt nature is attributed to Christ, not in deed, but by imputation. 17 That naughty nature which picketh fault in vs.

1. The Law of the flesh is against the Law of my minde, and leading me captive vnto the Law of sinne, which is in my members.

24. ¹⁴ O wretched man that I am, who shal deliuer me from the body of this death.

25. I thank God through Iesus Christ our Lord. Then if my selfe in my minde serue the Lawe of God, but in my flesh the lawe of sinne.

which of it owne nature maketh vs guilty of death: but wee must crie to the Lord, who will by death it leaue as length make vs conquerours, as we are already conquerours in Christ. ^d We are wretched miserable and continuall conflict. ^e Hee receiveth himselfe and strength as that he refecth only in Christ. ^f This is the true perfection of them that are borne anew, to be such that they are imperfect.

CHAP. VIII.

1 He concludeth that there is no condemnation to them, who are grafted in Christ through his spirit, 3 howsoever they be as yet burdened with sinnes: 9 For they liue through that spirit, 14 whose testimonie 15 driueth away all feare, 28 And releueth our present miseries.

2 ¹ Now then there is no condemnation to them that are in Christ Iesus, which walke not after the flesh but after the spirit.

3 ² For the Law of the Spirit of life, which is in Christ Iesus, hath freed mee from the Law of sinne and of death.

4 ³ For, (that that was impossible to the Law, in as much as it was weak, because of the flesh) God sending his owne Sonne, in the similitude of sinfull flesh, and for sinne, condemned sinne in the flesh.

5 ⁴ That that righteousness of the Lawe might bee fulfilled in vs, which walke not after the flesh, but after the Spirit.

6 ⁵ For they that are after the flesh, saue the things of the flesh: but they that are after the Spirit, the things of the Spirit.

in vs, doe not ingraft vs into Christ, but doe declare that wee are grafted into him. ^a Follow not the flesh for their guide: for hee is not said to liue after the flesh, that hath the holy Ghost for his guide, though sometimes hee slip away. ³ A preventing of an objection: seeing that the vertue of the spirit which is in vs, is to weak, how may wee gather thereby, that there is no condemnation to them that haue that vertue? Because faith hee, that vertue of the quickening spirit which is so weak in vs, is most perfect and most mightie in Christ, and being impud into vs which beleue, exalt vs to be so accompted of, as though there were no reliques of corruption and death in vs. Therefore hitherto, Paul disputed of remission of sinnes, and imputation of fulfilling the Law, and also of sanctification which is begun in vs: but now he speaketh of the perfect imputation of Christs manhood, which part was necessarily required to the full appeasing of our consciences. For our sinnes are defaced by the blood of Christ, and the guiltiness of our corruption is covered with the imputation of Christs obedience, and the corruption it selfe (which the Apostle calleth sinfull flesh) is healed in vs by little and little by the gift of sanctification: but yet lacketh besides that, another remedie, to wit, the perfect sanctification of Christs owne flesh, which also is to vs imputed. ^b The power and authoritie of the Spirit, against which is the tyrannie of sinne. ^c Which mortifieth the olde man, and quickeneth the new man. ^d To wit, absolutely and perfectly. ^e For Christs sanctification being imputed to vs, persisteth our sanctification which is begun in vs. ⁴ Hee vseth no argument here but expoundeth the mysterie of sanctification, which is imputed vnto vs: for because faith hee that the vertue of the Law was not such (and that by reason of the corruption of our nature) that it could make man pure and perfect, and for that it rather kindled the disease of sinne, then did put it out and extinguiish it: therefore God clothed his Sonne with flesh like vnto our sinfull flesh, wherein he vterly abolished our corruption, that being accepted throughly pure and without fault in him apprehended and laide hold on by faith, wee might be found to haue fully that singular perfection which the Lawe requirerth, and therefore that there might be no condemnation in vs. ^f Which is not proper to the Law, but commeth by our faults. ^g In man not borne anew, whose disease the Lawe could point out, but it could not heale it. ^h Of mans nature which is corrupt through sinne, until hee sanctified it. ⁱ To abolish sinne in our flesh. ^k Shewed that sinne hath no right in vs. ^l The very substance of the Lawe of God might be fulfilled, or that same which the Lawe requirerth, that we may be found without before God: for if with our justification there bee ioynd that sanctification which is imputed to vs, we are safe, according to that perfect forme which the Lawe requirerth. ⁵ Hee returneth to that which hee said, that the sanctification which is begun in vs, is a true testimonie of our ingrafting into Christ, which is a most plentifull fruit of a godly and honest life. ⁶ A reason why to walke after the flesh, agreeth not to them which are grafted in Christ, but to walke after the spirit, agreeth and is meete for them: Because faith hee that they which are after the flesh saue the things of the flesh, but they that are after the Spirit, the things of the Spirit. ^m They that liue as the flesh leade it them.

6. ⁷ For the wisdom of the flesh is death: but the wisdom of the Spirit is life and peace.

7 ⁸ Because the wisdom of the flesh is enimie against God: for it is not subiect to the Law of God, neither in deed can be.

8 ¹⁰ So then they that are in the flesh, can not please God.

9 ¹¹ Now ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, because the Spirit of God dwelleth in you: but if any man hath not the Spirit of Christ, the same is not his.

10 ¹² And if Christ bee in you, the body is dead, because of sinne: but the Spirit is life for righteousness sake.

11 ¹³ But if the Spirit of him that raised vp Iesus from the dead, dwell in you, he that raised vp Christ from the dead, shall also quicken your mortall bodies, by his Spirit that dwelleth in you.

12 ¹⁴ Therefore brethren, wee are debtors not to the flesh, to liue after the flesh:

13 ¹⁵ For if yee liue after the flesh, yee shall die: but if ye mortifie the deeds of the body by the Spirit, ye shall liue.

14 ¹⁶ For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sonnes of God.

15 ¹⁷ For yee haue not receiued the Spirit of bondage, to feare againe: but yee haue receiued the Spirit of adoption, whereby wee crie Abba, Father.

16 The same Spirit beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God.

17 ¹⁸ If we be children, wee are also heires, euen the heires of God, and heires annexed with Christ: so if so be that we suffer with him, that we may also be glorified with him,

18 ¹⁹ For I count that the afflictions of this present time are not worthy of the glory, which shall be shewed vnto vs.

ioynd and knit to our grafting in Christ, that it can by no means be separated. ¹² Hee confirmeth the faithfull against the reliques of flesh and sinne, granting that they are yet (as appeareth by the corruption which is in them) touching one of their parts (which he calleth the body, that is to say, a lump) which is not yet purged from this earthly filthines, in death: but therewithall willing them to doubt nothing of the happy successe of this combate, because that euen this little sparke of the Spirit, (that is, of the grace of regeneration) which appeareth to be in them by the fruits of righteousness, is the seede of life. ¹³ The flesh, or all that, which as yet sticketh fast in the clefts of sinne and death. ¹⁴ A confirmation of the former sentence. You haue the selfe same Spirit which Christ hath: Therefore at length it shall doe the same in you, that it did in Christ, to wit, when all infirmities being vtterly layd aside, and death overcome, it shall clothe you with heavenly glory. ¹⁵ By the vertue and power of it, which shewed the same might first in our head, and daily worketh in his members. ¹⁶ An exhortation to oppresse the flesh daily more and more by the vertue of the Spirit of regeneration, because (saith he) you are debtors vnto God, for so much as you haue receiued so many benefits of him. ¹⁷ Another reason of the profit that ensueth: for such as strue and fight valiantly, shall haue euermore life. ¹⁸ A confirmation of this reason: for they be the children of God, which are gouerned by his Spirit, therefore shall they haue life euermore. ¹⁹ Hee declarerth and expoundeth by the way, in these two verses, by what right his name, to be called the children of God, is giuen to the beleuers, because faith hee, they haue receiued the grace of the Gospel, wherein God sheweth himselfe, not (as before) in the publishing of the Lawe) terrible and fearefull, but a most benigne and louing Father in Christ: so that with great boldnesse wee call him Father, the holy Ghost sealing this adoption in our hearts by faith. ²⁰ By the Spirit, is meant the holy Ghost whom wee are said to receiue, when hee worketh in our mindes. ²¹ Which stirs it firr'd up in our mindes by the preaching of the Law. ²² Which sealeth our adoption in our mindes, and therefore openeth our mouth. ²³ A prooofe of the consequent of the confirmation: because that he which is the sonne of God, doth enioy God with Christ. ²⁴ Partakers of our faith vs goods, and that freely, because we are children by adoption. ²⁵ Now Paul teacheth by what way the sonnes of God doe come to that felicitie, to wit, by the crosse, as Christ himselfe did: and therewithall openeth vnto them fountaines of comfort: as first that wee haue Christ a companion and fellow of our afflictions: secondly, that we shalbe also his fellowes in that euermore glory. ²⁶ Thirdly, that this glory which wee looke for, deeth a thousand pats surmount the miserie of our afflictions, ²⁷ All being well considered, I gather.

7 Hee prooeth the consequent, because that whosoever the flesh fauoureth, that engendereth death: and whosoever the Spirit fauoureth, that tendeth to ioy and life euermore. ⁸ A reason and prooofe why the wisdom of the flesh is death, because faith hee, it is the enemy of God. ⁹ A reason why the wisdom of the flesh is enemy to God, because it neither will neither can be subiect to him, and by flesh hee meaneth a man not regenerate. ¹⁰ The conclusion. Therefore they that walke after the flesh, cannot please God: whereby it followeth, that they are not grafted into Christ. ¹¹ Hee cometh to the others, to wit, to them which walke after the Spirit, of whom we haue to vnderstand contrary things to the former: and first of all, he desireth what it is to be in the Spirit, or to be sanctified: to wit, to haue the Spirit of God dwelling in vs, then he declarerth, that sanctification is to

Spirit of adoption. To the Romanes. Christs perpetual loue.

21 Fourthly, he plainly teacheth vs, that we shall certainly be renewed from that confusion and horrible deformation of the whole world, which cannot be continually, as it was not at the beginning. But as it had a beginning of man for whom it was made by the ordinance of God, so shall it at length be restored with the elect.

a All this world is subject to vanishing and fleeting state. 7 Not by any natural inclination. 2. That they should obey the Creators commandment, whom it pleased so, shew by their sickle state, how greatly he was displeased with man. a God would not make the world subject to everlasting curse, for the sinne of man, but gave it hope that it should be restored.

b From the corruption which they are now subject to, they shall be delivered and changed into that blessed state of incorruption, which shall be revealed, when the sonnes of God shall be advanced to glory. c By this word is meant, not only exceeding sorrow, but also the fruit that followeth of it.

22 Fifthly, if there be of the world lookers for a restoring, growing as it were for it, and that not in vaine, let it not grieve vs also to sigh, yea, let vs be more certainly persuaded of our redemption to come, forasmuch as wee haue the first fruits of the Spirit. d Euen from the bottom of our hearts. * Luke 21. 28. e That last rising, which shall be the accomplishment of our adoption. 23 Sixtly, hope is necessarily ioyned with faith: seeing then that wee beleue those things which wee are not yet in possession of, and hope respecteth not the thing that is present, we must therefore hope and patiently waite for that which we beleue shall come to passe. f This is spoken by the figure Metonymie: Hope, for that which we hoped for. 24 Seuenthy, there is no cause why wee should faint vnder the burthen of afflictions, seeing that prayers mislister vnto vs a most sure helpe: which cannot be frustrate, seeing they proceed from the Spirit of God which dwelleth in vs. g Beareth our burden, as it were, that we faint not vnder it. h Promoueth vs to prayers, and telleth vs as it were within what we shall say, and how we shall grow. i What sorbes and sighes proceed from the influence of his Spirit. k Because he teacheth the godly to pray according to Gods will. 25 Eightly, wee are not afflicted, either by chance or to our harme, but by Gods providence for our great profit: who as hee chose vs from the beginning, so hath he predestinate vs to be made like to the image of his Sonne: and therefore will bring vs in his time, being called and iustified, to glory, by the crosse. l Not only afflictions, but what neuer else. m Hee calleth that, Purpose, which God hath from everlasting appointed with himselfe according to his good will and pleasure. n He useth the time past for the time present, as the Hebrewes use, who sometime set downe the thing that is to come by the time that is past, to signify the certainty of it: and wee haue also a regard to Gods continually working. 26 Ninthy, we haue no cause to feare that the Lord will not giue vs whatsoever is profitable for vs, seeing that hee hath not spared his owne Sonne to saue vs.

19 For the seruens desire of the creature waiteth, when the sonnes of God shall be reuealed.

20 Because the creature is subiect to vanitie, not of its owne will, but by reason of him, which hath subdued it vnder hope.

21 Because the creature also shall be deliuered from the bondage of corruption into the glorious liberty of the sonnes of God.

22 For wee know that euery creature groweth with vs also, and trauaileth in paine together vnto this present.

23 And not onely the creature, but wee also which haue the first fruites of the Spirit, euen wee de sigh in our selues, waiting for the adoption, euen the redemption of our body.

24 For we are saued by hope: but hope that is seene is not hope: for how can a man hope for that which he seeth?

25 But if we hope for that we see not, we doe with patience abide for it.

26 Likewise the Spirit also helpeth our infirmities: for wee know not what to pray as wee ought: but the Spirit it selfe maketh request for vs with sighes, which cannot be expressed.

27 But he that searcheth the hearts, knoweth what is the meaning of the Spirit: for he maketh request for the Saints, according to the will of God.

28 Also wee knowe that all things worke together for the best vnto them that loue God, euen to them that are called of his purpose.

29 For those which he knew before, he also predestinate to be made like to the image of his Sonne, that he might be the first borne among many brethren.

30 Moreouer, whom hee predestinated, them also he called, and whom he called, them also he iustified, and whom he iustified, them he also glorified.

31 What shall wee then say to these things? If God be for our side, who can be against vs?

32 Who spared not his owne Sonne, but gave him for vs all to death, how shall hee not with him giue vs all things also?

33 Who shall lay any thing to the charge of Gods chosen? it is God that iustificeth.

34 Who shall condemne? it is Christ which is dead, yea or rather which is risen againe, who is also at the right hand of God, and maketh request also for vs.

35 Who shall separate vs from the loue of Christ? shall tribulation or anguish, or persecution, or famine, or nakednesse, or perill, or sword?

36 As it is written, For thy sake are wee killed al day long: we are counted as sheepe for the slaughter.

37 Neuerthelesse, in all these things wee are more then conquerours through him that loued vs.

38 For I am perswaded that neither death, nor life, nor Angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come,

39 Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature shall be able to separate vs from the loue of God, which is in Christ Iesus our Lord: night fall from the loue of God, wherewith he loueth vs in Christ? Surely nothing, seeing that it is in it selfe most constant and sure, and also in vs being confirmed by steadfast faith. p Who pronounceth vs not onely saile/esse, but also perfectly safe in his Sonne. q Wherewith Christ loueth vs. * Psalm: 44. 22. r We are not only not overcome with so great and many miseries and calamities, but also more then conquerours in all of them.

CHAP. IX.

1 He answereth an obiection, that might be brought on the Iewes behalfe, 7 and telleth of two sortes of Abrahams children, 15 and that God worketh all things in this matter according to his will, 20 euen as the poster doeth. 24. 30 Hee proueth aswell the calling of the Gentiles, 31 as also the reiecting of the Iewes, 25. 27. by the testimonies of the Prophets.

I Say the truth in Christ, I lie not, my conscience bearing me witnesse in the holy Ghost.

2 That I haue great heauinesse, and continually sorrow in mine heart.

3 For I would wish my selfe to be separated from Christ, with my brethren that are my kinsmen according to the flesh,

4 Which are the Israelites, to whom pertained the adoption, and the glorie, and the Covenants, and the giuing of the Lawe, and the seruice of God, and the promises.

5 Of whom are the fathers, and of whom concerning the flesh, Christ came, who is God ouer all, blessed for euer, Amen.

6 Notwithstanding it cannot bee that the Word of God should take none effect: for all they are not Israel, which are of Israel.

granting vnto them all their prerogatives. a The Apostle laudeth his brethren so entirely, that if it had beene possible, he would haue beene ready to haue redeemed the calling away of the Israelites with the losse of his owne soule for euer for this wayd. Separate betwixt as much in this place. b Being brethren by flesh, of one nation and country. c The Arke of the covenant, which was a token of Gods presence. d The tables of the covenant, and this is spoken by the figure Metonymia. e Of the iudiciall Law. f The ceremoniall Law. g Which were made to Abraham and to his posteritie. h A most manifest testimonie of the Godhead and diuinitie of Christ. i Chap. 2. 17. ephes. 2. 12. k Be entred into the handling of predestination, by a kind of preventing an obiection: How may it be, that Israel is cast off, but that therewithall we must also make the covenant which God made with Abraham and his seed, free and void? He answereth therefore, that Gods word is true, although that Israel be cast off, for the election of the people of Israel is so general and common, that notwithstanding the same God chuseth by his secret counsel, such as it pleaseth him So. n. o. this is the proposition and state of this treatise: The grace of saluation is the gift, not merly in such sort, that notwithstanding it, the efficacy thereof pertaineth onely to the elect. h Israel in the first place, is taken for Jacob, and in the second, for the Israelites.

Gloriously, 27 A most glorious and comfortable conclusion of the whole second part of this Epistle, that is of the treatise of iustification. There are no accusers that wee haue neede to be afraid of before God, seeing that God himselfe absoleteth vs as iust: and therefore much lesse neede wee to feare damnation, seeing that we rest vpon the death and resurrection, the almightie power and defence of Iesus Christ. Therefore what can there be for waighie in this life, or of so great force and power, that might feare vs, as though wee might be overcome by it? Surely nothing, seeing that it is in it selfe most constant and sure, and also in vs being confirmed by steadfast faith. p Who pronounceth vs not onely saile/esse, but also perfectly safe in his Sonne. q Wherewith Christ loueth vs. * Psalm: 44. 22. r We are not only not overcome with so great and many miseries and calamities, but also more then conquerours in all of them.

The third part of this Epistle, euen to the twelfth Chapter, wherein in Paul ascendeth to the higher causes of faith: and first of all, because hee purpoled to speake much of the calling off of the Iewes, hee vseth an insinuation, declaring by a double or triple oath, and by witnessing of his great desire towards their saluation, his singular loue towards them, and therewithal

7 Neither are they all children, because they are the seede of Abraham: * 4 but, In Isaac shall thy seede be called:

8 That is, they which are the children of the flesh, are not the children of God: but the children of the promise, are counted for the seede.

9 For this is a word of promise, * In this same time will I come, & Sara shall haue a sonne.

10 Neither he onely felt this, but also Rebecca, when she had conceived by one, euen by our father Isaac.

11 For yet the children were borne, and when they had neither done good nor euill (that the purpose of God might remaine according to election, not by workes, but by him that calleth)

12 It was sayd vnto her, * The elder shall serue the yonger.

13 As it is written, * I haue loued Iacob, and haue hated Esau.

14 What shall we say then? Is there vnrighteousnesse with God? God forbid.

15 For hee saith to Moses, * I will haue mercy on him, to whom I will shew mercy: and will haue compassion on him, on whom I will haue compassion.

16 So then it is not in him that willeth, nor in him that runneth, but in God that sheweth mercy.

17 For the Scripture saith vnto Pharaoh,

* For this same purpose haue I stirred thee vp, that I might shew my power in thee, and that my Name might be declared throughout all the earth.

18 Therefore hee hath mercy on whom he will, and whom he will he hardeneth.

19 Thou wilt say then vnto mee, Why doeth he yet complaine? for who hath resisted his will?

20 But, O man, who art thou which pleadest against God? Shall the thing formed say to him that formed it, Why hast thou made me thus?

21 Hath not the potter power of the clay to make of the same lump one vessel to honour, and another vnto dishonour?

22 What and if God would, to shew his wrath, and to make his power knowne, suffer with long patience the vessels of wrath, prepared to destruction?

23 And that hee might declare the riches of his glory vpon the vessels of mercie, which he hath prepared vnto glory?

24 Euen vs whom he hath called not of iustifying & fancying them

by his grace, his

And againe,

there is no vn-

iustice in the euerlasting Counsell of God, touching the destruction of them whom hee listeth to destroy, for that he hardeneth before he destroyeth: Therefore the third answer for the maintenance of Gods iustice in the euertlasting counsel of reprobation, consisteth in this word Hardening: which notwithstanding hee concealed in the former verse, because the history of Pharaoh was wel knowne. But the force of the word is great, for hardening which is set against Mercy, presupposeth the same things that mercy did, to wit, a voluntary corruption, wherein the reprobate are hardened: and againe, corruption presupposeth a perfect state of creation. Moreover, this hardening also is voluntary, for God so hardeneth being offended with corruption, that he vlieth their oune will whom he hardeneth, to the executing of that iudgement. Then follow the fruits of hardening, to wit, vnbeliefe and sinne, which are the true and proper causes of the condemnation of the reprobate. Why doeth he then appoint to destruction? because he will: why doeth he harden? because they are corrupt: why doth he condemne? because they are sinners. Where is then vnrighteousnesse? Nay, if hee should destroy all after this sort, to whom should hee doe iniurie? Whom it pleased him to appoint to shew his fauour vpon. 16 Another obiection, but only for the reprobate, rising vpon the former answer. If God doe appoint to euertlasting destruction, such as hee listeth, and if that cannot be hindered nor withstanding, that hee hath once decreed, how doeth he iustly condemne them, which perish by his will? 17 The Apostle doeth not answer that it is not Gods will, & that God doeth not either reiect or elect according to his pleasure, which thing the wicked call blasphemie, but hee rather granteth his aduersarie both the antecedents, to wit, that it is Gods will, and that it must of necessity so fall out, yet he denieth that God is therefore to be thought an vnjust reuenger of the wicked: for seeing it appeareth by manifest proofe, that this is the will of God, and his doing, what impudence is it for man, which is but dust and ashes, to dispute with God, and as it were to call him into iudgement? Now if any man say that the doubt is not dissolved and answered, I answer, that there is no surer demonstration in any matter, because it is grounded vpon this principle, That the will of God is the rule of righteousness. 18 An amplification of the former answer, taken from a comparison, whereby also it appeareth that Gods determination is set of Paul the highest of all causes: so that it dependeth not vpon any respect of the second causes, but doth rather frame and direct them. Isa. 45. 9. Thus saith the Lord, who createth the first creation of mankind. Ierem. 18. 6. 19 Alluding to the creation of Adam, he compareth mankind not yet made, (but in the Creators minde) to a lump of clay: whereof afterward God made, and doth daily make according as he purposed from euertlasting, both such as should be elect, and such as should be reprobate, as also this word, Making, declareth. 20 Whereas in the obiection propounded, mention was onely made of vessels to dishonour, yet he speaketh of the other also in this answer, for that he proueth the Creator to be iust in either of them, as the rule of contraries requireth. x To himself vses. 21 Seeing then, that in the name of dishonour, the iugment of euertlasting death is signified they speak with Paul, which say, that some are made of God to most iust destruction, & they that are offended with this kind of speech bewray their own folly. 22 The second answer is this, that God, moreover and besides that he doth iustly decree whatsoever he doth decree, vnto that moderation in executing of his decrees, as declareth his singular lenitie euen in the reprobate in that, that hee suffereth them a long time, and permitte them to enioy many and singular benefits, vntill at length he iustly condemne them: and that to good end and purpose, to wit, to shew himselfe to be an enemy and reuenger of wickednesse, that it may appeare what power he is of by these seuerie iudgements, & finally by comparison of contraries to set forth indeed, how great his mercy is towards the elect. By vessels, the Hebrews vnderstand all kinds of instruments. 23 Therefore againe, we may say with Paul that some men are made of God the Creator to destruction. 24 Having established the doctrine of the euertlasting predestination of God on both parts, that is, as well of the reprobate, as of the elect, he commeth now to shew the vfe of it, teaching vs that we ought not to seek the testimonie of it in the secret counsel of God, but by the vocation which is made manifest, and set forth in the Church, propounding vnto vs the example of the Iewes and Gentiles, that the doctrine may be better perceived, promise is the fountaine of predestination, and not the flesh, from which promise the particular election proceedeth, that is, that the elect are borne elect, and not that they be first borne, and then after elected, in respect of God who doth predestinate. Gen. 25. 10. 7 Another forcible proofe taken from the example of Esau & Iacob, which were both borne of the same Isaac, which was the sonne of promise, of one mother, and at one birth, and not at diuers as Ismael and Isaac were: and yet notwithstanding, Esau being cast off onely, Iacob was chosen: and that before their birth, that neither any goodnesse of Iacobs, might be thought to be the cause of his election, neither any wickednesse of Esaus, of his casting away. Gen. 25. 21. m Gods decree which proceedeth of his mere good will, whereby it pleaseth him to chuse one, and to refuse the other. 8 Paul saith not, might hee made, but, being made might remaine. Therefore they are dectued which make foreseene saith the cause of election, and foreknown iniditit the cause of reprobation. 9 Hee proueth the casting away of Esau by that, that hee was made seruant to his brother: and proueth the chusing of Iacob, by that, that hee was made lord of his brother, although his brother was the first begotten. And lest that any man might take this saying of God, and referre it to external things, the Apostle sheweth out of Malachi, who is a good interpreter of Moses, that the seruitude of Esau was ioyned with the hatred of God, and the Lordship of Iacob, with the loue of God. Genes. 25. 23. Malach. 1.2. 10 The first obiection, if God doeth loue or hate vpon no consideration of worthinesse or vnworthinesse, then is hee vniust, because hee may loue them which are vnworthy, and hate them that are worthy. The Apostle detesteth this blasphemie, and afterward answereth it generally, poynt by poynt. Mans wit knoweth no other causes of loue or hatred, but those that are in the persons, and thereupon this obiection is raised. 11 Hee answereth first touching them which are chosen to saluation: in the chusing of whom he denieth that God may seeme vniust, although hee chuse and predestinate to saluation them that are not yet borne, without any respect of worthinesse: because hee bringeth not the chosen to the appointed ende, but by the means of his mercy, which is a cause next vnder predestination. Now mercie presupposeth miserie, and againe, miserie presupposeth sinne or voluntary corruption of mankind, and corruption presupposeth a pure and perfect creation. Moreover, mercy is shewed by her degrees: to wit, by calling, by faith, by iustification and sanctification, so that at length wee come to glorification as the Apostle will shew afterward. Now all these things orderly following the purpose of God, doe clearly proueth that hee can by no means seeme vniust in louing and sauing his. Exod. 33. 19. o I will be mercifull and fauourable to whom I list to be fauourable. p I will haue compassion on whom I list to haue compassion. 12 The conclusion of the answer: Therefore God is not vniust in chusing and sauing of his free goodnesse, such as it pleaseth him: as hee also answered Moses when he prayed for all the people. By Will he meant the thought and endowment of heart, and by running, good workes, to neither of which he giueth the prayse, but onely to the mercie of God. 13 Now hee answereth concerning the reprobate or them whom God hateth being not yet borne, and hath appointed to destruction, without any respect of vnworthinesse. And first of all hee proueth this to be true, by alleging the testimonie of God himselfe, touching Pharaoh, whom hee stirred vp to this purpose, that hee might be glorified in his hardening and iust punishing. Gods speaketh vnto Pharaoh in the Scripture, or, the Scripture bringeth in God, so speaking to Pharaoh.

10 13 But

1 See that thou find image of God modestly and carefully, in He select them natural, not by any holiness of nature, but because they were borne of them whom the Lord set apart for himself from other nations, by his language, contrary which hee freely made with them.
21 Seeing the manner is left declared, that election cometh not by inheritance (although the fault be in men, and not in God, why the blessing of God is not perpetual) we must take good heed that hee be not found in our selves, which we thinke blame worthy in others, for election is free, but they that are truly elect and ingrafted, are not proud in themselves with contempt of others, but with due reverence to God, and love to wards their neighbour, run to the mark which is set before them.
22 The tender and loving heart.
23 In that state which God his bountifullness hath advanced thee unto: and we must make here, that hee speaketh not of the election of euery private man, which remaineth stedfast for ever, but of the election of the whole nation.
24 Many are now for a season cut off, that is, are without the roots, which in their time shall be grafted in: and againe there are a great sort, which after a sort, and touching the outward shew seeme to be ingrafted, which notwithstanding through their owne fault afterward are cut off, and cleane cast away: Which thing is especially to be considered in nations and peoples, as in the Gentiles and Iewes.
25 Under stand nature, not as it was first made, but as it was corrupted in Adam, and so deriued from him to his posteritie.
26 Into the people of the Iewes, which God had sanctified of his true grace: hee speaketh of the whole nation, not of any one part.
27 The blindness of the Iewes is neither so vniuersall that the Lord hath no clek in that nation, neither shall it be continuall: for there shall be a time wherein they also (as the Prophets haue forewarned) shall effectually imbrace that, which they doe now so stubbornly for the most part reject and refuse.
28 That yee be not proud within your selves.
29 Into the Church.
30 Esai 59. 20. Esai 27. 9.
31 Againe that he may ioyne the Iewes and Gentiles together as it were in one body, and especially may teach what dutie the Gentiles owe to the Iewes, he beareth this into their heads: that the nation of the Iewes is not utterly cast off without hope of recovery.
32 Forasmuch as they receiue it not.
33 In that, that God respecteth not what they deserue, but what he promised to Abraham.
34 The reason or prooffe: because the covenant made with that nation of life euermore, cannot be frustrate & vaine.
35 Another reason: Because that although they which are hardened, are worthily punished, yet hath not this stubborne of the Iewes so come to passe properly for an hatred to that nation, but that an entrie might bee as it were opened to bring in the Gentiles, and afterward the Iewes, being inflamed with emulation of that mercy which is shewed to the Gentiles, might themselves also be partakers of the same benediction, and so it might appeare that both Iewes and Gentiles are saved only by the free mercy and grace of God, which could not haue bene so manifest, if at the beginning God had brought altogether into the Church, or if hee had saved the nation of the Iewes without his interruption.
36 Both Iewes and Gentiles.
37 The Apostle cryeth out as astonished with this wonderfull wisdom of God, which hee teacheth vs, to bee religiously reuerenced, and not curiously and prophantly to be searched beyond the compasse of that that God hath revealed vnto vs.

high minded, but feare.
 21 For if God spared not the natural branches, take heed lest he also spare not thee.
 22 Behold therefore the bountifullnesse and severitie of God: toward them which haue fallen, severitie: but toward thee, bountifullnesse, if thou continue in his bountifullnesse: of else thou shalt also be cut off.
 23 And they also, if they abide not still in vnbeliefe, shall be grafted in: For God is able to graffe them in againe.
 24 For if thou wast cut out of the Olive tree, which was wilde by nature, and wast grafted contrary to nature in a right Olive tree, how much more shall they that are by nature be grafted in their owne Olive tree?
 25 For I would not, brethren, that yee should be ignorant of this secret (lest ye should bee arrogant in your selues) that partly obstinacie is come to Israel, vntill the fulnesse of the Gentiles be come in.
 26 And so all Israel shall bee saved, as it is written, The deliuerer shall come out of Zion, and shall turne away the vngodlines from Iacob.
 27 And this is my covenant to them, When I shall take away their sinnes.
 28 As concerning the Gospel, they are enemies for your sakes: but as touching the election, they are beloved for the fathers sake.
 29 For the gifts and calling of God are without repentance.
 30 For euen as ye in times past haue not beleueed God, yet haue now obtained mercy through their vnbeliefe:
 31 Euen so now haue they not beleueed by the mercie shewed vnto you, that they also may obtaine mercie.
 32 For God hath shut vp all in vnbeliefe, that he might haue mercie on all.
 33 O the deepenesse of the riches, both of the wisdom, and knowledge of God! how vnsearchable are his iudgements, and his wayes past finding out!

 34 For who hath known the minde of the Lord? or who was his counsellour?
 35 Or who hath giuen vnto him first, and he shall be recompensed?
 36 For of him, and through him, and for him are all things: to him bee glory for euer. Amen.

cause that God is above all most wise, and therefore it is very absurd, and plainly godlesse to measure him by our follie. Moreover, because hee is debter to no man, and therefore no man can complaine of iniurie done vnto him. Thirdly, because all things are made for his glory, and therefore we must referre all things to his glory, much lesse may we contest and debate the matter with him. This saying agreeth with the doctrine of free grace, and merits. To wit, for Gods glory, all things are referred, not onely things that were made, but especially his new works, which hee doth in his life.

CHAP. XII.

Hee exhorteth vs to that worship which is acceptable to God: 9 to loue vnfeined, 14. 20. euen towards our enemies.
 I beseech you therefore brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye giue vp your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable vnto God, which is your reasonable seruing of God.
 2 And fashion not your selues like vnto this world, but be yee changed by the renewing of your minde, that yee may proue what that good, and acceptable, and perfect will of God is.
 3 For I say through the grace that is giuen vnto mee, to euery one that is among you, that no man presume to vnderstand above that which is meete to vnderstand, but that hee vnderstand according to sobrietie, as God hath dealt to euery man the measure of faith.
 4 For as wee haue many members in one body, and all members haue not one office,
 5 So wee being many, are one body in Christ, and euery one, one anothers members.
 6 Seeing then that wee haue gifts that are diuers, according to the grace that is giuen vnto vs, whether wee haue prophesie, let vs

2 The comfort that he holdeth in governing all things both generally and particularly.
3 The order of his counsell, and doing.
4 Job 41. 2. Psal. 43. 1. 3. a. c. 11. 2. 16.
5 Hee bridled three manner of wayes, the wicked boldnesse of man: First, because hee is debter to no man, and therefore no man can complaine of iniurie done vnto him. Thirdly, because all things are made for his glory, and therefore we must referre all things to his glory, much lesse may we contest and debate the matter with him. This saying agreeth with the doctrine of free grace, and merits. To wit, for Gods glory, all things are referred, not onely things that were made, but especially his new works, which hee doth in his life.
6 The fourth part of this Epistle, which after the finishing of the chief points of Christian doctrine, consisteth in declaring of precepts of Christian life. And first of all he giueth general precepts and grounds: the chiefest whereof is this, that euery man conuerte himself wholly to the spiritual service of God, and doe as it were sacrifice himselfe, trusting to the grace of God.
7 By this precept hee sheweth that Gods glory is the vniuersall end of all our doing.
8 In times past the sacrifices were offered before Gods altar: but now the altar is euery mans heart.
9 The first precept is: That we take not other mens opinions or manners for a rule of life, but that wee wholly renouncing this world, set the fore vs as our mark, the will of God, as is manifested & opened vnto vs in his word.
10 Why then there is no place left for reason, which the heathen Philosophers place as a Law in a Cestell, nor for mans will, which the Popish Schoolemen dreasse on, if the must be renewed, Lookes Ephes 1. 18. and 3. 3. and 4. 17. and Coloss. 1. 21.
11 Ephes 3. 17. 1. 18. 4. 3.
12 Thirdly, hee admonisheth vs very earnestly, that euery man keepe himselfe within the bounds of his vocation, and that euery man be wise according to the measure of grace that God hath giuen him.
13 I charge.
14 That hee please not himselfe too much, as they doe, which persuade themselves they know more than what they doe.
15 Wee shall bee sober, if wee take not that vpon vs, which wee haue not, and if we bragge not of that we haue.
16 1. Cor. 12. 11. Ephes 4. 7.
17 By faith hee meaneth that knowledge of God in Christ, and the gifts which the holy Ghost poureth vpon the faithful.
18 There is a double reason of the precept going afore: the one is, because God hath not committed euery thing to be done of euery man: and therefore hee doth backwardly, and not onely vprofitably, but also to the great disprofit of others, wearie himselfe and others, which passeth the bounds of his vocation: the other is, for that this diuersitie and inequality of vocations and gifts, red-vndeth to our commodity: seeing that the same is therefore instituted and appointed; that we should be bound one to another. Whereupon it followeth, that no man ought to be grieued thereat, seeing that the vse of euery private gift is common.
19 1. Pet. 4. 10.
20 That which hee spake before in general, hee applieth particularly to the holy functions, wherein men offend with greater danger. And hee diuideth them into two sorts: to wit, into Prophets and Deacons: and againe, hee diuideth the Prophets into Doctors and Pastours. And of Deacons hee maketh three sorts: to wit, the one to be such as (as it were) treasurers of the Church coffers, whom hee calleth properly Deacons: the other to be the gouernours of the discipline, who are called Seniors or Elders: the third, to be such as properly serued in the helpe of the poore, of which sort the company of widows were.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Hee willett that wee so deale with the weake in faith, 15 that through our fault they be not offended. 10 And on the other side hee commandeth them not rashly to iudge of the stranger: 19 That within the bonds of edification, 20 and charitie, 22 Christian libertie may consist.

1 Now hee sheweth how wee ought to behaue our selues toward our brethren in matters and things indifferent, offending in the vie of them, not of malice, nor of damnable superstition, but for lacke of knowledge of the benefite of Christ. And thus hee teacheth that they are to be instructed gently and patiently, and so that we apply our selues to their ignorance in such matters according to the rule of charitie.

a Doe not for a matter or thing which is indifferent, and such as you may doe or not doe, than his company, but take him to you. b To make him by your doubtful and vncertaine disposition, goe away more in doubt then hee came, or start backe with a troubled conscience. 2 Hee propoundeth for an example the difference of meates, which some thought was necessarily to be obserued as a thing prescribed by the Lawe (not knowing that it was taken away) where as on the contrary side, such as had profited in the knowledge of the Gospel, knew well that this schoolemaster-ship of the Law was abolished. c Knoweth by faith. 3 In such a matter, sayth the Apostle, let neither them which knowe their libertie, proudly despise their weake brother, neither let the vnclearned crabbedly or frowardly condemne that, that they vnderstand not. 4 The first reason: Because that seeing both hee that eateth, and hee that eateth not, is notwithstanding the member of Christ, neither he which eateth not, can iustly be condemned, neither he which eateth, be iustly condemned: Now the first proposition is declared in the sixt verse following. d James 4.11. 5 Another reason which hangeth vpon the former: why the ruder and more vnclearned ought not to be condemned of the more skilfull, as men without hope of saluation: Because, sayth the Apostle, he that is ignorant to day, may be instructed to morrow with further knowledge, so that he may also stand sure: Therefore it belongeth to God and not vnto man, to pronounce the sentence of condemnation. 6 Another example of the difference of dayes according to the Law. 7 Hee setteth against this contempt, and halfe or rash iudgements, a continuall desire to profite, that the strong may be certainly perswaded of their libertie of what manner and sort it is, and how they ought to vie it: and againe the weake may daily profite, least either they abuse the gift of God, or theie please themselves in their infirmities. e That hee may saye in his conscience, that hee knoweth and is perswaded by Iesus Christ, that nothing is vncleane of it selfe, and this persuasion must be grounded vpon the word of God. 8 A reason taken from the nature of indifferent things, which a man may with good conscience doe, and omit: for seeing that the difference of dayes and meates was appointed by God, how could they which as yet vnderstood not the abrogating of the Law, and yet otherwise acknowledged Christ as their Saviour, with good conscience neglect that which they knew was commanded of God? And on the contrary side, they that knewe the benefite of Christ in this behalfe, did with good conscience neither obserue dayes nor meates: Therefore sayth the Apostle, verse 10. Let not the strong condemne the weake for these things, seeing that the weake brethren are brethren notwithstanding. Now if any man would draw this doctrine to these our times and ages, let him know that the Apostle speaketh of such things indifferent, as they, which thought them not to be indifferent, had a ground in the Lawe, and were deceived by simple ignorance, and not of malice, (for to such the Apostle yeeldeth not, no not for a moment) nor superstition, but of a religious feare of God. f Obserueth precisely. g God shall iudge whether hee doe well or no. And therefore you should rather stricke about this, how euery one of you may be allowed of God, then to thinke vpon other mens doings. h Hee that maketh no difference of meates. 9 So the Apostle sheweth that hee speaketh of the faithfull, both strong and weake: But what if we haue to doe with infidels? Then must we here take heede of two things, as also is declared in the Epistle to the Corinthians. The one is, that we count not their superstition among things indifferent, as they did which late downe to meate in Idoles temples: the other is, that then also when the matter is indifferent (as to buy a thing offered to Idoles, in the butchers shambles, and to eat it at home or in a priuate banquet) wee wound not the conscience of our weake brother. i Hee that toucheth not meates which hee taketh to be vncleane by the Law.

Him that is weake in the faith, receiue vnto you, but not for controuersies of disputations.

2 One beleueth that he may eate of all things: and another, which is weake, eateth herbes.

3 Let not him that eateth, despise him that eateth not: and let not him which eateth not, condemne him that eateth: for God hath receiued him.

4 Who art thou that condemnest another mans seruant? he standeth or falleth to his owne master: yea, he shall be established: for God is able to make him stand.

5 This man esteemeth one day aboue another day: and another man counteth euery day alike: let euery man be fully perswaded in his minde.

6 He that obserueth the day, obserueth it to the Lord: and hee that obserueth not the day, obserueth it not to the Lord. Hee that eateth, eateth to the Lord: for hee giueth God thanks: and he that eateth not, eateth not to the Lord, and giueth God thanks.

7 For none of vs liueth to himselfe, neither doeth any die to himselfe,

8 For whether wee liue, we liue vnto the Lord: or whether wee die, wee die vnto the Lord: whether we liue therefore, or die, we are the Lords.

9 For Christ therfore died and rose againe, and reuiued, that he might be Lord both of the dead and the quicke.

10 But why dost thou condemne thy brother? or why dost thou despise thy brother? for we shall all appeare before the iudgement seat of Christ.

11 For it is written, * I liue, sayth the Lord, and euery knee shall bow to me, and all tongues shall confesse vnto God.

12 So then euery one of vs shall giue accounts of himselfe to God.

13 Let vs not therefore iudge one another any more: but vse your iudgement rather in this, that no man put an occasion to fall, or a stumbling blocke before his brother.

14 I know, and am perswaded through the Lord Iesus, that there is nothing vncleane of it selfe: but vnto him that iudgeth any thing to be vncleane, to him it is vncleane.

15 But if thy brother bee grieved for the meat, now walkest thou not charitably: * destroy not him with thy meate, for whome Christ died.

16 Cause not your commoditie to be euill spoken of.

17 For the kingdome of God is not meat nor drinke, but righteousness, and peace, and ioy in the holy Ghost.

18 For whosoever in these things serueth Christ, is acceptable vnto God, and is approved of men.

19 Let vs then follow those things which concerne peace, and wherewith one may edifie another.

20 Destroy not the worke of God for meates sake: * all things in deede are pure: but it is euill for the man which eateth with offence.

i Iai 45.23. philip. 3.10. k This is a forme of an othe, proper to God only, for he and none but hee liueth, and hath his being of himselfe. l Shall acknowledge me for God. m After that hee hath concluded what is not to be done, he sheweth what is to be done: to wit, we must take heede that we do not viterly cast downe with abusing our libertie our brother which is not yet strong. n Hee rebuketh by the way the malicious iudgers of others, which occupie their heads about nothing, but to find fault with their brethrens life, whereas they should rather bestow their wits vpon this, that they doe not with their disdainfullnesse either cast their brethren cleane downe, or giue them some offence. o The preuenting of an obiection: It is true that the schoolemaster-ship of the Law is taken away by the benefite of Christ, to such as know it, but yet notwithstanding wee haue to consider in the vie of this libertie, what is expedient, that wee may haue regard to our weake brother, seeing that our libertie is not lost thereby. p By the spirit of the Lord Iesus, or by the Lord Iesus, who I am sure brake downe the wall at his coming. q By nature. r 1 Corin. 8.11. s Is the part of a cruell minde to make more account of meat, then of our brothers saluation. Which thing they doe, that presume to eate with the offence of any brother, and so giue him occasion to goe backe from the Gospel. t Another argument. Wee must follow Christs example: who was so farre from destroying the weake with meate, that hee gaue his life for them. u Another argument: For that by this means the libertie of the Gospel is euill spoken of, as though it openeth the way to attempt any thing whatsoeuer, and boldeneth vs to all things. v A generall reason, and the ground of all the other arguments: The kingdome of heauen consisteth not in these outward things, but in the studie of righteousness and peace and comfort of the holy Ghost. w Hee that liueth peaceably, and death righteously through the holy Ghost. x A generall conclusion: The vie of this libertie, yea and our whole life, ought to be referred to the edifying of one another, in so much that we esteeme that thing vnlawfull by reason of the offence of our brother, which is to it selfe pure and lawfull. y Titim 1.5.

10 We must not sicke, sayth he, in the meate ic selfe, but in the vie of the meate, so that he is iudly to be reprehended that liueth so, that he casteth not his eyes vpon God. For both our life and our death is dedicated to him: and for this cause Christ hath properly died, and not simply that we might eate this meate or that. i Hath respect to himselfe only, which the Hebrew vter after this sort, Doe well in mine soule.

11 The conclusion: we must leave to God his right, and therefore in matters, which according as the conscience is attended, are either good or euill, the strong must not despise their weake brethren, much lesse condemne them. But this consequence cannot be taken of euill force in the contrary, to wit, that the weake should not iudge the strong because the strong doe not know, that they which doe not obserue a day and eate, obserue it to the Lord, and eate to the Lord, as the strong men know that the weake which obserue a day and eate not, obserue the day to the Lord, and eat not to the Lord.

¹ Cor. 8. 13. ¹⁹ He giueth a double warning in these matters: one, which pertaineth to the strong, that hee which hath obtained a full knowledge of this libertie, keepe that treasure to the end he may vie it wisely and profitably, as hath bene said: the other which respecteth the weake, that they doe nothing rashly by other mens example with a wauering conscience, for that cannot be done without sinne, whereof wee are not perswaded by the word of God, that hee liketh and approveth it. ² He sheweth before, verse 14. what hee meaneth by faith, to wit, for a way to bee certain and out of doubts in matters and things indifferent. ⁷ Embrace it. ⁸ Reasoneth with himselfe.

CHAP. XV.

¹ The stronger must employ their strength to strengthen the weake, ³ by Christes example, ⁷ who receiveth ⁸ not onely the Iewes, ¹⁰ but also the Gentiles, ¹¹ The cause why he wrote this Epistle.

WEe which are strong, ought to beare the infirmities of the weake, and not to please our selues.

² Therefore let every man please his neighbour in that that is good to edification.

³ For Christ also would not please himselfe, but as it is written, *The rebukes of them which rebuke thee, fell on me.

⁴ For whatsoeuer things are written aforetime, are written for our learning, that wee through patience, and comfort of the Scriptures might haue hope.

⁵ Now the God of patience and consolation, giue you that yee bee like minded one towards another, according to Christ Iesus, ⁶ That yee with one minde, and with one mouth may prayse God, euen the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ.

⁷ Wherefore receiue yee one another, as Christ also receiued vs to the glory of God.

⁸ Now I say, that Iesus Christ was a minister of the circumcision, for the truth of God, to confirme the promises made vnto the Fathers.

⁹ And let the Gentiles praise God for his mercie, as it is written, *For this cause I will b confesse thee among the Gentiles, and sing vnto thy Name.

¹⁰ And againe he saith, *Reioyce ye Gentiles, with his people.

¹¹ And againe, *Praise the Lord, all yee Gentiles, and laud ye him, all people together.

¹² And againe Esaias saith, * There shall be a root of Iesse, and he that shall rise to reigne ouer the Gentiles, in him shall the Gentiles trust.

¹³ Now the God of hope fill you with all ioy, and peace in beleeuing, that ye may abound in hope, through the power of the holy Ghost.

¹⁴ And I may selfe am also perswaded of you, my brethren, that ye also are full of goodnesse, and filled with all knowledge, and are able to admonish one another.

¹⁵ Neuerthelesse, brethren, I haue somewhat boldly after a sort written vnto you, as one that putteth you in remembrance, through the grace that is giuen me of God,

¹⁶ That I should be the minister of Iesus Christ toward the Gentiles, ministering the Gospel of God, that the offering vp of the Gentiles might be acceptable, being sanctified by the holy Ghost.

¹⁷ I haue therefore wherof I may reioyce in Christ Iesus in those things which pertaine to God.

¹⁸ For I dare not speake of any thing which Christ hath not wrought by me, to make the Gentiles obedient in word and deede, ¹⁹ With the power of signes and wonders, by the power of the Spirit of God: so that from Hierusalem, and round about vnto Illyricum, I haue caused to abound the Gospel of Christ.

²⁰ Yea, so I enforced my selfe to preach the Gospel, not where Christ was named, lest I should haue built on another mans foundation, ²¹ But as it is written, * To whom hee was not spoken of, they shall see him, and they that heard not, shall vnderstand him.

²² Therefore also I haue bene oft let to come vnto you:

²³ But now seeing I haue no more place in these quarters, and also haue bene desirous many yeeres agoe to come vnto you,

²⁴ When I shall take my journey into Spaine, I will come to you: for I trust to see you in my journey, and to be brought on my way thitherward by you, after that I haue been somewhat filled with your company.

²⁵ But now goe I to Hierusalem, to minister vnto the Saints.

²⁶ For it hath pleased them of Macedonia and Achaia, to make a certaine distribution vnto the poore Saints which are at Hierusalem.

at large to the Romanes, and that familiarly, his singular good will towards them, and the state of his affaires, but so, that he swaruech not a iote from the end of Apostollicall doctrine: for hee declareth nothing but that which appertaineth to his office, and is godly: and commending by a little digression as it were, the liberaltie of the Churches of Macedonia, he promisseth them modestly to follow their godly deed. * *1. ^v Performed is faithfully, and sealed it as it were with my ring.

^f This money which was gathered for the use of the poore: which almes is very fully called fruit.

¹² He promisseth them through the blessing of God, not to come empty vnto them: and requiring of them the duty of prayers, he sheweth what thing we ought chiefly to rest vpon in all difficulties and aduersities.

¹³ For that mutual communion, wherewith the holy Ghost hath tied our hearts and minde together.

28 When I haue therefore performed this, and haue sealed this fruit, I will passe by you into Spaine.

29 And I know when I come, that I shall come to you with abundance of the blessing of the Gospel of Christ.

30 Also brethren, I beseech you for our Lord Iesus Christes sake, and for the loue of the spirit, that ye would strue with me by prayers to God for me,

31 That I may bee deliuered from them which are disobedient in Iudea, and that my seruice which I haue to doe at Hierusalem, may be accepted of the Saints, 32 That I may come vnto you with ioy by the will of God, and may with you be refreshed.

33 Thus the God of peace be with you all. Amen.

C H A P. XVI.

1 He commendeth Phebe. 3 He sendeth greetings to many, 17 and warneth to beware of them which are the causes of diuision.

¹ Having made an end of the whole disputation, he commeth now to familiar commendations and salutations, and that to good consideration and purpose, to wit, that the Romanes might know who are most to be honored and made account of among them: and also whom they ought to see before them to follow: & therefore he attributeth vnto euery of them peculiar and singular testimonies.

^a For Christes sake, which is proper to the Christians, for the heauenly Philosophers haue resemblances of the same virtues.

^b Altes 18.3. The companie of the faithfull, for in so great a citie as that was, there were diuers companies.

^c For he was the first of Achaia that beleued in Christ: and this kind of speech is an allusion to the ceremonies of the Law.

^d Ingrafted by faith.

1 Commend vnto you Phebe our sister, which is a seruant of the Church of Cenchrea:

2 That ye receite her in the Lord, as it becommeth Saints, and that yee assist her in whatsoeuer businesse she needeth of your aid: for she hath giuen hospitalitie vnto many, and to me also.

3 Greete Priscilla, and Aquila my fellow helpers in Christ Iesus,

4 (Which haue for my life laide downe their owne necke. Vnto whom not I only giue thanks, but also all the Churches of the Gentiles.)

5 Likewise greete the Church that is in their house. Salute my beloued Epenetus, which is the first fruites of Achaia in Christ.

6 Greete Mary which bestowed much labour vpon vs.

7 Salute Andronicus and Iunia my cousins and fellow prisoners, which are notable among the Apostles, and were in Christ before me.

8 Greet Amplias my beloued in the Lord.

9 Salute Urbanus our fellowe helper in Christ, and Stachys my beloued.

10 Salute Apelles approved in Christ. Salute them which are of Aristobulus friends.

11 Salute Herodian my kinsman. Greete them which are of the friends of Narcissus, which are in the Lord.

12 Salute Tryphena and Tryphosa, which women labour in the Lord. Salute the beloued Persis, which woman hath laboured much in the Lord.

13 Salute Rufus chosen in the Lord, and his mother and mine.

14 Greete Asyncritus, Phlegon, Hermas, Patrobas, Mercurius, and the brethren which are with them.

15 Salute Philologus and Iulias, Nereas and his sister, and Olympas, and all the Saints which are with them.

16 Salute one another with an holy kisse. The Churches of Christ salute you.

17 Now I beseech you, brethren, marke them diligently which cause diuision and offences, contrary to the doctrine which ye haue learned, and avoid them.

18 For they that are such, serue not the Lord Iesus Christ, but their owne bellies, and with faire speech and flattering deceiue the hearts of the simple.

19 For your obedience is come abroad among all: I am glad therefore of you: but yet I would haue you wise vnto that which is good, and simple concerning euill.

20 The God of peace shal tread Satan vnder your feete shortly. The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you.

21 Timotheus my helper, and Lucius, and Iason, and Sosipater my kinsmen, salute you.

22 I Tertius, which wrote out this Epistle, salute you in the Lord.

23 Gaius mine hoste and of the whole Church saluteth you. Erastus the steward of the citie saluteth you, and Quartus a brother.

24 The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you all, Amen.

25 To him now that is of power to establish you according to my Gospel, and preaching of Iesus Christ, by the reuelation of the myserie, which was kept secret since the world began:

26 (But now is opened, and published among all nations by the Scriptures of the Prophets, at the commandement of the euerlasting God for the obedience of faith)

27 To God, I say, onely wise, bee prayse through Iesus Christ for euer. Amen.

Written to the Romanes from Corinthus, and sent by Phebe seruant of the Church, which is at Cenchrea.

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAUL TO THE CORINTHIANS.

CHAP. I.

After the salutation, 10 which in effect is an exhortation, 12 he reprehendeth the Corinthians for their divisions, 17 and calleth them from pride to humilitie: 20 For overthrowing all worldly wisdom, 23, 25 he aduanceth only the preaching of the crosse.

The inscription of the Epistle, wherein he chiefly goeth about to procure the good will of the Corinthians towards him, yet notwithstanding so, that alwayes he leaue them to wit, that he is the seruant of God and not of men.

If he be an Apostle, then hee must be heard, although hee sometime reprehend them sharply, seeing he hath not his owne cause in hand, but is a messenger that bringeth the commandments of Christ.

Hee ioyneth soethimes with himselfe, that this doctrine might be confirmed by two witnesses, 4 It is a Church of God, although it hath great faults in it, so that it obey them which admonish them.

*A true definition of the Catholique Church which is one, a The father sanctifieth vs, that is to say, separateth vs from the wicked, in giuing vs to his Sonne, that he may be in vs, and wee in him. * Rom. 1. 7. eph. 1. 1. coloss. 1. 2. 1. tim. 1. 9. titus 2. 13. b Whom God of his gracious goodnesse and mere loue hath separated for himselfe; or whom God hath called to holinesse: the first of these two expositions sheweth from whence our sanctification cometh: and the second sheweth to what end it tendeth. * 1. Timoth. 1. 22. c Hee is sayd properly to call on God, who cryeth vnto the Lord when hee is in danger, and craveth helpe at his handes, and by the same Synecdoche it is taken for all the seruice of God: and therefore to call vpon Christs Name, is to acknowledge and take him for very God. 6 The foundation and the life of the Church, is Christ Iesus giuen of the Father. 7 Going about to condemne many vices, hee beginneth with a true commendation of their vertues, lest hee might seeme after to descend to chiding, being moued with malice or enuie: yet so, that hee referreth all to God, as the authour of them, and that in Christ, that the Corinthians might bee more ashamed to prophane and abuse the holy gifts of God. 8 Hee toucheth that by name, which they most abused. d Seeing that while we liue here, wee know but in part, and prophesie in part, this word (All) must be restrained to the present state of the faithfull: but by speech hee meaneth not a vaine kind of babling, but the gift of holy eloquence, which the Corinthians abused. 9 He sheweth that the true vie of these gifts consisteth herein, that the mighty power of Christ might thereby be set forth in them, that hereafter it might euidently appeare, how wickedly they abused them to glory and ambition. e By these excellent gifts of the holy Ghost. * Titus 2. 11. eph. 3. 20. 10 Hee sayeth by the way, that there is no cause why they should please themselves so much in those gifts which they had receiued, seeing that those were nothing in comparison of them which are to be looked for. f Hee speaketh of the last coming of Christ. * 1. Thess. 3. 13. and 5. 23. 11 Hee testifieth that he hopeth well of them hereafter, that they may more patiently abide his reprehension afterward. And yet together therewithall sheweth, that as well the beginning as the accomplishing of our saluation, is only the worke of God. g Hee calleth them blamelesse, not whom man neuer found fault with, but with whom no man can iustly find fault, that it is to say, them which are in Christ Iesus, in whom there is no condemnation. See Luke 1. 6.*

PAUL called to be an Apostle of Iesus Christ, through the will of God, and our brother Sothenes,

2 Vnto the Church of God, which is at Corinthus, to them that are ^a sanctified in ^a Christ Iesus, ^a Saints by ^b calling ^a with all that ^c call on the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ in euery place, both their Lord, and ours:

3 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

4 I thanke my God alwayes on your behalfe for the grace of God, which is giuen you in Iesus Christ,

5 That in all things yee are made rich in him, ³ in all kinde of speech, and in all knowledge:

6 As the testimonie of Iesus Christ hath bene ^c confirmed in you:

7 So that yee are not destitute of any gift: ²⁰ waiting for the ^f appearing of our Lord Iesus Christ,

8 ^a Who shall also confirme you vnto the end, that ye may be ^g blamelesse, in the day of our Lord Iesus Christ.

And yet together therewithall sheweth, that as well the beginning as the accomplishing of our saluation, is only the worke of God. g Hee calleth them blamelesse, not whom man neuer found fault with, but with whom no man can iustly find fault, that it is to say, them which are in Christ Iesus, in whom there is no condemnation. See Luke 1. 6.

9 God is ^b faithfull, by whom yee are called vnto the fellowship of his Sonne Iesus Christ our Lord.

10 Now I beseech you, brethren, by the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ, that ¹³ yee all speake one thing, and that there be no dissensions among you: but be ye ¹ knit together in one mind and in one iudgement.

11 For it hath bene declared vnto mee, my brethren, of you by them that are of the house of Cloe, that there are contentions among you.

12 Now ^k this I say, that euery one of you sayth, I am Pauls, and I am ^a Apollos, and I am Cephas, and I am Christs.

13 Is Christ diuided? was ¹⁶ Paul crucified for you? either were yee ¹⁷ baptized into the name of Paul?

14 I thanke God, that I baptized none of you, but ^a Crispus and Gaius, 15 Left any should say, that I had baptized into mine owne name.

16 I baptized also the household of Stephanas: further more know I not, whether I baptized any other.

17 For ¹⁹ Christ sent me not to baptize, but to preach the Gospel, ²⁰ not with ¹ wisdom from another. i Knit together, as a body that consisteth of all his parts fastly knit together. 14 Hee beginneth his reprehension and chiding by taking away of an objection: for that hee vnderstood by good witnesses, that there were many factions among them. And therewithall he openeth the cause of dissensions, because that some did hang on one doctour, some on another, and some were so addicted to themselves, that they neglected all doctours and teachers, calling themselves the disciples of Christ onely, shutting forth their teachers. k The matter I would say to you, u ihu. * Actes 18. 24. 15 The first reason why schismes ought to be bewehed: because Christ semeth by that meanes, to be diuided and torne in pieces, who cannot bee the head of two diuers and disagreeing bodies, being himselfe one. 16 Another reason: Because they cannot without great iniurie to God, so hang of men as of Christ: which thing no doubt they doe, which allow whatsoever some man speake, euen for his persons sake: as these men allowed one selfe same Gospel being vttered of one man, and did lothe it being vttered of another man. So that these factions were called by the names of their teachers. Now Paul setteth downe his owne name, not onely to grieve no man, but also to shewe that hee leaueh not his owne cause. 17 The third reason taken of the forme and end of Baptisme, wherein wee make a promise to Christ, calling on also the Name of the Father, and the holy Ghost. Therefore although a man doe not fall from the doctrine of Christ, yet if hee hang vpon some certaint teachers, and despise others, hee forsaketh Christ: for if he hold Christ his only master, he would heare him, teaching by whom heeuer. 18 He protesteth that hee speaketh so much the more boldly of these things, because that through Gods providence, hee is void of all suspition of challenging disciples vnto himselfe, and taking them from others. Whereby wee may vnderstand, that not the schollars onely, but the teachers also are here reprehended, which gathered themselves flockes apart. * Actes 18. 8. 19 The taking away of an objection: that hee gaue not himselfe to baptize many amongst them: not for the contempt of baptisme, but because hee was chiefly occupied in deliuering the doctrine, and committed them that receiued his doctrine to others to be baptized, whereof he had flore. And so hee declared sufficiently how farre he was from all ambition: whereas on the other side, they, whom hee reprehendeth, as though they gathered disciples vnto themselves and not vnto Christ, bragged most ambitiously of numbers, which they had baptized. 20 Now he turneth himselfe to the doctours themselves, which pleased themselves in braue and ambitious eloquence, to the end that they might drawe more disciples after them. Hee confesseth plainly that hee was like vnto them, opposit g grauely, as it became an Apostle, his example against their peruerse iudgements: So that this is another place of this Epistle, touching the obseruing of a godly simplicitie both in words and sentences in teaching of the Gospel. * Chap. 2. 1. 3. pet. 1. 16. l With eloquence: which Paul casteth off from him not onely as not necessarie, but also as flat contrary to the office of his Apostleship: and yet had Paul this kinde of eloquence, but it was heavenly, not of man, and void of painted words.

1. Thess. 5. 24. h True and constant, who doth not onely call vs, but giueth vs the gift of persouance also, 12 Having made an end of the preface, he cometh to the matter it selfe, beginning with a most graue obtestation, as though they should heare Christ himselfe speaking, and not Paul. 13 The first part of this Epistle, wherein his purpose is, to call backe the Corinthians to brotherly concord, and to take away all occasion of discord. So then this first part concerneth the taking away of schismes. Now a schisme is when men which otherwise agree and consent together in doctrine, doe yet separate themselves one

21 The reason why he wifeth not the pompe of wordes, and painted speech: because it was Gods will to bring the world to his obedience by that way, whereby the most idiots amongst men might vnderstand, that this worke was done of God himselfe without the arte of man. Therefore as saluation is set forth vnto vs in the Gospel by the crosse of Christ, then which nothing is more contemptible, and more farre from life, to God would haue the manner of the preaching of the crosse, most different from those meanes, with which men doe vse to draw and entice other, either to heare or beleue: therefore it pleased him by a certaine kinde of most wile folly, to triumph ouer the most foolish wisdomes of the world, as he had said before by Esay, that hee would: And hereby we may gather, that both these doctors which were puffd up with ambitious eloquence, and also their hearers, strayed farre away from the ende and marke of their vocation. m The preaching of Christ crucified, or the kinde of speech which wee vse. Roman 1.16. n It is that wherein hee declareth his marvellous power in saving his elect, which would not so evidently appeare, if it hanged vpon any helpe of man, for so, man might attribute that to himselfe, which is proper only to the crosse of Christ. 22 The Apostle prooeth, that this ought not only not to seem strange, seeing that it was foretold so long before, but declareth further, that God is wont to punish the pride of the world in such sort, which so pleasech it selfe in its owne wisdom: and therefore that that is vaine, yea a thing of nothing, and such as God reiecteth as vnprofitable, which they so carefully laboured for, and made so great account of. Esa 29.14. o Where are those, O thou learned fellow, and thou that spendest thy dayes in turning thy hookes? p Them that pendest all thy time in seeking out the secret things of this world, and in expounding all hard questions: and thou triumphest he againe all the men of this world, for there was not one of them that could so much as dream vpon this secret and hidden mysterie. 23 Hee sheweth that the pride of men was worthily punished of God, because they would not behold God, as meete was they should, in the most cleare glasse of the wifedome of the world, which is the workmanship of the world. q By the world he meaneth all men which are not borne anew, but remaine as they were, when they were first borne. r In the workmanship of this world, which hath the marvellous wifedome of God engraued in it, so that every man may behold it. 24 The goodnesse of God is wonderfull, for while hee goeth about to punish the pride of this world, hee is very proud and carefull for the saluation of it, and teacheth men to become fooles, that they may bee wise to God. s So hee calleth the preaching of the Gospel, as the enemies supposed it: but in the meane season hee taunteth them very sharply, who had rather charge God with folly, then acknowledge their owne, and craue pardon for it. Matth. 11.38. 25 A declaration of that which hee said: that the preaching of the Gospel, is foolish. It is foolish, sayeth hee, to them whome God hath not endued with new light, that is to say, to all men being considered in themselves: for the Iewes require miracles, and the Grecians arguments, which they may comprehend by their wit and wifedome: and therefore they doe not onely not beleue the Gospel, but also they mocke at it. Notwithstanding in this foolish preaching, there is the great vertue and wifedome of God: but such as those onely which are called doe perceiue: God shewing most plainly, that euen then when madde men thinke him most foolishly, hee is farre wiser then they are: and that he surmounteth all their might and power, when hee wifeth most vile and abiect things. as it hath appeared in the fruite of the preaching of the Gospel. 26 A confirmation taken of those things which came to passe at Corinth, where the Church especially consisted of the basest and common people, inasmuch that the philosophers of Greece were driuen to shame when they sawe that they could doe nothing with their wifedome and eloquence, in comparison of the Apostles, whom not withstanding they called idiots and vnlerned. And herewithall doth he beat downe their pride: for God did not preferre them before those noble and wifemen because they should be proud, but that they might be constrained euen whether they would or not, to reioyce in the Lord, by whose mercy, although they were the most abiects of all, they had obtained in Christ, both this wifedome, and all things necessarie to saluation. What way the Lord hath taken in calling you. u After that kinde of wifedome which men make account of, as though there were none else: who because they are carnall, know not spirituall wifedome.

of words, lest the crosse of Christ should be made of none effect.

18 For that preaching of the crosse is to them that perish, foolishnesse: but vnto vs, which are saued, it is the power of God.

19 For it is written, * I will destroy the wifedome of the wise, and will cast away the vnderstanding of the prudent.

20 Where is the wise? where is the Scribe? where is the disputer of this world? hath not God made the wifedome of this world foolishnesse?

21 For seeing the world by wifedome knewe not God in the wifedome of God, it pleased God by the foolishnesse of preaching to saue them that beleue:

22 Seeing also that the Iewes require a signe, and the Grecians seeke after wifedome.

23 But wee preach Christ crucified: vnto the Iewes euell, a stumbling blocke, and vnto the Grecians, foolishnesse:

24 But vnto them which are called, both of the Iewes and Grecians, we preach Christ, the power of God, and the wifedome of God.

25 For the foolishnesse of God is wiser then men, and the weaknesse of God is stronger then men.

26 For brethren, you see your calling, how that not many wise men after the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble are called.

27 But God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise, and God hath chosen the weake things of the world, to confound the mightie things,

28 And vile things of the world and things which are despised, hath God chosen, and things which are not, to bring to nought things that are,

29 That no flesh should reioyce in his presence.

30 But yee are of him in Christ Iesus, who of God is made vnto vs wifedome and righteousnes, and sanctification, and redemption, 31 That, according as it is written, * b Hee that reioyceth, let him reioyce in the Lord.

higher then all men: yet so, that he sheweth them, what all their worthinesse is without thankes, than he sheweth in Christ, and that of God. 27 Hee teacheth that especially and above all things, the Gospel ought not to be concerned, seeing it containeth the chiefest things that are to bee desired, to wit, true wifedome, the true way to obtaine righteousnesse, the true way to liue homely and godly, the true deliuerance from all miseries and calamities. a 1. Cor. 9.24.2. Cor. 10.17. b Let him yeild all to God and giue him thanks: and so by this place a mans free will beaten downe, which the Pagans so dreame of.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee setteth downe a platforme of his preaching, 4 which was base in respect of mans wifedome, 7. 13. but noble in respect of the spirituall power and efficacie, 14 and so concludeth, that flesh and blood cannot rightly iudge thereof.

And I, brethren, when I came to you, came not with excellencie of words, or of wifedome, shewing vnto you the testimonie of God.

2 For I esteemed not to know any thing among you, saue Iesus Christ, and him crucified.

3 And I was among you in weaknesse, and in feare, and in much trembling.

4 Neither flood my word, and my preaching in the enticing speech of mans wifedome, but in plaine euidence of the Spirit and of power.

5 That your faith should not bee in the wifedome of men, but in the power of God.

6 And we speake wifdome among them that are perfect: not the wifedome of this world, neither of the princes of this world, which come to nought.

7 But we speake the wifedome of God in a mysterie, euen the hid wifedome, which God had determined before the world, vnto our glory.

ling, which are companions of true modestie, not such feare and trembling as terrifie the conscience, but such as are contrarie to vanitie and pride. Chap. 1.17.2. per. 1.6. 2 He scienceth that now to the commendation of his ministration, which he had granted to his aduersaries: for his vertue and power which they knew well enough, was so much the more excellent, because it had no worldly helpe iyned with it. 3 By plaine euidence hee meaneth such a prooffe, as is made by certaine and needfull reasons. 4 And he telleth the Corinthians that hee did it for their great profite, because they might therewith know manifestly that the Gospel was from heauen. Therefore hee priuily rebuketh them, because that in seeking vaine ostentation, they willingly deuiated themselves of the greatest helpe of their faith. 5 Another argument taken of the nature of the thing, that is, of the Gospel, which is true wifedome, but known to them onely which are the desirous of perfection: and is vnknowen to them which otherwise excell in the world, but yet vaine and frailty. 6 Those are called perfect here, not which had gotten perfection already, but such as tend to it, as Philip. 3.15. so that perfect, is yet against weaknesse, perfection already, but such as tend to it, as Philip. 3.15. so that perfect, is yet against weaknesse. 7 They that are wiser, richer, or mightier then other men are. 8 He sheweth the cause why this wifedome cannot be perceived of those excellent worldly wits: wit because indeed it is so deep, that they cannot attaine vnto it. 9 Which men could not so much as indeed it is to deep, that they cannot attaine vnto it. 10 Which men could not so much as indeed it is to deep, that they cannot attaine vnto it. 11 Which men could not so much as indeed it is to deep, that they cannot attaine vnto it. 12 Which men could not so much as indeed it is to deep, that they cannot attaine vnto it. 13 Which men could not so much as indeed it is to deep, that they cannot attaine vnto it. 14 Which men could not so much as indeed it is to deep, that they cannot attaine vnto it. 15 Which men could not so much as indeed it is to deep, that they cannot attaine vnto it. 16 Which men could not so much as indeed it is to deep, that they cannot attaine vnto it. 17 Which men could not so much as indeed it is to deep, that they cannot attaine vnto it. 18 Which men could not so much as indeed it is to deep, that they cannot attaine vnto it. 19 Which men could not so much as indeed it is to deep, that they cannot attaine vnto it. 20 Which men could not so much as indeed it is to deep, that they cannot attaine vnto it. 21 Which men could not so much as indeed it is to deep, that they cannot attaine vnto it. 22 Which men could not so much as indeed it is to deep, that they cannot attaine vnto it. 23 Which men could not so much as indeed it is to deep, that they cannot attaine vnto it. 24 Which men could not so much as indeed it is to deep, that they cannot attaine vnto it. 25 Which men could not so much as indeed it is to deep, that they cannot attaine vnto it. 26 Which men could not so much as indeed it is to deep, that they cannot attaine vnto it. 27 Which men could not so much as indeed it is to deep, that they cannot attaine vnto it. 28 Which men could not so much as indeed it is to deep, that they cannot attaine vnto it. 29 Which men could not so much as indeed it is to deep, that they cannot attaine vnto it. 30 Which men could not so much as indeed it is to deep, that they cannot attaine vnto it. 31 Which men could not so much as indeed it is to deep, that they cannot attaine vnto it.

8 ⁷ Which none of the princes of this world hath known: for had they known it, they would not have crucified the ⁴ Lord of glory.

little or nothing. a He calleth them carnall, which are as yet ignorant, and therefore so expresse as the better, he termeth them babes. b Substantiall meat, or strong meat. c To be fed by men with substantiall meat: therefore as the carnall man grows up againe, so the Apostles nourished them by teaching, first with milke, then with strong meat, which are some more sub-

5 Moreover, hee sheweth what this foundation is, to wit, Christ Iesus, from whence they may not turne away one toote in the building vp of this building.

6 Thirdly hee sheweth, that they must take heed that the vpper part of the building be answerable to the foundation; that is, that admonitions, exhortations, and whatsoever pertained to the edifying of the flocke, be answerable to the doctrine of Christ, as well in the matter as in forme: which doctrine is compared to golde, siluer, and precious stones, of which matter, Elias also and Iohn in the Revelation build the heavenly citie. And to these are opposited, wood, hay, stubble, that is to say, curious and vaine questions or decrees; and besides to be short, all that kinde of teaching which serueth to ostentation. For false doctrines, whereof he speaketh not here, are not said properly to be built vpon this foundation, vnlesse peraduenture in the weake only.

7 Hee testifieth, as in deed the truth is, that all are not good builders, nor not some of them which stand vpon this one and onely foundation: but howsoever this worke of euill builders, sayeth hee, stand for a season, yet shall it not alwayes deceiue, because that the light of the truth appearing at length, as day, shall dissolue this darkenesse, and shewe what it is. And as that tuffe is tryed by the fire, whether it be good or not, so will God in his time, by the touch of his Spirit and word, trie all buildings, and so shall it come to passe, that such as bee found pure and sound, shall still continue to the praise of the workman: but they that are otherwise, shall bee consumed and vanish away, and so shall the workman bee frustrate of the hope of his labour, which pleased himselfe in a thing of naught.

8 Hee teacheth not away hope of saluation from the vnskilfull and foolish builders, which holde fast the foundation, of which sort were those Rhetoricians rather than Pastours, of Corinth: but hee addeth an exception, that they must notwithstanding suffer this triall of their worke, and also abide the losse of their vaine labours.

9 Continuing still in the metaphore of building, hee teacheth vs that this ambition is not onely vaine, but also sacrilegious: for hee sayeth that the Church is as it were the Temple of God, which God hath as it were consecrated vnto himselfe by his Spirit. Then turning himselfe to these ambitious men, hee sheweth that they profane the Temple of God, because those vaine artes wherein they please themselves so much, are as he teacheth, so many pollutions of the holy doctrine of God, and the puritie of the Church. Which wickednesse shall not be suffered unpunished.

10 Hee concludeth by the contrarie, that they professe pure wisdom in the Church of God, which refuse and cast away all those vanities of men: and if they be mocked of the world, it is sufficient for them that they be wise according to the wisdom of God, and as hee will haue them to bee wise.

11 Hee returneth to the proposition of the 2. verse, first warning the hearers, that henceforward they esteeme not as Lords, those whome God hath appointed to bee Ministers and not Lords of their saluation: which thing they doe, that depend vpon men, and not vpon God that speaketh by them.

12 Hee passeth from the persons to the things themselves, that his argument may bee more forcible: yea, hee ascendeth from Christ to the Father, to shewe that werest our selues no not in Christ himselfe, in that that he is man, but because he carieth vs vp euen to the Father, as Christ witnesseth of himselfe euery where, that he was sent of his Father, that by this band we may be all knit with God himselfe.

13 For other foundation can no man lay, then that which is laide, which is Iesus Christ.

14 And if any man build on this foundation, golde, siluer, precious stones, timber, hay, or stubble,

15 Every mans worke shall be made manifest: for the day shall declare it, because it shall bee reueiled by the fire: and the fire shall trie euery mans worke of what sort it is.

16 If any mans worke, that hee hath built vpon, abide, hee shall receiue wages.

17 If any mans worke burne, he shall lose, but he shall be saued himselfe: neuertheless yet as it were by the fire.

18 Know ye not that ye are the Temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?

19 If any man destroy the Temple of God, him shall God destroy: for the Temple of God is holy, which ye are.

20 Let no man deceiue himselfe: If any man amongst you seeme to bee wise in this world, let him be a foole, that hee may bee wise.

21 For the wisdom of this world is foolishnesse with God: for it is written, Hee catcheth the wise in their owne craftinesse.

22 And againe, The Lord knoweth the thoughts of the wise be vaine.

23 The fore let no man reioyce in men: for all things are yours.

24 Whether it be Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas, or the world, or life, or death: whether they be things present, or things to come, euen all are yours.

25 And ye, Christs, and Christ Gods.

11 For other foundation can no man lay, then that which is laide, which is Iesus Christ.

12 And if any man build on this foundation, golde, siluer, precious stones, timber, hay, or stubble,

13 Every mans worke shall be made manifest: for the day shall declare it, because it shall bee reueiled by the fire: and the fire shall trie euery mans worke of what sort it is.

14 If any mans worke, that hee hath built vpon, abide, hee shall receiue wages.

15 If any mans worke burne, he shall lose, but he shall be saued himselfe: neuertheless yet as it were by the fire.

16 Know ye not that ye are the Temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?

17 If any man destroy the Temple of God, him shall God destroy: for the Temple of God is holy, which ye are.

18 Let no man deceiue himselfe: If any man amongst you seeme to bee wise in this world, let him be a foole, that hee may bee wise.

19 For the wisdom of this world is foolishnesse with God: for it is written, Hee catcheth the wise in their owne craftinesse.

20 And againe, The Lord knoweth the thoughts of the wise be vaine.

21 The fore let no man reioyce in men: for all things are yours.

22 Whether it be Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas, or the world, or life, or death: whether they be things present, or things to come, euen all are yours.

23 And ye, Christs, and Christ Gods.

CHAP. III.

1 Bringing in the definition of a true Apostle, hee sheweth that humilitie ought rather to bee an honour then a shame vnto him. 9 Hee bringeth in proofe, whereby it may evidently appeare, that he neither had care of glory, nor of his belly. 17 He commendeth Timothy.

18 As a man so thinke of vs, as of the Ministers of Christ, and disposers of the secrets of God:

19 And as for the rest, it is required of the disposers, that euery man be found faithfull.

20 As touching me, I passe very little to be iudged of you, or of mans iudgement: no, I iudge not mine owne selfe.

21 For I know nothing by my selfe, yet am I not thereby iustified: but he that iudgeth me, is the Lord.

22 Therefore iudge nothing before the time, vntill the Lord come, who will lighten things that are hid in darkenesse, and make the counsels of the heart manifest: and then shall euery man haue praise of God.

23 Now these things, brethren, I haue figuratiuely applyed vnto mine owne selfe and Apollos, for your sakes, that yee might learne by vs, that no man presume about that which is written, that one swell not against another for any mans cause.

24 For who separateth thee? and what hast thou, that thou hast not receiued? if thou hast receiued it, why reioycest thou, as though thou hadst not receiued it?

25 Now yee are full: now yee are made rich: ye reigne as Kings without vs, and would to God yee did reigne, that wee also might reigne with you.

26 For I thinke that God hath set forth vs the last Apostles, as men appointed to death: for wee are made a gasing stocke vnto the world, and to the Angels, and to men.

27 Wee are foolcs for Christes sake, and med him as a vile person, because hee did not set forth himselfe as they did. And hee bringeth good reasons why hee was nothing moued with the iudgements which they had of him. 4 First, because that that which men iudge in these cases of their owne braynes, is no more to bee accounted of, then when the vnlearned doe iudge of wisdom.

5 Secondly, sayeth hee, how can yee iudge how much or how little I am to bee accounted of, seeing that I my selfe which knowe my selfe better then you doe, and which dare professe that I haue walked in my vocation with a good conscience, dare not yet notwithstanding challenge any thing to my selfe: for I know that I am not vnblameable, all this notwithstanding: much lesse therefore should I please my selfe as you doe.

6 I permit my selfe to the Lords iudgement. 6 A third reason proceeding of a conclusion, as it were, out of the former reasons. It is Gods office to esteeme euery man according to his value, because hee knoweth the secrets of the heart, which men for the most part are ignorant of. Therefore this iudgement pertaineth not to you.

7 One could not be praised above the rest, but yet other should be blamed: and hee mentioneth praise rather then dispraise, for that the beginning of this fore was this, that they gaue more to some men, then meet was.

8 Having reiected their iudgement, hee setteth forth himselfe againe as a singular example of modestie, as one which concealing in this Epistle those factious teachers names, doubted not to put downe his owne name and Apollos in their place, and tooke vpon him as it were their shame: so farre was hee from preferring himselfe to any.

9 By our example, which hee chose rather to take other mens faults vpon vs, then to carpe any by name. 8 Hee sheweth a good meane to bridle pride: first if thou consider how rightly thou exenpost thy selfe out of the number of others, seeing thou art a man thy selfe: againe, if thou consider that although thou haue some thing more then other men haue, yet thou hast it not but by Gods bountifullnesse. And what wife man is hee that will bragge of anothers goodnesse, and that against God?

9 There is nothing then in vs of nature, that is worthy of commendation: but all that wee haue, wee haue it of grace, which the Pelagians and halfe Pelagians will not confesse. 9 Hee descendeth to a most graue mocke, to cause those ambitious men to blush euen against their willes.

10 Hee that will take a right view how like Paul and the Pope are, who lyingly boast that let in his successors, let him compare the delicacies of the Popish court, with Saint Pauls state as heere.

1 Hee concludeth the duty of the hearers towards their Ministers: that they esteeme them not as Lords: and yet not withstanding that they giue care vnto them, as to them that are sent from Christ.

2 I say to this end and purpose, that they may receiue as it were at their hands, the treasure of saluation which is drawen out of the secrets of God.

3 A euery man, last of all, he warneth the ministers, that they also behaue themselves not as Lords, but as faithful seruants, because they must render an accompt of their stewardship vnto God.

4 Because in reprehending others, hee let himselfe for an example, hee vnto a preoccupation or preventing of an obiection, and vnto the grauitie of an Apostle, he sheweth that hee careth not for the contrary iudgement.

5 Hee sheweth that they haue of him, in that they discerne him as a vile person, because hee did not set forth himselfe as they did.

6 Hee sheweth that that which men iudge in these cases of their owne braynes, is no more to bee accounted of, then when the vnlearned doe iudge of wisdom.

7 Hee sheweth that I my selfe which knowe my selfe better then you doe, and which dare professe that I haue walked in my vocation with a good conscience, dare not yet notwithstanding challenge any thing to my selfe: for I know that I am not vnblameable, all this notwithstanding: much lesse therefore should I please my selfe as you doe.

8 Hee sheweth that I permit my selfe to the Lords iudgement. 6 A third reason proceeding of a conclusion, as it were, out of the former reasons. It is Gods office to esteeme euery man according to his value, because hee knoweth the secrets of the heart, which men for the most part are ignorant of.

9 Therefore this iudgement pertaineth not to you. 7 One could not be praised above the rest, but yet other should be blamed: and hee mentioneth praise rather then dispraise, for that the beginning of this fore was this, that they gaue more to some men, then meet was.

ye are wise in Christ: wee are weake, and ye are strong: ye are honourable, and we are despised.

11 Vnto this houre wee both hunger and thirst, and are naked, and are buffeted, and haue no certaine dwelling place,

12 And labour, working with our owne hands: wee are reuiled, and yet wee blese: wee are persecuted, and suffer it.

13 We are euill spoken of, and wee pray: we are made as the filth of the world, the off-scouring of all things vnto this time.

14 I write not these things to shame you, but as my beloued children I admonish you.

15 For though ye haue tenne thousand instructors in Christ, yet haue ye not many fathers: for in Christ Iesus I haue begotten you through the Gospel.

16 Wherefore, I pray you be ye followers of me.

17 For this cause haue I sent vnto you Timotheus, which is my beloued sonne, and faithful in the Lord, which shall put you in remembrance of my wayes in Christ, as I teach euery where in euery Church.

18 Some are puffed vp as though I would not come vnto you.

19 But I will come to you shortly, * if the Lord will, and will know, not the wordes of them which are puffed vp, but the power.

20 For the kingdom of God is not in word, but in power.

21 What will ye? shall I come vnto you with a rod, or in loue, and in the spirit of meeknesse?

CHAP. V.

1 That they haue winked at him who committed incest with his mother in Law, 2. 6. hee sheweth should cause them rather to be ashamed, then to reioyce. 10 Such kinde of wickednesse is to be punished with excommunication. 12 lest other be infected with it.

It is heard certainly that there is fornication among you: and such fornication as is not once named among the Gentiles, that one should haue his fathers wife.

2 And ye are puffed vp and haue not rather sorrowed, that hee which hath done this deed, might be put from among you.

3 For I verely as absent in body, but present in a Spirit, haue determined already as though I were present, that hee that hath thus done this thing,

4 When ye are gathered together, and my Spirit, in the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ, that such one, I say, by the power of our Lord Iesus Christ,

5 Bee deliuered vnto Satan, for the * destruction of the flesh, that the spirit may be saved in the day of the Lord Iesus.

6 Your reioicing is not good: knowe ye not that a little leauen leaveneth the whole lumpe?

7 Purge out therefore the olde leauen, that ye may be a new lumpe, as ye are vnleavened: for Christ our Pasche is sacrificed for vs.

8 Therefore let vs keepe the feast, not with old leauen, neither in the leauen of maliciousnesse and wickednesse: but with the vnleavened bread of sinceritie and truth.

9 I wrote vnto you in an Epistle, that ye should not companie together with fornicators,

10 And not altogether with the fornicators of this world, or with the couetous, or with extortioners, or with idolaters: for then ye must goe out of the world.

11 But now I haue written vnto you, that ye companie not together: if any that is called a brother, be a fornicator, or couetous, or an idolater, or a railer, or a drunkard, or an extortioner, with such one eat not.

12 For what haue I to doe, to iudge them also which are without? doe ye not iudge them which are within?

13 But God iudgeth them that are without: Put away therefore from among your selues that wicked man.

bread: Inasmuch that he was holden as vnleane and unworthy to eate the Pasche, who forer had but tasted of leauen. Now all our whole life must be as it were the feast of vnleavened bread, wherein all they that are partakers of that immaculate Lambe which is laine, must cast out both of themselves, and also out of their houses, and Congregations all impurity. 4 By lumpe he meaneth the whole body of the Church, every member whereof must be vnleavened bread, that is, renewed in Spirit, by plucking away the old corruption. 5 The Lambe of the Pasche, 6 Let vs leade our whole life, as it were a continual feast, honestly, and uprightly. 9 Now hee speaketh more generally: and that which he saith before of the incestuous person, he sheweth that it pertaineth to others, which are known to be wicked, and such as through their naughtie life are a slander to the Church, which ought also by lawfull order be cast out of the communie of the Church. And making mention of eating of meat, either hee meaneth those feasts of loue whereat the Supper of the Lord was receiued, or else their common viage & manner of life: which is rightly to be taken, lest any man should thinke, that either Matrimonie were broken by excommunication, or such duties hindered and cut off thereby, as we owe one to another: children to their parents, subiects to their rulers, seruants to their masters, and neighbour to neighbour, to winne one another vnto God. 11 If ye should utterly abstaine from such men, companie, ye should goe out of the world: therefore I speake of them which are in the very bysome of the Church, which must be called home by discipline, and not of them which are without, with whom we must labour by all meanes possible to bring them to Christ. 10 Such as are false brethren, ought to be cast out of the Congregation, as for them which are without, they must be left to the iudgement of God.

CHAP. VI.

1 Hee inuiceth against their contentions in lawe matters, 6 wherewith they vexed one another vnder iudges that were infidels, to the reproch of the Gospel, 9 and then sharply threatneth fornicators.

Are any of you, hauing busines against another, bee iudged vnder the vnult, and not vnder the Saints?

2 Doe ye not know, that the Saints shal iudge the world? If the world then shall bee infidel? He answereth that is not lawfull for offence sake, for it is not euill of it selfe. As if he sayd, Are you become so impudent, that you are not ashamed to make the Gospel a laughing stocke to prophane men? 2 Before the iudges. 2 He addeth that he doth not forbid that one neighbour may goe to law with another, if neede so require, but yet vnder holy iudges. 3 Hee gathereth by a comparison that the faithfull cannot seeke to infidels to be iudged, without great iniurie done to the Saints, seeing that God himselfe will make the Saints iudges of the world, and of the deuils, with his Sonne Christ: much more ought they to iudge these light and small causes which may be by equitie, and good conscience determined.

6 The end of excommunication is not to cast away the excommunicate, that he should utterly perish, but that he may be saved, to wit, that by this means his flesh may be tamed, that hee may learne to liue to the Spirit. 7 Another end of excommunication is, that other be not infected, and therefore it must of necessity be retained in the Church, that the one be not infected by the other.

8 It is taught, and not grounded vpon good reason, as though you were excellent, and yet there is such wickednesse found among you.

9 By alluding to the ceremonie of the Pasche, he exhorteth them to cast out that vnleane person from among them. In times past, faith he, it was not lawfull for them which did celebrate the Pasche to eate vnleane

bread: Inasmuch that he was holden as vnleane and unworthy to eate the Pasche, who forer had but tasted of leauen. Now all our whole life must be as it were the feast of vnleavened bread, wherein all they that are partakers of that immaculate Lambe which is laine, must cast out both of themselves, and also out of their houses, and Congregations all impurity. 4 By lumpe he meaneth the whole body of the Church, every member whereof must be vnleavened bread, that is, renewed in Spirit, by plucking away the old corruption. 5 The Lambe of the Pasche, 6 Let vs leade our whole life, as it were a continual feast, honestly, and uprightly. 9 Now hee speaketh more generally: and that which he saith before of the incestuous person, he sheweth that it pertaineth to others, which are known to be wicked, and such as through their naughtie life are a slander to the Church, which ought also by lawfull order be cast out of the communie of the Church. And making mention of eating of meat, either hee meaneth those feasts of loue whereat the Supper of the Lord was receiued, or else their common viage & manner of life: which is rightly to be taken, lest any man should thinke, that either Matrimonie were broken by excommunication, or such duties hindered and cut off thereby, as we owe one to another: children to their parents, subiects to their rulers, seruants to their masters, and neighbour to neighbour, to winne one another vnto God. 11 If ye should utterly abstaine from such men, companie, ye should goe out of the world: therefore I speake of them which are in the very bysome of the Church, which must be called home by discipline, and not of them which are without, with whom we must labour by all meanes possible to bring them to Christ. 10 Such as are false brethren, ought to be cast out of the Congregation, as for them which are without, they must be left to the iudgement of God.

The third question is of ciuill iudgements. Whether it be lawfull for one faithfull to draw another faithfull before the iudgement seat of an infidel? He answereth that is not lawfull for offence sake, for it is not euill of it selfe. As if he sayd, Are you become so impudent, that you are not ashamed to make the Gospel a laughing stocke to prophane men? 2 Before the iudges. 2 He addeth that he doth not forbid that one neighbour may goe to law with another, if neede so require, but yet vnder holy iudges. 3 Hee gathereth by a comparison that the faithfull cannot seeke to infidels to be iudged, without great iniurie done to the Saints, seeing that God himselfe will make the Saints iudges of the world, and of the deuils, with his Sonne Christ: much more ought they to iudge these light and small causes which may be by equitie, and good conscience determined.

Of going to Law. I. Corinthians. Members of Christ.

4 The conclusion, wherein he prescribed a remedie for this mischief: to wit, if they should their private differences between themselves by choise arbiters out of the Church for which matter and purpose, the least of you, faith he, is sufficient. Therefore he condemneth not iudgements seats, but rather what is expedient for the circumstance of the time, and that without any diminishing of the right of the Magistrate: for he speaketh not of iudgements, which are praescribed betwixt the faithful, and the infidels, neither of publicke iudgements, but of controversies which may be ended by private arbiters.

5 Courts and places of iudgements.

6 Even the most ablest among you.

7 He applyeth the general proposition to a particular, alwayes calling the back to this, to take away from them that false opinion of their owne excellencie from whence all these mischiefs spring.

8 Now he goeth further also, & although by granting them private arbiters, out of the congregation of the faithful, he do not simply condemn, but rather establish private iudgements, so that they be exercised without offence, yet he sheweth that if they were such as they ought to be, and as it were to be wished they should not need to vie that remedie neither.

9 A weaknesse of mind which is said to be in them, that suffer themselves to be overcome of their lusts, and it is a fault that squarers greatly from temperance and moderation: so that he nipeth them which could not put up an iniurie done unto them.

7 This pertaineth chiefly to the other part of the reprehension, to wit, that they went to lawe even vnder infidels, whereas they should rather have suffered any losse, then to have giuen that offence. But yet this is generally true, that we ought rather to depart from our right, then trie the vermouth of the lawe hastily, and vpon an affection to reuenge an iniurie. But the Corinthians cared for neither, and therefore he faith that they must reuenge, vntill they will be shut out of the inheritance of God.

8 Math. 5. 39. Luke 6. 29. Rom. 12. 19. 1. Thess. 4. 6.

8 Now hee preparerth himselfe to passe ouer to the fourth Treatise of this Epistle, which concerneth matters indifferent, debating this matter first, how men may well vse women or not: which question hath three branches, fornication, matrimonie, and a single life. As for fornication, he vtterly condemneth it. And marriage he commandeth to some, as a good and necessarie remedie for them, to other he leaueth it free: And other some hee disswadeth from it, not as vnlawfull, but as discommodious, and that not without exception. As for singleness of life (vnder which also I comprehend virginity) hee inioyneth it to no man: yet he perswadeth men vnto it, but not for it selfe, but for another respect, neither all men, nor without exception: And being about to speake against fornication, he beginneth with a generall reprehension of those vices, wherewith that rich and riotous Citie most abounded: warning and teaching them earnestly, that repentance is vnparably ioyned with forgiveness of finnes, & sanctification with iustification.

9 Titus 1. 3. f. In leues. Chap. 10. 23.

9 Secondly, hee sheweth that the Corinthians doe simply offend in matters indifferent: First, because they abused them: next, because they vsed indifferent things, without any discretion, seeing the vse of the ought to be brought to the rule of charitie: and that hee doth not yf them aright, which immoderately abused them, and so becometh a slave vnto them.

10 What sauer: but this generall word must be restrained to things that are indifferent.

10 Hee is in subiection to things that are indifferent, what sauer he be that thinketh he may not be without them: which is a flattering kind of seruice vnder a colour of libertie, which seith vpon such men.

10 Secondly, because they counted many things for indifferent, which were of themselves vnlawfull, as fornication, which they numbred amongst meere naturall & lawfull desires, as well as meat and drink: Therefore the Apostle sheweth that they are vtterly vnlike: for meats faith he, were made for the necessary vse of mans life which is not perperuall: For both meats and all this manner of nourishing, are quickly abolished. But we must not so thinke of the vncleannties of fornication, for which the bodie is not made, but on the contrary side is ordeined to purenes, as appeareth by this, that it is consecrated to Christ, euen as Christ also is giuen vs of his Father, to quicken our bodies with that vertue, wherewith he also rose againe, the bellie for the meates: but God shall destroy both it, and them. Now the bodie is not for fornication, but for the Lord, and the Lord for the body.

14 And God hath also raised vp the Lord, and shall raise vs vp by his power.

15 Know yee not, that your bodies are the members of Christ? shall I then take the members of Christ, and make them the members of an harlot? God forbid.

16 Doe ye not know, that he which coupleth himselfe with an harlot, is one body? for two, faith he, shalbe one flesh.

17 But hee that is ioyned vnto the Lord, is one spirit.

18 Flee fornication, euery saine that a man doeth, is without the body: but hee that committeth fornication sinneth against his owne body.

19 Know ye not, that your body is the Temple of the holy Ghost, which is in you, whom ye haue of God? and ye are not your owne.

20 For yee are bought for a price, therefore glorifie God in your body, and in your spirit: for they are Gods.

He abuseth his testimony. Again, Moses hath not this word (Two) but it is very well expressed both here and in Matthew 19. 5. because first God hath only but of man and wife: whereupon the opinion of them that touch it to be lawfull to haue many wives, is utterly contrary to that which is written with many, is sundred as it were into many parts.

17 Another argument why fornication is to be eschewed, because it defileth the body with a peculiar kinde of filthinesse.

14 The third argument: Because a fornicator is unclean, for that our bodies are consecrated to God.

Chap. 3. 17. 2. Cor. 6. 16. 15 The fourth argument: Because we are not our owne men, to giue our selues to any other, much lesse to Satan and the flesh, seeing that God himselfe hath bought vs, and that with a great price, to the end that both in body and soule, we should serue to his glorie.

Chap. 7. 23. 1. Pet. 1. 18.

CHAP. VII.

1 Entreatinge here of marriage, 4 which is a remedie against fornication, 10 And may not be broken, 18. 20 hee willeth every man to liue contented with his lot. 25 He sheweth what the end of virginity should be, 45 and who ought to marrie.

Now concerning the things whereof ye wrote vnto me, It were good for a man not to touch a woman.

2 Neuerthelesse, to auoide fornication, let euery man haue his wife, and let euery woman haue her owne husband.

3 Let the husband giue vnto the wife due beneuolence, and likewise also the wife vnto the husband.

4 The wife hath not the power of her owne body, but the husband: and likewise also the husband hath not the power of his owne body, but the wife.

5 Defraude not one another, except it be with consent for a time, that yee may giue your selues to fasting and prayer, and againe come together, that Satan tempt you not for your incontinencie.

He teacheth concerning marriage, that although a single life hath his commodities, which he will declare afterwards, yet that marriage is necessary for the auoiding of fornication: but so that neither one man may haue many wives, nor any wife many husbands.

a Touching these matters whereof ye wrote vnto me.

b Commodious, and (as we say) expedient. For marriage bringeth many griefes with it, and that by reason of the corruption of our first state.

1. Pet. 3. 7. 2 Secondly, he sheweth that the parties married, must with singular affection, entirely loue one the other.

c The word (due) containeth all kinde of beneuolence, though hee speake more of one sort then of the other, in that that followeth.

3 Thirdly, he warneth them, that they are each in others power, as touching the body, so that you may not defraude one another.

4 He addeth an exception, vntill the one abstaineth from the other by mutual consent, that they may the better giue themselves to prayer, wherein notwithstanding he warneth them to consider what is expedient, lest by this long breaking off as it were from marriage, they be stirred vp to incontinencie.

d Doe nothing els.

6 But I speake this by permission, not by commandement.

7 For I would that all men were euen as I my selfe am: but euery man hath his proper gift of God, one after this maner, and another after that.

8 Therefore I say vnto the vnmarried, and vnto the widowes, It is good for them if they abide euen as I doe.

9 But if they cannot abstaine, let them marrie: for it is better to marrie then to burne.

10 And vnto the married, I commaund, not I, but the Lord, Let not the wife depart from her husband.

11 But and if shee depart, let her remaine vnmarried, or be reconciled vnto her husband, and let not the husband put away his wife.

12 But to the remnant I speake, and not the Lord, If any brother haue a wife, that beleueeth not, if shee be content to dwell with him, let him not forsake her.

13 And the woman which hath an husband that beleueeth not, if hee be content to dwell with her, let her not forsake him,

14 For the vnbeleueing husband is sanctified to the wife, and the vnbeleueing wife is sanctified to the husband, else were your children vncleane: but now are they holy.

15 But if the vnbeleueing depart, let him depart: a brother or a sister is not in subiection in such things: but God hath called vs in peace.

16 For what knowest thou, O wife, whether thou shalt saue thine husband? Or what knowest thou, O man, whether thou shalt saue thy wife?

17 But as God hath distributed to euery man, as the Lord hath called euery one, so let him walke: and so ordaine I in all Churches.

18 Is any man called being circumcised? let him not gather his uncircumcision: is any called vncircumcised? let him not bee circumcised.

19 Circumcision is nothing, and vncircumcision is nothing, but the keeping of the commandements of God.

20 Let euery man abide in the same vocation wherein he was called.

21 Art thou called being a seruant? care not for it: but yet if thou mayest bee free, vse it rather.

22 For he that is called in the Lord, being a seruant, is the Lords free man: likewise also he that is called being free, is Christs seruant.

23 Ye are bought with a price: bee not the seruants of men.

24 Brethren, let euery man, wherein hee was called, therein abide with God.

25 Now concerning virgins, I haue no commandement of the Lorde: but I giue mine aduise, as one that hath obtained mercy of the Lord to be faithfull.

26 I suppose then this to bee good for the present necessitie: I meane that it is good for a man so to be.

27 Art thou bound vnto a wife? seeke not to be loosed: art thou loosed from a wife? seeke not a wife.

28 But if thou takest a wife, thou sinnest not: and if a virgine marie, she sinneth not: neuertheless, such shal haue trouble in the flesh: but I spare you.

29 And this I say, brethren, because the time is short, hereafter that both they which haue wiues, be as though they had none:

30 And they that weepe, as though they wept not: and they that reioyce, as though they reioyced not: & they that buy, as though they possessed not:

31 And they that vse this world, as though they vfed it not: for the fashion of this world goeth away.

32 And I would haue you without care. The vnmarried careth for the things of the Lord how he may please the Lord.

33 But hee that is married, careth for the things of the world, how he may please his wife.

34 There is difference also between a virgine and a wife: the vnmarried woman careth for the things of the Lord, that she may be holy, both in body and in spirit: but shee that is married, careth for the things of the world, how she may please her husband.

35 And this I speake for your owne commoditie,

the Lord to bee such an one. u To remaine a virgine. x For the necessitie which the Saints are daily subiect vnto, who are continually tossed up and downe, so that their estate my seeme most vnstable for marriage, were it not that the weaknesse of the flesh enforced them to it. y By the (Fleish) he understandeth what things seeme belong to this present life. z For marriage bringeth with it many discommodities: so that he bendeth more to a sole life, not because it is a seruice more agreeable to God then marriage is, but for these discommodities, which (if it were possible) he would wish all men to be void of, that they might giue themselves to God only. a I would your weaknesse were provided for. b For we are now in the latter end of the world. c By weeping the Hebrewes understand all aduersitie, and by ioy, all prosperitie. d These things which God giueth vs here. e The guise and shape, and fashion: whereby he sheweth vs, that there is nothing in this world that continueth. f They that are married, haue their myt drawn hither and thither, & therefore if any man haue the gift of continencie, it is more commodious for him to liue alone: but they that are married may care for the things of the Lord also. Clem. Strom 3. f Minde. g Hee meaneeth that hee will enforce no man, either to marrie or not to marrie, but to shew them haue what kinde of life is most commodious.

Tim. 6. 1. p As though this calling were too unworthy a calling for Christ. q Hee has in state of a seruant, and is called to be a Christian. r Chap. 6. 20. 1. pet. 18. 19. 14 He sheweth the reason of the vnlkenesse, because that hee that desired to be circumcised, maketh himselfe subiect to mans tradition, and not to God. And this may bee much more understood of superstitions, which some doe foolishly account for things indifferent. 15 A repetition of the generall doctrine. r So purely and from the heart, that your doings may be approved before God. 16 He enjoyeth virginie to no man, yet he perfwadeth and praeth it for an other respect, to wit, both for the necessitie of the present time, because the faithfull could scarce abide in any place, and vnto the commodities of this present life, & therefore such as were not troubled with families, might be the readier, and also for the cares of this life, which marriage draweth with it of necessitie, so that they cannot but haue their minds distracted: and this hath place in women especially. f The circumstancet considered, this I counsell you. i It is I that speake this which I am minded to speake: and the truth is, I am a man, but yet worthily credit, for I haue obtained of

5 Fifty hee teacheth that marriage is not simply necessarie for all men, but for the which haue not the gift of continencie, and this gift is by a peculiar grace of God. 6 Sixty, hee giueth selfe same admonition touching the second marriage, to wit, that a single life is to be allowed but for such as haue the gift of continencie: otherwise they ought to marrie againe, that their conscience may be at peace. f The whole place is what against them which condemn second marriages. g So to burne with lust, that either you will not deli to the temptation, or els we cannot call upon God with a quiet conscience. * Math. 5. 32. and 19. 9. marke 10. 11. 12. Luke 16. 18. 7 Seventy, hee forbiddeth concensions & publishing of divorces (for he speakech not here of fault of whoredome, which was then death euen by the law of the Romanes also) whereby he affirmeth that the band of marriage is not dissolved, and that from Christs mouth 8 Eighty, he affirmeth, that those marriages which are already contracted between a faithfull, and an vnfaithfull or infidell, are firme: so that the faithfull may not forsake the vnfaithfull. 9 He answereth an obiection: But the faithfull is defiled by the societe of the vnfaithfull. The Apostle denieth that, and proueth that the faithfull man with good conscience may vse the vessell of his vnfaithfull wife, by this, that their children which are borne of them, are accounted holy (that is, contained within the promise) for it is said to all the faithfull, I will bee thy God, and the God of thy seed. h The godliness of the wife is of more force, to cause their coupling together to be accounted holy, then the infidelitie of the husband is, to prophane the marriage. i The infidell is not sanctified or made holy in his owne person, but in respect of his wife, he is sanctified to her. k To the faithfull husband. l This place destroyeth the opinion of them, that would not haue children to be baptized, and their opinion also, that make Baptisme the very cause of saluation. For the children of the faithfull are holy, by vertue of the covenants, euen before Baptisme, and Baptisme is added as the seale of that holinesse. m He answereth to a question: what if the vnfaithfull forsake the faithfull? then is the faithfull free, left he, because he is forsaken of the vnfaithfull. n When any such thing filleth out. 11 Left any man vpon pretence of this libertie should giue an occasion, to the vnfaithfull to depart, hee giueth to vnderstand, that marriage contracted with an infidell, ought peaceably to be kept, that if it be possible, hee indell may be won to the faith. 12 Taking occasion by that which hee said of the bondage and libertie of matrimonie, hee digresseth to a generall doctrine concerning the outward state and condition of mans life, as Circumcision and vncircumcision, seruitude and libertie: warning euery man generally to liue with a contented minde in the Lord, what state or condition (soeuer hee be in, because, that those outward things, as to be circumcised or vncircumcised, to be bond or free, are not of the substance (as they terme it) of the kingdom of heauen. o He bound him to a certaine kinde of life. 13 Notwithstanding hee giueth vs to vnderstand, that in these examples all are not of a like sort: because that Circumcision is not simply of it selfe to be desired, but such as are bound may desire to be free. Therefore herein onely they are equal, that the kingdom of God considereth not in them, and therefore there are no hindrance to obey God. p He is said to gather his vncircumcision, who by the help of a Christian, receiveth an upper skin which is done by drawing the skin with an instrument, to make it to cover the nut. Celsus in 7. Booke and 25. Chapter.

17 Now he turneth himselfe to the parents, in whose power & authoritie their children are, warning them that according to the former doctrine they consider what is meet and convenient for their children, that they neither deprive them of the necessary remedie against incontinencie, nor constrain them to marriage, whereas neither their will doth leade them, nor any necessity vrgeth them. And againe he praiseth virginitie, but of it selfe, and not in all.

b He doeth well: for so he expounded it, ver. 38.

c Resolved him.

k That the weakesse of his daughter inforced him not, or any other matter, but that he may safely keepe her a virgin still. l Promised more commodiously for his children, and that not simply, but by reason of such conditions as are before mentioned. m That which he spake of a widower, he speaketh now of a widow, to wit, that she may marry againe, so that she doe it in the feare of God: and yet he dissembleth not, but saith, that if she remaine still a widow, she shall be voyd of many cares. n By the Law of marriage.

CHAP. VIII.

1 From this place vnto the end of the tenth Chapter, he willeth them not to be at the Gentiles prophane banquets. 18
He restraineth the abuse of Christian libertie, 11 and sheweth that knowledge must be tempered with charitie.

1 He entrench to entreat of another kinde of things indifferent, to wit, of things offered to idoles, or the vse of flesh so offered and sacrificed. And first of all he remoueth all those things which the Corinthians pretended in vsing things offered to idoles without any respect. First of all they affirmed that this difference of meats was for the vnskilfull men, but as for them, they knew well enough the benefit of Christ, which causeth all these things to be cleane to them that are cleane. Be it so saith Paul: be it that we are all sufficiently instructed in the knowledge of Christ, I say notwithstanding that wee must not simply rest in this knowledge. The reason is, that vnlesse our knowledge be tempered with charitie, it doeth not onely not auail, but also doeth much hurt, because it is the mistresse of pride: nay it doeth not so much as deserue the name of godly knowledge, if it be separate from the loue of God, & therefore from the loue of our neighbour.

a This general word is to be abridged as appeareth, ver. 7. for there is a kinde of taunt in it, we may perceiue by the next verse. b Administred occasion of vanitie and pride, because it is void of charitie. c Instructed our neighbour. d The application of that answer to things offered to idoles: I grant, saith he, that an idole is indeede a vaine imagination, and that there is but one God and Lord, and therefore that meat can not be made either holy or prophane by the idole: but it followeth not therefore that a man may without respect vse those meats as any other. e This word (Idole) in this place taken for an image which is made to represent some godhead, that worship might be giuen vnto it: whereupon came the word (Idolatry) that is to say, Image seruice. f Is a vaine dream. g When the Father is distinguished from the Sonne, hee is named the beginning of all things. h We haue a being in him. i Iohn 13. 13. chap. 12. 3. k But as the Father is called Lord, so is the Sonne, God: therefore this word (One) doeth not respect the persons, but the nature.

moditie, not to tangle you in a snare, but that yee follow that, which is honest, and that yee may cleaue fast vnto the Lord without separation.

36¹⁷ But if any man thinke that it is vncomely for his virgine, if she passe the floure of her age, and neede require, let him doe what hee will, he¹⁸ sinne: he not: let them be married.

37 Neuerthelesse, he that standeth firme in his heart, that hee hath no¹⁹ neede, but hath power ouer his owne will, and hath so decreed in his heart, that he will keepe his virgine, hee doeth well.

38 So then hee that giueth her to mariage, doeth well, but he that giueth her not to mariage, doeth better.

39¹⁸ The wife is bound by the^m Lawe, as long as her husband¹⁹ liueth: but if her husband be dead, shee is at libertie to marrie with whom she will, onely in the²⁰ Lord.

40 But she is more blessed, if she so abide, in my iudgement: ²¹ and I thinke that I haue also the Spirit of God.

by whom are all things, and we by him.

7³ But euery man hath not that knowledge: for⁴ many hauing⁵ conscience of the idole, vntill this houre, eate as a thing sacrificed vnto the idole, and so their conscience being weake, is defiled.

8⁵ But meate maketh vs not acceptable to God, for neither if we eate, haue we the more; neither if we eat not, haue we the lesse.

9 But take heede lest by any meanes this power of yours bee an occasion of falling, to them that are weake.

10⁶ For if any man see thee which hast knowledge, sit at table in the idols temple, shal not the conscience of him which is weake, bee boldned to eate those things which are sacrificed to idols?

11⁷ And through thy knowledge shall the⁸ weake brother perish, for whom Christ died.

12⁸ Now when ye sinne so against the brethren, and wound their weake conscience, yee sinne against Christ.

13⁹ Wherefore if meat offend my brother, I will eate no flesh while the world standeth, that I may not offend my brother.

There are many which cannot eate of things offered to idoles, but with a waivering conscience because they thinke them to be vnclane: therefore if by thy example they enterpriue to doe that which inwardly they thinke displeaseth God, their conscience is defiled with this eating, and thou hast bin the occasion of this mischief. k By conscience of the idole, hee meaneth the secret iudgements that they had within themselves, whereby they thought all things vnclane, that were offered to idoles, and therefore they could not vse them with good conscience. For this first hath conscience, that if it be good, it maketh things indifferent good, and if it be euill, it maketh them euill. l A preuening of an obiection: Why then shall we therefore be deprived of our libertie? Nay saith the Apostle, you shall lose no part of Christianitie although you abstaine for your brethren sake, as also if you receive the meate, it maketh you no whit the more holy, for our commendation before God consisteth not in meats: but to vse our libertie with offence of our brethren, is an abuse of libertie, the true vse thereof is cleane contrary, to wit, so to vse it, as in vsing of it wee haue consideration of our weake brethren. m Another plaine explication of the same reason, propounding the example of the sitting downe at the table in the idoles temple, which thing the Corinthians did euill account of among things indifferent, because it is simply forbidden for the circumstance of the place, although offence doe cease, as it shall bee declared in his place. n An amplification of the argument taken both of comparison and contraries: Thou wretched man, saith he, pleasing thy selfe with thy knowledge which indeede is none (for if thou haddest true knowledge, thou wouldest not sit downe to meat in an idols temple) wilt thou destroy thy brother hardening his weake conscience by this example to doe euill, for whose saluation Christ himselfe hath died? o Rom. 14. 15. p Another amplification: Such offending of our weake brethren, redoundeth vnto Christ, and therefore let not these men thinke that they haue to doe only with their brethren. q Rom. 14. 21. r The conclusion, which Paul conceiveth in his owne person, that he might not seeme to exact that of other, which hee will not be first subiect to himselfe. I had rather (saith he) abstaine for ever from all kinde of flesh, then giue occasion of sinne to any of my brethren, muchlesse would I refuse in any certaine place or time for my brothers sake not to eate flesh offered to idoles.

CHAP. IX.

1 Hee declareth, that from the libertie which the Lorde gaue him, 15 hee willingly abstained, 18. 22 lest in things indifferent he should offend any. 24 He sheweth that our life is like vnto a race.

A^m I not an Apostle? am I not free? ¹ haue I not seene Iesus Christ our Lord? are ye not² my worke in the Lord?

2 If I be not Apostle vnto other, yet doubtlesse I am vnto you: for yee are the³ scale of mine Apostleship in the Lord.

With that the Corinthians thought themselves not bound to depart from a iote of their libertie for any mans pleasure. Therefore he propoundeth himselfe for an example, and that in a matter almost necessary. And yet he speaketh feuerally of both, but first of his owne person. If (saith he) you alledge for your selues, that you are free, and therefore will vse your libertie, am I not also free, seeing I am an Apostle? a He prooueth his Apostleship by the effects, in that hee was appointed of Christ himselfe, and the authoritie of his function was sufficiently confirmed to him amongst them by their conuention. And all these things hee setteth before their eyes, to make them ashamed for that they would not in the least wife that might be, debate themselves for the weakes sake, whereas the Apostle himselfe did all that hee could to winne them to God, when they were vterly reprobate and without God. b By the Lord, c As a scale whereby it appeareth sufficiently that God is the author of my Apostleship.

8. Say I these things according to man? saith not the Law the same also?

9. For it is written in the Law of Moses, Thou shalt not moue the mouth of the oxe that treadeth out the corne: doeth God take care for Oxen?

10. Either saith hee it not altogether for our sakes? For our sakes no doubt it is written, that he which eareth, should eare in hope, and that he that thresheth in hope, should be partaker of his hope.

11. * If wee haue sowed vnto you spirituall things, is it a great thing if wee reape your carnall things?

12. If others with you bee partakers of this power, are not we rather? neuertheless, wee haue not vsed this power, but suffer all things, that wee should not hinder the Gospel of Christ.

13. Doe ye not know, that they which minister about the holy things, eat of the things of the Temple? and they which waite at the Altar, are partakers with the Altar?

14. So also hath the Lord ordained, that they which preach the Gospel, should liue of the Gospel.

15. But I haue vsed none of these things: neither wrote I these things, that it should be so done vnto mee: for it were better for mee to die, then that any man should make my reioicing vaine.

16. For though I preach the Gospel, I haue nothing to reioyce of: for necessitie is laid vpon me, and woe is vnto me, if I preach not the Gospel.

17. For if I doe it willingly, I haue a reward, but if I doe it against my will, notwithstanding the dispensation is committed vnto me.

18. What is my reward then? verely that when I preach the Gospel, I make the Gospel of Christ free, that I abuse not my authoritie in the Gospel.

19. For though I be free from all men, yet haue I made my selfe seruant vnto all men, that I might winne the moe.

20. And vnto the Iewes, I become as a Iewe; that I may winne the Iewes: to them that are vnder the Lawe, as though I were vnder the Lawe, that I may winne them that are vnder the Lawe.

21. To them that are without Lawe, as though I were without Lawe, (when I am not without Lawe as pertaining to God, but am in the Lawe through Christ) that I may winne them that are without Lawe:

22. To the weake I become as weake, that I may winne the weake: I am made all things to all men, that I might by all meanes saue some.

23. And this I doe for the Gospels sake, that I might be partaker thereof with you.

24. Knowe ye not, that they which runne in a race, runne all, yet one receiveth the price? so runne that ye may obtaine.

25. And euery man that propoueth matteries, abstaineth from all things: and they doe so to obtaine a corruptible crowne: but wee for an vncorruptible.

26. I therefore so runne, not as vncertainely: so fight I, not as one that beateth the aire.

27. But I beat downe my bodie, and bring it into subiection, left by any meanes after that I haue preached to other, I my selfe should bee reprooued.

Now, moreover, and besides that these things are hitly spoken against them which frequented idoles feasts, the same also seeme to be alleaged to this ende and purpose, because many men are thus minded, that these things are not of such great weight, that God will bee angry with them if they vie them, so that they frequent Christian assemblies and be baptized, and receive the Communion, and confesse Christ. a Paul speaketh thus in respect of the Covenent, and not in respect of the persons, saving in generall. * Exod. 13. 21. num. 9. 18. * Exodus 14. 22.

r That both I and they to whom I preach the Gospel, may receive fruit by the Gospel.

s He bringeth in another cause of this mischief, to wit, that they were giuen to gluttonie, for there were solemne banquets of sacrifices, and the riot of the Priests was alwayes too much celebrated and kept.

t Therefore it was hard for them which were accustomed to riotousnesse, especially when they pretended the libertie of the Gospel, to be restrained from these banquets: but contrariwise the Apostle calleth them by a pleasant similitude, and also by his owne example, to sobriety and mortification of the flesh, shewing that they cannot be fit to run or wrestle (as then 7 games of Isthmies were) which pamper vp their bodies: and therefore affirming that they can haue no reward, vnlesse they take another course and trade of life.

^a In effect the Sacraments of the olde fathers were al one with ours; for they respected Christ onely who offered himselfe vnto them in diuers shadowes. ^b All of them were baptized with the outward signe, but not in deed, wherein God cannot bee charged, but they themselves. ^c Moses being their guide. ^d Exod. 16. 15.

^e The same that we doe. ^f Manna which was a spiritual meat to the beleauers, which in faith lay hold vpon Christ who is the true meat. ^g Exod. 17. 6. num. 26. 10. and 23. 16. ^h Of the River or running Rocke, which followed the people.

ⁱ Did sacramentally signifie Christ, so that together with the signe, there was the thing signified, and the truth is selfe: for God doth not offer a bare signe, but the thing signified by the signe together with it, which is to be received with faith. ^k Numbers 26. 65.

^l An amplifying of the example against them which are carried away with their lusts beyond the bounds which God hath measured out. For this is the beginning of all euill, as of idolatrie (which hath gluttony a companion vnto it) fornication, rebelling against Christ, murmuring, & such like, which God punished most sharply in that old people, to the end that wee which succeeded them, and haue a more full declaration of the will of God, might by that meanes take better heed. ^m Some reade figures: which signified our Sacraments: for circumcision was to the Iewes a seale of righteousness, so vnto a lively patterne of Baptisme, and so in the other Sacraments. ⁿ Num. 11. 4. and 26. 64. ^o Psal. 106. 14. ^p Exod. 33. 6. ^q Num. 25. 9. ^r To tempt Christ, is to prouoke him to a contest as it were, which those men doe, who abuse the knowledge that he hath giuen them, and make it to serue for a cloake for their lusts and wickednesse. ^s Num. 21. 6. ^t Psal. 106. 14. ^u Num. 14. 37. ^v Indge. 8. 24. ^w This our age, is called the end, for it is the shutting up of all ages. ^x In conclusion, he descendeth to the Corinthians themselves, warning them that they please not themselves, but rather that they prevent the subtilties of Satan: Yet he vseth an insinuation, & comforteth them, that he may not seeme to make them altogether like to those wicked idolaters & conuicers of Christ, which perished in the wilderness. ^y Which commeth of weaknesse. ^z He that would haue you tempted for your profits sake, will giue you an issue to escape out of the temptation. ^{aa} Now returning to those Idoles feasts, that hee may not seeme to dally at all: first he promisseth that hee wil vse no other reasons, then such as they knew very well themselves. And hee vseth then Induction borrowed of the agreement that is in the things themselves. The holy banquets of the Christians are pledges, first of all, of the communie that they haue with Christ, and next, one with another. The Israelites also doe ratifie in the sacrifices, their mutual coniunction in onefelselfe religion: therefore to doe the idolaters also ioyne themselves with their Idoles or deuils father, (for idoles are nothing) in those solemne banquets, whereupon it followeth, that that table is a table of deuils, and therefore you must eschew it: For you cannot be partakers of the Lord and of idoles together, much lesse may such banquets bee accounted for things indifferent. Will ye then strue with God? and if yee doe, thinke you that you shall get the vpper hand? ^{ab} Of thankes giuing: whereupon, that holy banquet was called Eucharist, that is, a thankes giuing. ^{ac} A most effectuall pledge and note of our knighting together with Christ, and ingrafting to him.

² And were all^b baptized vnto^c Moses, in that cloud, and in that sea,

³ * And did all eate the^d same spirituall^e meat,

⁴ * And did all drinke the same spirituall^f drinke (for they dranke of the spirituall^g Rocke that^h followed them: and the Rocke wasⁱ Christ.)

⁵ But with many of them God was not pleased: for they were^j ouerthrowen in the wilderness.

⁶ Now these things are our^k enamples, to the intent that we should not lust after euill things, * as they also lusted.

⁷ Neither be ye idolaters as were some of them, as it is written, * The people sate downe to eate and drinke, and rose vp to play.

⁸ Neither let vs commit fornication, as some of them committed fornication, and fell in one^l * day three and twentie thousand.

⁹ Neither let vs tempt^m Christ, as some of them also tempted him, and * were destroyed of Serpents.

¹⁰ Neither murmure ye, as some of them * also murmured, and were destroyed of the destroyer.

¹¹ Now all these things came vnto them for enamples, and were written to admonish vs, vpon whom theⁿ * endes of the world are come.

¹² * Wherefore, let him that thinketh hee standeth, take heed lest he fall.

¹³ There hath no temptation taken you, but such as appertaine to^o man: and God is faithfull, which will not suffer you to bee tempted aboue that you be able, but will euen^p giue the issue with the temptation, that ye may be able to beare it.

¹⁴ Wherefore my beloved, flee from idolatrie.

¹⁵ * I speake as vnto them which haue vnderstanding: iudge ye what I say.

¹⁶ The cup of^q blessing which we blesse, is it not the^r communion of the blood of Christ?

The bread which we breake, is it not the communion of the body of Christ?

¹⁷ For we that are many, are one bread and one body, because we are all partakers of one bread.

¹⁸ Beholde Israel, which^s is after the^t flesh: are not they which eat of the sacrifices^u partakers of the altar?

¹⁹ What say I then? that the idole is any thing? or that that which is sacrificed to idoles, is any thing?

²⁰ Nay, but that these things which the Gentiles sacrifice, they sacrifice to deuils, and not vnto God: and I would not that ye should haue^v fellowship with the deuils.

²¹ Ye cannot drinke the cup of the Lorde, and the^w cup of the deuils. Ye cannot be partakers of the Lords Table, and of the table of the deuils.

²² Doe we prouoke the Lord to anger? are we stronger then he?

²³ * All things are lawfull for me, but all things are not expedient: all things are lawfull for me, but all things edifie not.

²⁴ Let no man seeke his owne, but euery man anothers wealth.

²⁵ * Whatsoeuer is solde in the^x shambles, eat ye, and aske no question for conscience sake.

²⁶ * For the earth^y is the Lords, and * all that therein is.

²⁷ If any of them which beleue not, call you to a feast, and if yee will goe, whatsoeuer is set before you, eat, asking no question for conscience sake.

²⁸ But if any man say vnto you, This is sacrificed vnto idoles, eate it not, because of him that shewed it, and for the conscience (for the earth^z is the Lords, & all that therein is)

²⁹ And the conscience, I say, not thine, but of that other: * for why should my libertie bee condemned of another mans conscience?

³⁰ For if I through Gods^{aa} benefit be partaker, why am I euill spoken of, for that wherefore I giue thanks?

³¹ * Whether therefore yee eate or drinke, or whatsoeuer yee doe, doe all to the glorie of God.

³² Giue none offence, neither to the Iewes, nor to the Grecians, nor to the Church of God:

³³ Euen as I please all men in all things, not seeking mine owne profit, but the profit of many, that they might be saved.

^p That is, as yet obscure their ceremonies.

^q Are confining and gualtie both of that worship and sacrifice.

^r Haue any thing to doe with the deuils, or enter into that society which is begun in the deuils name.

^s The heathen and prophane people were wont to flay up and make an ende of their feasts which they kept to the honour of their gods, in offering meat offering and drinke offering to them, with banquets and feasting.

^t Chap. 6. 12.

^u Comming to another kinde of things offered to idoles, he repeateth that general rule, that in the vse of things indifferent, we ought to haue consideration not of our selues only but of our neighbours, and therefore there are many things which of themselves are lawfull, which may be euill done

^v vs, because of offence to our neighbour.

^w Look afore chap. 6. 13.

^x An applying of the rule to the present matter: Whatsoeuer is sold in the shambles, you may indifferently buy it as it were at the Lords hand, and eate it either at home with the faithful, or being called home to the vnfaithfull, to wit, in a priuate banquet: but yet with this exception, vnto

^y any man be present which is weak, whose conscience may be offended by setting meares offered to idoles before them: for then you ought to haue consideration of their weaknesse.

^z The flesh that was sacrificed, was used to be sold in the shambles, and the price returned to the Priests. ^{aa} Psal. 24. 1. * All these things whereof it is said.

⁸ A reason: for we must take heed that our liberty be not euill spoken of, and that the benefit of God which we ought to vse with thanksgiving be not changed into impiety, & that through our fault, if we chuse rather to offend the conscience of the weak, then to yeeld a little of our libertie in a matter of no importance, & so giue occasion to the weak to iudge in such sort of vs, & of Christian liberty. And the Apostle caution to the weak to iudge in such sort of vs, & of Christian liberty. And the Apostle caution to the weak to iudge in such sort of vs, & of Christian liberty. And the Apostle caution to the weak to iudge in such sort of vs, & of Christian liberty.

C H A P. XI.

1 Hee blameth the Corinthians for that in their holy assemblies, 4 men do pray hauing their heads couered, 6 and women bare headed, and because their meetings tended to euill, 21 who mingled prophane bankets with the holy Supper of the Lord, 23 which hee requirerh to be celebrated according to Christs institution.

BE yee followers of mee, euen as I am of Christ.

2 Now brethren, I commend you, that yee remember all my things, and keepe the ordinances, as I deliuered them to you.

3 But I will that yee know, that Christ is the * head of euery man : and the man is the womans head : and God is * Christs head.

4 Euery^b man praying or prophecyng hauing any thing on his head, dishonoureth his head.

5 But euery woman that prayeth or prophecieth bare headed, dishonoureth her head, for it is euen one very thing, as though shee were shauen.

6 Therefore if the woman bee not couered, let her also bee shorne and if it bee shame for a woman to be shorne or shauen, let her bee couered.

7 For a man ought tot to couer his head : for as much as hee is the * image and glorie of God : but the woman is the glorie of the man.

8 For the man is not of the woman, but the woman of the man.

9 For the man was not created for the womans sake : but the woman for the mans sake.

10 Therefore ought the woman to haue power on her head, because of the¹⁰ Angels.

11 Neuertheless, neither is the man without the woman, neither the woman without the man^d in the Lord.

12 For as the woman is of the man, so is the man also by the woman : but all things are of God.

13 Iudge in your selues, Is it comely that a woman pray vnto God vncouered ?

14 Doeth not nature it selfe teach you, that if a man haue long haire, it is a shame vnto him ?

15 But if a woman haue long haire, it is a praise vnto her : for her haire is giuen her for a^c couering.

16 But if any man lust to be contentious, wee haue no such custome, neither the Churches of God.

17 ¶ Now in this that I declare, I prayse you not, that yee come together, not with profit, but with hurt.

18 For first of all, when yee come together in the Church, I heare that there are dissensions among you : and I belecue it to be true in some part.

19 For there must be heresies euen among you, that they which are^a approoued among you, might be knowne.

20 When yee come together therefore into one place, this is not to eat the Lords Supper.

21 For euery man when they should eate, taketh his owne supper^b afore, and one is hungry, and another is drunken.

22 Haue yee not houses to eate and to drinke in? despise yee the Church of God, and shame them that haue not? what shall I say to you? shall I prayse you in this? I prayse you not.

23 For I haue receiued of the Lord that which I also haue deliuered vnto you, to wit, That the Lord Iesus in the night when hee was betrayed, tooke bread :

24 And when hee had giuen thanks, hee brake it and sayd, Take, eate : This is my body, which is broken for you : this doe yee in remembrance of me.

25 After the same maner also hee tooke the cup, when hee had supped, saying This cup is the New Testament in my blood : this doe as oft as ye drinke it, in remembrance of me.

26 For as often as yee shall eate this bread, and drinke this cup, ye shew the Lords death till he come.

27 Wherefore, whosoeuer shall eate this bread, and drinke the cup of the Lord^k vnworloue feastes, for their abuse, although they had bene a long time, and with commendation vsed in churches, and were appointed and instituted by the Apostles.

28 We must take a true forme of keeing the Lords Supper, out of the institution of it, the parts whereof are : first, touching the Pastours, to shew forth the Lords death by preaching his word : to blesse the bread and the wine by calling vpon the Name of God, and together with prayers to declare the institution thereof, and finally to deliuer the bread broken to be eaten, and the cup receiued to bee drunke with thanksgiving. And touching the flocke, that euery man examine himselfe that is to say, to proue both his knowledge, and also faith, and repentance : to shew forth the Lords death, that is, in true faith to yeeld vnto his word and institution : and last of all, to take the bread at the Ministers hand, and to eate it and to drinke the wine, and giue God thanks : This was Pauls and the Apostles maner of ministring. 1 Cor. 10. 16. make 14. 22. luke 22. 19. i Thimothy (Broken) noteth out vnto Christ his maner of death, for although his legges were not broken, as the others legges were, yet was his body very sore tormented, and torne, and bruised. 19 Whosoeuer contemne the holy Sacraments, that is, vse them not aright, are guiltie not of the bread and wine, but of the thing it selfe, that is, of Christ, and shall bee grievously punished for it. k O whosoever then meete in such mysteries should be handled.

12 He vrgeth the argument taken from the common sense of nature.
13 To be a coming forth, and such a covering, as should procure another.
14 Against such as are stubbornly contentious, we haue to oppose this, that the Churches of God are not contentious.
15 He passeth now to the next Treatise concerning the right administration of the Lords Supper. And the Apostle vseth this sharper preface, that the Corinthians might vnderstand, that whereas they obserued generally the Apostles commandments, yet they souly neglected them in a matter of great importance.
16 To celebrate the Lords Supper aright, it is requisite that there be not onely consent of doctrine, but also of affections, that it be not prophaned.
17 Although that schismes and heresies proceed from the deuil, and are euill, yet they come not by chance, nor with out cause, & they turne to the profit of the elect.
18 Whom experience hath taught to be of sound religion and godlines.
19 This was a usual kind of speech whereby the Apostle denoth that flattery, which many did not well.
20 Eateth his meate and drinketh not till others come.
21 The Apostle thinketh it good to take away the loue feastes, for their abuse, although they had bene a long time, and with commendation vsed in churches, and were appointed and instituted by the Apostles.
22 We must take a true forme of keeing the Lords Supper, out of the institution of it, the parts whereof are : first, touching the Pastours, to shew forth the Lords death by preaching his word : to blesse the bread and the wine by calling vpon the Name of God, and together with prayers to declare the institution thereof, and finally to deliuer the bread broken to be eaten, and the cup receiued to bee drunke with thanksgiving. And touching the flocke, that euery man examine himselfe that is to say, to proue both his knowledge, and also faith, and repentance : to shew forth the Lords death, that is, in true faith to yeeld vnto his word and institution : and last of all, to take the bread at the Ministers hand, and to eate it and to drinke the wine, and giue God thanks : This was Pauls and the Apostles maner of ministring. 1 Cor. 10. 16. make 14. 22. luke 22. 19. i Thimothy (Broken) noteth out vnto Christ his maner of death, for although his legges were not broken, as the others legges were, yet was his body very sore tormented, and torne, and bruised. 19 Whosoeuer contemne the holy Sacraments, that is, vse them not aright, are guiltie not of the bread and wine, but of the thing it selfe, that is, of Christ, and shall bee grievously punished for it. k O whosoever then meete in such mysteries should be handled.

Vuuu thily,

thily, shall bee guiltie of the body and blood of the Lord.

28 *²⁰ Let every man therefore examine himselfe, and so let him eate of this bread, and drinke of this cup.

29 For he that eareth and drinketh vnworthily, eateth and drinketh his owne damnation, because he discerneth not the Lords body.

30 For this cause many are weake, and sicke among you, and many sleepe.

31 For if we would iudge our selues, we should not be iudged.

32 But when we are iudged, we are chastened of the Lord, because wee should not be condemned with the world.

33 Wherefore, my brethren, when yee come together to eate, tary one for another.

34 And if any man bee hungry, let him eate at home, that yee come not together vnto condemnation. Other things will I set in order when I come.

* 2. Cor. 13. 5. 20 The examination of a mans selfe, is of necessity required in the Supper, and therefore they ought not to be admitted vnto it, which cannot examine themselves: as children, furious and mad men, also such as either haue no knowledge of Christ, or not sufficient, although they profess Christian religion and others such like. 1 This place beareth downe the faith of creditt, or vnwrapp'd faith, which the Papists maintain. 20 Hee is said to discern the Lords body, that hath consideration of the worthinesse of it, and therefore cometh to eate of this meate with great reverence. 21 The prophaning of the body and blood of the Lord in his mysteries, is sharply punished of him, and therefore such a mischief ought diligently to be prevented by iudging and correcting of a mans selfe. 22 Trye and examine our selues, by faith and repentance, separating our selues from the wicked. 23 The Supper of the Lord is a common action of the whole Church and therefore there is no place for priuate suppers. 24 The Supper of the Lord was instituted not to feede the belly but to feede the soule with the communion of Christ, and therefore it ought to be separated from common banquetes. 24 Such things as pertaine to order, as place, time, forme of prayers, and other such like, the Apostle tooke order for in Congregations, according to the consideration of times, places and persons.

CHAP. XII.

1 To draw away the Corinthians from contention and pride, hee sheweth that spirituall gifts are therefore diuersly bestowed, 7 that the same being ioyntly to each other employed, 12 wee may growe vp together into one body of Christ in such equall proportion and measure, 20 as the members of mans body.

3 Now hee entrencheth into a third part of this treatise touching the right vse of spirituall gifts, wherein hee giueth the Corinthians plainly to vnderstand that they abused them: for they that excelled bragged ambitiously of them, and so robbed God of the praise of his gifts: and hauing no consideration of their brethren, abused them to a vaine ostentation, and so robbed the Church of the vse of those gifts.

Now concerning spirituall gifts, brethren, I would not haue you ignorant.

2 Ye know that ye were Gentiles, and were caried away vnto the dumme Idols, as ye were led.

3 Wherefore, I declare vnto you, that no man speaking by the Spirit of God calleth Iesus ^c execrable: also no man can say that Iesus is the Lord, but by the holy Ghost.

4 Now there are diuersities of gifts, but the same Spirit.

5 And there are diuersities of administrations, but the same Lord.

6 And there are diuersities of operations, but God is the same which worketh all in all.

7 But the manifestation of the Spirit is

On the other side the inferiour sort enuied the better, and went about to make a departure, so that all that body was as it were scattered and rent in pieces. So then hee going about to remedie these abuses willett them first to consider diligently that they haue not these gifts of themselves, but from the free grace and liberalltie of God, to whose glory they ought to bestow them all. 1 Ignorant to what purpose these gifts are giuen you. 2 Hee reproveth the same by comparing their forme of state with that wherein they were at this time indued, with those excellent gifts. 3 As touching Gods seruice and the covenant, mere strangers. 3 The conclusion: Know you therefore that you cannot so much as moue your lips to honour Christ withall, but by the grace of the holy Ghost. 4 Marke 9. 39. 5 Iohn 13. 13, chap. 8. 6. phil. 2. 11. 6 Doth enue him, or by any means what power diminish his glorie. 4 In the second place, he layeth another foundation, to wit, that these gifts are diuers, as the functions also are diuers and their offices diuers, but that one selfe same Spirit, Lord and God is the giuer of all these gifts, and that to one end, to wit, for the profit of all. 4 The Spirit is plainly distinguished from the gifts. 5 So Paul calleth this inward force which cometh from the holy Ghost, & maketh men fit to wonderful things.

8 For to one is giuen by the Spirit the word of wisdom: and to another the word of knowledge, by the same Spirit:

9 An to another is giuen faith by the same Spirit: and to another the gifts of healing, by the same Spirit:

10 And to another the operations of great workes: and to another, prophecie: and to another, the discerning of spirits: and to another diuersities of tongues: and to another, the interpretation of tongues.

11 And all these things worketh one and the selfe same Spirit, distributing to euery man feuerally as he will.

12 For as the body is one, and hath many members, and all the members of the body, which is one, though they bee many, yet are but one body: euen so is Christ.

13 For by one Spirit wee are all baptized into one body, whether wee bee Iewes or Grecians, whether we be bond or free, and haue bene all made to drinke into one Spirit.

14 For the body also is not one member, but many.

15 If the foote would say, Because I am not the hand, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body?

16 And if the eare would say, Because I am not the eye, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body?

17 If the whole body were an eye, where were the hearing? If the whole were hearing, where were the smelling?

18 But now hath God disposed the members euery one of them in the body at his owne pleasure.

19 For if they were all one member, where were the body?

20 But now are there many members, yet but one body

ter passed Philip in discovering Simon Magus, Acts 8. 20. Rom. 12. 3. ephe. 4. 7. 6 Hee addeth moreover somewhat else, to wit, that although that these gifts are vnequall, yet they are most wisely diuided, because the will of the Spirit of God is the rule of this distribution. 7 Hee setteth forth his former saying by a similitude taken from the body: This faith hee, is manifestly seene in the body, whose members are diuers, but yet so knit together, that they make but one bodie. 8 The applying of the similitude. So must we also thinke, faith hee, of the myssicall body of Christ: for all wee that beleue, whether we bee Iewes or Gentiles are by one selfe same Baptisme, ioyn'd together with our head, that by that meanes, there may be framed one body compact of many members: and wee haue drunke one selfe same spiritt, that is to say, a spirituall feeling, perceiuance and motion common to vs all out of one cup. 9 Christ ioyn'd together with his Church. 10 To become one body with Christ. 11 By one quickning drinke of the Lords blood, we are made partakers of his sweetly Spirit. 12 Hee amplifieth that which followed of the similitude: as it hee should say, The vnitie of the body is not onely not let by this diuersitie of members, but also it could not be a body, if it did not consist of many, and those diuers members. 13 Now hee buildeth his doctrine vpon the foundations which hee hath layde: and first of all hee continueth in his purposed similitude, and afterward hee goeth to the matter barely and simply. And first of all hee speaketh vnto them which would haue separated themselves from those whom they enuied, because they had not such excellent gifts as they: now this is, faith hee, as if the foote should say, it were not of the body, because it is not the hand, or the eare, because it is not the eye. Therefore all parts ought rather to defend the vnitie of the body, he sheweth them that together to serue one the other. 14 Again speaking to them, he sheweth them that if that should come to passe which they desire, to wit, that all should be equal one to another, there would follow a destruction of the whole bodie, yea and of themselves: for it could not be a body, vnlesse it were made of many members knit together, and diuers one from the other. And that no man might finde fault with this diuision as vnequall, hee addeth that God himselfe hath coupled all these together. Therefore all must remaine coupled together, that the bodie may remaine in safetie.

20 Now on the other side, hee speaketh vnto them which were indited with more excellent gifts, willing them not to despise the lesser gifts, as vnprofitable, and as though they serued to no vnder God faith hee hath in such sort tempered this inequalitye, that the more excellent and beautiful members can in no wise lacke the more abject and such as we are ashamed of, and that they should haue more care to serue vnto them, and to couer them, that by this means the necessity which is on both parts, might keepe the whole body in peace and concord: that although if each part be considered apart, they are of diuers degrees and conditions, yet because they are ioyned together, they haue a commonitie both in commoditie and incommodities.

21 And the eye cannot say vnto the hand, I haue no neede of thee: nor the head againe to the feete, I haue no need of you.

22 Yea, much rather those members of the body, which seeme to be more feeble, are necessarie.

23 And vpon those members of the body, which we thinke most vn honest, put wee more honestie on: and our vncomely parts haue more comelinesse on.

24 For our comely parts neede it not: but God hath tempered the body together, and hath giuen the more honour to that part which lacked,

25 Left there should be any diuision in the body: but that the members should haue the same care one for another.

26 Therefore if one member suffer, all suffer with it: if one member be had in honour, all the members reioyce with it.

27 Now yee are the body of Christ; and members for your part.

28 And God hath ordeined some in the Church: as first Apostles, secondly Prophets, thirdly teachers, then them that doe miracles: after that, the gifts of healing, helpers, gouernours, diuersitie of tongues.

29 Are all Apostles? are all Prophets? are all teachers?

30 Are all doers of miracles? haue all the gifts of healing? doe all speake with tongues? doe all interpret?

31 But desire you the best gifts, and I will yet shew you a more excellent way.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Hee sheweth that there are no gifts so excellent, which in Gods sight are not corrupt, if Charitie bee away: 4 and therefore he digresseth vnto the commendation of it.

Though I speake with the tongues of men and Angels, and haue not loue, I am as sounding brasse, or a tinkling cymball.

2 And though I had the gift of prophecie, and knew all secrets and all knowledge, yea if I had all faith, so that I could remooue mountains, and had not loue, I were nothing.

3 And though I feed the poore with all my goods, and though I giue my body, that I bee burned, and haue not loue, it profiteth me nothing.

4 For if these gifts be but to Gods glory, and the profit of the Church as is before proued? so that those gifts without Charitie, haue no right vse. a A very earnest kinde of amplifying a matter, as if hee said, If there were any tongues of Angels, and I had them, and did use them to the benefit of my neighbour, it were nothing else but a vaine and prating kinde of babbling. b That giueth a ruse and no certain sound. c By faith he meaneth the gift of doing miracles, and not that faith which iustificth, which can not be void of Charitie as the other may. d Matthe. 17. 20.

4 Loue suffereth long: it is bountifull: loue enuieth not: loue doeth not boast it selfe: it is not puffed vp:

5 It doeth no vncomely thing: it seeketh not her owne things: it is not prouoked to anger: it thinketh not euill:

6 It reioyceth not in iniquitie, but reioyceth in the truth:

7 It suffereth all things: it beleeueth all things: it hopeth all things: it endureth all things.

8 Loue doth neuer fall away, though that prophecies bee abolished, or the tongues cease, or knowledge vanish away.

9 For we know in part, and wee prophesie in part:

10 But when that which is perfect is come, then that which is in part, shall be abolished.

11 When I was a child, I spake as a child, I vnderstood as a child, I thought as a child: but when I became a man, I put away childish things.

12 For now we see through a glasse darkly: but then shall we see face to face. Now I know in part: but then shall I know euen as I am known.

13 And now abideth faith, hope & loue, euen these three: but the chiefeft of these is loue.

live here, shall haue no place in the world to come. 2 The way to get knowledge by prophesying. 3 The reason: because we are now in that state that we haue neede to learne daily, and therefore we haue need of those helpees, to wit, of the gift of tongues, and knowledge, & also of them that teach them. But to what purpose sette they then, when we haue obtained and gotten the full knowledge of God, which serue now but for them, which are imperfect and goe by degrees to perfection? 4 We learne imperfectly. 5 He leteeth forth that, that hee said, by an excellent similitude, comparing this life to our infancy, or childhood, wherein we stagger and stammer rather than speake, and thinke and vnderstand childish things, and therefore haue neede of such things as may forme and frame our tongue and minde: but when we become men, to what purpose should wee desire that stammering, those childish toys, and such like things, whereby our childhood is framed by little and little? 6 The applying of the similitude of our childhood to this present life, wherein wee darkly beheld heauenly things, according to the small measure of light which is giuen vs, through the vnderstanding of tongues, and hearing the teachers and ministers of the Church: of our mans age and strength, to that heauenly and eternal life, wherein when wee behold God himselfe present, and are lightened with his full and perfect light, to what purpose should wee desire the voice of man, and those worldly things which are most imperfect? But yet then, shall all the Saints bee knit both with God, and betweene themselves with most seruent loue, and therefore Charitie shall not bee abolished but perfected, although it shall not bee shewed forth and entertained by such manner of duties as peculiarly and onely belong to the infirmities of this life. 7 All this must bee vnderstood by comparison. 8 The conclusion: As if the Apostle should say, Such therefore shall bee our condition then: but now wee haue three things, and they remaine sure if wee bee Christs, as without which, true religion cannot consist, to wit, faith hope, and charitie. And among these, Charitie is the chiefeft, because it ceaseth not in the life to come as the rest doe, but is perfected and accomplished. For seeing that faith and hope tend to things which are promised and are to come, when wee haue presently gotten them, to what purpose should wee haue faith and hope? but yet there at length shall wee truly and perfectly loue both God, and one another.

CHAP. XIII.

1 He commendeth the gift of prophesying: 7 and by a similitude taken of the musicall instruments, 12 hee teacheth the true vse of interpreting the Scriptures: 17 he taketh away the abuse: 34 and forbiddeth women to speake in the Congregation.

Follow after loue, and couet spiritual gifts, and rather that yee may a prophecie.

fore seeing charitie is the chiefeft of all, before all things set it before you as chiefe and principall: and so esteeme those things as most excellent, which profre the greater part of men: (as prophecie, that is to say, the gift of teaching and applying the doctrine which was contained in respect of other gifts, although it bee the chiefeft and most necessarie for the Church) and not those which for a shew seeme to bee marueilous, as the gifts of tongues, when a man was suddenly indued with the knowledge of many tongues, which made men greatly amazed and yet of it selfe was not greatly to any vse, vntill there were an interpreter. a What prophesie, he sheweth in the third vsse.

² He reprehendeth their peruerse judgement touching the gift of tongues. For why was it giuen? to wit, to the intent that the mysteries of God might be better knowne to a greater sort. Thereby it is euident that propheticie, whereunto the gift of tongues ought to serue, is better then this: and therefore the Corinthians did iudge amisse, in that they made more account of the gift of tongues then of propheticie: because forthwith the gift of tongues was a thing more to be bragged of. And hereupon followed another abuse of the gift of tongues, in that the Corinthians vsed tongues in the congregation without an interpreter. Which thing although it might be done to some profit of him that spake them, yet hee corrupted the right vse of that gift because there came thereby no profit to the hearers: and common assemblies were instituted and appointed not for any priuate mans commoditie, but for the profit of the whole company.

³ A strange language which no man can vnderstand without an interpreter.

⁴ By that inspiration which he hath receiued of the Spirit, which notwithstanding he abusethe, when he speaketh mysteries which none of the company can vnderstand.

⁵ Which may further men in the study of godlinesse.

⁶ The company.

2 For he that speaketh a strange tongue, speaketh not vnto men, but vnto God: for no man heareth him: howbeit in the Spirit hee speaketh secret things.

3 But he that prophesieth, speaketh vnto men to edifying, and to exhortation, and to comfort.

4 He that speaketh strange language, edifieth himselfe: but he that prophesieth, edifieth the Church.

5 I would that yee all spake strange languages, but rather that yee prophesied: for greater is hee that prophesieth, then hee that speaketh diuers tongues, except he expound it, that the Church may receiue edification.

6 And now, brethren, if I come vnto you speaking diuers tongues, what shall I profite you, except I speake to you, either by reuelation, or by knowledge, or by prophesying, or by doctrine?

7 Moreover, things without life giue a sound, whether it be a pipe or an harpe, except they make a distinction in the sounds, how shall it bee knowne what is piped or harped?

8 And also if the trumpet giue an vncertaine sound, who shall prepare himselfe to battell?

9 So likewise you, by the tongue, except yee vtter words that haue signification, how shall it bee vnderstood what is spoken? for yee shall speake in the ayre.

10 There are so many kinds of voices (as it commeth to passe) in the world, and none of them is diuine.

11 Except I know then the power of the voice, I shall bee vnto him that speaketh a barbarian, and he that speaketh shall be a barbarian vnto me.

12 Euen so, forasmuch as yee couet spirituall gifts, seeke that yee may excell vnto the edifying of the Church.

13 Wherefore let him that speaketh a strange tongue, pray that he may interpret.

14 For if I pray in a strange tongue, my spirit prayeth: but mine vnderstanding is without fruit.

15 What is it then? I will pray with the spirit, but I will pray with the vnderstanding also: I will sing with the spirit, but I will sing with the vnderstanding also.

16 Else, when thou blestest with the spirit, how shall hee that occupieth the roome of the vnclearned, say Amen, at thy giuing of thanks, seeing hee knoweth not what thou sayest?

17 For thou verily giuest thanks well, but the other is not edified.

18 I thanke my God, I speake languages more then ye all.

19 Yet had I rather in the Church to speake a few words with mine vnderstanding, than I might also instruct others, then ten thousand words in a strange tongue.

20 Brethren, be not children in vnderstanding, but as concerning maliciousefne be children, but in vnderstanding be of a ripe age.

21 In the Law it is written, By men of other tongues, and by other languages will I speake vnto this people: yet so shall they not heare me, saith the Lord.

22 Wherefore strange tongues are for a signe, not to them that beleeue, but to them that beleeue not: but prophesying serueth not for them that beleeue not, but for them which beleeue.

23 If therefore when the whole Church is come together in one, and all speake strange tongues, there come in they that are vnclearned, or they which beleeue not, will they not say, that yee are out of your wits?

24 But if all propheticie, and there come in one that beleeueth not, or one vnclearned, hee is rebuked of all men, and is iudged of all,

25 And so are the secrets of his heart made manifest, and so he will fall downe on his face and worship God, and say plainly that God is in you indeed.

26 What is to bee done then, brethren? when ye come together, according as euery one of you hath a Psalme, or hath doctrine, or hath a tongue, or hath reuelation, or hath interpretation, let all things be done vnto edifying.

27 If any man speake a strange tongue let it be by two, or at the most, by three, and that by course, and let one interpret.

28 But if there bee no interpreter, let him keepe silence in the Church which speaketh languages, and let him speake to himselfe, and to God.

29 Let the Prophets speake, two or three, and let the other iudge.

pretation of Scripture) and that that which is spoken be by that meanes vnderstood of the hearers. 11 Another argument: the gift of tongues without propheticie is not onely vnprofitable to the faithfull, but also doeth very much hurt: as well to them as to the vnfaitfull which should be won in the publike assemblies. For by this meanes it commeth to passe, that the faithfull seeme to other to bee mad, much lesse can the vnfaitfull be instructed thereby. 12 The conclusion: The edifying of the congregation is a rule and square of the right vse of all spirituall gifts, fying of the congregation is a rule and square of the right vse of all spirituall gifts, at the most for three, to vse the gift of tongues, one after another in an assembly, so that there be some to expound the same: but if there be none to expound, let him that hath that gift, speake to himselfe alone. 13 The manner of prophesying: Let two or three propound, and let the other iudge of that that is propounded, whether it be agreeable to the word of God or no: If in this examination the Lord giue any man ought to speake, let them giue him leave to speake. Let euery man be admitted to propheticie, uerally and in his order, so farre forth as it is requisite for the edifying of the Church: Let them be content to be subiect each to others iudgement.

30 And if any thing be reueiled to another that fifteth by, let the first hold his peace.

31 For yee may all prophetic one by one, that all may learne, and all may haue comfort.

32 And the spirits of the Prophets are subiect to the Prophets.

33 For God is not the author of confusion, but of peace, as yee see in all the Churches of the Saints.

34 Let your women keepe silence in the Churches: for it is not permitted vnto them to speake, but they ought to be subiect, as also the Law saith.

35 And if they will learne any thing, let them aske their husbands at home: for it is a shame for a woman to speake in the Church.

36 Came the word of God out from you? either came it vnto you onely?

37 If any man thinke himselfe to bee a Prophet, or spirituall, let him acknowledge, that the things that I write vnto you, are the commandements of the Lord.

38 And if any man bee ignorant, let him be ignorant.

39 Wherefore, brethren, couet to prophetic, and forbid not to speake languages.

40 Let all things bee done honestly, and by order.

Prophetic ought simply to be retained and kept in Congregations, the gift of tongues is not to be forbidden, but all things must be done orderly.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Gospel that Paul preached. 3 The death and resurrection of Christ. 8 Paul saw Christ. 9 He had persecuted that Church, whereof afterward hee was made a minister. 12 Christ first rose againe, and we all shall rise by him. 26 The last enemy, death. 29 To be baptized for dead. 33 As Ephesus Paul fought with beasts. 35 How the dead are raised. 45 The first Adam. The last Adam. 47 The first and second man. 51 We shall all be changed, wee shall not all sleepe. 55 Deaths sting. 57 Victorie. 58 Constance and steadfastnesse.

Moreouer brethren, I declare vnto you the Gospel, which I preached vnto you, which yee haue also receiued, and wherein yee continue,

2 And whereby yee are saved, if yee keepe in memory, after what maner I preached it vnto you, except yee haue beleued in vaine.

3 For first of all, I deliuered vnto you that which I receiued, how that Christ died for our finnes, according to the Scriptures,

4 And that hee was buried, and that hee arose the third day, according to the Scriptures,

5 And that he was seene of Cephas, then of the twelue.

6 After that, hee was seene of more then fiftie hundred brethren at once: whereof many remaine vnto this present, and some also are asleepe.

7 After that, he was seene of Iames: then of all the Apostles.

8 And last of all he was seene also of me, as of one borne out of due time.

9 For I am the least of the Apostles, which am not meete to be called an Apostle, because I persecuted the Church of God.

10 But by the grace of God, I am that I am: and his grace which is in mee, was not in vaine: but I laboured more abundantly then they all: yet not I, but the grace of God which is with me.

11 Wherefore, whether it were I, or they, so we preach, and so haue ye beleued.

12 ¶ Now if it be preached, that Christ is risen from the dead, how say some among you, that there is no resurrection of the dead?

13 For if there bee no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not risen:

14 And if Christ bee not risen, then is our preaching vaine, and your faith is also vaine.

15 And we are found also false witnesses of God: for we haue testified of God, that he hath raised vp Christ: whom he hath not raised vp, if so be the dead bee not raised.

16 For if the dead bee not raised, then is Christ not raised.

17 And if Christ be not raised, your faith is vaine: yee are yet in your finnes.

18 And so they which are asleepe in Christ are perished.

19 It in this life onely wee haue hope in Christ, we are of all men the most miserable.

20 But now is Christ risen from the dead, and was made the first fruites of them that slepe.

21 For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead.

22 For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all bee made aliue, away. 7 First, seeing death is the punishment of sinne, in vaine should we beleue that our finnes were forgiven vs, if they remaine: but they doe remaine, if Christ rose not from death. 8 They are yet in their finnes, which are not sanctified, nor haue obtained remission of their sins. 8 Secondly, vnlesse that it be certain that Christ rose againe, all they which died in Christ are perished. So then what profite commeth of faith? 9 The third argument which is also taken from an absurditie: for vnlesse there bee another life, wherein such as trust and beleue in Christ shall bee blessed, they were the most miserable of all creatures, because in this life they are the most miserable. 10 A conclusion of the former argument: Therefore Christ is risen againe. 11 He putteth the last conclusion for the first proposition of the argument that followeth. Christ is risen againe: Therefore shall we the faithfull (for of them hee speaketh) rise againe. Then followeth the first reason of this consequent: for Christ if set fourth vnto vs to bee considered of, not as a private man apart and by himselfe, but as the first fruites: And hee taketh that which was known to all men, to wit, that the whole heape is sanctified in the first fruites. Coloss. 1. 18. reuelat. 1. 5. f. Hee alludeth to the first fruites of corne, the offering wherewith sanctified the rest of the fruites. 12 An other confirmation of the same consequent: for Christ is to bee considered as opposite to Adam, that as from one man Adam, sinne came ouer all, so from one man Christ, life commeth vnto all: that is to say, that all the faithfull, as they die, because by nature they were borne of Adam, so because in Christ they are made the children of God by grace, they are quickened and restored to life by him. Shall rise by the vertue of Christ. 13 Hee doeth two things together: for he sheweth that the resurrection is in such sort common to Christ with all his members, that notwithstanding hee farre passeth them, both in time (for hee was the first that rose againe from the dead) and also in honour, because that from him and in him is all our life and glorie. Then by this occasion hee passeth to the next argument. 1. Thessalonians. 4. 13.

14 The fourth argument wherewith also he confirmeth the other, hath a most sure ground, to wit, because that God must reigne. And this is the manner of his reigne, that the Father will be shewed to be King in his Sonne who was made man, to whom all things are made subiect (the promise, not only except to the ends that the Father may afterward triumph in his Sonne the conquerour. And he maketh two parts of this reigne and domination of the Sonne wherein the Fathers glorie consisteth: to wit, the overcomming of his enemies (whereof some must be deprived of all power, as Satan and all the wicked, he they neuer so proud and mightie, and other must be utterly abolished, as death) and a plaine and full deliuerie of the godly from all enemies, that by this means God may fully set forth the body of the Church cleauing fast vnto their head

24 ¹⁴ Then shall be the end, when hee hath deliuered vp the kingdome to God, euen the Father, when he hath put downe all rule, and all authoritie and power.

25 For he must reigne, till he hath put all his enemies vnder his feete.

26 The last enemy that shall be destroyed, is death.

27 For hee hath put downe all things vnder his feete. (And when hee saith that all things are subdued to him, it is manifest that he is excepted, which did put downe all things vnder him.)

28 And when all things shall be subdued vnto him, then shall the Sonne also himselfe be subiect vnto him, that did subdue all things vnder him, that God may be all in all.

29 Else what shall they doe which are baptized for dead? if the dead rise not at all, why are they then baptized for dead?

30 Way are wee also in iopardie every houre?

31 By our reioicing which I haue in Christ Iesus our Lord, I die daily.

32 If I haue fought with beasties at Ephesus after the manner of men, what aduantage it mee, if the dead be not raised vp?

33 Let vs eate and drinke: for to morrow we shall die.

34 Be not deceiued: euill speakings corrupt good manners.

35 Awake to liue righteously, and sinne not: for some haue not the knowledge of God, I speake this to your shame.

36 But some man will say, How are the Christ, his kingdome and glory, as a King in his subiects. Moreover he putteth the first degree of his kingdome in the resurrection of the Sonne, who is the head: and the perfection, in the full coniunction of the members with the head, which shall be in the latter day. Now all these tend to this purpose, to shew that vntill the dead doe rise againe, neither the Father can be King above all, neither Christ the Lord of all: for neither should the power of Satan and death be overcome, nor the glory of God be full in his Sonne, nor his sonnes in his members. ¹ The shutting up and finishing of all things. ² All his enemies which shall be spoiled of all the power they haue. ³ Psalm 110 2. Acts 2. 34. Heb. 1. 13. and 1. 13. ⁴ Christ is considered here, as he appeared in the forme of a servant, in which respect he ruleth the Church as head, and that because this power was given him of his Father. ⁵ The shutting up of the argument, which is taken from the whole to the part: for if all his enemies shall be put vnder his feet, then must it needs be that death also shall be subdued vnder him. ⁶ Psalm 8. 6. Heb. 2. 8. ⁷ Not because the Sonne was not subiect to his Father before, but because his body, that is to say, the Church which is here in distress, is not yet wholly partaker of his glory, nor yet fully perfect, and also because the bodies of the Saints which be in the graues, shall not be glorified vntill the resurrection: but Christ as he is God, hath vnto subiect to him as his Father hath, but as he is Priest, he is subiect to his Father together with vs. Augustine booke 1. chap. 8. of the Trinitie. ⁸ By this his kind of speech, he set forth an incomprehensible glory which floweth from God, and shall fill all of vs, as we are rayned together with our head, but yet so, that our head shall alwayes reuerse his preeminence. ⁹ The fifth argument taken of the end of Baptisme, to wit, because that they which are baptized, are baptized for dead: that is to say, that they may haue a remedy against death, because that baptisme is a token of regeneration. ¹⁰ They that are baptized to this end and purpose, that death may be put out in them, or to rise againe from the dead, wherof baptisme is a seale. ¹¹ The sixth argument: Vntill there be a resurrection of the dead, why should the Apostles so daily cast themselves into danger of so many deaths? ¹² As though he said, I die daily, as all the miserable I suffer can well witness, which I may truly booke of that I haue suffered amongst you. ¹³ The taking away of an obiection: But thou Paul didst ambitiously, as commonly men are wont to doe, when thou didst fight with beasties at Ephesus: that is very like, saith Paul: for what could that aduantage me, were it not for the glory of eternall life which I hope for? ¹⁴ Not upon any godly motion, nor casting mine eyes vpon God, but caried away with vaine glory, or a certaine headnesse. ¹⁵ 1. Cor. 2. 13. ¹⁶ The seventh argument which dependeth vpon the last: If there be no resurrection of the dead, why doe wee giue our selues to any thing else, saue to eate and drinke? ¹⁷ These are speeches that Epheesus vs. ¹⁸ The conclusion, with a sharpe exhortation, that they take heed of the naughtie companie of certaine: from whence he sheweth that this mischief sprang: warning them to bee wile with subtiltie vnto righteousnesse. ¹⁹ Now that he hath prooued the resurrection, hee discomfitteth their dolourfulness, in that they scoffingly demanded, how it could be that the dead could rise againe, and if they did rise againe, they aske mockingly, what manner of bodies they should haue. Therefore he bendeth the fellowes, which seemed to themselves to be marvellous wile and witte, to be instructed of poore rude husbanden.

deade raised vp? and with what body come they forth?

36 O foole, that which thou sowest, is not quickened, except it die.

37 And that which thou sowest, thou sowest not that body that shall bee, but bare come, as it falleth of wheat, or of some other.

38 But God giueth it a body at his pleasure, euen to euery seede his owne body.

39 All flesh is not the same flesh, but there is one flesh of men, another flesh of beasts, and another of fishes, and another of birds.

40 There are also heavenly bodys, and earthly bodys: but the glory of the heavenly is one, and the glory of the earthly is another.

41 There is another glory of the sunne, another glory of the moone, and another glory of the starres: for one starre differeth from another starre in glory.

42 So also is the resurrection of the dead. The body is sown in corruption, and is raised in incorruption.

43 It is sown in dishonour, and is raised in glory: it is sown in weaknesse, and is raised in power.

44 It is sown a naturall body, and is raised a spirituall body: there is a naturall body, and there is a spirituall bodie.

45 As it is also written, The first man Adam was made a liuing soule: and the last Adam was made a quickning Spirit.

46 Howbeit that was not first which is spirituall: but that which is naturall, and afterward that which is spirituall.

47 The first man is of the earth, earthly: the second man is the Lord from heauen.

48 As is the earthly, such are they that are earthly: and as is the heauenly, such are they also that are heauenly.

49 And as wee haue borne the image of reied either the resurrection of the bodies, or the changing of them into a better state, as a thing impossible, or strange. ¹ Hee maketh three manner of equalities of the bodies being raised: Incorruption, to wit, because they shall be and altogether of a nature that can not be corrupt: Glory, because they shall be adorned with beautes and honour: Power, because they shall continue euertlasting, without meate, drinke, and all other helpe, without which this fraile life cannot keepe it selfe from corruption. ² 1. Cor. 15. 50. ³ 1. Cor. 15. 51. ⁴ 1. Cor. 15. 52. ⁵ 1. the earthly, so shall wee beare the image of the heavenly.

50 This I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherite the kingdome of God, neither doeth corruption inherite incorruption.

51 Beholde, I shew you a secret thing, Wee shall not all sleepe, but wee shall all bee changed.

52 In a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trumpet: for the trumpet shall blow, and the dead shall bee raised vp incorruptible, and we shall be changed.

53 For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortall must put on immortallitie.

54 So when this corruptible hath put on incorruption, an this mortall hath put on immortallitie, then shall be brought to passe the saying that is written, * Death is swallowed vp into victorie.

55 O death where is thy sting? O graue where is thy victorie?

56 The sting of death is sinne: and the strength of sinne is the Law.

57 But thanks be vnto God, which hath giuen vs victorie through our Lorde Iesus Christ.

58 Therefore my beloued brethren, bee yee stedfast, vnmoueable, abundant alwayes in the worke of the Lorde, forasmuch as yee knowe that your labour is not in vaine in the Lord.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Hee exhorteth them to helpe the poore brethren of Hierusalem: 10 Then he commendeth Timotheus, 12 and so with a friendly exhortation, 19 and commendations, endeth the Epistle.

Concerning the gathering for the Saints, as I haue ordained in the Churches of Galatia, so doe ye also.

2 Euery first day of the weeke, let euery one of you put aside by himselfe, and lay vp as God hath prospered him, that then there be no gatherings when I come.

3 And when I am come, whomsoever yee shall allow by letters, them wil I send to bring your liberalitie vnto Hierusalem.

4 And if it be meete that I goe also, they shall goe with me.

5 Now I will come vnto you, after I haue gone through Macedonia (for I will passe through Macedonia)

6 And It may be that I will abide, yea, or winter with you, that yee may bring me on my way, whither soeuer I goe.

7 For I will not see you now in my passage, but I trust to abide a while with you, if the Lord permit.

8 And I will cary at Ephesus vntill Pentecost.

9 For a greate doore and effectual is opened vnto me: and there are many aduersaries.

10 Now if Timotheus come, see that he be without feare with you: for he worketh the worke of the Lord, euen as I doe.

11 Let no man therefore despise him: but conuey him forth in peace, that he may come vnto me, for I looke for him with the brethren.

12 As touching our brother Apollos, I greatly desired him, to come vnto you with the brethren: but his minde was not at all to come at this time: howbeit he will come when he shall haue conuenient time.

13 Watch ye: stand fast in the faith: quite you like men, and be strong.

14 Let all your things be done in loue.

15 Now brethren, I beseech you (ye knowe the house of Stephanas, that it is the first fruits of Achaia, and that they haue giuen themselves to minister vnto the Saints:)

16 That yee bee obedient euen vnto such, and to all that helpe with vs and labour.

17 I am glad of the comming of Stephanas, and Fortunatus, and Achaicus: for they haue supplied the want of you.

18 For they haue comforted my spirit and yours: acknowledge therefore such men.

19 The Churches of Asia salute you: Aquila and Priscilla with the Church that is in their house, salute you greatly in the Lord.

20 All the brethren greet you. Greete yee one another with an holy kisse.

21 The salutation of mee Paul with mine owne hand.

22 If any man loue not the Lord Iesus Christ, let him be had in execration^m maran-atha.

23 The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ bee with you.

24 My loue be with you all in Christ Iesus, Amen.

The first Epistle to the Corinthians, written from Philippi, and sent by Stephanas, and Fortunatus, and Achaicus, and Timotheus.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAUL TO THE CORINTHIANS.

CHAP. I.

1 He beginneth with the praise of afflictions, 8 declaring what he hath suffered in Asia. 10 and how happily God assisted him. 17 Hee saith it was not upon any lightness, when he came according to his promise.

1 See the declaration of such salutations, in the former Epistles.

PAVL an Apostle of Iesus Christ, by the will of God, and our brother Timotheus, to the Church of GOD, which is at Corinthus, with all the Saints which are in all Achaia.

1 Ephes. 1. 3.

2 Pet. 1. 3.

3 He beginneth after this manner with thanksgiving, which notwithstanding (other wise then he was wont) he applyeth to himselfe: beginning his Epistle, with the setting forth of the dignity of his Apostleship, constrained (as it should seeme) by their importunitie which tooke an occasion to despise him, by reason of his miseries. But he answereth, that he is not so afflicted but that his comforts doe exceed his afflictions, shewing the ground of them, even the mercie of God the Father in Iesus Christ.

a To him be praise and glory given.

b Most mercifull.

c The Lord doth comfort vs to this ende and purpose, that we may so much the more fully comfort others.

d The miseries which we suffer for Christ, or which Christ suffereth in us.

2 Grace bee with you and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

3 Blessed bee God, even the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, the Father of mercies, and the God of all comfort.

4 Which comforteth vs in all our tribulation, 3 that we may be able to comfort them which are in any affliction by the comfort wherewith wee our selves are comforted of God.

5 For as the sufferings of Christ abound in vs, so our consolation aboundeth through Christ.

6 And whether wee be afflicted, 4 it is for your consolation and saluation, which is wrought in the induring of the same sufferings which we also suffer: or whether wee be comforted, it is for your consolation and saluation.

7 And our hope is stedfast concerning you, in as much as wee know that as yee are partakers of the sufferings, so shall ye be also of the consolation.

8 For, brethren, we would not have you ignorant of our affliction, which came vnto vs in Asia, how wee were pressed out of measure passing strength, so that wee altogether doubted euen of life.

9 Yea, wee received the sentence of death in our selves, because wee should not trust in our selves, but in God, which raiseth the dead,

10 Who deliuered vs from so great a death, and doeth deliuer vs: in whom wee trust, that yet hereafter hee will deliuer vs,

4 Hee denieth that either his afflictions, wherewith hee was often afflicted, or the consolations which hee received of God, may iustly bee despised, seeing that the Corinthians both ought and might take great occasion to bee confirmed by either of them. d Although saluation be given vs freely, yet because there is a way appointed vs wherby we must come to it, which is the race of an innocent and upright life, which wee must runne, therefore we are said to worke our saluation, Philip. 3. 12. And because it is God onely that of his free good will worketh all things in vs, therefore is hee said to worke the saluation in vs by those selfe same things by which wee must passe to everlasting life, after that wee have once overcome all inconueniences. 5 Hee witnesseth that hee is not onely not ashamed of his afflictions, but that hee desireth also to haue all men know the greatness of them, and also his deliuey from them, although it be not yet perfect. e I knew not at all what to doe, neither did I see by mans helpe which way to save my selfe, f I was resolved within my selfe to die. g From these great dangers.

11 So that ye labour together in prayer for vs, 7 that for the gift bestowed vpon vs for many, thanks may be given by many persons for vs.

12 For our reioycing is this, the testimonie of our conscience, that in simplicitie and godly purentie, and not in fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of God we haue had our conuersation in the world, and most of all to you wards.

13 For wee write none other things vnto you, then that ye reade, or els that ye acknowledge, and I trust ye shall acknowledge vnto the ende.

14 Euen as ye haue acknowledged vs partly, that we are your reioycing, euen as yee are ours, in the day of our Lord Iesus.

15 And in this confidence was I minded first to come vnto you, that yee might haue had a double grace,

16 And to passe by you into Macedonia, and to come againe out of Macedonia vnto you, and to be led forth toward Iudea of you.

17 When I therefore was thus minded, did I vse lightnesse? or minde I those things which I mind, according to the flesh, that with me should be, 9 Yea, yea, and Nay, nay?

18 Yea, God is faithfull, that our worde toward you was not Yea, and Nay.

19 For the Sonne of God Iesus Christ, who was preached among you by vs, that is, by me, and Siluanus, and Timotheus, was not Yea, and Nay: but in him it was Yea.

20 For all the promises of God in him are Yea, and are in him Amen, vnto the glorie of God through vs.

21 And it is God which stablisheth vs with you in Christ, and hath anointed vs.

22 Who hath also sealed vs, and hath giuen the earnest of the spirit in our hearts.

hee that writeth in coloured sort, is rightly said to write otherwise then was read: and thus he sayth the Corinthians shall truly know and like of very well. l Perfectly. m Pauli reioyced in the Lord was, that hee had wonne the Corinthians: and they themselves reioyced in that such an Apostle was their instructor, and taught them so purely and sincerely. n When he shall sit as iudge. o Another benefit. p He putteth away their slander and false report by denying it, and first of all in that that diuers went about to perfwade the Corinthians, that in preaching of the Gospel, Paul agreed not to himselfe: for this was the matter and the cause. q Amen doe which will rashly promise any thing, and change their purpose at every turning of an hand. r That I should say and vsay a thing teaching one selfe same Gospel. s True, and of whose faithfull witness it were horrible wickednesse to doubt. t Hee ioyneth also with himselfe, his fellowes as witness with whom hee fully consented in teaching one selfe same thing, to wit, one selfe same Christ. u Was not diuers and wauering. v That is, in God. w Last of all hee declareth the summe of his doctrine, to wit, that all the promises of saluation are ratified in Christ. x Christ is set forth to exhibite and fulfill them also most assuredly, and without all doubt. y Through our ministration. z Hee attributeth the praise of this constancie, onely to the grace of God, through the holy Ghost, and therewith all concludeth, that they cannot doubt of his faith and his fellowes, without doing iniurie to the Spirit of God, seeing that they themselves doe know all this to bee true. 3 An earnest, is what former is giuento confirme a promise.

14 Now coming to the mar-ter, be weareth that he did not only see lightly after his purpose of coming to them, but that he had come not into them for this cause, that he might not be constrained to deale more sharply with them being present,
then he would.

23 Now I call God for a record vnto my soule, that to spare you, I came not as yet vnto Corinthus;

24 Not that we haue dominion ouer your faith, but wee are helpers of your ioy: for by faith ye stand.

25 He remoueth all suspicion of arrogancia, declaring that he speaketh not as a Lord vnto them, but as a seruant appointed of God to comfort them. He sitteth vpon the top and peak of confidence, which God is author of, against tyrannous iure, and therewithall saith the rule of the Gospel.

26 He excuseth his not coming vnto them, 2. and priuily reprehendeth them. 4. He forweth that such is his affection toward them, 5. that he neuer reioyceth but when they are merrie. 6. Perceiuing the adulterer (whome hee commanded to be deliuered vnto Satan) to repent, hee reioyceth that they forgiue him. 12. He mentioneth his going into Macedonia.

27 I determined thus in my selfe, that I would not come againe to you in heauineffe,

28 For if I make you sorie, who is he then that should make me glad, but the same which is made sorie by me?

29 And I wrote the same thing vnto you, left when I came, I should take heauineffe of them, of whom I ought to reioyce: this confidence haue I in you all, that my ioy is the ioy of you all.

30 For in great affliction, and anguish of heart I wrote vnto you with many teares: not that ye should be made sorie, but that ye might perceiue the loue which I haue, specially vnto you.

31 And if any haue caused sorrow, the same hath not made mee sorie, but partly (left I should more charge him) you all.

32 It is sufficient vnto the same man, that he was rebuked of many.

33 So that now contrariwise yee ought rather to forgiue him, and comfort him, left the same should bee swallowed vp with ouer much heauineffe.

34 Wherefore, I pray you, that you would confirm your loue towards him.

35 For this cause also did I write, that I might know the prooffe of you, whether yee would be obedient in all things.

36 To whom yee forgiue any thing, I forgiue also: for verely if I forgaue any thing, to whom I forgaue it, for your sakes forgaue I it in the fight of Christ,

37 Left Satan should circumuent vs: for we are not ignorant of his enterprises.

38 Furthermore, when I came to Troas to preach Christs Gospel, and a doore was opened vnto me of the Lord,

39 I had no rest in my Spirit, because I found not Titus my brother, but tooke my leau of them, and went away into Maecdonia.

40 That at my entreaty, you would declare by the consent of the whole Church, that you take him againe for a brother. In Truly, and from the heart. 1. Of his mischanceous counsell & deuillish will. 2. He returneth to the confirmation of his Apostleship, & bringeth forth the testimonies, both of his labours, and also of Gods blessing.

14 Now thanks be vnto God, which alwayes maketh vs to triumph in Christ, and ma-keth manifest the sauour of his knowledge by vs in every place.

15 For we are vnto God the sweete sauour of Christ, in them that are saued, and in them which perish.

16 To the one we are the sauour of death,
vnto death: and to the other the sauour of life, vnto life: and who is sufficient for these things?

17 For wee are not as many, which make merchandise of the word of God: but as of sinceritie, but as of God in the sight of God speake we in Christ.

18 Also as a iudge of them that contemne him. 4. Again, he putteth away all suspicion of arrogancia, attributing all things that he did, to the vertue of God, whom hee serueth sincerely, and without all disonest affection: whereof he maketh them witnesses, euen to the 6. verse of the next Chapter. Chap. 4. 2. 1. We doe not handle it craftily, or constantly, or less sincerely then we ought: & he vseth a metaphore, which is taken from backbiters which use to playe the false harlots with what sauer cometh into their hands.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee desireth no other commendation, 3. Then their continuing in the faith. 6. He is a Minister of the letter, but of the Spirit. 8. Hee sheweth the difference of the Lawe and the Gospel. 13. That the brightnesse of the Lawe doeth rather dimme the sight then lighten it: 18
But the Gospell doeth make manifest Gods countenance vnto vs.

Do we begin to praise our selues againe:
For neede we, as some other, epistles of recommendations vnto you, or letters of recommendation from you?

2 Ye are our epistle, written in our hearts, which is vnderstood, and read of all men,

3 In that ye are manifest, to bee the Epistle of Christ, ministered by vs, and written, not with inke, but with the Spirit of the liuing God, not in tables of stone, but in fleshly tables of the heart.

4 And such trust haue we through Christ to God:

5 Not that wee are sufficient of our selues, to thinke anything, as of our selues: but our sufficiencie is of God,

6 Who also hath made vs able ministers of the new Testament, not of the letter, but of the Spirit: for the letter killeth, but the Spirit giueth life.

7 If then the ministracion of death written with letters, and ingrauen in stones, was glorious, so that the children of Israel could not behold the face of Moses, for the glory of his countenance (which glory is done away.)

8 The shynesse and fruit of our ministry. 2. In that we are fit and meete to make other men passakers of so great a grace. 2. He amplifieth his ministerie and his fellowes: that is to say, the ministry of the Gospell comparing it with the ministerie of the Lawe, which he considereth in the person of Moses, by whom the Lawe was giuen: against whom he setteth Christ the Author of the Gospell. Now this comparison is taken from the very substance of the ministry. The Lawe is as it were a writing of it selfe, dead, and without efficacy: but the Gospell, and new Covenant, as it were the verie vertue of God it selfe in renewing, iustifying, and saving of men. The Law propoun-deth death, accusing all men of vnrightrousnesse: The Gospell offereth and giueth righteousnesse and life. The guernance of the Lawe serued for a time to the promise: the Gospell remaineth to the ende of the worlde. Therefore what is the glorie of that in comparacion of the maiestie of this? f. Not of the Lawe, but of the Gos-pell. g. Imprinted and ingrauen: so that by this place we may plainly perceiue, that the Apostle speaketh not of the ceremonies of the Lawe, but euen of the ten commandments.
h. This word, glory, betokeneth a brightnesse, and a maiestie which was bodily in Moses, but spiritually in Christ.

h. He alludeth to the ording of the Priests, and the income of the sacrifice.
i. He denieth ought should be taken away from the dignitie of his Apostleship, because they saue euidently that it was not received with like successe in every place, nay rather very many reiected and defected him, seeing that hee preacheth Christ not only as a Sauour of them that beleue, but also as a iudge of them that contemne him.
4. Again, he putteth away all suspicion of arrogancia, attributing all things that he did, to the vertue of God, whom hee serueth sincerely, and without all disonest affection: whereof he maketh them witnesses, euen to the 6. verse of the next Chapter. Chap. 4. 2. 1. We doe not handle it craftily, or constantly, or less sincerely then we ought: & he vseth a metaphore, which is taken from backbiters which use to playe the false harlots with what sauer cometh into their hands.

a. The Apostle
frameth his speech wisely, that by litle and little, hee may come from the commendation of the person, to the matter in it selfe.
b. Which I tooke
paine to write as it were.
c. By the way, he setteth the vertue of God against the inke wherewith Epistles are commonly written, so sheweth that it was wrought by God.
d. He alludeth by the way, to the comparacion of the outward ministerie of the priesthood of Leui, with the ministerie of the Gospell, and the Apostolicall ministerie, which he handleth afterward more fully.
e. This boldnesse
we shew, and thus gloriously may we boast of the worke.

i Whereby God offereth you, and growth the Spirit, not as a dead thing, but a quickening Spirit, working life. k To wit, of Christ, which being inspired by us, as our words, was are not only not condemned, but also we are crowned as righteous. l The Law, yea, and the ten commandments, their felts, together with Moses, is abolished, if we consider the ministry of Moses appears by itself. m He sheweth wherein standeth this glory of the Gospel, to wit, in that that it set forth plainly and evidently, that which the Law shewed darkly for it sent them that heard it to be healed of Christ, which was to come after that it had wounded them. n Exod. 34. 34. o Hee expoundeth by the way the allegory of Moses his covering, which was a token of the darknesse and weakenesse that is in men, which were rather dilled by the bright shining of the Law then lightened: which covering was taken away by the coming of Christ, who lighteth the hearts, and turneth them to the Lord, that we may be brought from the slavery of this blindness, and set in the libertie of the light by the verue of Christs Spirit. m Into the very bottome of Moses his Ministry. n Christ is that Spirit, which taketh away that covering, by working in our hearts, whereunto also the Law is self called on, though in vain, because it speaketh to dead men, whilst the Spirit quickeneth vs. l John 4. 14. o Going forwards in the allegorie of the covering, he compareth the Gospel to a glasse, which although it be most bright and sparkling, yet doeth it not onely not dafell their eyes, which looke in it as the Law doeth, but also transformeth them with it becomers, so that they also be partakers of the glorie and shining of it, to lighten others: as Christ sayd vnto his. You are the light of the world, whereas he himselfe was the onely light. Wee are also commanded in another place, to shine as candles before the world, because we are partakers of Gods Spirit. But Paul speaketh here properly of the ministers vnto the Gospel, as it appeareth both by that goeth before, and that that commeth after, and that, setting them his owne example and his fellowes.

8 How shall not the ministration of the Spirit be more glorious?

9 For in the ministerie of condemnation glorious, much more doth the ministration of righteousness exceed in glory.

10 For euen that which was glorified, was not glorified in this point, that is, as touching the exceeding glory.

11 For if that which should bee abolished, was glorious, much more shall that which remaineth, be glorious.

12 Seeing then that we haue such trust, we see great boldnesse of speech.

13 And we are not as Moses, which put a vaile vpon his face, that the children of Israel should not looke vnto the end of that which should be abolished.

14 Therefore their minds are hardened: for vntill this day remaineth the same covering vntaken away in the reading of the old Testament, which vaile in Christ is put away.

15 But euen vnto this day, when Moses is read, the vaile is layd ouer their hearts.

16 Nevertheless, when their heart shall be turned to the Lord, the vaile shall be taken away.

17 Now the Lord is the Spirit, & where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is libertie.

18 But wee all behold as in a mirror the glory of the Lord with open face, and are changed into the same image, from glory to glory, as by the Spirit of the Lord.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee sheweth that hee hath so laboured in preaching the Gospel, 4 that such are euen blinded of Satan, who doe not perceiue the brightnesse thereof, 7 that the same is caried in euen vessels, 10 Who are subiect to many, miseries, 16 and therefore hee exhorteth them by his owne example to be courageous, 17 and contemne this present life.

Therefore, seeing that we haue this ministerie, as wee haue receiued mercie, wee faint not:

2 But haue cast from vs the cloakes of shame, and walke not in craftinesse, neither handle wee the word of God deceitfully: but in declaration of the trueth wee approue our selues to euery mans conscience in the sight of God.

1 Now hee plainly witnesseth that both he and his fellowes (through the mercie of God) doe their vocation and duty vprightly and sincerely, neglecting all dangers. a Though we are broken in pieces with miseries and calamities, yet wee yeeld not. b Subtiltie and all kinde of deceit which men haue after, as it were dennes and lurking holes, to cover their shamelesse dealings withall. c This is that in the former Chapter hee called, making wronghead of the word of God.

3 If our Gospel bee then hid, it is hid to them that are lost.

4 In whome the God of this world hath blinded the minds, that is, of the infidels, that the light of the glorious Gospel of Christ, which is the image of God, should not shine vnto them.

5 For wee preach not our selues, but Christ Iesus the Lord, and our selues your seruants for Iesus sake.

6 For God that commanded the light to shine out of darknesse, is he which hath shined in our hearts, to giue the light of the knowledge of the glorie of God in the face of Iesus Christ.

7 But wee haue this treasure in earthen vessels, that the excellencie of that power might be of God, and not of vs.

8 We are afflicted on euery side, yet are we not in distresse: we are in doubt, but yet we despaire not.

9 We are persecuted, but not forsaken: cast downe, but we perish not.

10 Euery where wee beare about in our bodie the dying of our Lord Iesus, that the life of Iesus might bee also made manifest in our bodies.

11 For we which liue, are alwayes deliuered vnto death for Iesus sake, that the life also of Iesus might bee made manifest in our mortall flesh:

12 So then death worketh in vs, and life in you.

13 And because we haue the same spirit of faith, according as it is written, I beleueed, and therefore haue I spoken, wee also beleuee, and therefore speake,

14 Knowing that hee which hath raised vp the Lord Iesus, shall raise vs vp also by Iesus, and shall set vs with you.

15 For all things are for your sakes, that the most plenteous grace by the thanksgiving of many, may redound to the praise of God.

16 Therefore wee faint not, but though way a stumbling blocke, by which was darkened amongst some the bright shining of the ministerie of the Gospel, to wit, because the Apostles were the most miserable of all men. Paul answereth that he and his fellowes are as it were, earthen vessels, but yet there is in them a most precious treasure. 5 He bringeth marvellous reasons, why the Lord doeth so afflict his chiefest seruants, to the end, saith he, that all men may perceiue that they stand not by any mans verue, but by the singular verue of God, in that they die a thousand times, but neuer perish. 6 An amplification of the former sentence, wherein hee compareth his afflictions to a daily death, and the verue of the Spirit of God in Christ, to life, which oppresseth that death. i So Paul calleth that miserable estate and condition, that the faithfull, but especially the ministers are in. k Which liue that life, to wit, by the Spirit of Christ, amongst so many & so great miseries. l Subiect to that miserable condition. 7 A very cunning conclusion: as if he would say, Therefore to be short we die that you may liue by our death, for that they ventured into all those dangers for the building of the Churches sake, and they ceased not to confirme all the faithfull with the examples of their patience. 8 Hee declarerth the former sentence, shewing that he and his fellowes die in a sort, to purchase life to others, but yet notwithstanding they are partakers of the same life with them: because they themselves doe first beleuee that, which they propound to other to beleuee, so wit, that they also shall be saved together with them in Christ. m The same faith, by the inspiration of the same Spirit. n Psal. 116. 10. o Hee sheweth how like sort redound to the glory of God, by the thanksgiving of many. 10 Hee addeth as it were a triumphant song, how that hee is ourwardly afflicted, but inwardly hee profiteth daily: and passeth not at all for all the miseries that may be suffered in this life, in comparison of that most constant and eternall glory.

our outward man perish, yet the inward man is renewed daily.

17 For our flight affliction which is but for a moment, causeth vnto vs a farre more excellent and an eternall waight of glory.

18 While wee looke not on the things which are seene, but on the things which are not seene: for the things which are seene, are temporall: but the things which are not seene, are eternall.

1. Gathering new strength that the outward man be not overcome with the miseries which come firstly one upon the necke of another, being maintained and upholden with the strength of the inward man. 2. Afflictions are not called light, although they were light of themselves, but because they passed away quickly, when as in deede our whole life is of no great long continuance. 3. Which remaineth for ever firme and stable, and can never be shaken.

CHAP. V.

1 Hee continueth in the same argument, 6 touching the certaine hope of saluation 8 through faith, 12 not to praise himselfe, 14 seeing he hath God and his Church before his eyes, 17 and esteemeth nothing, but newnesse of life in Christ.

For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle bee destroyed, wee haue a building giuen of God, that is, an house not made with hands, but eternall in the heaueus.

2 For therefore wee sigh, desiring to be clothed with our house, which is fro heauen.

3 Because that if wee be clothed, we shall not be found naked.

4 For in deede wee that are in this tabernacle, sigh and are burdened, because we would not be vnclodeth, but would be clothed vpon, that mortalitie might be swallowed vp of life.

5 And hee that hath created vs for this thing, is God, who also hath giuen vnto vs the earnest of the Spirit.

6 Therefore wee are alway bold, though we know that whiles we are at home in the bodie, we are absent from the Lord.

7 (For wee walke by faith, and not by sight.)

8 Neuertheless, wee are bolde, and loue rather to remoue out of the body, and to dwell with the Lord.

9 Wherefore also wee couet, that both dwelling at home, and remoouing from home, we may be acceptable to him.

10 For wee must all appeare before the iudgement seate of Christ, that euery man may receiue the things which are done in his bodie according to that he hath done, whether it be good or euill.

15 Knowing therefore that terror of the Lord, we perswade men, and we are made manifest vnto God, and I trust also that wee are made manifest in your consciences.

12 For we praise not our selues againe vnto you, but giue you an occasion to reioyce of vs, that yee may haue to answer against them, which reioyce in the face, and not in the heart.

13 For whether we be out of our wite, wee are it to God: or whether wee be in our right minde, wee are it vnto you.

14 For that loue of Christ constraineth vs,

15 Because wee thus iudge, that if one bee dead for all, then were all dead, and he died for all, that they which liue, should not henceforth liue vnto themselves, but vnto him which died for them, and rose againe.

16 Wherefore, henceforth knowe we no man after the flesh, yea though wee had knowne Christ after the flesh, yet now henceforth knowe we him no more.

17 Therefore if any man bee in Christ, let him be a new creature. * Olde things are passed away: beholde, all things are become newe.

18 And all things are of God, which hath reconciled vs vnto himselfe by Iesus Christ, and hath giuen vnto vs the ministerie of reconciliation.

19 For God was in Christ, and reconciled the world to himselfe, not imputing their sins vnto them, and hath committed to vs the word of reconciliation.

20 Now then are we ambassadors for Christ: as though God did beseech you through vs, wee pray you in Christs stead, that ye be reconciled to God.

21 For hee hath made him to be sinne for vs, which knew no sinne, that wee should be made the righteousnesse of God in him.

whole life, which we haue receiued of him, to him (to wit) being indue with the holy Ghost, to this end and purpose, that we should deliue vpon nothing but that which is heauenly. 1. Possesseth vs wholly. 2. Hee speaketh here of sanctification, whereby is commeth to passe that Christ liueth in vs. 3. Look Rom. chapter 6. and 7. 4. Hee sheweth what it is, not to liue to our selues but to Christ, to wit, to know no man according to the flesh, that is to say, to be conuertant amongst men as not to care for those worldly and carnall things, as they doe which respect a mans stocke, his countrey, forme, glory, riches, and such like, wherein men commonly dote and wearie themselves. 5. An amplification, This is, faith hee, so true, that wee doe not now thinke carnally of Christ himselfe, who hath now left the worlde, and therefore must be considered of vs, spiritually. 6. An exhortation for euery man which is renewed with the spirit of Christ, to meditate heauenly things, and not earthly. 7. As a thing made anew of God, for though a man be not newly created when God giueth him the spirit of regeneration, but onely his qualities are changed, yet notwithstanding is pleased the holy Ghost to speake so, to teach vs that we must attribute all things to the glory of God: not that we are stockes and blockes, but because God createth in vs, both the will to will well, and the power to doe well. 8. Epi. 43. 19. reuelat. 21. 5. 9. Hee commendeth the excellencie of the ministerie of the Gospel, both by the authoritie of God himselfe, who is the author of that ministerie, and also by the excellencie of the doctrine of it: for it announceth atonement with God, by free forgiveness of our sins, and iustificatiou offered vnto vs in Christ, and that so louingly and liberally, that God himselfe doth after a sort pray men by the mouth of his ministers to haue consideration of themselves, and not to despise so great a benefite. And when hee lo saith, he plainly reprehendeth them which falsely challenged to themselves the name of Pastours. 10. Vnto our labour and trauaile. 11. A sinner, not in himselfe, but by imputation of the guilt of all our sinnes to him. 12. Who was cleane void of sinne. 13. Righteous before God, and that with righteousnesse, which is not essentiall to vs, but being essentiall in Christ, God imputeth it to vs through faith.

CHAP.

CHAP. VI.

1 Hee exhorteth them to leade their liues as it becommeth Christians, neither to be dismayed in tribulation, 9 not puffed vp wth glory: 14 to avoid all uncleannesse, 16 considering that they are the temples of the liuing God.

1 Men doe not not onely neede the ministry of the Gospel, before they haue receiued grace that they may be partakers of it, but also after they haue receiued grace that they may continue in it.

2 In that that grace is offered, it is of the grace of God, who hath appointed times & seasons to all things, that wee may take occasion when it is offered.

3 He sheweth the Corinthians a patterne of a true minister in his owne example and Timotheus and Syluanus, to the end, that (as he purposed from the beginning) he might procure authoritie to himselfe and his like.

4 The first of all reckoneth vp those things, which are neither alwayes in the ministers, nor without exception, vnlesse it be according to the affliction of the minde, patience onely except, which also is one of the vertues which ought to be alwayes in a good minister.

5 Secondly hee reckoneth vp such vertues as are necessarie, and ought alwayes to be in them, and whereby as by good armour, all lets and hinderances may be overcome.

6 The opening of the mouth and heart, betokeneth a most earnest affection in him that speaketh, as it saith commonly with them that are in some great joy.

7 Now he rebuketh them boldly, for that they became fellowes with infidels in outward idolatrie, as though it were a thing indifferent. And this is the fourth part of this Epistle, the conclusion whereof is, that such as the Lord hath vouchsafed the name of his children, must keepe themselves pure, not onely in minde, but also in body, that they may wholly bee holy vnto the Lord.

8 He setteth the liuing God against Idoles. 1. Cor. 3. 16. and 6. 19. 1 He setteth the liuing God against Idoles. * Lewis, 26. 11.

SO wee therefore as workers together be. Seech you, that yee receiue not the grace of God in vaine.

2 For hee saith, I haue heard thee in a time accepted, and in the day of saluation haue I succoured thee: beholde now the accepted time, beholde now the day of saluation.

3 We giue no occasion of offence in any thing, that our ministry should not bee reprehended.

4 But in all things we approve our selues as the ministers of God, in much patience, in afflictions, in necessities, in distresses,

5 In stripes, in prisons, in tumults, in labours,

6 By watchings, by fastings, by puritie, by knowledge, by long suffering, by kindnesse, by the holy Ghost, by loue vnfeined,

7 By the word of truth, by the power of God, by the armour of righteousness on the right hand, and on the left,

8 By honour and dishonour, by euil report, and good report, as deceiuers, and yet true:

9 As vnknown, and yet known: as dying, and beholde, wee liue: as chastened, and yet not killed:

10 As sorrowing, and yet alway reioicing: as poore, and yet make many: as hauing nothing, and yet possessing all things.

11 O Corinthians, our mouth is open vnto you: our heart is made large.

12 Ye are not kept strait in vs, but yee are kept strait in your owne bowels.

13 Now for the same recompence, I speake as to my children, Be you also enlarged.

14 Be not vnequally yoked with the infidels: for what fellowship hath righteousness with vnrightheousnesse? and what communion hath light with darkenesse?

15 And what concord hath Christ with Belial? or what part hath the beleener with the Infidell?

16 And what agreement hath the Temple of God with idols? for yee are the Temple of the liuing God: as God hath sayd, I will dwell among them, and walke there: and I will be their God, and they shal be my people.

17 Wherefore come out from among them, and separate your selues, sayth the Lord, and touch none vncleane thing, and I will receiue you.

18 And I will bee a Father vnto you, and yee shall be my sonnes and daughters, saith the Lord almightie.

CHAP. VII.

1 Left by ouermuch urging them he should dismay their tender minds, 2 he proueth that all that he sayd, 4 proceeded of the great good will he bare vnto them: 8 and therefore they should not bee offended that hee made them sorie, 10 and brought them to repentance not to be repented of.

SEeing then we haue these promises, dearly beloued, let vs cleanse our selues from all filthines of the flesh and Spirit, and finish our sanctification in the feare of God.

2 Receiue vs: we haue done wrong to no man: we haue corrupted no man: wee haue defrauded no man.

3 I speake it not to your condemnation: for I haue said before, that ye are in our hearts, to die and liue together.

4 I vse great boldnesse of speach toward you: I reioyce greatly in you: I am filled with comfort, and am exceeding ioyous in all our tribulation.

5 For when wee were come into Macedonia, our flesh had no rest, but we were troubled on euery side, fightings without, and terrors within.

6 But God, that comforteth the afflicted, comforted vs at the comming of Titus:

7 And not by his comming onely, but also by the consolation wherewith hee was comforted of you, when hee told vs your great desire, your mourning, your feruent mind to me ward so that I reioyced much more.

8 For though I made you sorie with a letter, I repent not, though I did repent: for I perceiue that the same Epistle made you sory, though it were but for a season.

9 I now reioyce, not that ye were sory, but that yee sorrowed to repentance: for yee sorrowed godly, so that in nothing yee were hurt by vs.

10 For godly sorrow causeth repentance vnto saluation, not to bee repented of: but the worldly sorrow causeth death.

11 For behold, this thing that ye haue been godly sory, what great care it hath wrought in you: yea, what clearing of your selues: yea, what indignation: yea, what feare: yea, how great desire: yea, what a zeale: yea, what reuenge: in all things ye haue thewed your selues, that ye are pure in this matter.

repentance hee prayeth them highly. And this is the fifth part of this Epistle. I so much that that sorrow did you much good towards the amending of your lewdnesse and sinnes. Godly sorrow is when wee are not terrified with the feare of punishment, but because wee feele we haue offended God our most mercifull father. Contrarie to this there is another sorrow, that only feareth punishment, or when a man is vexed for the losse of some worldly good: the fruit of the first is repentance, the fruit of the second is desperation. * Lewis, 26. 11.

God will be with vs, because Christ is become God with vs. 1sa. 52. 11.

1. Cor. 3. 11.

a Bath of bodie and soule, that by this means the sanctification may be perfited consisting in both the parts thereof. b He returneth againe from that admonition to his owne perion, opposing the testimonies both of his faithfullnes and also of his continuall good will towards them.

c To condemne you of vnrightheousnesse or vnrightheousnesse.

d I write hearts are cast down, and are very faine spent.

e I write those things which Titus tolde me of you at his comming to wit, how fruitfully you read ouer my letters, moreover and besides that I am exceedingly reioyced with his presence.

f An objection But thou hast hailed vs roughly: The Apostle answereth that hee vied not this roughnesse without griefe. And he addeth moreover, he is also glad now that hee draweth them to that sorrow, although it was against his will, since it was so profitable vnto them: for there is a sorrow not only praiseworthy, but also necessary, to wit, whereby repentance groweth by certaine degrees, for the which

g I so much that that sorrow did you much good towards the amending of your lewdnesse and sinnes. Godly sorrow is when wee are not terrified with the feare of punishment, but because wee feele we haue offended God our most mercifull father. Contrarie to this there is another sorrow, that only feareth punishment, or when a man is vexed for the losse of some worldly good: the fruit of the first is repentance, the fruit of the second is desperation. * Lewis, 26. 11.

12 Wherefore, though I wrote vnto you, I did it not for his cause that had done the wrong, neither for his cause that had the iniurie, but that our care toward you in the sight of God might appeare vnto you.

13 Therefore we were comforted, because yee were comforted: but rather we reioyced much more for the ioy of Titus, because his spirit was refreshed by you all.

14 For if that I haue boasted any thing to him of you, I haue not bene ashamed: but as I haue spoken vnto you all things in truth, euen so our boasting vnto Titus was true.

15 And his inward affection is more abundant toward you, when he remembereth the obedience of you all, and how with feare and trembling ye receiued him.

16 I reioyce therefore, that I may put my confidence in you in all things.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Hee exhorteth them, by the example of the Macedonians, 9 and also euen of Christ himselfe, 14 to bee liberal toward the Saints. 16 For which purpose, he sheweth that Titus, 18 and another brother came vnto them.

Wee doe you also to wit, brethren, of the grace of God bestowed vpon the Churches of Macedonia,

2 Because in great trial of affliction their ioy abounded and their most extreme pouertie abounded vnto their rich liberalitie.

3 For to their power (I beare record) yea, and beyond their power, they were willing,

4 And prayed vs with great instance, that we would receiue the grace, and fellowship of the ministring which is toward the Saints.

5 And this they did, not as we looked for: but gaue their owne selues, first to the Lord, and after vnto vs by the will of God.

6 That we should exhort Titus, that as hee had begun, so hee would also accomplish the same grace among you also.

7 Therefore, as ye abound in euery thing, in faith and word, and knowledge, and in all diligence, and in your loue towards vs, euen so see that ye abound in this grace also.

8 This say I not by commandement, but because of the diligence of others: therefore prouoe I the naturalnesse of your loue.

9 For ye know the grace of our Lord Iesus Christ, that hee being rich, for your sakes became poore, that yee through his pouertie might be made rich.

10 And I shewe my minde herein: for this is expedient for you, which haue begun not to doe onely, but also to will, a yee agree.

11 Now therefore performe to doe it also, that as there was a readinesse to will, euen so ye may performe it of that which ye haue.

12 For if there bee first a willing minde, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not.

13 Neither is it that other men should be eased, and you grieved: but vpon like contribution, at this time your abundance supplieth their lacke.

14 That also their abundance may be for your lacke, that there may be equalitie:

15 As it is written, He that gathered much, had nothing ouer, and hee that gathered little, had not the lesse.

16 And thanks be vnto God, which hath put in the heart of Titus the same care for you.

17 Because he accepted the exhortation, yea, he was so carefull that of his owne accord he went vnto you.

18 And we haue sent also with him the brother, whose praise is in the Gospel throwout all the Churches.

19 (And not so onely, but is also chosen of the Churches to bee a fellow in our iourney, concerning this grace that is ministred by vs vnto the glory of the same Lord, and declaration of your prompt minde.)

20 Auoiding this, that no man should blame vs in this abundance that is ministred by vs,

21 Prouiding for honest things, not only before the Lord, but also before men.

22 And wee haue sent with them our brother, whom wee haue ofte times proued to be diligent in many things; but now much more diligene, for the great confidence, which I haue in you.

23 Whether any doe enquire of Titus, he is my fellow and helper to you ward: or of our brethren, they are messengers of the Churches, and the glory of Christ.

24 Wherefore shew toward them, & before the Churches the prooue of your loue, and of the reioycing that we haue of you.

CHAP. IX.

1 Why, albeit hee thinke well of their readie wiles, 3 yet earnestly exhorteth them, 4 he yeeldeth a reason. 6 He compareth almes to seede sowing, 13 which God doth repay with great gaines.

For as touching the ministring to the Saints, it is superfluous for me to write vnto you.

2 For I knowe your readinesse of minde, whereof I boast my selfe of you vnto them of Macedonia, and say, that Achaia was prepared a yere agoe, & your zeale hath prouoked many.

3 Now haue I sent the brethren, lest our reioycing ouer you should be in vaine in this behalfe, that yee (as I haue said) be ready:

ought to helpe the Saints, seeing that he had become suretie for them to the Macedonians, but only to stirre them vp which were running of themselves, to the end that all things might both be in a better readinesse, and also be more plentifull.

6 Against such as vie to excuse themselves, because they are not rich; as though it were onely proper to rich men to helpe the poore.

7 Christian liberalitie is mutual, that proportion may be obserued.

8 That like as now in your abundance you helpe others, which are poore, with some part of your goods, so should others, in like sort bestow some of theirs vpon you.

9 Exod. 16. 18.

10 He commended Titus and his two companions for many causes, both that their credite might not be suspected, as though he had sent them slyly to spoile the Churches, & also that they might be so much the readier to contribute.

11 In the preaching of the Gospel.

12 These almes which are bestowed for the reliefe of the Church of Hierusalem.

13 In this plentiful liberalitie of the Churches, which is committed to our trust.

14 Rom. 12. 17.

15 Titus but two companions, in by whom the glory of Christ is set forth.

16 All Churches shall be witnesses of this your godly dealing, in whose presence you are, for so much as you do for the messengers whom they haue chosen vnto all their content, and sent them vnto you.

^a The word which he useth signifieth such a peaceable and contented mind as cannot be moved with any terror or feare. ^b As from a meane none. ^c Almes must be giuen neither niggardly nor with a loathfull minde, or hardly but a frank and free almes is compared to a sowing which hath a most plentiful harvest of most abundant blessing following it. ^d Determineth and appointeth freely into himselfe. ^e With a contented and niggardly heart. ^f Against his will, as he is to be still separated of. ^g As God himselfe giueth full liberallitie. ^h To helpe others by all means possible in doing them good in their necessities. ⁱ Psal. lxxv. ^k Is everlasting. Now David speaketh of a man that feareth God, and loveth his neighbour, who shall neuer want (saith he) to give to others. ^l There is none so good an inheritance to the godly, as bountyfullnesse. ^m An other excellent and double fruit of liberallitie towards the Saints, is this: that it giueth occasion to praise God, and that our faith also is thereby made manifest. ⁿ By the proofe of your liberallitie in this helping and succouring of them. ^o In shewing with one consent, that you acknowledge that onely Gospel, which you haue willingly submitted your selues vnto, declaring thereby, that you agree with the Church of Hierusalem. ^p Left by this great commendation and praise, the Corinthians should be puffed up, he stoueth up this exhortation, with this exclamation.

4. ^a Left if they of Macedonia come with me, and finde you vnprepared, wee (that wee may not say, you) should bee ashamed in this my constant boasting.

5. Wherefore, I thought it necessarie to exhort the brethren to come before vnto you, and to finish your beneuolence appointed afore, that it might be ready, and come as of beneuolence, and not as of niggardlinesse.

6. This yet remember, that he which soweth sparingly, shall reape also sparingly, and hee that soweth liberally, shall reape also liberally.

7. As euery man soweth in his heart, so shall hee giue, not sparingly, nor of necessity, but for God loueth a cheerfull giuer.

8. And God is able to make full grace to abound toward you, that ye alwayes hauing all sufficiency in all things, may abound in euery good worke.

9. (* As it is written, Hee hath spread abroad and hath giuen to the poore his beneuolence remaineth for euer.

10. Also he that findeth seede to the sower, will minister likewise bread for food, and multiply your seede, and increase the fruits of your beneuolence.)

11. That on all parts ye may be made rich vnto all liberallitie, which causeth through vs thankgiuing vnto God.

12. For the ministracion of this seruice not only supplieth the necessities of the Saints, but also abundantly causeth many to giue thanks to God,

13. (Which by the experiment of this ministracion, praise God for your voluntarie submission to the Gospel of Christ, and for your liberall distribution to them, and to all men.)

14. And in their prayer for you, to long after you greatly, for the abundant grace of God in you.

15. Thanks therefore be vnto God for his vnspokeable gift.

By this occasion to praise God, and that our faith also is thereby made manifest. ^k By the proofe of your liberallitie in this helping and succouring of them. ^l In shewing with one consent, that you acknowledge that onely Gospel, which you haue willingly submitted your selues vnto, declaring thereby, that you agree with the Church of Hierusalem. ^m Left by this great commendation and praise, the Corinthians should be puffed up, he stoueth up this exhortation, with this exclamation.

CHAP. X.

2. He sheweth with what confidence, 4. with what weapons, 6. and with what reuenge he is armed against the cavillations of the wicked, 7. and that, when hee is present, his deedes haue no lesser power, 11. then his words haue force, when he is absent.

Now I Paul my selfe beseech you by the meekenesse, and gentlenesse of Christ, which when I am present among you am base, but am bold toward you being absent:

he warneth them earnestly and grauely, vying also terrible threatnings, to shew themselves such as are apt to be instructed. And he refelleth certain proud men which made no better account of him, then of a bragging Thrafo, in that hee vsed to be sharpe against them when hee was absent, because they saw no great maiestie in him after the manner of men, and besides had procured his lenitie, notwithstanding that in his absence, he had written to them sharply. Therefore first of all he professeth that he was gentle and moderate, but after the example of Christ: but if they continue still to despise his gentlenesse, he professeth vnto them that hee will shewe in deedes how farre they are deceiued, which make that account of the office of an Apostle, that they doe of worldly offices, that is, according to the outward appearance. ^a That nature which is inclined to mercie, rather then to rigour of iustice.

And this I requeyre you, that I neede not to be bold when I am present, with that same confidence, wherewith I thinke to be bold against some, which esteeme vs as though wee walked according to the flesh, whereas we walke not in the flesh, yet we doe not waite after the flesh. (But the weapons of our warfare are not carnall, but mightie through God, to cast downe holdes.)

2. Casting downe the imaginations, and every high thing, that is exalted against the knowledge of God, and bringing into captiuitie euery thought to the obedience of Christ.

3. And hauing ready the vengeance against all disobedience, when your obedience is fulfilled.

4. Look ye on things after the appearance? If any man trust in himselfe that hee is Christes, let him consider this againe of himselfe, that as hee is Christes, euen so are wee Christes.

5. For though I should boast somewhat more of our authoritie, which the Lord hath giuen vs for edification, and not for your destruction, I should haue no shame.

6. This I say, that I may not seeme as it were to feare you with letters.

7. For the letters, sayth hee, are fore and strong, but his bodily presence is weake, and his speech is of no value.

8. Let such one thinke this, that such as we are in word by letters, when wee are absent, such will mee bee also indeed, when wee are present.

9. For wee dare not make our selues of the number, or to compare our selues to them, which praise themselves: but they vnderstand not that they measure themselves with themselves, and compare themselves with themselves.

10. But wee wil not reioyce of things, which are not within our measure, but according to the measure of the line, whereof God hath distributed vnto vs a measure to attaine euen vnto you.

11. For we stretch not our selues beyond our measure, as though we had not attained vnto you: for euen to you also haue we come in preaching the Gospel of Christ,

12. Not boasting of things which are without our measure: that is, of other mens labours: and we hope, when your faith shall increase, to be magnified by you according to our line abundantly,

13. And to preach the Gospel in those selues: and as for him selfe, although hee brag of excellent things, yet hee wil not passe the bounds which God hath measured him out, according wherunto hee came euen vnto them in preaching the Gospel of Christ, and traffeth that hee shall goe further, when they haue so profited that he shall not neede to tary any longer amongst them to instruct them. And hereunto is added an amplification, in that he neuer succeeded other men in their labours. ^a Thou spoken after attaining fort. ^b Upon a euaine persuasion that they haue of themselves, they take upon them they care not what. ^c They can temne another, and assure all their doinge onely by themselves. ^d Of these things which God hath not measured to me. ^e Ephes 4. 7. ^f As though God had diuided the whole world among the Apostles, to be husbanded.

gions which are beyond you : not to reioyce in another mans line, that is, in the things that are prepared a cadie.

17 * But let him that reioyeth, reioyce in the Lord.

18 For hee that prayeth himselfe is not allowed, but he whom the Lord praieth.

19 The Corinthians to heare other things, witnessing that hee seeketh nothing else but to approve himselfe to God, whose glory he only seeketh.

CHAP. XI.

1 He testifieth, that for the great loue he beareth to the Corinthians, hee is compelled, to utter his owne praises.

2 And that hee bestowed his labour on them without any reward, 3 that the false Apollles should not surpass him in any thing, 4 whom he saith excelled in these things which are praise worthy indeed.

Would to God, yee could suffer a little my foolishnesse, and indeed, yee suffer me.

2 For I am ielous over you with a godly ielousie: for I haue prepared you for one husband, to present you as a pure virgin to Christ.

3 But I feare least as the serpent beguiled Eue through his subtiltie, so your mindes should be corrupte from the simplicitie that is in Christ.

4 For if hee that commeth, preacheth another Iesus whom wee haue not preached: or if yee receiue another spirit whom yee haue not receiued: either another Gospel, which yee haue not receiued, yee might well haue suffered him.

5 Verely I suppose that I was not inferiour to the very chiefe Apollles.

6 And though I be rude in speaking, yet I am not so in knowledge, but among you wee haue bene made manifest to the vttermost, in all things.

7 Haue I committed an offence, because I abased my selfe, that yee might bee exalted, and because I preached to you the Gospel of God freely?

8 I robbed other Chuches, and tooke wages of them to doe you seruice.

9 And when I was present with you, and had need, I was not slothful to the hinderance of any man: for that which was lacking vnto me, the brethren which came from Macedonia supplied, & in all things I kept, and will keepe my selfe, that I should not bee grievous to you.

10 I grant, sayth hee, that I am not so eloquent an Oratour, but yet they cannot take away the knowledge of the Gospel from me, whereof you haue had good prooffe, and that every manner of way.

11 Paul lacked not of that kinde of eloquence which is meet for a man, and fit for the Gospel, but he willingly wanted that painted kinde of speech, which too many now adagey use after and follow. 12 Another slander, to wit, that he was a rascal, and liued by the labor of his owne hands. But herein saith the Apostle, what can you lay against me, but that I was content to take any paines for your sakes, and when I lacked to trauaile for my liuing with mine owne hands in part, & partly also when povertie constrained me, I chose rather otherwise to seeke my sustentance, then to bee any burden to you, although I preached the Gospel vnto you? 13 * An amplification: So faire is he from being ashamed of this acte, that he hath also resolved with himselfe to doe no otherwise hereafter amongst them, to the intent that he may alwayes be truly said, that he taught in Achaia for nothing: not that hee did dimeth the Corinthians, but that these Thracons may neuer find the occasion which they haue already fought for, and hee in the meane season, may see something before them to follow, that at length they may truly say, that they are like to Paul.

10 The truth of Christ is in me, that this reioycing shall not be but against mee in the regions of Achaia.

11 Wherefore? because I loue you not? God knoweth.

12 But what I doe, that I will doe: that I may cut away occasion from them which desire occasion, that they may be found like vnto vs in that wherein they reioyce.

13 For such false apollles are deceitfull workers, and transforme themselves into the Apollles of Christ.

14 And no marueile: for Satan himselfe is transformed into an Angel of light.

15 Therefore it is no great thing, though his ministers transforme themselves, as though they were the ministers of righteousness, whose end shall be according to their workes.

16 I say againe, Let no man thinke that I am foolish, or else take me euen as a foole, that I also may boast myselfe a little.

17 That I speake, I speake it not after the Lord: but as it were foolishly in this my great boasting.

18 Seeing that many reioyce after the flesh, I will reioyce also.

19 For ye suffer fooles gladly: because that ye are wise.

20 For ye suffer, euen if a man bring you into bondage, if a man deuoure you, if a man take your goods, if a man exalt himselfe, if a man smite you on the face.

21 I speake as concerning the reproch, as though that wee had bin weaker: but wherein any man is bold (I speake foolishly) I am bold also.

22 They are Hebrewes, so am I: they are Israelites, so am I: they are the seede of Abraham, so am I:

23 They are the Ministers of Christ (I speake as a foole) I am more: in labors more abundant: in stripes about measure: in prison more plenteously: in death oft.

24 Of the Iewes fiftie times receiued I fortie stripes saue one.

25 I was thrice beaten with roddes: I was once stoned: I suffered thrice shipwracke: night and day haue I bene in the deepe Sea.

26 In iourneying I was often, in perils of waters, in perils of robbers, in perils of mine owne nation, in perils among the Gentiles, in perils in the Citie, in perils in wilderness, in perils in the Sea, in perils among false brethren, swading themselves to bee very wise men, did not marke in the meane season, that those false apollles abused their simplicitie for aduantage. 1 As if hee sayd, In respect of that reproch which they doe vnto you (I speake it) which surely is as euill, as if they did beat you. 2 Paul is called weak, in that hee seemeth to the Corinthians a vile and abject man, a beggarly artificer, a most wretched and miserable idiot, whereas notwithstanding therein Gods mightie power was made manifest. 3 Philip 3.5. Paul being honourable indeede, defendeth his ministry openly, not for his owne sake, but because hee sawe his doctrine come into hazard. 4 In danger of prison death. 5 He alludeth to that that is written, Deut. 23. 3. and moreover this place sheweth vnto us, that Paul suffered many things which Luke passed over. 6 Of the Romane Magistrates. 7 Actes 16. 23. 8 Actes 14. 19. 9 Actes 17. 14.

27 In wearinesse and painfulnesse, in watching often in hunger and thirst, in fastings often in colde and nakednesse.

28 Beside the things which are outward, I am cumbered daily, and haue the care of all the Churches.

29 Who is weak, and I am not weak: who is offended, and I burne not.

30 If I must needs reioyce, I will reioyce of mine infirmities.

31 The God, euen the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, which is blessed for euermore, knoweth that I lie not.

32 In Damascus the Governour of the people vnder King Aretas, laid watch in the Citie of the Damascens, and would haue caught me.

33 But at a window was I let downe in a basket through the wall, and escaped his hands.

But I would boast my selfe, I would take no better argument: and God himselfe is my witnesse that I lye not, and forgo nothing.

CHAP. XII

1 He doth euen unwillingly make reuerall of those becomen visions, that were reueiled vnto him: for which through his owne infirmities, he being pricke of his owne infirmities, but they driue him to this kinde of folly, in which they giue care to certaine vainglorious persons, who draw them from Christ.

2 It is not expedient for me no doubt to reioyce: for I will come to visions and reuelations of the Lord.

3 I knowe a man in Christ aboue fouretee yeeres agoe, (whether he were in the body, I cannot tell, or out of the body, I can not tell: God knoweth) which was taken vp into the third heauen.

4 And I knowe such a man (whether in the body, or out of the body, I cannot tell: God knoweth.)

5 How hath hee been taken vp into Paradise, and heard words which cannot be spoken, which a nor possible for man to vtter.

6 Of such a man will I reioyce: of my selfe will I not reioyce, except it be of mine infirmities.

7 For though I would reioyce, I should not be a foole, for I will say the truth: but I reframe, lest any man should think of me aboue that he seeth in me, or that he heareth of me.

8 And lest I should be exalted out of measure through the abundance of reuelations, there was giuen vnto me a pricke in the flsh, the messenger of Satan to buffet me, because I should not be exalted out of measure.

8 For this thing I besought the Lord thrice, that it might depart from me.

9 And he said vnto me, My grace is sufficient for thee: for my power is made perfect through weaknesse. Very gladly therefore will I reioyce rather in mine infirmities, that the power of Christ may dwell in me.

10 Therefore I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproches, in necessities, in persecutions, in anguish for Christs sake: for when I am weak, then am I strong.

11 I was a foole to boast my selfe: yee haue compelled mee: for I ought to haue bene commended of you: for in nothing was I inferior vnto the very chiefe Apostles, though I be nothing.

12 The signes of an Apostle were wrought among you with all patience, with signes, and wonders, and great workes.

13 For what is it wherein yee were inferior vnto other Churches, except that I haue not bene slothfull to your hinderance? forgive me this wrong.

14 Behold, the third time I am readie to come vnto you, and yet will I not be slothfull to your hinderance: for I seeke not yours, but you: for the children ought not to lay vp for the fathers, but the fathers for the children.

15 And I will most gladly bestow, and will be belittled for your soules: though the more I loue you, the lesse I am loued.

16 But be it that I charged you not: yet forasmuch as I was craftie, I tooke you with guile.

17 Did I pill you by any of them whom I sent vnto you?

18 I haue desired Titus, and with him I haue sent a brother: did Titus pill you of any thing? walked we not in the selfe same spirit? walked we not in the same steppes?

19 Again, thinke yee that we excuse our selues vnto you? we speake before God in Christ. But we doe all things, dearly beloued, for your edifying.

20 For I feare lest when I come, I shall not finde you such as I would: and that I shall be found vnto you such as yee would not, and lest there be strife, enuying, wrath, contentions, backbitings, whisperings, swellings, and discord.

21 I feare lest when I come againe, my God abase mee among you, and I shall bewaile many of them which haue sinned alreadie, and haue not repented of the vncleannesse and fornication, and wantonnes which they haue committed.

cause it is behoouable for them to doubt nothing of his fidelitie, who instructed them. C H A P. XIII.

1 Comming the third time, 2 hee denounceth the sharper vengeance towards them, 3 who haue a perfect triall of the power of Christ in his Apostleship: 10 At length hee prayeth for their repentance, 11 and wisheth them prosperitie.

LOe this is the third time that I come vnto you. In the mouth of two or three witnesses shall euery word stand.

2 I told you before, and tell you before: as though I had bene present the second time, so write I now being absent to them which heretofore haue sinned, and to all others, that if I come againe, I will not spare,

3 Seeing that yee seeke experience of Christ, that speaketh in me, which toward you is not weake, but is a mightie in you.

4 For though he was crucified concerning his infirmities, yet liueth he through the power of God. And we no doubt are weake in him, but we shall liue with him, through the power of God toward you.

5 Prooue your selues whether yee are in the faith: examine your selues: know yee not your owne selues, how that Iesus Christ is in you, except ye be reprobates?

6 But I trust that ye shall know that wee are not reprobates.

7 Now I pray vnto God that ye doe none euill, not that we should seeme approoued, but that ye should do that which is honest: though we be as reprobates.

8 For we cannot do any thing against the truth, but for the truth.

9 For wee are glad when wee are weake, and that ye are strong: this also wee wish for, even your perfection.

10 Therefore write I these things being absent, lest when I am present, I should vse sharpnesse, according to the power which the Lord hath giuen me, to edification, and not to destruction.

11 Finally brethren, fare ye well: bee perfect: bee of good comfort: be of one minde: liue in peace, and the God of loue and peace shall be with you.

12 Greete one another with an holy kisse. All the Saints salute you.

13 The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ, and the loue of God, and the communion of the holy Ghost be with you all, Amen.

¶ The second Epistle to the Corinthians, written from Philippi, a citie in Macedonia, and sent by Titus and Lucas.

3 Hee mitigateth that sharpnesse, trusting that they will shewe themselves towards their faithfull Apostle, and willing to be taught: adding this moreover that hee pisseth not for his owne fame and estimation, so that they may serue to their saluation, which is the onely marke that hee shooeth at. 4 In mens judgement. 4 That all things may be in good order amongst you, and the members of the Church referred into their place, which haue bene shaken and out of place. 4 A briefe exhortation, but yet such an one as comprehendeth all the parts of a Christian mans life. 5 He salueth them familiarly, and in conclusion wisheth well vnto them. 1 Cor. 16. 20.

THE EPISTLE OF THE APOSTLE PAUL TO THE GALATIANS.

C H A P. I.

1 Straight after the salutation, 6 hee reprehendeth the Galatians for reuolting 9 from his Gospel, 15 which hee received from God, 17 before he had communicated with any of the Apostles.

PAUL an Apostle (not a man, but by Iesus Christ, and God the Father which hath raised him from the dead.)

2 And all the brethren which are with me, vnto the Churches of Galatia:

3 Grace bee with you, and peace from God the Father, and from our Lorde Iesus Christ,

4 Which gaue himselfe for our sinnes, that hee might deliuer vs from this present euill world, according to the will of God euen our Father,

5 To whom be glory for euer and euer, Amen.

6 I marueile that ye are so soone removed away vnto another Gospel, from him that had called you in the grace of Christ,

7 Which is not another Gospel, saue that there be some which trouble you, and intend to peruert the Gospel of Christ.

8 But though that wee, or an Angel from heauen preach vnto you otherwise, then that which we haue preached vnto you, let him be accursed.

9 As we said before, so say I now againe, If any man preach vnto you otherwise, then that ye haue receiued, let him be accursed.

away vnto a new Gospel. Hee useth the pastime vnto cast the fault upon the false apostles, and he useth the time that now is to giue them to understand, that it was not already done, but in doing. 4 He warneth them in time to remember that there are not many Gospels, and therefore whatsoever these false apostles pretend which had the Law, Moses and the Fathers in their mouthes, yet they are in deede so many corruptions of the true Gospel, in so much that hee himselfe, yea, and the very Angels themselves (and therefore much more these false apostles) ought to be holden accursed, if they go about to change the left iote that may be in the Gospel that he deliuered to them before. 5 For there is nothing more contrary to faith or free iustification, then iustification by the Law, or by deserving. 6 Look Rom 9. 3.

4 Out of that most corrupt state which is without Christ. 3 The first part of the Epistle, wherein he witnesseth that he is an Apostle, nothing inferior to those chiefe disciples of Christ, and wholly agreeing with them, whose names the false apostles did abuse. And he beginneth with chiding, reprouing them of lightnesse, for that they gaue care so easily vnto them which peruerted them and drew them

CHAP. II.

3 A confirmation taken both from the nature of the doctrine it selfe, and also from the manner which hee vsed in teaching: for neither saith hee, did I teach those things which pleased men, as these men doe which put part of saluation in externall things, and workes of the Lawe neither went I about to procure any mans fauour. And therefore the matter it selfe sheweth that that doctrine which I deliuered vnto you, is heauenly.

4 Hee toucheth the false apostles, who had nothing but men in their mouths: and hee, though he would derogate nothing from the Apostles, preacheth God, and not men.

5 Cor. 15. 1. A second argument to proue that his doctrine is heauenly, because he had it from heaven, from Iesus Christ himselfe, without any mans helpe, wherein hee excelleth them whome Christ taught here on earth, after the manner of men.

6 This place is to be vnderstood of an extraordinary reuelation, for otherwise the Sonne alone reuelled his Gospel by his Spirit, although by the ministerie of men, which Paul sheweth out here.

7 Hee proueth that hee was extraordinarily taught of Christ himselfe, by the historie of his former life, which the Galatians themselves knewe well enough: for sayeth hee, it is well known in what schoole I was brought vp, euen from a childe, to wit, amongst the deadly enemies of the Gospel. And that no man may cauilt and say, that I was schollar of the Pharisees in name onely, and not in deede, no man is ignorant howe that I excelled in Pharisaisme, and was suddenly made of a Pharise, an Apostile of the Gentiles, so that I had no space to bee instructed of men. Acts 9. 1. k Hee calleth them the traditions of his Fathers, because hee was not onely a Pharise himselfe, but also had a Pharise to his father. l Hee speaketh of Gods eternall predestination, whereby hee appointed him to bee an Apostile, whereof hee maketh three degrees: the euellasting counsell of God, his appointing from his mothers wombe, and his calling: here is no mention at all, we see, of workes foreseene. m To mee, and this is a kinde of speech which the Hebrewes vse, whereby this is giuen vnto vnderstand, that this gift cometh from God. Ephes. 3. 8. 8 Because it might bee objected, that in deede hee was called of Christ in the way, but afterward was instructed of the Apostles and others, whose names (as I sayde before) the false apostles abused to destroy his Apostleship, as though hee deliuered another Gospel then the true Apostles did, and as though hee were not of their number, which are to be credited without exception: therefore Paul answereth, that hee began straightway after his calling to preach the Gospel at Damascus and in Arabia, and was not from that time in Hierusalem but onely fiftene dayes, where hee sawe onely Peter and Iames, and afterwards, hee began to teach in Syria and Cilicia, with the consent and approbation of the Churches of the Iewes, which knewe him onely by name: so faire off was it, that hee was there instructed of men. n With any man in the world. o This is a kinde of othe, p The doctrine of faith.

10 For now preach I mans doctrine, or Gods? or goe I about to please men? for if I should yet please men, I were not the seruant of Christ.

11 Now I certifie you, brethren, that the Gospel which was preached of mee, was not after man.

12 For neither receiued I it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the reuelation of Iesus Christ.

13 For ye haue heard of my conuersation in time past, in the Iewish religion, how that I persecuted the Church of God extremely, and wasted it.

14 And profited in the Iewish religion about many of my companions of mine owne nation, and was much more zealous of the traditions of my Fathers.

15 But when it pleased God (which had separated me from my mothers wombe, and called me by his grace.)

16 To reueale his Sonne in mee, that I should preach him among the Gentiles, immediately I communicated not with flesh and blood.

17 Neither came I againe to Hierusalem to them which were Apostles before me, but I went into Arabia, and turned againe vnto Damascus.

18 Then after three yeeres I came againe to Hierusalem to visite Peter, and abode with him fiftene dayes.

19 And none other of the Apostles saw I, saue Iames the Lords brother.

20 Nowe the things which I write vnto you, behold, I witnesse before God, that I lie not.

21 After that, I went into the coastes of Syria and Cilicia: for I was vnknownen by face vnto the Churches of Iudea, which were in Christ.

22 But they had heard onely some say, Hee which persecuted vs in time past, now preacheth the faith which before he destroyed.

23 And they glorified God for me.

1 That the Apostles did nothing disagree from his Gospel, 3 hee declareth by the example of Titus being vncircumcised, 11 and also by his aduocating the same against Peters dissimulation: 17 And so he passeth to the handling of our free iustification by Christ, &c.

Then foureteeen yeeres after, I went vp againe to Hierusalem with Barnabas, and tooke with me Titus also.

2 And I went vp by reuelation, and declared vnto them that Gospel which I preach among the Gentiles, but particularly to them that were the chiefe, lest by any means I should runne, or had runne in vaine:

3 But neither yet Titus which was with me, though he were a Grecian, was compelled to be circumcised,

4 To wit, for the false brethren which were craftily sent in, and crept in priuily to spie out our libertie, which we haue in Christ Iesus, that they might bring vs into bondage.

5 To whom we gaue not place by subjection for an houre, that the truth of the Gospel might continue with you.

6 But by them which seemed to bee great, I was not taught (whatsoever they were in time passed, I am nothing the better, * God accepteth no mans person) for they that are the chiefe, did adde nothing to me above that I had.

7 But contrariwise, when they sawe that the Gospel ouer the vncircumcision was committed vnto me, as the Gospel ouer the circumcision was vnto Peter:

8 (For he that was mightie by Peter in his Apostleship ouer the circumcision, was also mighty by me toward the Gentiles)

9 And when Iames, and Cephas, and Iohn, knew of the grace that was giuen vnto mee, which are counted to bee pillars, they gaue to me and to Barnabas the right hands of fellowship, that we should preach vnto the Gentiles, and they vnto the Circumcision,

10 Warning onely that wee should remember the poore: which thing also I was diligent to doe.

11 And when Peter was come to Antiochia, I withstood him to his face: for hee was to be condemned.

12 For before that certaine came from Iames, hee ate with the Gentiles: but when they were come, hee withdrew and separated himselfe, fearing them which were of the Circumcision.

13 And the other Iewes played the hypocrites likewise with him, in so much that Barnabas

1 Now hee sheweth how hee agreeth with the Apostles, with whom hee granteth that hee conferred touching his Gospel which he taught among the Gentiles, foureteeen yeeres after his conuersion, and they allowed it in such sort, that they constrained not his fellow Titus to be circumcised, although some tormented themselves therein, which traitorously laid wait against him, but in vaine: neither did they adde the least iote that might be to the doctrine which he had preached, but contrariwise they gaue to him and Barnabas the right hands of fellowship and acknowledged them as Apostles appointed of the Lord to the Gentiles. a Vnfruitfull for as touching his doctrine, Paul doubteth not of it, but because there were certayne reports cast abroad of him, that he was of another opinion then the rest of the Apostles were, which thing might haue hindered the course of the Gospel, therefore he laboureth to remedie this fault. b Which by deceit and counterfeit holinesse crept in among the faithfull. c By submitting our selves to them, and betraying our owne libertie. d The true and sincere doctrine of the Gospel, which remained safe from being nabas was killed away with them by that their hypocrisy.

14 But when I saw that they went not the right way to the truth of the Gospel; I said vnto Peter before all men, If thou being a Jew, liuest as the Gentiles, and not like the Jewes, why^a constrainest thou the Gentiles to doe like the Iewes?

15 We which are^a Iewes by nature, and not Prisoners of the Gentiles,

16 Know that a man is not iustified by the workes of the Law, but by the faith^a of Iesus Christ, euen wee, I say, haue beleueed in Iesus Christ, that wee might be iustified by the faith of Christ, and not by the workes of the Law, because that by the workes of the Law, no flesh shalbe iustified.

17 If then while^a wee seeke to be made righteous by Christ, wee our selues are found sinners, is Christ therefore the minifter of sinne? God forbid.

18 For if I builde againe, the things that I haue destroyed, I make my selfe a trespasser.

19 For I through the Law am dead to the Law, that I might liue vnto God.

20 I am crucified with Christ, but I liue, yet not^a I any more, but Christ liueth in mee: and in that I now liue in the flesh, I liue by the faith in the Sonne of God, who hath loued me, and giuen himselfe for me, 21 I doe not abrogate the grace of God: for if righteousness be by the Law, then Christ died without a cause.

a Although we be Iewes, yet we preach iustification by faith, because we know vndoubtedly, that no man can be iustified by the Law. p So the Iewes called the Gentiles, because they were strangers from Gods covenant. r In Iesus Christ. s No man, and in this word (flesh) there is a great vehemencie, whereby it meant that the nature of man is utterly corrupt. Rom. 3. 19. 4 Before he goeth any further, hee meeteth with their objection, which abhorred this doctrine of free iustification by faith, because say they, men are by this means withdrawn from the studie of good workes. And in this sort is the objection: if sinners should be iustified through Christ by faith without the Law, Christ should appeare sinners, and should as it were exhort them thereunto by his ministration. Paul answereth that this consequence is false, because that Christ destroyeth sinne in the beleeuers: For so, faith he, doe men flee vnto Christ through the terror and feare of the Law, that being quit from the curse of the Law and iustified, they may be saved by him, that together therewithall, hee beginneth in them by little and litle that strength and power of his which destroyeth sinne: to the ende that this old man being abolished by the vertue of Christ crucified, Christ may liue in them, and they may consecrate themselves to God. Therefore if any man giue himselfe to sinne after he hath receiued the Gospel, let him not accuse Christ nor the Gospel, but himselfe, for that hee destroyeth the worke of God in himselfe. f He goeth from iustification, sanctification, which is another benefite wee receiue by Christ, if wee lay holde on him by faith. 2 The Law that terrifieth the conscience, bringeth vs to Christ, and hee onely can save vs to die to the Law indeed, because that by making vs righteous, hee taketh away from vs the terror of conscience, and by sanctifying vs, causeth through the mortifying of lust in vs, that it cannot take such occasion to sinne by the restraint which the Law maketh, as it is before. Rom. 7. 10, 11. u The same that I was before. x In this mortall body. 5 The second argument taken of an absurditie: If men may be iustified by the Law, then was it not necessarie for Christ to die. y For there was no cause why he should doe so.

CHAP. III.

1 He rebuketh them, for suffering themselves to bee drawn from the grace of free iustifications in Christ, most liuely set out vnto them. 6 Hee bringeth in Abrahams example, 10 declaring the effect, 21 and causes of the giuing of the Law.

O Foolish Galatians who hath bewitched you, that ye should not obey the truth, Ghost, wherewith they were indured from heauen after they had heard and beleueed the Gospel by Pauls ministration: which seeing they were so euident to all mens eyes, that they were as it were liuely images, wherem they might behold the truth of the doctrine of the Gospel, no lesse then if they had beheld with their eyes Christ himselfe crucified, in whose onely death they ought to haue their trust, he marueileth how it could be that they could be so bewitched by the false apostles.

to whom Iesus Christ before was described in your fight and among you crucified?

2 This onely would I learne of you, Receiued yee^a the Spirit by the workes of the Law, or by hearing of^a faith preached?

3 Are ye so foolish, that after ye haue begun in the Spirit, ye would now be made perfit by the^a flesh?

4 Haue yee suffered so many things in vaine? if so be it be euen in vaine.

5 He therefore that ministrereth to you the Spirit, and worketh miracles among you, doeth he it through the workes of the Law, or by the hearing of faith preached?

6 Yea, rather as^a Abraham beleueed God, and it was^a imputed to him for righteousness.

7 Knowe yee therefore that they which are of faith, the same are the children of Abraham;

8 For the Scripture foreseeing, that GOD would iustifie the Gentiles through faith, preached before the Gospel vnto Abraham, saying, * In thee shall all the Gentiles be^a blessed.

9 So then they which bee of faith, are blessed^a with faithfull Abraham.

10 For as many as are of the workes of the Law, are vnder the curse: for it is written, * Cursed is euery man that continueth not in all things, which are written in the booke of the Law, to doe them.

11 And that no man is iustified by the Law in the sight of God, it is euident: for the iust shall liue by faith.

12 And the Law is not of faith: but the man that shall doe these things, shall liue in them.

13 Christ hath redeemed vs from the curse of the Law, being made a curse for vs, (for it a Christ was laid before you so nobly and so plainly, that you had his liuely image as it were represented before your eyes, as if he had bene crucified before you. b Those spiritual gifts which were a scale as it were in the Galatians that the Gospel which was preached to them was true. c Of the doctrine of faith.

2 The fourth argument mixed with the former: and it is double. If the Law be to be ioynd with faith, this were not to go forward, but backward, seeing that those spiritual gifts which were bestowed vpon you are more excellent then any that could proceed from your selues. And moreover, it should follow, that the Law is better then Christ, because it should perfect and bring to ende that which Christ began onely.

d By the (flesh) he meaneth the ceremonies of the Law, against which he setteth the Spirit, that is, the spiritual working of the Gospel. 3 An exhortation by manner of vbraiding, that they doe not in vaine suffer so many conflicts.

4 Hee repeateth the third argument which was taken of the effects, because he had enteraled certaine other arguments by the way. 5 The fifth Argument which is of great force, and hath three grounds. The first, that Abraham was iustified by faith, to wit, by free imputation of righteousness according to the promise apprehended by faith, as Moses doeth most plainly witnesse. e Look Romans 4. f Gen. 15. 6. rom. 4. 3. iam. 2. 23. 6 The second, that the sonnes of Abraham must bee esteemed and accounted of by faith. 7 The third, that all people that beleue, are without exception comprehended in the promise of the blessing. g Gen. 12. 3. ales. 3. 15. 8 A prooffe of the first and second grounds, out of the words of Moses. f Blessing in this place, signifieth the free promise by faith. 9 The conclusion of the fifth argument: Therefore as Abraham is blessed by faith, so are all his children (that is to say, all the Gentiles that beleue) blessed, that is to say, freely iustified. g With faithfull Abraham, and not by faithfull Abraham, to giue vs to understand that the blessing cometh not from Abraham, but from him, by whom Abraham and all his posteritie are blessed. 10 The sixth argument, the conclusion whereof is also in the former verbe taken of contraries, thus. They are accursed which are of the workes of the Law, that is to say, which value their righteousness by the performance of the Law. Therefore they are blessed which are of faith, that is, they which haue righteousness by faith.

11 A prooffe of the former sentence or proposition, and the proposition of this argument is this: Cursed is hee that fulfillieth not the whole Law. Deut. 27. 26. 12 The second proposition with the conclusion: But no man fulfilleth the Law. Therefore no man is iustified by the Law, or els, All are accursed which seeke righteousness by the workes of the Law. And there is annexed also this manner of prooffe of the second proposition, to wit, Righteousnesse and life are attributed to faith. Therefore no man fulfilleth the Law. h Habakkuk 2. 4. rom. 1. 17. heb. 10. 38. 13 Here is a reason shewed of the former consequence: Because the Law promitteth life to all that keepe it, and therefore if it be kept, it iustifieth and giueth life. But the Scripture attributing righteousness and life to faith taketh it from the Law, seeing that faith iustifieth by imputation, and the Law by the performing of the worke. i Leuit. 18. 5. 14 A preventing of an objection: How then can they bee blessed, whom the Lord pronounceth to bee accursed? Because Christ sustaineth the curse which the Law laid vpon vs, that wee might bee quit from it. 15 A prooffe of the answer by the testimonie of Moses.

Who are iustified. To the Galatians. The vse of the Law.

 Deut. 21. 23. In Christ was accursed for us, because he bare the curse that was due to us, to make us partakers of his righteousness.*

16 A conclusion of all that was said before in the handling of the fifth and sixth reasons, to wit, that both the Gentiles are made partakers of the free blessing of Abraham in Christ, and also that the Jewes themselves, of whose number the Apostle correcteth himselfe to be, cannot obtaine that promised grace of the Gospel, which he calleth the Spirit, but onely by faith. And the Apostle doeth feuerally apply the conclusion, both to the one and to the other, preparing himselfe a way to the next argument, whereby he declareth that that one only seed of Abraham, which is made of all peoples, can no otherwise be ioyned and grow vp together but by faith in Christ.

17 He putteth forth two generall rules before the next argument, which is the seventh in order: The one is, that it is not lawfull to breake covenants and contracts which are iustly made, & according to Law, among men, neither may any thing be added vnto them: The other is, that God did so make a covenant with Abraham, that he would gather together his children, which consist both of Jewes and Gentiles into one body (as appeareth by that which hath bin said before.) For hee did not say, that he would be the God of Abraham and of his seedes, (which thing notwithstanding should haue bin said, if he had many and diuers seedes, as the Gentiles apart, and the Jewes apart) but that he would be the God of Abraham, and of his seede, as of one.

*I will use an example which is common among you, that you may be ashamed that you give not so much to Gods covenants, as you doe to mans. * Heb. 9. 17. k. Authentically, as we call it.*

18 He putteth forth the summe of the seventh argument, to wit, that both the Jewes and the Gentiles grow together in o body of the seed of Abraham, in Christ onely, so that all are one in Christ, as it is afterwarde declared, ver. 28. l. Paul speaketh not of Christ person, but of two peoples, which grew together in one, in Christ.

19 The eighth argument taken of comparison, thus: It is a mans covenant (being authentically) be firme and strong, much more Gods covenant. Therefore the Law was not giuen to abrogate the promise made to Abraham which had respect to Christ, that is to say, the end whereof did hang on Christ.

m. Which tended to Christ. 20 An enlarging of that argument, thus: Moreouer and besides that the promise is of it selfe firme and strong, it was also confirmed with the prescription of long time, to wit, of 430 yeeres, so that it could in no wise be broken. 21 An obiection: We grant that the promise was not abrogated by the covenant of the Law, and therefore we ioyn the Law with the promise. Nay, saith the Apostle, these two cannot stand together, to wit, that the inheritance should both be giuen by the Lawe and also by promise, for the promise is free: whereby it followeth that the Law was not giuen to iustifie, for by that means the promise should be broken.

n. By this word (inheritance) is meant the right of the seede, which is, that God should be our God, that is to say, that by vertue of the Covenant that was made with faithful Abraham, we that be faithfull, might by that means be blessed of God as well as hee. 22 An obiection which riseth from the former answer: If the inheritance be not by the Law (as the Lawe apart) then why was the Lawe giuen after that the promise was made? Therefore saith the Apostle, to reprove men of offine, and so to teach them to looke vnto Christ, in whome at length that promise of fauing all people together, should be fulfilled, and nor that the Lawe was giuen to iustifie men.

o. That men might vnderstand, by discouering of their sinnes, that they are saved by the only grace of God, which hee reueiled to Abraham and that in Christ. p. Vntill the partition wall was broken downe, and that full seede sprang up, framed of two peoples, both of Jewes and Gentiles: for by this word seede, we may not vnderstand, Christ alone by himselfe, but coupled and ioyned together with his body. 23 A confirmation of the former answer taken from the manner and forme of giuing the Law: for it was giuen by Angels, striking a great terrour into all, and by Moses a Mediatour comming betwene. Now they that are one, neede no Mediatour, but they that are twaine at the least, and that are at variance one with another. Therefore the Law is false, and the Mediatour, were witness of the wrath of God, and not that God would by this meanes reconcile mento himselfe, and abolish the promise, or adde the Law vnto the promise.

q. Commanded and giuen, or proclaimed. r. By the seruice and ministerie. 24 A taking away of an obiection, lest any man might say, that sometimes by consent of the parties which haue made a covenant, some thing is added to the covenant, or the former covenants are broken. This, saith the Apostle, commeth not to passe in God, who is alwayes one, and the selfe same, and like himselfe.

is written, * ^b Cursed is euery one that hangeth on tree.)

14 ¹⁶ That the blessing of Abraham might come on the Gentiles through Christ Iesus, that we might receiue the promise of the Spirit through faith

15 ¹⁷ Brethren, I speake as men do: * though it be but a mans couenant, when it is ^k confirmed, yet no man doeth abrogate it, or addeth any thing thereto.

16 Now to Abraham and his seede were the promises made. He saith not, And to the seedes, as speaking of many: but, And to thy seed, as of one, ¹⁸ which is ^l Christ.

17 ¹⁹ And this I say, that the couenant that was confirmed afore of God ^m in respect of Christ, the ²⁰ Law which was foure hundred and thirtie yeeres after, can not disanull, that it should make the promise of none effect.

18 ²¹ For if the ⁿ inheritance be of the Law, it is no more by the promise, but God gaue it freely vnto Abraham by promise.

19 ²² Wherefore then serueth the Law? It was added because of the ^o transgressions, ^p till the seed came, vnto the which the promise was made: ²³ and it was ^q ordained by ^r Angels in the hand of a Mediatour.

20 Now a Mediatour is not a Mediatour of one: ²⁴ but God is one.

21 ²⁵ Is the Law then against the promises of God? God forbid: For if there had beene a Law giuen which could haue giuen life, surely righteousness should haue bene by the Law.

22 But the ^s Scripture hath ^t concluded ^u all vnder sin, that the ^v promise by the faith of Iesus Christ should be giuen to them that beleue.

23 ²⁶ But before faith came, wee were kept vnder the Lawe, ^w as vnder a garison, and shut vp vnto ^x that faith, which should afterwarde be reuealed.

24 Wherefore the Law was our schoolemaster to bring vs to Christ, that we might be made righteous by faith.

25 But after that faith is come, wee are no longer vnder a schoolemaster.

26 ²⁷ For yee are all the sonnes of God by faith, in Christ Iesus.

27 ²⁸ For all yee that are ^y baptized into Christ, haue ^z put on Christ.

28 There is neither Iew nor Grecian: there is neither bond nor free: there is neither male nor female: for ye are all ^a one in Christ Iesus.

29 And if ye be Christs, then are yee Abrahams seed, and heires by promise.

*in him. f. By this word, Scripture, hee meaneth the Law. * Rom. 3. 9. t. All men, and what soeuer cometh from man. u. In euery one of these words, there lieth an argument against the merits of works: for all these words, promise, faith, Christ, might be giuen, to beleeuers, are against merits, and not one of them can stand with deserving works. 26 Now there followeth another handling of the second part of this Epistle: the state whereof was this: Although the Law (that is, the whole government of Gods house according to the Law) does not iustifie, is it therefore to be abolished, seeing that Abraham himselfe was circumcised, and his posteritie held still the vse of Moles Law? Paul affirmeth that it ought to be abolished, because it was instituted for the end and purpose, that it should bee as it were a Schoolemaster and keeper to the people of God, vntill the promise appeared in dede, that is to say, Christ, and the Gospel manifestly published with great efficacy of the Spirit. x. The cause why we were kept vnder the Law, is set downe here. 27 Because age chargeth not the condition of seruants, hee addeth that we are free by condition, and therefore, seeing wee are out of our childhood, wee haue no more need of a keeper and Schoolemaster. 28 Vnto a generall particle, lest the Jewes at the least should not thinke themselves bound with the band of the Law, he pronounceth that Baptisme is common to all beleeuers, because it is a pledge of our deliuerie in Christ, as well to the Jewes as to the Grecians, that by this means all may be truly one in Christ, that is to say, that promised seed to Abraham, and inheritours of euertlasting life. y. He setteth Baptisme, sincerely and without hypocrisy, which the false apostles so much bragged of. z. The Church must put on Christ, as it were a garment, and be covered with him, that it may be thoroughly holy, and without blame. a. You are all one: and so in this great knot and communion signified.*

CHAP. III.

1 ^{Being deliuered from the bondage of the Law, & by Christs comming, who is the ende thereof, 9 it is very absurde to slide backe to beggerly ceremonies. 13 Hee calleth them againe therefore to the puritie of the doctrine of the Gospel, 21 confirming his discourse with a fine allegorie.}

Then ¹ I say, that the heire as long as he is a childe, differeth nothing from a seruant, though he be lord of all,

2 But is vnder tutors and gouernours, ² vntill the time appointed of the Father.

3 Euen so, wee when wee were children, were in bondage vnder the ³ rudiments of the world.

as it were a tutour or ouerfeer appointed for a time, vntill such time as that protection and ouerseeing which was but for a time, being ended, we should at length come to be at our owne libertie, and should liue as children, and not as seruants. Moreouer, hee sheweth by the way, that that governance of the Lawe, was as it were an A B C, and as certaine principles, in comparison of the doctrine of the Gospel. a. This is added because he that is alwayes vnder a tutour or gouernour, may hardly be counted a freeman. b. The Law is called rudiments, because that by the Law God instructed his Church as it were by rudiments, and afterwarde poured out his holy Spirit most plentifully in the time of the Gospel.

25 The conclusion vnto the manner of asking a question, and it is that same that was vnto before, ver. 17. but proceeding of another rule, so that the argument is new, and is this: God is alwayes like vnto himselfe: Therefore the Law was not giuen to abolish the promises. But it should abolish them if it gaue life, for by that means it should iustifie, and therefore it should abolish that iustification, which was promised to Abraham and to his seed by faith. Nay it was rather giuen to bring to light the guiltinesse of all men, to the ende that all beleeuers fleeing to Christ promised, might be freely iustified.

He declareth that by another double similitude, which he said before concerning the keeper and schoolemaster: For he saith, that the Law (that is, the whole government of Gods house according to the Law) was

But when the fulnesse of time was come, God sent forth his Sonne made of a woman, and made vnder the Law, That hee might redeeme them which were vnder the Law, that wee might receiue the adoption of the sonnes. And because yee are sonnes, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Sonne into your hearts, which crieth, Abba, Father. Wherefore thou art no more a seruant, but a sonne: now if thou be a sonne, thou art also the heire of God through Christ. But euen then, when ye knew not God, ye did seruice vnto them, which by nature are not Gods. But now seeing yee know God, yea, rather are knowne of God, how turne yee againe vnto as from the beginning yee will be in bondage againe? Yee obserue dayes, and moneths, and times and yeeres. I am in feare of you, lest I haue bestowed on you labour in vaine. Be yee as I (for I am euen as you) brethren, I beseech you: yee haue not hurt mee at all. And ye know how through infirmities of the flesh, I preached the Gospel vnto you at the first. And the triall of mee which was in my flesh, yee despised not, neither abhorred: but ye receiued mee as an Angel of God, as Christ Iesus. What was then your felicitie? for I beare you record, that if it had beene possible, ye would haue plucked out your own eyes, and haue giuen them vnto me. Am I therefore become your enemie, because I tell you the trueth? They are ielous ouer you I amisse: yea, they would exclude you, that ye should altogether loue them. But it is a good thing to loue earnestly alwayes in a good thing, and not onely when I am present with you.

My little children, of whom I trauaile in birth againe, vntill Christ be formed in you. And I would I were with you now, that I might change my voyce: for I am in doubt of you. Tell me, ye that will be vnder the Law, doe ye not heare the Law? For it is written, that Abraham had two sonnes, one by a seruant, and one by a free woman. But hee which was of the seruant was borne after the flesh: and he which was of the free woman, was borne by promise. By the which things another thing is meant: for these two things are the two testaments, the one which is Agar of mount Sina, which gendereth vnto bondage. (For Agar or Sina is a mountaine in Arabia, and it answereth to Hierusalem which now is) and she is in bondage with her children. But Hierusalem, which is aboute, is free: which is the mother of vs all. For it is written, Reioyce thou barren that bearest no children: breake forth, and cry, thou that trauest not: for the desolate hath many moe children, then she which hath an husband. Therefore, brethren, we are after the manner of Isaac, children of the promise. But as then he that was borne after the flesh, persecuted him that was borne after the Spirit, euen so it is now. But what saith the Scripture? Put out the seruant and her sonne: for the sonne of the seruant shall not be heire with the sonne of the free woman. Then brethren, wee are not children of the seruant, but of the free woman.

as it were two sonnes borne to Abraham of those two covenants, as it were of two mothers. The one was made in Sina, without the land of promise, according to which covenant Abrahams children were according to the flesh were begotten: to wit, the Iewes, which seeke righteousness by that covenant, that is, by the Law: but they are not heires, nay they shall at length be cast out of the house, as they that persecute the true heires. The other was made in that high Hierusalem, or in Sion (to wit, by the sacrifice of Christ) which begetteth children of promise, to wit, beleeuers, by the vertue of the holy Ghost, which children (as Abraham) doe rest themselves in the free promise, and they onely by the right of children shalbe partakers of the fathers inheritance, and those seruants shall be shut out. That desire so greatly. Gen. 16. 15. At all men are, and by the common course of nature. By vertue of the promise, which Abraham laid hold on for himselfe & his true seed for otherwise Abraham and Sara were past begetting and bearing of children. These doe represent and shadow forth, a They are called two covenants, one of the old Testament, and another of the new: which were not two in deed, but in respect of the times, and the diuersitie of the gouernments. He maketh mention of Sina, because this covenant was made in that mountaine, of which mountaine Agar was a shadow. Look how the case standeth betwixt Agar and her children, euen so standeth it betwixt Hierusalem and hers. That is, Sina. Which is excellent, and of great account. Hee sheweth that in this allegorie, he hath followed the steps of Elay, who foretold that the Church should be made and consist of the children of barren Sara, that is to say, of them which onely spiritually should be made Abrahams children by faith, rather then of fruitfull Agar, euen then fortheweing the casting off the Iewes, and calling of the Gentiles. Eia. 54. 1. Shee that is destroyed and wasted. Rom. 8. 9. After the manner of Isaac, who is the first begotten of the Heauenly Hierusalem, as Ismael is of the Iewish Synagogue. That seede vnto which the promise belongeth. By the common course of nature. By the vertue of Gods promise and after a spirituall manner. Gen. 21. 10. The conclusion of the former allegorie, that we by no meanes procure and call backe againe the slauerie of the Law, seeing that the children of the bondmaid shall not be heires.

CHAP. V.

Having declared that we came of the free woman, he sheweth the price of that freedome, 13 and how we should use the same, 16 that wee may obey the Spirit, 19 and resist the flesh.

2. If so other ward among you, 6 Because the false apostles vied this, that vntil the Gen- tiles were cir- cumcised, Christ could profit the nothing at all, and this dissen- sion of them which beleued of the circumci- sion, against them which be- leued of the vncircumcision, was full of of- fence: the Apo- stle after diuers arguments, where- by he hath refu- ted their error, bringeth forth an allegorie, where- in he faith the holy Ghost did shadow out vnto vs, all these mysteries, to wit, if it should come to passe, that two sorts of sonnes, should haue Abraham a father com- mon to them both: but not with like suc- cesse: for as A- braham begate Ismael by the common course of nature, of A- gar his bond- maid & a stran- ger, and begate Isaac of Sara a free woman, by the vertue of the promise, and by grace onely, and the first was not onely not heire, but also persecu- ted the heire: So there are two covenants, and if we haue the Spirit, wee are his sonnes; and if wee are his sonnes, then are wee free. 2 The holy Ghost, who is the Spirit of the Father, and of the Sonne: but there is a peculiar reason why he is called the Spirit of the Sonne, to wit, because the holy Ghost sealeth vnto our adoption in Christ, and maketh vs a full assurance of it. b The word, seruant, is not taken here for one that liueth in sinne, which is proper to the Iewes, but for one that is yet vnder the ceremo- nies of the Law, which is proper to the Iewes. c Partaker of his blessings. d Hee ap- plies the former doctrine to the Galatians, with a peculiar reprehension: for in com- parison of them, the Iewes might haue pretended some excuse as men that were borne and brought vp in that seruice of the Law. But seeing that the Galatians were taken and called out of idolatrie to Christian libertie, what pretence might they haue to go backe to those impotent and beggerly rudiments? k They are called impotent and beggerly ceremonies, being considered apart by themselves without Christ: and againe, for that by that means they gaue good testimonie that they were beggers in Christ, when as not- withstanding, for men to fall backe from Christ to ceremonies, is nothing els, but to cast away riches, and to follow beggerie. l By going backward. 5 Hee mitigateth and qualifieth those things, wherein hee might haue seemed to haue spoken somewhat harshly, very artificially and diuinely, declaring his good will toward them in such sort, that the Galatians could not but either bee vicerly desperate when they read these things, or acknowledge their owne lightnesse with teares, and desire pardon. m Many afflictions. n Those daily troubles wherewith the Lord tryed mee amongst you. o For my ministeries sake. p What stake was there abroad in the world amongst men, how happy you were? q For they are ielous ouer you for their owne commoditie. r That they may conuey all your loue from mee, to themselves. s Hee ser- ueth his owne true and good loue, which was earnestly bent toward them, against the naughty- vices of the false apostles.

Faith working by loue. To the Galatians. Of the flesh and spirit.

Stand fast therefore in the libertie wherewith Christ hath made vs free, and be not intangled againe with the yoke of bondage.

2 Behold, I Paul say vnto you, that if ye be^a circumcised, Christ shall profit you nothing.

3 For I testifie againe to euery man, which is circumcised, that he is bound to keepe the whole Law.

4 Ye are^b abolished from Christ, who sooner are^c iustified by the Lawe, ye are fallen from grace.

5 For wee through the^d Spirit waite for the hope of righteousnesse through faith.

6 For in Iesus Christ neither circumcision auaileth any thing, neither vncircumcision, but^e faith, which worketh by loue.

7 Ye did run well: who did let you, that ye did not obey the truth?

8 It is not the perswasion of flesh that calleth you.

9 A little leauen doeth leauen the whole lump.

10 That trust in you through the Lord, that ye will be none otherwise minded: but he that troubleth you, shall beare his condemnation who soeuer he be.

11 And brethren, if I yet preach circumcision, why doe I yet suffer persecution? Then is the slander of the crosse abolished.

12 Would to God they were euen cut off, which doe^f disquiet you.

13 For brethren, ye haue beene called vnto libertie: ^g only vse not your libertie as an occasion to the flesh; but by loue serue one another.

14 For^h all the Lawe is fulfilled in one worde, which is this, ⁱ Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.

15 If wee bite and deuoure one another, take heed lest ye be consumed one of another.

tention wherbe plainly witnesseth that instruction of works, and ius-tification of faith cannot stand together, because no man can be iustified by the Law, but he that doeth fully and perfectly fulfill it. And he that the example of circumcision, because it was the ground of all the service of the Law, and was chiefly vrged of the false Apostles.

² Circumcision is in other places called the scale of righteousnesse, but here we must haue consideration of the circumstance of the time, for now had Baptisme come in the place of circumcision.
And moreover Paul is forth according to the opinion that his enemies had of it, which made circumcision a piece of their saluation
1. Cor. 7.

³ That is, as he himselfe expondeth it afterward, ye are fallen from grace.

⁴ That is, like to be iustified by the Law, for in deede no man is iustified by the Law.

⁵ Hee priuily compareth the new people with the olde: for it is certaine that they also did ground all their hope of iustification and life in faith, and not in circumcision, but so, that their faith was wrapped in the externall and ceremoniall worship: but our faith is bare and content with spirituall worship. ⁶ Through the Spirit which ingendreth faith. ⁷ Hee addeth a reason for that now, circu- acion is abolished, seeing that Christ is exhibited vnto vs with full plentie of Spirituall circumcision. ⁸ Hee maketh mention also of vncircumcision, lest the Gentiles should please themselves in it, as the Iewes doe in circumcision. ⁹ The taking away of an obiection: If all that worship of the Law be taken away, wherein then shall wee exercise our selues? In charitie, saith Paul:
for faith whereof we speake, cannot be idle, nay it bringeth forth daily fruits of charitie. ¹⁰ So is true faith distinguished from counterfeit faith: for charitie is not toyed with faith as a fellow canste, to helpe forward our iustification with faith. ¹¹ Again he chideth the Galatians, but with an admiration, and therewithall a praise of their former race, to the ende that he may make them more ashamed. ¹² Hee playeth the part of an Apostle with them, & vseth his authoritie, denying that that doctrine can come from God, which is contrary to his. ¹³ Of God. ¹⁴ Cor. 5. 6. ¹⁵ Hee addeth this, that he may not seeme to contend vpon a trifle, warning them diligently (by a simi-litude which he borroweth of Iewes, as Christ himselfe also did) not to suffer the puritie of the Apostollicall doctrine to be infected with the least corruption that may bee.
16 Hee mitigateth the former reprehension, casting the fault vpon the false apostles, against whom he denounceth the horrible iudgement of God. ¹⁷ Hee willeth them to consider how that he seeketh not his owne profit in this matter, seeing that he could eschew the hatred of men, if hee would ioyne Iudaisme with Christianitie.
18 An example of a true Pastour, inflamed with the zeale of Gods glorie, and loue of his flocke. ¹⁹ For they that preach the Law, cause mens consciences alwayes to tremble. ²⁰ The thirde part of this Epistle, shewing that therighte of Christian libertie consisteth in this, that being deliuered & set at libertie from the slaue of sinne and the flesh, and being obedient to the spirit, we should serue vnto anothers saluation through loue. ²¹ Hee propoundeth the loue of our neighbour, as a marke whereunto all Christians ought to referre all their actions, and thereunto hee citeth the Testimonie of the Law. ²² In this part (all) must be restrained to the second Table. ²³ Leuit.

the duties of charitie, by the protest: that ensueth thereof, because that no men prouide worke for themselves, then they that hate one another.

16 Then I say, ^a Walke in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfill the lusts of the flesh.

17 For the^b flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrarie one to another, so that ye cannot doe the same things that ye would.

18 And if ye be led by the Spirit, ye are not vnder the Law.

19 Moreover the workes of the flesh are manifest, which are adultery, fornication, vn-cleannesse, wantonnesse,

20 Idolatrie, witchcraft, hatred, debate, emulations, wrath, contentions, feshions, here-

21 Enuie, murders, drunkennes, gluttony, and such like, whereof I tell you before, as I also haue told you before, that they which do such things, shall not inherit the kingdome of God.

22 But the^c fruit of the Spirit is loue, ioy, peace, long suffering, gentlenesse, goodnesse,
faith,

23 Meekenesse, temperance: ^d against such there is no Law.

24 For they that are Christ^e, haue crucified the flesh with the affections and the lusts.

25 If wee^f liue in the Spirit, let vs walke in the Spirit.

26 Let vs not be desirous of vaine glorie, prouoking one another, enuying one another.

any offence, ye which are^c spirituall, restore such one with the^d spirit of meekenesse;
^e considering thy self, lest thou also be tempted.

2 Beare ye one anothers burden, and so fulfill the^f Law of Christ.

3 For if any man seeme to himselfe, that he is somewhat, when he is nothing, he deceiueth himselfe in his imagination.

cised, onely because they would not suffer persecution for the crosse of Christ.

13 For they themselves which are circumcised keepe not the Lawe, but desire to haue you circumcised, that they might reioyce in your flesh.

14 But God forbid that I should reioyce, but in the crosse of our Lord Iesus Christ, whereby the world is crucified vnto mee, and I vnto the world.

15 For in Christ Iesus neither circumcision auaileth any thing, nor vncircumcision, but a new creature.

16 And as many as walke according to this rule, peace shall be vpon them, and mercie, and vpon the Israel of God.

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL TO THE EPHESIANS.

CHAP. I.

1 After the saluation, 4 hee entreateth of the free election of God, 5 and adoption, 7. 13. from whence mans saluation floweth, as from the true naturall fountaine: and because so high a mystrie cannot be vnderstood, 16 hee prayeth that the full 20 knowledge of Christ may by God be revealed vnto the Ephesians.

PAUL an Apostle of Iesus Christ by the will of God, to the Saints, which are at Ephesus, and to the faithfull in Christ Iesus.

2 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

3 Blessed be God, 3 and the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, 4 which hath blessed vs with all spirituall blessing in heavenly things in Christ.

4 As hee hath chosen vs in him, before the foundation of the world, 7 that wee should be holy, and without blame before him in loue: 8 Who hath predestinate vs, to be adopted through Iesus Christ in himselfe, according to the good pleasure of his will, 9 To the praise of the glory of his grace, 10 wherewith hee hath made vs freely accepted in his beloued. 11 By whom we haue redemption through his blood, euen the forgiveness of sinnes, according to his rich grace: 12 Whereby he hath bin abundant toward vs in all wisdom and vnderstanding, the foundation of the world, 7 that wee should be holy, and without blame before him in loue:

8 Who hath predestinate vs, to be adopted through Iesus Christ in himselfe, according to the good pleasure of his will,

9 To the praise of the glory of his grace, 10 wherewith hee hath made vs freely accepted in his beloued.

11 By whom we haue redemption through his blood, euen the forgiveness of sinnes, according to his rich grace:

12 Whereby he hath bin abundant toward vs in all wisdom and vnderstanding,

Hee expoundeth the next finall cause, which he maketh double, to wit sanctification, and iustification, whereof he will speake hereafter. And hereby also two things are to be noted, to wit, that holiness of life cannot be separate from the grace of election: and againe what purenesse neuer is in vs, is the gift of God who hath freely of his mercie chosen vs.

¶ Then God did not chuse vs, because we were, or otherwise should haue bene holy but to this end we should be holy. 5 Being clothed with Christs righteousness. 6 Truly and sincerely. 8 An other plainer exposition of the efficient cause, and also of eternall election, whereby God is said to haue chosen vs in Christ, to wit because it pleased him to appoint vs our when we were not yet borne, whom he would make to be his children by Iesus Christ: so that there is no reason here of our election to be sought, but in the free mercie of God, neither is faith which God foresaw, the cause of our predestination, but the effect. 9 God respecteth nothing, either that present is, or that is to come, but himselfe onely. 9 The vttermost and chiefe finall cause is the glory of God the Father, who saueh vs freely in his Sonne. 1 That as his bountifull goodnesse deserueth all praise, so also it should be set forth and published. 10 Another finall cause more neere, is our iustification, while that he freely accounted vs for iust in his Sonne. 11 An expounding of the materiall cause, how wee are made acceptable to God in Christ, for it is hee onely whose sacrifice by the mercie of God is imputed vnto vs, for forgiveness of sinnes. 12 Now he commeth at length to the formall cause, that is to say to vocation or preaching of the Gospel, whereby God executeth that eternall counsell of our free reconciliation and saluation in Christ, and putting in place of the Gospel all wisdom and vnderstanding, he sheweth how excellent it is. 13 By which gracious goodnesse and bountifullnesse. 1 In perfect and sound wisdom.

For unless the Lord had opened unto us that mysterie, we could not have known so much of our selues.

13 Not onely
the election, but also the vocation proceedeth of mercy grace.

14 The Father exhibited and gaue Christ, who is the head of all the elect vnto
the world, at that time which was conuenient
according as he most wisely disposed all times
from eternitie.

And Christ is the head of all the elect from the beginning of the world.

(otherwise wandering and separated from God) are gathered together: of which some were then in heauen,

when he came into the earth, (to wit, such as by faith in him to come, were gathered together) and other being found vp-on the earth,

were gathered together of him, and the rest are daily gathered together.

15 The faithfull are said to be gathered together in Christ, because they are ioyntly gathered with him through faith, and become as it were one man.

16 He applieth feverally the benefit of vocation to the beleeu-ing Jewes, going backe to the very fountaine,

that euen they also may not attribute their saluation, neither to them-
selues, nor to their stocke, nor any other thing, but to the onely grace and mercie of God, both because they were called, and also because they were first called.

17 Now he maketh the Ephesians (or rather all the Gentiles) equal to the Jewes, because that notwithstanding they came last,
being called by the same Gospel, they embraced faith, and were sealed vp with the same spirit, which is the pledge of election, vntill the inheritance it selfe be seene, that in them also the glory of God may shine forth & be manifest.

18 This is a borrowed kinde of speech taken of a scale, which being put to any thing, maketh difference betweene those things that are auenturall, and others that are not.

19 Full and perfect. 17 Hee returneth to the former gratulation, concluding two things together of those things that went before:
the first is, that all good things come to vs from God the Father in Christ, and by Christ, that for them he may be praised of vs. The second is, that all those things (which he bringeth to two heads, to wit, faith and charite) are increased in vs by certaine degrees, so that we must desire increase of his grace, from whome wee haue the beginning, and of whom we hope for the ende.

18 The causes of faith, are God the Father lighting our minds with his holy spirit, that we may embrace Christ opened vnto vs in the Gospel, to the obtaining of euertlasting life, and the letting forth of Gods glory.

19 For it is not enough for vs to haue known God once, but we must know him euery day more and more. 17 What blessings they are which he callethe you to hope for, whome he calleth to Christ. 19 The excellencie of faith is declared by the effects, because the mightie power of God is set forth and shewed therein.

20 The Apostle willethe vs to beholde in our most glorious Christ with the eyes of faith that most excellent power and glorie of God, whereof all the faithfull are partakers, although it be as yet very darke in vs, by reason of the ignominy of the crosse, and the weaknesse of the flesh.

21 To be set on Gods right hand, isto be partaker of the soueraintie which he hath ouer all creatures. 2 A euery thing whatsoever it be, or about all things, be they of neuer so much power or excellencie,

9 And hath opened vnto vs the mystery of his will according to his good pleasure, which he had purposed in him.

10 That in the dispensation of the fulnesse of the times, he might gather together in one all things, both which are in heauen, and which are in earth, even in Christ.

11 In whom also we are chosen when we were predestinate according to the purpose of him, which worketh all things after the counsell of his owne will.

12 That we, which first trusted in Christ, should be vnto the praise of his glory.

13 In whom also ye haue trusted, after that ye heard the word of truth, even the Gospel of your saluation, wherein also after that ye beleueed, ye were sealed with the holy Spirit of promise.

14 Which is the earnest of our inheritance, for the redemption of that libertie purchased vnto the praise of his glory.

15 Therefore also after that I heard of the faith, which ye haue in the Lord Iesus, and loue toward all the Saints,

16 I cease not to giue thanks for you, making mention of you in my prayers.

17 That the GOD of our Lord Iesus Christ, the Father of glory, might giue vnto you the spirit of wisdom, and reuelation through the acknowledging of him.

18 That the eyes of your vnderstanding may be lightened, that ye may know what the hope is of his calling, and what the riches of his glorious inheritance is in the Saints,

19 And what is the exceeding greatnesse of his power toward vs which beleuee, according to the working of his mighty power,

20 Which he wrought in Christ, when he raised him from the dead, and set him at his right hand in heavenly places,

21 Farre aboue all principallitie, and power, and might, and domination, and euery name, that euen they also may not attribute their saluation, neither to themselues, nor to their stocke, nor any other thing, but to the onely grace and mercie of God, both because they were called, and also because they were first called.

17 Now he maketh the Ephesians (or rather all the Gentiles) equal to the Jewes, because that notwithstanding they came last, being called by the same Gospel, they embraced faith, and were sealed vp with the same spirit, which is the pledge of election, vntill the inheritance it selfe be seene,
that in them also the glory of God may
shine forth & be manifest.

18 This is a borrowed kinde of speech
taken of a scale, which being put to any thing, maketh difference betweene those things that are auenturall, and others that are not.

19 Full and perfect. 17 Hee returneth to the former gratulation, concluding two things together of those things that went before:
the first is, that all good things come to vs from God the Father in Christ, and by Christ, that for them he may be praised of vs. The second is, that all those things (which he bringeth to two heads, to wit, faith and charite) are increased in vs by certaine degrees, so that we must desire increase of his grace, from whome wee haue the beginning, and of whom we hope for the ende.

18 The causes of faith, are God the Father lighting our minds with his holy spirit, that we may embrace Christ opened vnto vs in the Gospel, to the obtaining of euertlasting life, and the letting forth of Gods glory.

19 For it is not enough for vs to haue known God once, but we must know him euery day more and more. 17 What blessings they are which he callethe you to hope for, whome he calleth to Christ. 19 The excellencie of faith is declared by the effects, because the mightie power of God is set forth and shewed therein.

20 The Apostle willethe vs to beholde in our most glorious Christ with the eyes of faith that most excellent power and glorie of God, whereof all the faithfull are partakers, although it be as yet very darke in vs, by reason of the ignominy of the crosse, and the weaknesse of the flesh.

that is named, not in this world onely, but al-

22 And hath made all things subiect vnder his feet, and hath giuen him ouer all things to be the head of the Church,

23 Which is his body, even the fulnesse of him that filleth all in all things.

And therefore the body must be ioynted on this head, which otherwise would be a disiunct thing without the members: which notwithstanding is not of necessity (seeing that the Church is rather quickened and sustained by the holy vertue of Christ, so far off it is, that he needeth the fulnesse thereof) but of the infinite good will and pleasure of God, who vouchsafeth to ioyne vs to his Sonne. In so much that there is nothing in vs, but all things in Christ, yet he alloweth himselfe but a member and a part of his body, vntill he haue the Church ioynted to him in his body.

CHAP. II.

1 The better to set out the grace of Christ, he saith a comparison, calling them to minde, 1 That they were alwaies other cast, vntill they were alienated, 2 That they are saued by grace, 13 and brought nigh, 16 by reconciliation through Christ, 17 published by the Gospel.

And you haue been quickened, that were dead in trespasses and finnes,

2 Wherein, in times past ye walked, according to the course of this world, and after the prince that ruleth in the aire, even the spirit, that now worketh in the children of disobedience.

3 Among whom we also had our conuersation in time past in the lusts of our flesh, in fulfilling the will of the flesh, and of the minde, and were by nature the children of wrath, as well as others.

4 But God which is rich in mercy, through his great loue wherewith he loued vs,

5 Euen when wee were dead by finnes, hath quickened vs together in Christ, by whose grace ye are saued,

6 And hath raised vs vp together, and made vs sit together in the heavenly places in Christ Iesus,

7 That he might shew in the ages to come the exceeding riches of his grace through his kindnesse toward vs in Christ Iesus.

8 For by grace ye are saued through faith,
& that not of your selues: it is the gift of God, the cause of death, to wit, finnes. 3 He proueth by the effects that all were spiritually dead. 4 Hee proueth this euill to be vniuersall, in so much as all are slaves of Satan. 5 At the pleasure of the prince. 6 Men are therefore slaves to Satan, because they are willingly rebellious against God. 7 They are called the children of disobedience, which are given to disobedience. 8 After that he hath feverally conde-nemed the Gentiles, he confesseth that the Jewes amongst whom hee numbreth himselfe, are not a whit better. 9 By the name of fleshe in the first place, hee meaneth the whole man, which hee diuideth into two parts: into the flesh, which is the part that the Philosophers terme without reason, and into the thought, which they call reasonable: so that he leaue nothing in man but dead, but concludeth that the whole man is of nature the source of wrath.

10 The Conclusion: All men are borne subiect to the wrath and curse of God.
11 Men are saide to be the children of wrath passionately, that is to say guilty of euill death by the iudgement of God, who is angry with them. 12 Prophane people which are not God. 13 Now hereof followeth another member of the comparison, declaring our excellencie, to wit, that by the vertue of Christ wee are deliuered from that death, and made partakers of eternall life, to the ende that at length wee may reigne with him. And by diuers and sundry meanes hee beatech this into their heads, that the efficient cause of this benefite is the free mercie of God: and Christ himselfe is the instrumental cause: and Faith is the instrument, which also is the free gift of God: and the ende is Gods glorie. 14 To wit, as he addeth afterwards, in Christ, for as yet the world is filled in vs, but only in our head, by whose Spirit we haue begunne to die to sinne, and are to God, vntill that wee be fully brought to an ende: but yet the hope is certaine, for we are sure of that wee haue for, as we are of that wee haue receiued already. 15 So then, Grace that is to say the gift of God, and faith, doe stand one with another, to which two there are contraries, To be saued by our selues, or by our works. Therefore what meaneth they which would

CHAP. V.

2 Left in those vices which hee reprehended, they should set light by his admonitions, 5 Hee terrifieth them by denouncing severe iudgements, 8 and stirreth them forward. 15 Then hee descendeth from generall lessons of manners, 21 to the particular dueties of wiues 25 and husbands.

BE yee therefore followers of God, as deare children.

2 * And walke in loue, euen as Christ hath loued vs, and hath giuen himselfe for vs, to bee and offering and a sacrifice of a sweete smelling fauour to God.

3 * 1 But fornication, and all vncleanness, or couetousnesse, let it not bee once named among you, as it becommeth Saints,

4 Neither filthinesse, neither foolish talking, neither iesting, which are things not comely, but rather giuing of thanks.

5 2 For this yee knowe, that no whore-monger, neither vncleane person, nor couetous person, which is an idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdome of Christ, and of God.

6 * Let no man deceiue you with vaine words: for, for such things commeth the wrath of God vpon the children of disobedience.

7 3 Be not therefore companions with them.

8 For ye were once darknesse, but are now light in the Lord: walke as children of light.

9 (For the fruit of the Spirit is in all goodness, and righteousness, and truth)

10 Approouing that which is pleasing to the Lord.

11 And haue no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darknesse, but euen reprove them rather.

12 For it is shame euen to speake of the things which are done of them in secret.

13 But all things when they are reprovod of the light, are manifest: for it is light that maketh all things manifest.

14 Wherefore he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and stand vp from the dead, & Christ shall giue thee light.

15 Take heede therefore that yee walke circumspectly, not as fooles, but as wise, 16 Redeeming the season: for the dayes are euill.

17 Wherefore, be ye not vnwise, but vnderstand what the will of the Lord is.

18 And be not drunken with wine, wherein is excessie: but be fulfilled with the Spirit,

19 Speaking vnto your selues in psalmes and hymnes, and spirituall songs, singing, and making melodieto the Lord in your hearts,

20 Giuing thanks alwayes for all things vnto God euen the Father, in the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ, 21 Submitting your selues one to another in the feare of God.

22 ¶ 7 Wiues, submit your selues vnto your husbands, as vnto the Lord.

23 9 For the husband is the wiues head, euen as Christ is the head of the Church, and the same is the sauour of his body.

24 11 Therefore as the Church is in subiection to Christ, euen so let the wiues bee to their husbands in euery thing.

25 ¶ 12 Husbands, loue your wiues, euen as Christ loued the Church, and gaue himselfe for it,

26 13 That he might sanctifie it, and cleanse it by the washing of water through the word,

3 Because wee are not so ready to any thing, as to follow euill examples, therefore the Apostle warneth the godly to remember alwayes, that the other are but as it were darknesse, and that they themselves are as it were light. And therefore the other commit all villenies (as men are wont in the darke) but they ought not onely not to follow their examples, but also (as the property of the light is) to reprove their darknesse, and to walke so (having Christ that true light going before them) as it becommeth wise men.
c The faithfull are called light, both because they haue the true light in them which lighten them, and also because they giue light to other, as the sunne, that their honest conversation reproveth the life of wicked men.

the merchants: who preferre the least profit that may bee before all their pleasures. 5 The times are troublesome and sharpe. * Rom. 12. 2. 1 Thes. 4. 3. 5 He reuoketh the sober and holy assemblies of the faithfull, against the dissolute bankets of vnfaithfull, in which the praises of the onely Lord, not ring, be it in prosperity or aduersitie. 6 All kind of riot, toyed with all manner of filthinesse and shamefulness. 1 With an earnest affection of the heart, and not with the tongue onely. 6 A short repetition of the end whereunto all things ought to be referred, to serue one another for Gods sake. * Col. 2. 8. o The Church as it is considered in itself, shall not be without wrinkles, before it come to the mark it shooteth at: for while it is in this life, it is in a race: but if it be considered in Christ, it is clean and without wrinkle.

14 Another argument: Every man loveth himselfe, even of nature, therefore hee loveth against nature that loveth not his wife: hee prooveth the consequent, first by the mystical knitting of Christ and the Church together, and then by the ordinance of God, who said, that man and wife are as one, that is, not to be divided. ^p His owne body. ^q He alludeth to the making of the woman, which signifieth our compling together with Christ, which is wrought by faith, but is sealed in the Sacrament of the Supper. ^r Gen. 2. 24. mat. 19. 5. mar. 10. 7. 1. cor. 6. 16. ^s Luke Mat. 9. 5. ^t 15 That no man might dreame of naturall conjunction or knitting of Christ and his Church together (such as the husbands and the wives is) hee sheweth that it is secret, to wit, spirituall, and such as farre differeth from the common capacity of man: as which consisteth of the vertue of the Spirit, and not of the flesh, by faith, and by no naturall band. ^u 16 The conclusion both of the husbands duetie toward his wife, and of the wives toward her husband.

27 That hee might make it vnto himselfe a glorious Church, not having spot or wrinkle, or any such thing: but that it should bee holy and without blame.

28 ¹⁴ So ought men to loue their wiues, as their owne bodies: he that loveth his wife, loveth himselfe.

29 For no man euer yet hated his Powne flesh, but nourisheth and cherisheth it, even as the Lord doeth the Church.

30 For we are members of his body, of his flesh, and of his bones.

31 ¹ For this cause shall a man leaue father and mother, and shall cleave to his wife, and they twaine shalbe one flesh.

32 ¹⁵ This is a great secret, but I speake concerning Christ, and concerning the Church.

33 ¹⁶ Therefore every one of you, doe yee so: let every one loue his wife, even as himselfe, and let the wife see that she feare her husband,

CHAP. VI.

¹ Hee sheweth the dueties of children, ² servants, ³ and masters. ¹⁰ Then hee speaketh of the fierce battell that the faithfull haue, ¹² and what weapons we must use in the same: ²¹ In the end he commendeth Tychicus.

Children, ¹ obey your parents in the Lord: for this is right.

² ⁴ Honour thy father & mother (which is the first commandment with promise)

³ That it may be well with thee, and that thou mayest liue long on earth.

⁴ ⁶ And yee, fathers, prouoke not your children to wrath: but bring them vp in instruction and information of the Lord.

⁵ ⁷ Servants, be obedient vnto them that are your masters, according to the flesh, with feare and trembling in singleness of your hearts as vnto Christ,

⁶ Not with seruice to the eye, as men pleasers, but as the seruants of Christ, doing the will of God from the heart,

⁷ With good will, seruing the Lord, and not men.

³ The second argument: Because this obedience is most iust.

⁵ The third argument taken of the profit that ensueth thereby: Because the Lord vouchsafed this commandment amongst all the rest of a speciall blessing.

⁶ With a speciall promise: for otherwise the second commandment hath a promise of mercy to a thousand generations, but that promise is generall.

⁷ It is the duetie of fathers to vse their fatherly authoritie moderately and to Gods glory.

⁸ Such informations and precepts as being taken out of Gods booke, are holy and acceptable to him.

⁹ Now hee descendeth to the third part of a family, to wit, to the duetie both of the masters, and of the seruants. And hee sheweth that the duetie of seruants consisteth in an hearty loue and reuerence to their masters.

¹¹ With careful reuerence, for fleshly seruice is not allowable, much lesse in Christian seruants.

¹² To cut off occasion of all pretences, hee teacheth vs that it is Gods will that some be either borne or made seruants, and therefore they must respect Gods will, although the seruice bee neuer so hard.

¹³ Being moued with reuerence to Godward, as though yee serued God himselfe.

⁸ ¹⁰ And know yee that whatsoeuer good thing any man doth, that same shal he receiue of the Lord, whether he be bond or free.

⁹ ¹¹ And yee masters doe the same things vnto them, putting away threatning: & know that euen your master also is in heauen, neither is there respect of person with him.

¹⁰ ¹² Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might

¹¹ Put on the whole armour of God, that yee may be able to stand against the assaults of the deuill.

¹² ¹³ For wee wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers and against the worldly gouernors, the princes of the darknes of this world, against spiritual wickednesses, which are in the hie places.

¹³ ¹⁴ For this cause take vnto you the whole armour of God, that yee may be able to resist in the euill day, and hauing finished all things, stand fast.

¹⁴ Stand therefore, and your loynes girded about with veritie, and hauing on the brest plate of righteoufnesse, ¹⁵ And your feete shod with the preparation of the Gospel of peace.

¹⁶ About all, take the shield of Faith, wherewith yee may quench all the fierie darts of the wicked,

¹⁷ And take the helmet of saluation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God.

¹⁸ And pray alwayes with all maner prayer and supplication in the Spirit: and watch therunto with al perseverance and supplication for all Saints, ¹⁹ And for me, that vterance may bee giuen vnto me, that I may open my mouth boldly to publish the secret of the Gospel.

²⁰ Whereof I am the ambassador in bonds, that therein I may speake boldly, as I ought to speake.

²¹ ¹⁵ But that yee may also knowe mine affaires, and what I doe, Tychicus my deare brother and faithfull minister in the Lord, shall shew you of all things,

²² Whom I haue sent vnto you for the same purpose, that yee might know mine affaires, and that he might comfort your hearts.

²³ Peace bee with the brethren, and loue with faith from God the Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

²⁴ Grace be with all them which loue our Lord Iesus Christ, to their immortalitie, Amen.

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL TO THE PHI- LIPIANS.

CHAP. I.

3 Having testified his goodly and tender affection towards the Philippians, 12 hee increaseth of himselfe, and his bonds: 13 And priset him forward by his owne example, 17. and exhorteth them to unite, 28. and patience.

AVL and Timotheus the servants of Iesus Christ, to all the Saints in Christ Iesus which are at Philippi, with the Bishops, and Deacons:

Grace bee with you, and peace from God our Father, & from the Lord Iesus Christ.

3 I thank my God, having you in perfect memorie,

4 (Alwayes in all my prayers for all you, praying with gladnesse.)

5 Because of the fellowship which yee haue in the Gospel, from the first day vnto now.

6 And am perswaded of this same thing, that hee that hath beguene this good worke in you, will performe it vntill the day of Iesus Christ.

7 As it becommeth mee so to iudge of you all, because I haue you in remembrance, that both in my bands, and in my defence and confirmation of the Gospel you all were partakers of my grace.

8 For God is my record, how I long after you all from the very heart roote in Iesus Christ.

9 And this I pray, that your loue may abound, yet more and more in knowledge, and in all iudgement,

10 That ye may allow those things which are best, that ye may be pure, and without offence vntill the day of Christ,

11 Filled with the fruits of righteousness, which are by Iesus Christ vnto the glory and praise of God.

12 ¶ I would yee vnderstood, brethren, that the things which haue come vnto me, are turned rather to the furthering of the Gospel,

13 So that my bands in Christ are famous throughout all the iudgement hall, and in all other places,

14 In so much that many of the brethren in the Lord are boldned through my bands, and dare more frankly speake the word.

15 Some preach Christ euen through enuie and strife, and some also of good will.

16 The one part preacheth Christ of contention and not purely, supposing to add more affliction to my bands.

17 But the others of loue, knowing that I am set for the defence of the Gospel.

18 What then? yet Christ is preached all manner of wayes, whether it be vnder a pretence, or sincerely: and I therein ioy: yea and will ioy.

19 For I know that this shall turne to my saluation through your praiet, and by the helpe of the Spirit of Iesus Christ,

20 As I serulently looke for, and hope; that in nothing I shall be ashamed, but that with all confidence, as alwayes, so now Christ shall be magnified in my body, whether it be by life or by death.

21 For Christ is to mee both in life, and in death advantage.

22 And whether to liue in the flesh were profitable for mee, and what to chuse I know not.

23 For I am distressed betweene both, desiring to be loosed and to be with Christ, which is best of all.

24 Neuerthelesse, to abide in the flesh, is more needfull for you.

25 And this am I sure of, that I shall abide, and with you all continue, for your furtherance and ioy of your faith,

26 That yee may more abundantly reioyce in IESVS CHRIST for me, by my coming to you againe.

27 Onely let your conuersation be, as it becommeth the Gospel of Christ, that whether I come and see you, or else bee absent, I may heare of your matters that yee continue in one Spirit, and in one minde, fighting together through the faith of the Gospel.

28 And in nothing feare your aduersaries, which is to them a token of perdition, and to you of saluation, and that of God.

b For Christs sake, i In the Emperours court, k The Gospel is called the word, so for the excellencie of it.

l Met with a pure minde, for they make their doctrine true.

m He sheweth by setting forth his owne example, that the end of our afflictions is true ioy, and that through the vertues of the Spirit of Christ, which he giueth to them that aske it.

n Vnder a goodly colour and show, for they make Christ a cloke for their ambition and enuie.

o We must continue euen to the end, with great confidence, having nothing before our eyes but Christes glory, onely whether we liue or die.

p An example of a true shepheard, who maketh more accompt how he may profit his sheepe, then he doth of any commodity of his own whatsoeuer.

q To liue in this mortal body.

r Having let downe those things before in manner of a preface, he descendeth now to exhortations, warning them first of all, to consent both in doctrine and minde, and afterward, that being thus knie together with those common bands, they continue through the strenght of faith to beare all aduersitie in such sort, that they admit nothing vnworthie the profession of the Gospel.

s The word signifieth to stand fast in, and it is t proper to wrestlers, that stand fast and shrinke not a foote.

u Wee ought not to be discouraged but rather encouraged by the persecutions, which the enemies of the Gospel imagine and practise against vs: seeing that they are certaine witnesses from God him selfe both of our saluation, and of the destruction of the wicked.

Christs obedience. To the Philippians. All seeketh their owne.

20 He proueth that his saing, that perfection is a token of our saluation, because it is a gift of God to suffer for Christ, which gift he bestoweth vpon his owne, as he doeth the gift of faith. 21 Now he sheweth for what purpose he made mention of his afflictions.

29 For vnto you it is giuen for Christ, that not onely yee should beleue in him, but also suffer for his sake.

30 Having the same fight, which yee saw in me, and now heare to be in me.

CHAP. II.

Hee exhorteth them aboue all things to humilitie, and that by the example of Christ. Hee promisseth to send Timotheus shortly vnto them, and exhorteth the long tarying of Epaphroditus.

If there bee therefore any consolation in Christ, if any comfort of loue, if any fellowship of the Spirit, if any compassion and mercie,

2 Fulfill my ioy, that yee be like minded, hauing the same loue, being of one accord, and of one iudgement.

3 That nothing be done through contention or vaine glorie, but that in meekenesse of minde euery man esteeme other better then himselfe.

4 Look not euery man on his owne things, but euery man also on the things of other men.

5 Let the same minde be in you that was euin in Christ Iesus,

6 Who being in the forme of God, thought it no robbery to be equal with God:

7 But he made himselfe of no reputation, and tooke on him the forme of a seruant, and was made like vnto men, and was found in shape as a man.

8 He humbled himselfe, & became obedient vnto the death, euen the death of the crosse.

9 Wherefore also God hath highly exalted him, and giuen him a Name aboue euery name,

10 That at the Name of Iesus should euery knee bowe, both of things in heauen, and things in earth, and things vnder the earth,

11 And that euery tongue should confesse that Iesus Christ is the Lord, vnto the glorie of God the Father.

12 Wherefore my beloued, as yee haue alwayes obeyed me, not as in my presence onely, but now much more in mine absence, so make an end of your own saluation with feare and trembling.

13 For it is God which worketh in you, both the will and the deede, euen of his good pleasure.

1 A most earnest request to remove all those things, whereby that great and speciall contentment and agreement is commonly broken, to wit, contention and pride, whereby it cometh to passe that they separate themselves one from another.

a Any Christian comfort.

b If any feeling of inward lawe.

c Like loue.

d He leauech before them a most perfect example of all modestie and sweete conuersation, Christ Iesus, whom we ought to follow with all our might: who abased himselfe so farre for our sakes, although he be aboue all, that he tooke vpon him the forme of a seruant, to wit, our flesh, willingly subjected to all infirmities, euen to the death of the crosse.

e Such a God himselfe is, and therefore God, for there is none in all parts like to God but God himselfe.

f Christ that glorious and euertlasting God knew that he might rightfully not appeare in the base flesh of man, but remaine with aduersitie meete for God: yet he chose rather to debase himselfe.

g If the Sonne be equall with the Father, then is there of necessity an equalitie, which Arrius that Heretike denieth: and if the Sonne be compared to the Father, then is there a distinction of persons, which Sabellius that Heretike denieth. h He brought himselfe from all things, as it were to nothing: i By taking our manhood vpon him. k He sheweth the most glorious euent of Christs submission, to teach vs that modestie is the true way to true praise and glory. l Dignitie and reuenge, and the matter with it. m All creatures shall at length be subiect to Christ. n Every nation.

o The conclusion: We must goe on to saluation with humilitie and submission by the way of our vocation. p He is said to make an end of his saluation, which runneth in the race of righteousness. q A most sure and grounded argument against pride, for that we haue nothing in vs praise worthy, but it cometh of the free gift of God, and is without vs, for we haue no abilitie or power, so much as to wil well, (much lesse to do well) but onely of the free mercie of God. r Why then we are not slothful, but yet we doe not wil well of nature, but onely because God hath made of our naughtie will a good will.

Hee exhorteth them aboue all things to humilitie, and that by the example of Christ. Hee promisseth to send Timotheus shortly vnto them, and exhorteth the long tarying of Epaphroditus.

14 Doe all things without murmuring and reasonings,

15 That yee may be blamelesse, and pure, and the sonnes of God without rebuke in the middes of a naughty and crooked nation, among whome yee shine as lights in the world,

16 Holding forth the word of life, that I may reioyce in the day of Christ, that I haue not runne in vaine, neither haue laboured in vaine.

17 Yea, and though I bee offered vp vpon the sacrifice, and service of your faith, I am glad, and reioyce with you all.

18 For the same cause also bee yee glad, and reioyce with me.

19 And I trust in the Lord Iesus, to send Timotheus shortly vnto you, that also may be of good comfort, when I know your state.

20 For I haue no man like minded, who will faithfully care for your matters.

21 For all seeketh their owne, and not that which is Iesus Christs.

22 But yee know the prooffe of him, that as a sonne with the father, he hath serued with me in the Gospel.

23 Him therefore I hope to send, as soon as I know how it will goe with me,

24 And trust in the Lord, that I also my selfe shall come shortly.

25 But I supposed it necessary to send my brother Epaphroditus vnto you, my companion in labour, and fellow souldier, euen your messenger, and he that ministred vnto mee such things as I wanted.

26 For he longed after all you, and was full of heavinesse, because yee had heard that hee had bene sicke.

27 And no doubt hee was sicke, very neere vnto death: but God had mercie on him, and not on him onely, but on me also, lest I should haue sorrow vpon sorrow.

28 I sent him therefore the more diligently, that when yee should see him againe, yee might reioyce, and I might bee the lesse sorrowfull.

29 Receiue him therefore in the Lord with all gladnesse, and make much of such:

30 Because that for the worke of Christ, he was neere vnto death, and regarded not his life, to fulfill that service which was lacking on your part toward me.

Hee refuteth the vaine boasting of the false Apostles, and setteth Christ against them. Hee setteth out the force and nature of faith, that laying all things aside, they may be partakers of the crosse of Christ, the enemies whereof be noteth out.

Moreouer,

He describeth modellie by the contrary effects of pride, teaching vs, that it is farre both from all malicious and close inward hatred, and also from open contentions and brawlings.

1 Pet. 4. 9. To be loath, he requirith a life without fault, and pure, that being lightned with the word of God, they may shine in the darkness of this world.

Math. 5. 14. The Gospel is called the word of life, because of the effects which it worketh.

8 Again hee pricketh them forward, setting before them his true Apostolicke care, that he had of them: comforting them more.

ouer to the end they should not bee sorrowful for the greatness of his afflictions, no not although hee should die to make perfect their obligation with his blood, as it were with a drinke offering.

As the said, I brought you Philippians to Christ, my desire is that you present your selves a lively sacrifice to him, and then shall it not grieve me to be offered up as a drinke offering, to accomplish thou your spiritual offering.

9 Moreover, he comforteth their minde both by sending backe Epaphroditus vnto them, whose fidelity towards them, and great paines in helping him, hee

Moreouer, my brethren, reioyce in the Lord. It grieueth me not to write the same things to you, and for you it is a sure thing.

2 Beware of dogges: beware of euill workers: beware of the concision.

3 For wee are the circumcision which worship God in the Spirit, and reioyce in Christ Iesus: and haue no confidence in the flesh:

4 Though I might also haue confidence in the flesh: If any other man thinketh that he hath whereof hee might trust in the flesh, much more I.

5 Circumcised the eighth day, of the kinred of Israel, of the tribe of Benjamin, an Hebrew of the Hebrewes, by the Law a Pharise.

6 Concerning zeale, I persecuted the Church: touching the righteousnesse which is in the Law, I was vnrebuicable.

7 But the things that were vantage vnto me, the same I counted losse for Christs sake.

8 Yea, doubtlesse I thinke all things but losse for the excellent knowledge sake of Christ Iesus my Lord, for whom I haue counted all things losse, and doe iudge them to bee dung, that I might winne Christ,

9 And might bee found in him, that is, not hauing mine owne righteousnesse, which is of the Law, but that which is through the faith of Christ: then the righteousnesse which is of God through faith,

10 That I may know him, and the vertue of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his afflictions, and be made conformable vnto his death,

11 If by any meanes I might attaine vnto the resurrection of the dead:

12 Not as though I had already attained it, either were already perfect: but I follow, if that I may comprehend that for whose sake also I am comprehended of Christ Iesus.

13 Brethren, I count not my selfe, that I haue attained to it, but one thing I doe: I forget that which is behind, & endeuour myselfe vnto that which is before,

14 And follow hard toward the marke, for the price of the high calling of God in Christ Iesus.

According to the flesh, before those peruerse hote vigers of the Law, that all men may knowe, that he doeth with good iudgement of minde, lightly esteeme of all those outward things; forsomuch as he lacketh nothing, which hath Christ, nay, the confidence of our workes cannot stand with the free iustification in Christ by faith. 2 Corinth. 11. 22. 3 As yet 23. 6. 4 Which I accounted for vantage. 5 Hee sheweth out all workes, as well those that goe before, as those that come after faith. 6 That in their place I might get Christ, and as a poore man become rich: so farre off as I stand, lasting any thing. 7 In Christ: for they that are found without Christ, are subiect to condemnation. 8 That is, to bee in Christ, to bee found not in a mans owne righteousnesse, but clothed with the righteousnesse of Christ imputed to him. 9 This is the end of righteousnesse by faith touching vs, that y the vertue of his resurrection wee may escape from death. 10 That I may see him in deede and haue a sight of him. 11 The way to that eternall saluation is to follow Christ his steps by afflictions and persecutions, vntill wee come to Christ himselfe, who is our marke: wherat wee shooe, and receive that reward wherunto God calleth vs in him. And the Apostle setteth these true exercises of godlinesse against those vaine ceremonies of the Law, wherein the false apostles put the summe of godlinesse. 12 To life everlasting, which followeth the resurrection of the Saints. 13 For we runne not in vain, for we are layd hold on of Christ, that is, we haue Gods strength, and follow in the way.

15 Leve therefore as many as bee perfect, be thus minded: and if yee bee otherwise minded, God shall reueale euen the same vnto you.

17 Brethren, bee followers of me, and looke on them, which walke so, as yee haue vs for an ensample.

18 For many walke, of whom I haue told you often, and now tell you weeping, that they are the enemies of the Crosse of Christ:

19 Whose ende is damnation, whose god is their belly, and whose glory is to their shame, which minde earthly things.

20 But our conuersation is in heauen, from whence also we looke for the Saviour, even the Lord Iesus Christ, 21 Who shall change our vile bodie, that it may be fashioned like vnto his glorious body, according to the working, whereby hee is able euen to subdue all things vnto himselfe.

g. That great quietness of mind which God only giveth in Christ. He doth not the heart, but in the seat of the will and reason, and into the higher part where by we understand and reason of matters. 7 A general conclusion, that as they have been taught both in word and example, so they frame their lives to the rule of all holiness and righteousness. 1 Whatsoever things are such as do beautifie and set you out with a holy grace. 8 He witnesseth that their liberality was acceptable to him, wherewith they did helpe him in his extreme poverty: but yet so moderating his words, that he might declare himselfe voyde of all suspicion of dishonestie, and that hee hath a minde contented both with prosperitie and adversitie, and to be short, that he respecteth himselfe in the onely will of God. 1 As though I passed for my want. 1 Hee useth a generall word, and yet he speaketh out of one kinde of cross, which is poverty, for commonly poverty bringeth all kinde of discommodities with it. 20 This is a metaphor taken from holy things or sacrifices, for our life is like a sacrifice.

7 And the peace of God which passeth all understanding, shall preserve your hearts and mindes in Christ Iesus.

8 Furthermore, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are worthy love, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any vertue, or if there be any praise, thinke on these things.

9 Which yee have both learned and received, and heard, and seene in mee: those things doe, and the God of peace shall be with you.

10 Now I reioyce also in the Lord greatly, that now at the last your care for mee springeth afresh, wherein notwithstanding ye were carefull, but ye lacked opportunitie.

11 I speake not because of want: for I have learned in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content.

12 And I can bee abased, & I can abound: every where in all things I am instructed, both to bee full, and to bee hungry, and to abound, and to have want.

13 I am able to doe all things through the helpe of Christ, which strengtheneth me.

14 Notwithstanding yee have well done, that ye did communicate to mine affliction.

15 And yee Philippians knowe also that in the beginning of the Gospel, when I departed from Macedonia, no Church communicated with mee, concerning the matter of giving and receiving, but ye onely.

16 For even when I was in Thessalonica, yee sent once, and afterward againe for my necessitie.

17 Not that I desire a gift: but I desire the fruit which may further your reckoning.

18 Now I have received all, and have plentie: I was even filled, after that I had received of Epaphroditus that which came from you, an odour that smelleth sweet, a sacrifice acceptable and pleasant to God.

19 And my God shall fulfill all your necessities through his riches, with glory in Iesus Christ.

20 Unto God even our Father bee praise for evermore. Amen.

21 Salute all the Saints in Christ Iesus. The brethren which are with me, greete you.

22 All the Saints salute you, and most of all they which are of Cæsars household.

23 The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ bee with you all, Amen.

THE EPISTLE OF Paul to the Colossians.

CHAP. I.

1 After the salutation, 4 hee prayeth them the more, to make them attentive unto him. 7 Hee reporteth the testimonie of the doctrine which they heard of Epaphras. 13 He magnifieth Gods grace towards them, 20 and sheweth that all the parts of our salvation consist in Christ alone.

A V L an Apostle of Iesus Christ, by the will of God, and Timotheus our brother,

To them which are at Colosse, Saints, and faithfull brethren in Christ: Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

3 Wee giue thanks to God even the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, alway praying for you:

4 Since we heard of your faith in Christ Iesus, and of your love toward all Saints,

5 For the hopes sake, which is layed vp for you in heaven, whereof you have heard before by the word of truth, which is the Gospel,

6 Which is come vnto you, even as it is vnto all the world, and is fruitfull, as it is also among you, from the day that ye heard and truly knew the grace of God,

7 As ye also learned of Epaphras our deare fellow servant, which is for you a faithfull minister of Christ:

8 Who hath also declared vnto vs your love in the Spirit.

9 For this cause we also, since the day wee heard of it, cease not to pray for you, and to desire that yee might be fulfilled with knowledge of his will in all wisdom, and spirituall understanding.

10 That yee might walke worthie of the Lord, and please him in all things, being fruitfull in all good workes, and increasing in the knowledge of God,

11 Strengthened with all might through his glorious power, vnto all patience, and long suffering with ioyfulness,

12 Giuing thanks vnto the Father which hath made vs meete to bee partakers of

1 He declareth his good will towards them, telling them that they must not still remaine at one stay, but go on further both in knowledge of the Gospel, and also in the true vie of it. 2 Your spirituall love, or your love which cometh from the Spirit, & Gods will. 3 The gift of continuance is not of vs, but it proceedeth from the vertue of God, which hee doeth freely giue vs. 4 It must not be unwilling, and as it were drawn out of vs by force, but proceede from a merry and ioyfull minde. 5 Having ended the preface, hee goeth to the matter itselfe, that is to say, to an excellent description (although it bee but short) of whole Christianitie, which is fully diuided into three treatises: for first of all he expoundeth the true doctrine according to the order of the causes, beginning from this verse to the 23. And from thence he beginneth to apply the same to the Colossians with diuers exhortations to the sixt verse of the second chapter. And last of all in the third place, hee refuteth the corruptions of true doctrine. 5 The efficient cause of our salvation is the onely mercie of God the Father, who maketh vs meet to bee partakers of eternall life, deliuering vs from the darkenesse wherein wee were borne, and bringing vs to the light of the knowledge of the glory of his Sonne.

a By the free benediction of God. b Colosse is situate in Phrygia, not far from Hierapolis and Laodicea, on that side that they bend toward Lycia and Pamphylia. c He commendeth the doctrine that was deliuered them by Epaphras, and their readinesse in receiving it. d Wee cannot otherwise consider of God to our salvation, but as he is Christ: Father, in whom we are accepted. e For the glory that is hoped for.

 Math. 3. 17. and 17. 5.*

2. pet. 1. 17. 6 The matter it selfe of our saluation, is Christ the Sonne of God, who hath obtained remission of finnes for vs, by the offering vp of himselfe.

7 A lively description of the person of Christ, whereby we understand that in him onely God dwelleth himselfe to beget: who was begotten of the Father before any thing was made, that is, from everlasting, by whom also all things that are made, were made without any exception, by whom also they doe consist, and whose glorie they seruie.

3 Having gloriously declared the excellent dignitie of the person of Christ, he describeth his office and function, to wit, that hee is that came to the Church, that the head is to the body, that is to say, the prince and gouernour of it, and the very beginning of true life, as who riseth first from death is the author of eternall life, so that hee is aboue all, in whom only there is most plentifull abundance of all good things, which is powred out vpon the Church.

 Iohn 1. 14. chap. 2. 9. 2 Most plentifull abundance of all things pertaining to God.*

3 Now he teacheth how Christ executed that office which his Father enioyned him, to wit, by suffering the death of the crosse (which was ioynd with the curse of God) according to his decree: that by this sacrifice he might reconcile to his Father all men, as well them which beleued in him to come, and were already vnder this hope gathered into heauen, as them which should vpon the earth beleue in him afterward. And thus is iustification described of the Apostle, which is one of the chiefest part of the benefice of Christ.

n The whole Church. 10 Sanctification is another worke of God in vs by Christ, in that that he restored vs (which hated God extremely, and were wholly & willingly giuen to sinne) to his gracious fauour in such sort, that he therewithall purifieth vs with his holy Spirit, and consecrath vs to righteousness.

o The Sonne. p In that fleshy body, to giue vs to understand that his body was not a fantasticall body, but a true body.

12 He purchaseth authoritie to this doctrine by his Apostleship, and taketh a most sure prooff thereof, of his afflictions, which hee suffereth for Christ his Name, to instruct the Churches with these examples of patience.

r For y^e profit and commoditie. 13 The afflictions of the Church are said to bee Christ's afflictions, by reason of that fellowship and knitting together that the body and the head haue the one with the other, not that there is any more neede to haue the Church redeemed, but that Christ beareth his power in the day of iudgement, and that for the comfort of the whole body.

24 Now reioyce I in my sufferings for ¹you, and fulfill the ¹rest of the afflictions of Christ in my flesh, for his bodies sake, which is the Church, on, to wit, that hee is that came to the Church, that the head is to the body, that is to say, the prince and gouernour of it, and the very beginning of true life, as who riseth first from death is the author of eternall life, so that hee is aboue all, in whom only there is most plentifull abundance of all good things, which is powred out vpon the Church.  Reuel. 1. 5. 1. cor. 15. 20. 1 Who so reise againe that hee shall die no more, and who raiseth other from death to life by his power. * Iohn 1. 14. chap. 2. 9. 2 Most plentifull abundance of all things pertaining to God. 3 Now he teacheth how Christ executed that office which his Father enioyned him, to wit, by suffering the death of the crosse (which was ioynd with the curse of God) according to his decree: that by this sacrifice he might reconcile to his Father all men, as well them which beleued in him to come, and were already vnder this hope gathered into heauen, as them which should vpon the earth beleue in him afterward. And thus is iustification described of the Apostle, which is one of the chiefest part of the benefice of Christ. n The whole Church. 10 Sanctification is another worke of God in vs by Christ, in that that he restored vs (which hated God extremely, and were wholly & willingly giuen to sinne) to his gracious fauour in such sort, that he therewithall purifieth vs with his holy Spirit, and consecrath vs to righteousness. o The Sonne. p In that fleshy body, to giue vs to understand that his body was not a fantasticall body, but a true body. 11 The second treatise of this part of the Epistle, wherein he exhorteth the Colossians not to suffer themselves by any meanes to be moued from this doctrine, shewing and declaring that there is no where any other true Gospel. q To all men: whereby we learne that the Gospel was not but up within the corners of Iudea alone. 12 He purchaseth authoritie to this doctrine by his Apostleship, and taketh a most sure prooff thereof, of his afflictions, which hee suffereth for Christ his Name, to instruct the Churches with these examples of patience. r For y^e profit and commoditie. 13 The afflictions of the Church are said to bee Christ's afflictions, by reason of that fellowship and knitting together that the body and the head haue the one with the other, not that there is any more neede to haue the Church redeemed, but that Christ beareth his power in the day of iudgement, and that for the comfort of the whole body.*

Buried by Baptisme. To the Colossians. Touch not, &c.

¶ Reason:
Because onely Christ God and man is most perfect, and passeth farre above all things, so that whosoever hath him, may require nothing more.
1 By these words is shewed a distinction of the nature.
2 This word
(Dwelleth) noteth out vnto vs the ingyning together of both natures,
so that of God and Man is vs Christ.
3 These words set downe most

to be in Christ.
4 The putting together of God and man is substantiall and essentiall.

9 Now he de-beth precisely against the third kind, that is to say, against them which vrged the Iewish religion;
and first of all,
hee denieth that wee haue needs of the circumcision of the flesh, seeing that without it we are circumcised within, by the vertue of Christ.

¶ Rom. 2. 29.
p These many words are vsed to shew what the old man is, whom

Paul in other places callith the body of sinne. 10 The taking away of an obiection.
We need not so much as the externall signe which our fathers had, seeing that our Baptisme is a most effectuall pledge and witness, of that inward restoring and renewing. ¶ Rom. 6. 4. eph. 1. 19. q Look Rom. 6. 4. r So that all the force of the matter cometh not from the very deede done, that is to say, it is not the dipping of vs into the water by a Minister, that maketh vs to be buried with Christ, as the Papists say, that euen for the very acts sake, we become truly Christians, but it cometh from the vertue of Christ, for the Apostle addeth the resurrection of Christ, and faith. 11 One ende of Baptisme is the death and buriall of the old man, and that by the mighty power of God onely whose vertue we lay hold on by faith, in the death and resurrection of Christ. f Through faith which cometh from God. ¶ Eph. 2. 1. 12 Another ende of Baptisme is, that we which were dead in sinne, might obtaine free remission of sinnes and eternall life, through faith in Christ who died for vs. 13 A new argument which lieth in these few words, and it is thus: Vncircumcision was no hinderance to you, why you being justified in Christ should not obtaine life, therefore you need not circumcision to the attainment of saluation. 14 Hee speaketh now more generally against the whole seruice of the Law, and sheweth by two reasons, that it is abolished. First, to what purpose should hee that hath obtained remission of his sinnes in Christ, require those helps of the Law? Secondly, because, that if a man doe rightly consider those rites, hee shall find that they were so many testimonies of our guiltinesse, where by we manifestly witnessed as it were by our owne handwritings, that wee deserved damnation. Therefore did Christ put out that handwritings by his coming, and fastening it to the Crosse, triumphed ouer all our enemies, were they neuer so mighty.
Therefore to what ende and purpose should we now vse those ceremonies, as though wee were still guiltie of sinne, and subiect to the tyranny of our enemies? ¶ E- phesians 2. 15. t Abolishing the rites and ceremonies. u Satan and his angels, x As a conquerour made he shew of those captiues, and put them to shame. y The Crosse was as a chariot of triumph. [No conquerour could haue triumphed so gloriously in his chariot, as Christ did vpon the crosse.] 15 The conclusion: wherein hee na-meth certain kindes, as the difference of dayes, and meates, and prooueth by a new argument, that wee are not bound vnto them: to wit, because those things were shadows of Christ to come but we possesse him now exhibited vnto vs. z The body as a thing of substance and pith, he setteth against shadows. 16 Hee disputeth against the first kinde of corruptions, and setteth downe the worshipping of Angels for an example: which kinde of false religion hee confuteth, first, this way: because that they which bring in such a worship, attribute that vnto themselves which is properly onely to God, to wit, authoritie to bind mens consciences with religion, although they seeme to bring in these things by humblenesse of mind. a By foolish humblenesse of mind: for otherwise humblenesse is a vertue. For these Angel worshippers, blamed such of pride as would, be straight to God, and vse no undermanes beside Christ. 17 Secondly because they rashly thrust vpon them for oracles those things which they neuer saw nor heard, but deuised of themselves. 18 Thirdly, because these things haue no other ground wherevpon they are built, but only the opinion of men, which please themselves without all measure in their owne deuices.

b Without reason,

9 For in him dwelleth all the fulnes of the Godhead bodily.

10 And he are compleate in him, which is the head of all principallity and power.

11 In whom also ye are circumcised with circumcision made without handes, by putting off the sinfull bodie of the flesh, through the circumcision of Christ.

12 In that yee are buried with him through baptisme, in whom yee are also raised vp together through the faith of the operation of God, which raised him from the dead.

13 And you which were dead in sinnes; and in the uncircumcision of your flesh, hath hee quickned together with him, forgiving you all your trespasses,

14 And putting out the hand writing of ordinances that was against vs, which was contrary to vs, he euen tooke it out of the way, and fastened it vpon the crosse,

15 And hath spoyled the Principalities, and Powers, and hath made a shew of them openly, and hath tryumphed ouer them in the same crosse;

16 Let no man therefore condemne you in meat & drinke, or in respect of an holy day, or of the new moone, or of the Sabbath dayes.

17 Which are but a shadowe of things to come: but the bodie is in Christ.

18 Let no man at his pleasure beare rule ouer you by humblenesse of minde, and worshipping of Angels, aduancing himselfe in those things which hee neuer sawe, rashly.

putt vp with his fleshly minde,

19 And holdeth not the head, whereof all the body furnished and knit together by ioynts and bands, increaseth with the increasing of God.

20 Wherefore if yee bee dead with Christ from the ordinances of the world, why, as though ye liued in the world, are ye burdened with traditions?

21 Touch not, Taste not, Handle not.

22 Which all perish with the vying, and are after the commandements and doctrines of men,

23 Which things haue indeede a shew of wisdomme, in voluntarie religion and hum-blenesse of minde, and in not sparing the bodie, which are things of no value, sith they pertaine to the filling of the flesh.

with their craftinesse, and partly with very foolish superstitions and to bee laughed at: as when godlinesse, remission of sinnes, or any such like vertue, is put in some certaine kinde of meate, and such like things, which the inventors of such ritien-sities vnderstand not, because in deede it is not. And hee vseth an argument taken of comparison. If by the death of Christ who established a new covenant with his blood, you bee deliuered from those externall rites wherewith it pleased the Lord to prepare the world, as it were by certaine rudiments, to that full knowledge of true religion, why would ye be burdened with traditions I wrote not what, as though ye were citizens of this world, that is to say, as though ye depended vpon this life, and earthly things? now this is the cause why before verse 8. he followed another order then he doeth in the confutation: because he sheweth there by what degrees false religions came into the world, to wit, beginning first by curiouse speculations of the wise, after which in processe of time succeeded grosse superstition, against which mischiefs the Lord let at length that shadowe of the Law, which some abused in like sort: but in the confutation hee began with the abolishing of the Law seruice, that he might shew by comparison, that those false seruices ought much more to be taken away. e It sheweth your felicitie in these earthly things, and the kingdomes of God were not rather spirituall. 21 An imitation in the person of these superstitious men, rightly expressing their nature and vse of speech. 22 Another argument: The spirituall and inward kingdomes of God cannot consist in these outward things, and such as perish with the vying. 23 The third argument: Because God is not the author of these traditions, and therefore they did not binde the consciences. 24 The taking away of an obiection. These things haue a goodly shew, because men by this means, seeme to worship God with a good minde, and humble themselves, and neglect the body, which the most part of men curiously pamper vp and cherish: but yet notwithstanding the things themselves are of no value, for so much as they pertaine not to things that are spirituall & everlasting, but to the nourishment of the flesh. f Which seems indeed to be some exquisite thing and so wise deuices, as though they came from heauen.
g Hence sprang the workes of supererogation, as the Papists terme them, that is to say, not deserveth workes, as though men performed more then is commanded in: which was the beginning and the very ground, wherupon Monkes merites were brought in. h A lively description of Monkerie. i Seeing they stand in meate and drinke, wherewith the kingdomes of God doeth not stand.

CHAP. III.

1 Against earthly exercises, which the false apostles vrged, 2 he setteth heauenly: 3 And hee beginneth with the mortifying of the flesh, 8 whence he draweth particular exhortations, 18 and particular duties which depend on each mans calling.

If ye then bee risen with Christ, seeke
those things which are aboue, where Christ

2 Set your affections on things which are aboue, & not on things which are on the beearth.

3 For yee are dead, and your life is with him, after hee hath once set downe the doctrine it selfe. 2 Our renewing of new birch, which is wrought in vs by being partakers of the resurrection of Christ, is the fountaine of all holinesse, out of which sundry armes or riuers doe afterwards flow. a For if we be partakers of Christ, we are caried as it were into another life, where we shall neede neither meate nor drinke, for we shall be like vnto the Angels. 3 The end and marke which all the duties of Christian life shoote at, is to enter into the kingdome of heauen, and to giue our selues to those things which leade vs thither, that is, to true godlinesse, and not to those outward and corporall things. b So hee callith that shew of religion which hee spake of in the former Chapter. 4 A reason taken of the efficient causes and others: you are dead as touching the flesh, that is, touching old nature which seeketh after all transitory things, and on the other side, you haue begun to liue according to the Spirit, therefore giue your selues to spirituall and heauenly, and not to carnall and earthly things. 5 The taking away of an obiection: whiles we are yet in this world, wee are subiect to many miseries of this life, that the life that is in vs, as it were hidde: yet notwithstanding we haue the beginnings of life and glory, the accomplishment wherof which lieth now in Christ and in Gods hand, shall bee assuredly and manifestly performed in that glorious coming of the Lord.

9 Lie not one to another, seeing that yee haue put off the olde man with his works,

10 And haue put on the new, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him.

11 Where is neither Grecian nor Iew, circumcision nor vn-circumcision, Barbarian, Scythian, bond, free: But Christ is all, and in all things.

12 Now therefore as the elect of God holy and beloued, put on the bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of minde, meekenesse, long suffering;

13 Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man haue a quarell to another: euen as Christ forgave, euen so doe yee.

14 And aboue all these things put on loue, of which is the bond of perfeccion.

15 And let the peace of God rule in your hearts, to the which yee are called in one body, and be ye thankfull.

16 Let the word of Christ dwell in you plentifully in all wisdom, teaching and admonishing your owne selues, in Psalmes, and hymnes, and spirituall songs, singing with a grace in your hearts to the Lord.

17 And whatsoever yee shall doe, in word or deede, doe all in the Name of the Lord Iesus, giuing thanks to God euen the Father by him.

18 ¶ * Wiues, submit your selues vnto your husbands, as it is comely in the Lord.

19 * Husbands loue your wiues, and bee not bitter vnto them.

20 ¶ * Children, obey your parents in the Lord: for that is well pleasing vnto the Lord.

21 * Fathers, prouoke not your children to anger, least they be discouraged.

22 ¶ * Seruants, bee obedient vnto them that are your masters according to the Lord, in all things, not with eye service as men pleasers, but in singleness of heart, fearing God.

23 And whatsoever yee doe, doe it heartily, as to the Lord, and not to men, 24 Knowing that of the Lord yee shall receive the Reward of the inheritance: for yee serue the Lord Christ.

25 But he that doeth wrong, shall receive for the wrong that he hath done: and there is no respect of persons.

Ephe. 6. 1. 12 He requireth of children, that according to Gods commandement they be obedient to their parents. 13 In the Lord, & so it is expounded, Ephe. 5. 19. 14 Of parents, that they be gentle towards their children. 15 Offeruants, that fearing God himselfe to whom their obedience is acceptable, they reuerently, faithfully, and from the heart, obey their masters. 16 Ephe. 6. 5. 17. 18. 19. CHAP. III

He returneth to general exhortations, touching prayer, and gracious speech, and so endeth with greetings and commendations.

YE Masters, doe vnto your seruants, that which is iust, and equal, knowing that ye also haue a Master in heauen.

2 ¶ * Continue in prayer, and watch in the same with thanksgiving,

3 ¶ * Praying also for vs, that God may open vnto vs the doore of vterance, to speake the myserie of Christ: wherefore I am also in bonds,

4 That I may vtter it, as it becometh me to speake.

5 ¶ * Walke wisely toward them that are without, and redeeme the season.

6 ¶ * Let your speech be gracious alwayes, and powdred with salt, that yee may know how to answer euery man.

7 ¶ Tychicus our beloued brother and faithfull minister, and fellow seruant in the Lord, shall declare vnto you my whole state:

8 Whom I haue sent vnto you for the same purpose, that hee might know your state, and might comfort your hearts,

9 With Onesimus a faithfull and a beloued brother, who is one of you. They shall shew you of all things here.

10 Aristarchus my prison fellow salueth you, and Marcus Barnabas cousin, (touching whom yee receiued commandements, If hee come vnto you, receiue him)

11 And Iesus which is called Iustus, which are of the circumcision. These onely are my workefellowes vnto the kingdome of God, which haue bene vnto my consolation.

12 Epaphras the seruant of Christ, which is one of you, salueth you, and alwayes striveth for you in prayers, that yee may stand perfect, perfect, and full in all the will of God.

13 For I bear him record, that hee hath a great zeale for you, and for them of Laodicea, and them of Hierapolis.

14 Luke the beloued Phyſician greeteth you, and he has.

15 Salute the brethren which are of Laodicea, and Nymphas, and the Church which is in his houſe.

16 And when this Epistle is read of you, cause that it be read in the Church of the Laodiceans also, and that ye likewise read the Epistle written from Laodicea.

17 And say to Archippus, Take heed to the minifterie, that thou haſt receiued in the Lord, that thou fulfill it.

TITLE OF THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAUL TO THE THESSALONIANS.

CHAP. I.

How therefore becometh with thanksgiving, as we put them in mind of that whereof we praſſe worthy in them, that it come of Gods goodneſſe: 8 and that they are an example vnto others.

PAUL, and Syluanus, and Timotheus, vnto the Church of the Theſſalonians, which is in God the Father, and in the Lord Ieſus Chriſt: Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Ieſus Chriſt.

2 We giue God thanks alwayes for you all, making mention of you in our prayers.

3 Without ceaſing, remembering your effectuall faith, and diligent loue, and the patience of your hope in our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, in the ſight of God, euen our Father,

4 Knowing, beloued brethren, that ye are a elect of God,

5 For our Goſpel was not vnto you in word onely, but alſo in power, and in the holy Ghoſt, and in much aſſurance, as ye know after what maner wee were among you for your ſakes.

6 And ye became followers of vs and of the Lord, and receiued the word in much affliction, with ioy of the holy Ghoſt,

7 So that ye are as enſamples to all that beleeue in Macedonia and in Achaia.

8 For from you founded out the word of the Lord, not in Macedonia and in Achaia onely: but your faith alſo which is toward God, ſpread abroad in all quarters, that we need not to ſpeake any thing.

9 For they themſelues ſhew of vs what manner of entering in wee had vnto you: and heaven, as they themſelues did well know, b Paul ſheweth by two things, that there followed very great fruit of his preaching, to wit, by theſe gifts of the holy Ghoſt, and that certayne aſſurance which was thoroughly ſetled in their minds, as appeared by their willing bearing of the Croſſe. 4 Another reaſon, becauſe euen to that day they embraced the Goſpel with great chearfulneſſe, inſomuch that they were an example to all their neighbours: ſo that it ſhould be no meane ſhame to them to faint in the mid race. 5 With ioy which cometh from the holy Ghoſt. d All the beleeuers. 5 It is no true conuerſion to ſorke idols, vntill ſe man the twiſhall worſhip the true and liuing God in Chriſt the onely Redeemer.

diceus alſo, and that ye likewiſe reade the Epistle written from Laodicea.

17 And ſay to Archippus, Take heed to the minifterie, that thou haſt receiued in the Lord, that thou fulfill it.

39 The ſalutation by the hand of me Paul. Remember my bands. Grace be with you, Amen.

40 Written from Rometo the Coloſſians, and ſent by Tychicus and Onesimus.

1 An example of right Chriſtian reioycing, whereby alſo we learne, that ſuch as haue great gifts in them, are in ſorts bound to wit, if they conſider that they haue receiued all from God, that continuance muſt be deſired at his hands, whereunto alſo the whole Epistle exhorteth the Theſſalonians.

2 Hee commendeth them for three ſpeciall gifts, euen all faith, continuall loue, and patient hope: to the end they might bee aſſured being indued with ſuch excellent gifts, not to continue in Gods election.

3 Word for word, that your ellection is of God.

4 Another reaſon why they ought in no wiſe ſtand backe but continue to the end, becauſe they cannot doubt of this doctrine which hath bene ſo many wayes confirmed vnto them euen from heaven, as they themſelues did well know.

5 Paul ſheweth by two things, that there followed very great fruit of his preaching, to wit, by theſe gifts of the holy Ghoſt, and that certayne aſſurance which was thoroughly ſetled in their minds, as appeared by their willing bearing of the Croſſe.

6 Another reaſon, becauſe euen to that day they embraced the Goſpel with great chearfulneſſe, inſomuch that they were an example to all their neighbours: ſo that it ſhould be no meane ſhame to them to faint in the mid race.

7 With ioy which cometh from the holy Ghoſt.

8 All the beleeuers.

9 It is no true conuerſion to ſorke idols, vntill ſe man the twiſhall worſhip the true and liuing God in Chriſt the onely Redeemer.

This word (That) is not put here without cauſe: and by (forreth) it meaneth that ſuch as haue great gifts in them, are in ſorts bound to wit, if they conſider that they haue receiued all from God, that continuance muſt be deſired at his hands, whereunto alſo the whole Epistle exhorteth the Theſſalonians.

That which hee touched before ſhortly concerning his Apoſtleſhip, hee handled now more at large, and to that end and purpoſe which we ſpoke of.

1 The vertues of a true Paſtor are, ſurely without feare to preach the Goſpel, euen in the miſt of dangers.

2 Acts 16, 12. a Through Gods grace we help.

3 To teach pure doctrine faithfully and with a pure heart.

4 By any wicked and naughty kind of dealing.

5 To approve his conſcience to God, being free from all flattery and couetouſneſſe.

6 Seeing there is this difference betweene the iudgements of God and the iudgements of men, that when men chuiſe, they reſpect the qualities of thoſe things which ſtand before them, but God ſtandeth the reaſon of his counſell onely in himſelfe, it followeth, that ſeeing we are not able to chuiſe a good thought, that whomſoeuer hee firſt chuſeth to theſe callings, hee maketh them able, and doeth not ſinde them able. And therefore in that we are allowed of God, it hangeth upon him to ſubmit himſelfe euen vnto the baſt to win them, and to eſchew all pride.

7 Which liketh and alloweth of them.

8 To ſubmit himſelfe euen vnto the baſt to win them, and to eſchew all pride.

9 When I might lawfully haue lived vpon the expences of the Church.

10 Wee were rough, but gentle as a ſnoure, that is, neither ambitious nor couetous, but taketh all paines as patiently as if ſhee were a mother.

11 To haue the ſlocke that is committed vnto him in more eſtimation than his owne life.

7 To depart with his owne right, rather then to bee chargeable to his heepe.

19 For yee remember, brethren, * our labour and trauaile : for wee haue trauailed day and night, because wee would not be chargeable vnto any of you, and preached vnto you the Gospel of God.

20 Yee are witnesses, and God also, how holily, and iustly, and vnblameably wee behaue our selues among you that beleeue.

21 As ye know how that we exhorted you, and comforted, and besought euery one of you (as a father his children)

22 That yee * would walke worthy of God, who hath called you vnto his kingdome and glory.

23 For this cause also thanke wee God without ceasing, that when yee receiued the word of God, which he heard of vs, yereceiued it not as the word of men, but as it is indeede the word of God, which also worketh in you that beleeue.

24 For brethren, ye are become followers of the Churches of God, which in Iudea are in Christ Iesus, because yee haue also suffered the same things of your owne ^a countrey men, euen as they haue of the Jewes.

25 Who both killed the Lord Iesus and their owne Prophets, and haue persecuted vs away. ^a and God they please not, and are contrary to ^a all men,

26 And forbid vs to preach vnto the Gentiles, that they might be saued, to ^a fulfill their sinnes alwayes : for the ^a wrath of God is come on them to the vtmost.

27 Forasmuch, brethren, as wee ^m were kept from you for a season, concerning fight, but not in the heart, wee enforced the more to see your face with great desire.

28 Therefore wee would haue come vnto you (I Paul, at lest once or twise) but Satan hindered vs.

29 For what is our hope or ioy, or crowne of reioycing? are not euen you it in the presence of our Lord Iesus Christ at his comming?

30 Yes, ye are our glory and ioy.

31 For that the Jewes especially aboue all other persecuted the Gospel. That is no new thing, sayth he, seeing they slew Christ himselfe, and the Prophets, and haue banned me also. 32 Hee foretellethe the vter destruction of the Jewes, lest any man should be moued by their rebellion. 33 For the Jewes would neither enter into the kingdome of God themselves, nor suffer other to enter in. 34 Vntill that wickednesse of theirs which they haue by inheritance as it were of their fathers, be grown so great, that the measure of their iniquitie being filled, God may come forth to wrath. 35 The iudgement of God being angry, which indeede appeared shortly after the destruction of the citie of Hierusalem, whither many resorted euen out of diuers provinces, when it was besieged. 36 Hee meeteth with an objection, why haue we not to them straightwayes being in so great miserie, I desired often times (sayth he) and it lay not in me, but Satan hindered my endeouours, and therefore I sent Timothee my faithfull companion vnto you, because you are most deare to me, ^m were kept asunder from you, and as it were orphans.

CHAP. III.

1 To shewe his affection toward them, hee sendeth Timothee vnto them: 6 He is so moued by the report of their prosperous state, 9 that hee cannot giue sufficient thanks, 11 and therefore hee breaketh out into prayer.

Wherefore since wee could no longer forbear, wee thought it good to remaine at Athens alone,

2 * And haue sent Timotheus our brother and minister of God, and our labour fellow in the Gospel of Christ, to stablish you, and to comfort you touching your faith,

3 That no man should be moued with these afflictions: for yee your selues knowe, that we are appointed thereunto.

4 For verely when wee were with you, we tolde you before that wee should suffer tribulations, euen as it came to passe, and ye know it.

5 Euen for this cause, when I could no longer forbear, I sent him that I might know of your faith, lest the tempter had tempted you in any sort, and that our labour had beene in vaine.

6 But now lately when Timotheus came from you vnto vs, and brought vs good tidings of your faith and loue, and that yee haue good remembrance of vs alwayes, desiring to see vs as we also doe you,

7 Therefore, brethren, wee had consolation in you, in all our affliction and necessitie through your faith.

8 For now are we ^a aliue, if ye stand fast in the Lord.

9 For what thanks can we recompense to God againe for you, for all the ioy wherewith we reioyce for your sakes before our God,

10 Night and day, * praying exceedingly that we might see your face & might ^b accomplish that which is lacking in your faith?

11 Now God himselfe euen our Father, and our Lord Iesus Christ, guide our iourney vnto you.

12 And the Lord increase you, and make you abound in loue one toward another, and toward all men, euen as we doe toward you:

13 * To make your hearts stable and vnblameable in holinesse before God euen our Father, at the comming of our Lorde Iesus Christ with all his Saints.

14 Of a Christian life, consisteth in two things, to wit, in charitie toward all men, and inward puritie of the heart, the accomplishment whereof notwithstanding is deferred to the next comming of Christ, who will then perfite his worke by the same grace, wherewith he begun it in vs. ^a Chap. 5. 23. 1. cor. 1. 8.

CHAP. III.

1 He exhorteth them 3 to holinesse, 9 and brotherly loue.

13 He forbiddeth them to sorow after the manner of infidels. 15 He setteth out the history of our resurrection.

And furthermore we beseech you, brethren, and exhort you in the Lord Iesus, that ye ^a increase more and more, as ye haue receiued of vs, how yee ought to walke, and to please God.

2 For ye know what commandements we gaue you by the Lord Iesus.

3 * 2 For this is the will of God euen your ^b sanctification, and that yee should abstaine from fornication,

4 3 That euery one of you should know, how to possesse his vessell in holinesse and honour, themselves wholly to God. And hee condemneth plainly all filthinesse through lust, because it is altogether contrary to the will of God. ^b Looke Iohn 17. 17. 3 Another reason, because it defileth the body.

Z z z z

5 4 And

¹ The will of God, who calleth his on this condition, to bring them to glory by affliction, is a most sure remedy against all afflictions.

² Because they haue hitherto gone so well forward, he exhorteth them againe to make an end of the rest of the iourney, seeing that therein also they shall do him their Affliction a great pleasure.

^a For now you cannot otherwise think me safe and in good case, vntill you go forward in religion and faith.

life. And he sheweth that the perfection

of a Christian life, consisteth in two things, to wit, in charitie toward all men, and inward puritie of the heart, the accomplishment whereof notwithstanding is deferred to the next comming of Christ, who will then perfite his worke by the same grace, wherewith he begun it in vs. ^a Chap. 5. 23. 1. cor. 1. 8.

4 The third, because the Saints are discerned from them which know not God by honestie and puritie.

5 Secondly, he reprehendeth all violent oppression, and immoderate desire, and sheweth most seuerely as the Prophet of God, that God will revenge such wickednesse.

6 These commandments which I gave you.

7 Thirdly, hee
requireth a readiness of minde to all maner of louing kindnesse, and exhorteth them to profite more and more in that vertue.

8 He rebuketh idlenesse and slothfulnesse, which vices whosoever are giuen vnto, fall into other wickednesse, to the great offence of the Church.

9 The Third part of the Epistle, which is interlaced among the former exhortations (which he returneth vnto afterward)

10 wherein he speaketh of mourning for the dead, and the maner of the resurrection, and of the latter day.

11 Wee must take heed that we doe not immoderately bewaile the dead, that is, as they vse to doe which thinke that they are vtterly perished. 12 A confirmation for death is but a sleepe of the body (for he speaketh of the faithfull) vntill the Lord commeth. 13 A reason of the confirmation, for seeing that the head is risen, the members also shall rise, and that by the vertue of God. 14 The dead in Christ, which continue in faith whereby they are grafted into Christ, shewen to the last gaspe. 15 Will call their bodies out of their graues, and soyme their soules to them againe. 16 The manner of the resurrection shall be thus. The bodies of the dead shall be as it were raised out of sleepe at the sound of the trumpet of God. Christ himselfe shall descend from heauen. The Saints (for hee speaketh properly of them) which shall then be found aliue, together with the dead which shall rise shall be taken vp into the clouds to meete the Lord, and shall be in perpetuall glory with him. 17 In the Name of the Lord, as though he himselfe spake vnto you.

18 He speaketh of these things, as though he should be one of them whom the Lord shall find aliue at his coming because that time is vncertaine: and therefore euery one of vs ought to be in such a readinesse, as if the Lord were comming at euery moment. 19 The word which the Apostle useth here, signifies properly that encouragement which mariners vse one to another, when they altogether with one shout put forth their oares and rowe together. 20 Cor.
15. 52. 21 Suddenly and in the twinkling of an eye.

5 And not in the lust of concupiscence, euen as the Gentiles which know not God:

6 That no man oppress or defraud his brother in any matter: for the Lord is auenger of all such things, as we also haue told you before time and testified.

7 For God hath not called vs vnto vn-cleannesse, but vnto hilineesse.

8 He therefore that despiseth these things, despiseth not man, but God who hath euen giuen you his holy Spirit.

9 But as touching brotherly loue, yee need not that I write vnto you: for yee are taught of God to loue one another.

10 Yea, and that thing verely yee doe vnto all the brethren which are throughout all Macedonia: but we beseech you, brethren, that yee increase more and more,

11 And that ye studie to be quiet, and to meddle with your owne businesse, and to worke with your owne handes, as we commanded you,

12 That ye may behaue your selues honestly toward them that are without, and that nothing be lacking vnto you.

13 I would not, brethren, haue you ignorant concerning them which are asleepe, that ye sorrow not euen as other which haue no hope.

14 For if wee beleue that Iesus is dead, and is risen, euen so them which sleepe in Ie-sus, will God bring with him.

15 For this say we vnto you by the word of the Lord, that we which liue, and are remaining in the comming of the Lord, shall not preuent them, which sleepe.

16 For the Lord himselfe shal descend from heauen with a shout, and with the voice of the Archangel, and with the trumpet of God:
and the dead in Christ shall rise first:

17 Then shall wee which liue and remaine, be caught vp with them also in the clouds, to meete the Lord in the aire: and so shall we e-uer be with the Lord.

18 Wherefore, comfort your selues one another with these words.

19 And now we doe not immoderately bewaile the dead, that is, as they vse to doe which thinke that they are vtterly perished. 20 A confirmation for death is but a sleepe of the body (for he speaketh of the faithfull) vntill the Lord commeth. 21 A reason of the confirmation, for seeing that the head is risen, the members also shall rise, and that by the vertue of God. 22 The dead in Christ, which continue in faith whereby they are grafted into Christ, shewen to the last gaspe. 23 Will call their bodies out of their graues, and soyme their soules to them againe. 24 The manner of the resurrection shall be thus. The bodies of the dead shall be as it were raised out of sleepe at the sound of the trumpet of God. Christ himselfe shall descend from heauen. The Saints (for hee speaketh properly of them) which shall then be found aliue, together with the dead which shall rise shall be taken vp into the clouds to meete the Lord, and shall be in perpetuall glory with him. 25 In the Name of the Lord, as though he himselfe spake vnto you.

CHAP. V.

1 Condemning the curious searching for the seasons of Christs comming, 6 hee warneth them to bee readie daily to receiue him: 11 And so giueth them sundry good lessons.

But of the times and seasons, brethren, ye haue no neede that I write vnto you.

2 For ye your selues know perfectly, that the day of the Lord shall come, euen as a thiefe in the night.

3 For when they shall say, Peace and safe-tie, then shall come vpon them sudden destruction, as the trauaile vpon a woman with childe, and they shall not escape.

4 But ye, brethren, are not in darkenesse, that that day shall come on you, as it were a thiefe.

5 Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, neither of darkenesse.

6 Therefore let vs not sleepe as doe other,
but let vs watch and be sober.

7 For they that sleepe, sleepe in the night, and they that are drunken, are drunken in the night.

8 But let vs which are of the day, be sober, putting on the brestplate of faith & loue, and of the hope of saluation for an helmet.

9 For God hath not appointed vs vnto wrath, but to obaine saluation by the meanes of our Lord Iesus Christ,

10 Which died for vs, that whether wee wake or sleepe, we should liue together with him.

11 Wherefore exhort one another, and edifie one another, euen as yee doe.

12 Now wee beseech you, brethren that yee acknowledge them which labour among you, and are ouer you in the Lord, and admonish you,

13 That yee haue them in singular loue for their workes sake. Be at peace among your selues.

14 Wee desire you, brethren, admonish them that are out of order: comfort the feeble minded: beare with the weake: be patient toward all men.

15 See that none recompence euill for euill vnto any man: but euer folow that which is good, both toward your selues, and toward all men.

16 Reioyce euermore.

17 Pray continually.

18 In all things, giue thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Iesus toward you.

19 Quench not the Spirit.

20 Despise not prophecyng.

21 Try all things, and keepe that which is good.

take them for such as they are, that is to say, men worthy to bee greatly accomplished of among you. 2 In these things which pertaine to Gods seruice: so in the Ecclesiastical function distinguished from euill authoritie, and true Shepheards from wolves. 3 So then as here you see guished, there must the honour cease. 4 The maintenance of mutual concord, is de-

11 A general conclusion, that we waiting for the coming of Christ, doe give our selves to pursue both in minde, will, and body, through the grace and strength of the Spirit of God.

22 Abstaine from all appearance of euill.
23 Now the very God of peace sanctifie you throughout: and I pray God, that your whole spirit and soule and body, may be kept blamelesse vnto the coming of our Lord Iesus Christ.

24 Faithfull is he which calleth you, which will also doe it.
25 Brethren, pray for vs.
26 Greete all the brethren with an holy kisse.
27 I charge you in the Lord, that this Epistle bee read vnto all the brethren the Saints.
28 The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ bee with you, Amen.

The first Epistle vnto the Thessalonians written from Athens.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAUL TO THE THESSALONIANS.

CHAP. I.

He commendeth the increase of faith, and charitie, and the patience of the Thessalonians. 6 and describing Gods vengeance against such as oppress the godly, 10 he teacheth the godly to waite for the last iudgement.

PAUL and Siluanus, and Timotheus, vnto the Church of the Thessalonians, which is in God our Father, and in the Lord Iesus Christ:

Grace bee with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

3 We ought to thanke God alwayes for you, brethren, as it is meete, because that your faith groweth exceedingly, and the loue of euery one of you toward another, aboundeth,

4 So that we our selues reioyce of you in the Churches of God, because of your patience and faith in all your persecutions and tribulations that ye suffer,

5 Which is a manifest token of the righteous iudgement of God, that ye may be counted worthy of the kingdome of God, for the which ye also suffer.

6 For it is a righteous thing with God, to recompense tribulation to them that trouble you,

7 And to you which are troubled, rest with vs, when the Lord Iesus shall shew himselfe fro heauen with his mightie Angels,

8 In flaming fire, rendering vengeance vnto them that do not know God, and which obey not vnto the Gospel of our Lord Iesus Christ,

9 Which shall be punished with euerslasting perdition, from the presence of the Lord,

10 He confirmeth them also by the way, by this means that the condition both of this present state and the state to come, is common to him with them.

and from the glory of his power,

10 When hee shall cometo be glorified in his Saints, and to be made marueilous in all them that beleue (because our testimonie toward you was beleueed) in that day.

11 Wherefore, we also pray alwayes for you, that our God may make you worthy of this calling, and fulfill all the good pleasure of his goodnesse, and the worke of faith with power,

12 That the Name of our Lorde Iesus Christ may be glorified in you, and ye in him, according to the grace of our God, and of the Lord Iesus Christ.

whereof all other inferior causes worke: from thence proceedeth the free calling to Christ, and from calling, faith, whereupon followeth both the glorifying of Christ in vs, and vs in Christ. By calling he meaneth not the very acte of calling, but that selfe same thing wherunto we are called, which is the glory of that heavenly kingdome, which he determined long since only upon his gracious and mercifull goodnesse towards you. So then, faith is an excellent worke of God in vs: and we see here plainly that the Apostle leaueth nothing to free will, so make it chequerate with Gods working therein, as the Papists dreame,

CHAP. II.

2 He sheweth that the day of the Lord shall not come, till there be a departure from the faith, 3 and that Antichrist be repelled, 8 whose destruction bee setteth out, 15 and thereupon exhorteth to constancie.

NOW wee beseech you, brethren, by the coming of our Lord Iesus Christ, and by our assembling vnto him,

2 That yee be not suddenly moued from your minde, nor troubled neither by spirit, nor by worde, nor by letter, as if were from vs, as though the day of Christ were at hand.

3 Let no man deceiue you by any meanes: for that day shall not come, except there come a wee shall be partakers of with Christ. it will be an excellent remedie for vs against waning and impatience, so that neither the glistering of the world shall allure vs, nor the dreadfull sight of the crosse dismay vs. Wee must take heede of false prophesies, especially in this matter, which goe about to deceiue, and that for the most part, after three sorts: for either they brag of fained propheticall revelations, or they bring coniectures & reasonings of their owne, or vie counterfeit writings. By dreames and fables, which men pretend to be spiritual revelations. Either by word of mouth, or by booke written. Either by forged letter, or falsly glossed upon. The Apostle foretelleth that before the coming of the Lord, there shall be a throne set vp cleane contrarye to Christs glory, wherein that wicked man shall sit, and transerre all things that appertaine to God, to himselfe, and many shall fall away from God to him.

That wicked man. II. Theſſalonians. Of idle perſons.

*By ſpeaking of the body of the cruell and perſecting Church.
ſhall men know who he is that ſayeth he cometh up to meete
open it at his place ſore, and toke upon him to be Lord and Maſter about all things and princes.
ſay whom kings and princes ſhall deme and worſhip, honouring that Antichriſt
as a god.
4 He foretelleth
that Antichriſt (that is, whoſe-uer he be that ſhall occupie that ſeate that ſhall ſucceede from God) ſhall not reigne without the Church, but in the very Boſome of the Church.
5 This prophesie was continually declared to the ancient Church, but it was neglected at them that followed.
6 When Antichriſt arise and ſayeth.
7 Even in the Apoſtles time
the firſt foundations of the Apoſtolicall ſeate were laid, but ye ſo that they deceiued men.
8 He foretelleth, that when the Empire of Rome is taken away, the ſeate that ſhall ſuc-ceede and hold his place, as the old writ-ters, Tertullian, Chryſoſtome and Hierome doe expound
it.
9 He which is now in authoritie and ruleth all, ſo will the Romane Empire.
10 That wicked-kedneſſe ſhall at length be detected by the word of the Lord, and ſhall utterly be aboliſhed by Chriſts comming. 11 Word for word, that lawleſſe fellow, that is to ſay, hee that ſhall ſread Gods Law cleane under foot. 12 I ſay, 13. 4. k Bring to nought. 14 With his word, for the true Miniſters of the word are as a mouth, whereby the Lord breatheth out that mightie and auerlaſting word, which ſhall breake his enemies in ſunder, as it were any yron rod. 15 Hee foretelleth, that Satan will beſtow all his might and power, and vie all ſelle miracles that hee can to eſtablish that ſeate, and that with great ſucceſſe, becauſe the wicked-kedneſſe of the world doeth ſo deſerue it: yet ſo, that onely the vnfaithfull ſhall periſh through his deceit. 16 Which are partly falſe, and partly wrought to eſtablish a falſhood. 17 A moſt mightie working to deceiue them. 18 They liked lyes ſo well, that they had patience in them, which is the greateſt madneſſe that may be. 19 The elect ſhall ſtand ſtedfaſt and laſe from all theſe miſchiefes. Now election is knowne by theſe teſtimonies: Faith is gathered by ſanctification: faith, by that that wee accord vnto the truth: truth, by calling, through the preaching of the Goſpel: from whence we come at length to a certaine hope of glorification. 20 To ſanctifie you. 21 Faith which layeth holde not upon lyes, but upon the truth of God, which is the Goſpel. 22 By our preaching. 23 The conſolation: It remaineth then that wee continue in the doctrine which was deliuered vnto vs by the mouth and writings of the Apoſtles, through the free good will of God, which comforteth vs with an inuincible hope, and alſo in all godlineſſe our whole life long.*

departing firſt, and that that man of ſinne be diſcloſed, even the ſonne of perdition.
4 Which is an aduerſarie, and exalteth himſelfe againſt that is called God, or that is worſhipped: ſo that he doeth ſit as God in the Temple of God, ſhewing himſelfe that he is God.
5 Remember ye not, that when I was yet with you, I tolde you theſe things?
6 And now ye know what withholdeth that he might be reueiled in his time.
7 For he myſterie of iniquitie doeth alreadie worke: ſonely hee which now withholdeth, ſhall let till hee be taken out of the way.
8 And then ſhall that wicked man be reueiled, whom the Lord ſhall conſume with the Spirit of his mouth, and ſhall aboliſh with the brightneſſe of his comming.
9 Even him whole comming is by the effectuall working of Satan, with all power, and ſignes, and lying wonders, 10 And in all deceiuableneſſe of vnright-eouſneſſe, among them that periſh, becauſe they receiued not the loue of the truth, that they might be ſaued.
11 And therefore God ſhall ſend them a ſtrong deluſion, that they ſhould beleue lies, 12 That all they might be damned which beleue not the truth, but had pleaſure in vnrighteouſneſſe.
13 But wee ought to giue thanks al-way to God for you, brethren beloued of the Lord, becauſe that God hath from the beginning choſen you to ſaluation, through ſanctification of the Spirit, and the faith of trueth, 14 Whereunto hee called you by our Goſpel, to obtaine the glory of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt.
15 Therefore, brethren, ſtand faſt and keepe the inſtructions, which yee haue bene taught, either by word, or by our Epifile.
16 Now the ſame Ieſus Chriſt our Lord, and our God euen the Father which hath lou-ed vs, and hath giuen vs euerlaſting conſola-tion and good hope through grace, 17 Comfort your hearts, and ſtabliſh you in euery word and good worke.

CHAP. III.
1 Hee ſet forth ſome to further the preaching of the Goſpel with their prayers. 6 and to withdraw themſelves from thoſe who through idleneſſe. 11 and curioſitie peruerſe good order: 14 whom hee excludeth from the company of the faithfull.

Furthermore, brethren, pray for vs, that the word of the Lord may haue free paſſage and be glorified, euen as it is with you.
2 And that we may be deliuered from vnreaſonable and euill men: for all men haue not faith.
3 But the Lord is faithfull, which will ſtabliſh you, and keepe you from euill.
4 And wee are perſwaded of you through the Lord, that yee both doe, and will doe the things which we warne you of.
5 And the Lord guide your hearts to the loue of God, and the waiting for of Chriſt.
6 Wee warne you, brethren, in the Name of our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, that yee withdraw your ſelues from euery brother that walketh in-ordinately, and not after the inſtruction which he receiued of vs.
7 For yee your ſelues know, how yee ought to follow vs: for wee behaued not our ſelues inordinately among you, 8 Neither tooke we bread of any man for nought: but we wrought with labour and trauaile night and day, becauſe we would not be chargeable to any of you.
9 Not becauſe we haue not authoritie, but that we might make our ſelues an enſample vnto you to follow vs.
10 For euen when we were with you, this wee warned you of, that if there were any, which would not worke, that hee ſhould not eate.
11 For we heare, that there are ſome which walke among you inordinately, and worke not at all, but are buſie bodies.
12 Therefore them that are ſuch, wee warne and exhort by our Lord Ieſus Chriſt, that they worke with quietneſſe, and eare their owne bread.
13 And yee, brethren, be not wearie in well doing.
14 If any man obey not this our ſaying in this letter, note him, and haue no companie with him, that he may be aſhamed:

ſeeme to deale hardly with them, hee ſet forth himſelfe for an example, who be-ſides his tranſaile in preaching, laboured with his hands, which hee ſayeth hee was not ſimply bound to doe. 1. Corinth. 11. 1. 1. Theſſ. 4. 11. c What ſhall we do then with theſe idle bullied Monkes, and ſacrificing Priests? A Monke (ſayth Socrates, booke 8. of his Tripartite hiſtorie) which worketh not with hands, is like a theiſt. 7 How great a fault idleneſſe is, hee declareth by that that God created no man in vaine or to no purpose, neither is there any vnto whom hee hath not allotted as it were a certaine ſtanding and roume. Whereupon it followeth, that the order which God hath appointed, is troubled by the idle, yea broken, which is great ſinne and wickedneſſe.
8 He reprehendeth a vice, which is ioyned with the former, whereupon follow an infinite ſort of miſchiefes: to wit, that there are none more buſie in other mens matters, then they which neglect their owne. 9 The Lord commaundeth and the Apoſtles pray in the Name of Chriſt, firſt, that no man bee idle, and next that euery man doe quietly and carefully ſee to doe his dutie in that office and calling wherein the Lord hath placed him. 10 We muſt take heed, that loome mens vnwortheineſſe cauſe vs not to be ſlacke in well doing. 11 Excommunication is a puniſhment for the obſtinate. 12 Wee muſt haue no familiaritie nor fellowſhip with the excommuni-cate. 13 The end of the excommunication is not the deſtruction, but the ſaluation of the ſinner, that at laſt through ſhame he may be driuen to repentance.

14 Wee must
so eschew fami-liaritie with the excommunicates, that wee diligently seek all occasions and meanes that may bee, to bring them againe into the right way. 15 Prayers are the scales of all exhortations.

15 ¹⁴ Yet count him not as an enimie, but admonish him as a brother.

16 ¹⁵ Now the Lord himselfe of peace giue you peace alwayes by all meanes. The Lord bee with you all.

17 ¹⁶ The salutation of me Paul, with mine owne hand, which is the token in euery Epistle:
so I write.

18 The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ bee with you all, Amen.

THE FIRST EPISTLE OF PAVL TO TI- MOTHEVS.

CHAP. I.

Setting forth a perfect paterne of a true Pastour, whose office especially consisteth in teaching, 4 he warneth him that vaine questions set apart, hee teach those things, 5 which further charitie and faith: 12 and that his authoritie bee not condemned, 14 hee sheweth what an one bee is made through the grace of God.

PAVL an Apostle of IESVS CHRIST, by the ¶ commandement of God our Sauour, and of our Lord Iesus Christ
our hope,

2 Vnto Timotheus my naturall sonne in the faith: Grace, a mercy, and peace from God our Father, and from Christ Iesus our Lord.

3 As I befought thee to abide still in Ephesus, when I departed into Macedonia, so doe, that thou mayest warne some, that they teach none other doctrine,

4 Neither that they giue heede to fables and genealogies which are endlesse, which breede questions rather then godly edifying, which is by faith.

5 For the end of the commandement is loue out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and offaith vnfaigned.

6 From the which things some haue erred, and haue turned vnto vaine iangling.

7 They would be doctours of the Law, and yet vnderstand not what they speake, neither whereof they affirm.

8 And wee know, that the Law is good,
if a man vse it lawfully,

9 Knowing this, that the Lawe is not gi-uen vnto a righteous man, but vnto the law-lesse and disobedient, to the vngodly, and to sinners, to the vnholie, and to the profane, to the doctrine is corrupted not only by false opinions, but also by vaine and curious speculations: the declaration and vtterance whereof can nothing helpe our faith.

He noteth out one kinde of vaine questions. 4 The second admonition is, that the right vse and practise of the doctrine must be ioynd with the doctrine. And that con-sisteth in pure charitie, and a good conscience, and true faith. * Rom. 13. 10. c Of

² 17 Such as fall from God, and his religion, are not to be suffered in the Church, but rather ought to be excommunicated. ³ Cast out of the Church, and so delivered them to Satan. ⁴ That by their smart they might learn what is to be blasphemy.

20 Of whom is Hymeneus, and Alexander, ²¹ whom I haue^a deliuered vnto Satan, that they might^b learne not to blaspheme.

CHAP. II.

¹ Hee exhorteth them to make publike prayers for all men, ⁴ 5 and that for two causes: ⁸ And therefore he willeth all men in all places to pray. ⁹ And declareth in what appaill ¹¹ and with what modestie, women ought to behaue themselves in holy assemblies.

¹ Having dispatched those things which pertaine to doctrine, he speaketh now in the second place of the other part of the ministerie of the word, to wit, of publike prayers. And first of all, declaring this question, for whom we ought to pray: he teacheth that we must pray for all men, and especially for all manner of Magistrates, which thing was at that time somewhat doubted of, seeing that Kings, yea, and the most part of magistrates were at that time enemies of the Church.

² An argument taken of the end: to wit, because that Magistrates are appointed to this end, that men might peaceably and quietly live in all godlinesse and honestie, and therefore must we commend them especially to God, that they may faithfully execute so necessarie an office.

^a This word containeth all kinde of duty, which is to be used amongst men in all their affaires. ³ Another argument, why Churches or Congregations ought to pray for all men, without any difference of nation, kinde, age, or order: to wit, because the Lord by calling of all sorts, yea sometime those that are greatest enemies to the Gospel, will haue his Church gathered together after this sort; and therefore prayers to be made for all. ⁴ God should not else be manifested to be the onely God of all men, vnlesse he should shew his goodnesse in sauing of all sorts of men: neither should Christ be seene to be the onely Mediatour betwene God and all sorts of men, by hauing taken vpon him that nature of man which is common to all men, vnlesse hee had satisfied for all sortes of men, and made intercession for all. ^b Christ Iesus which was made man. ⁵ A confirmation because that euen to the Gentiles is the secret of saluation now opened and made manifest, the Apostle himselfe being appointed properly to this office, which he doth faithfully and sincerely execute. ⁶ 2. Tim. 1. 11. ^c Faithfully and sincerely: and by faith he meant wholeheartedly and sound doctrine, and by truth, an upright and sincere handling of it. ⁶ He hath spoken of the persons for whom we must pray: and now hee teacheth that the difference of places is taken away: for in times past, one only nation, and in one certaine place, came together to publike seruice: but now Churches or Congregations are gathered together euery where, (orderly and decently) and men come together to serue God publickly with common prayer, neither must wee straine for the nation, or for the purification of the body, or for the place, but for the mixt to haue it cleane from all offence, and full of sure trust and confidence. ^d Hee putteth the finger for the thing it selfe, the lifting up of hand, for the calling vpon God. ^e Without these griefes and offences of the minde, which hinder vs from calling vpon God with a good conscience. ^f Doubting which is against faith, James 1. 6. ⁷ 1. Pet. 3. 3. ⁷ Thirdly, he appointeth women to learne in the publike assemblies with silence and modestie, being comely apparellled, without any riot or excess in their apparell. ⁸ 1. Cor. 14. 34. ⁸ The first argument, why it is not lawfull for women to teach in the Congregation, because by this meanes, they should be placed aboue men, for they should be their masters: which is against Gods ordinance.

¹ Exhort therefore, that first of all supplications, prayers, intercessions, and giuing of thanks be made for all men,

² For Kings, and for all that are in authority, ³ that we may lead a quiet and a peaceable life, in all godlinesse and honestie.

³ For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Sauour,

⁴ Who will that all men shalbe saued, and come vnto the acknowledging of the trueth.

⁵ For there is one God, and one Mediatour betwene God and man, ⁶ which is the man Christ Iesus,

⁷ Who gaue himselfe a ranfome for all men, ⁸ to be that testimonie in due time,

¹¹ I will therefore that the men pray, euery where ¹² lifting vp pure handes without wrath, or doubting.

¹³ Likewise also the women, that they aray themselves in comely apparell, with shamesfastnesse and modestie, not with broided haire, or gold, or pearles, or costly apparell, ¹⁴ But (as becommeth women that profess the feare of God) with good workes.

¹⁵ Let the woman learne in silence with all subiection.

¹⁶ I permit not a woman to teach, ¹⁷ neither to vsurpe authoritie ouer the man, but to be in silence.

¹³ For ^a Adam was first formed, then Eue.

¹⁴ And Adam was not^b deceived, but the woman was deceived, and was in the transgression.

¹⁵ Notwithstanding, through bearing of children she shall be saued, if they continue in faith, and loue, and holinesse with modestie.

¹⁶ Then, because that after sinne, God enioyned the woman this punishment, for that she was deceived by her. ¹⁷ Adam was not deceived, but through his wises meanes, and therefore for a worthy for this cause subiect to her husband, and ought to be. ¹⁸ He addeth a comfort by the way, that their subiection hindereth not but that women may be saued as well as men, if they behaue themselves in those burdens of marriage holily and modestly, with faith and charitie.

CHAP. III.

¹ Hee setteth out Bishops, ⁸ and Christian Deacons, with their wiuues, ¹² children and family: ¹⁵ he calleth the Church the house of God.

¹ This is a true saying, ² If any man desire the office of a Bishop, hee desireth a worthy worke.

³ A Bishop therefore must be vnreprouable, the husband of^b one wife, watching, temperate, modest, harberous, apt to teach,

⁴ Not^c giuen to wine, no striker, not giuen to filthy lucre, but gentle, no fighter, not couetous,

⁵ One that can rule his owne house honestly, hauing children vnder obedience with all honestie.

⁶ For if any cannot rule his owne house, how shall he care for the Church of God?

⁷ He may not be a yong schollar, lest hee being puffed vp fall into the^d condemnation of the deuill.

⁸ Hee must also be well reported of, euen of them which are without, lest he fall into rebuke and the snare of the deuill.

⁹ Likewise must^e Deacons be graue, not double tongued, not giuen vnto much wine, neither to filthy lucre,

¹⁰ Hauing the^f mysterie of the faith in pure conscience.

¹¹ And let them first bee prooued: then let them minister, if they be found blamelesse.

¹² Likewise their wiuues must^g bee honest, not euill speakers, but sober, and faithfull in all things.

¹³ Let the Deacons bee the husbands of one wife, and such as can rule their children well, and their owne households.

¹⁴ For they that haue ministered well, get themselves a good^h degree, andⁱ great liberty in the faith, which is in Christ Iesus.

¹ He prooueth this ordinance of God, whereby the woman is subiect to man, first by that that God made the woman after man, for mans sake.

Paul purposing to add many peculiar things pertaining to the daily office of a Pastor, speaketh first a word or two concerning his coming to Timothy, that he should be so much the more careful, lest at his coming he might be reproved of negligences.

The pastor hath alwayes to thinke, how that he is occupied in the house of the liuing God, wherein the creature of the true h is kept. 1 To wit, in respect of men: for the Church rested upon that corner stone, Christ, and is the preseruer of the truth, but not the mother. 2 There is nothing more excellent then this truth, whereof the Church is the keeper and preseruer here among men, the ministerie of the word being appointed to that ende and purpose: for it teacheth vs the greatest matters that may be thought, to wit, that God is become visible in the person of Christ by taking our nature vpon him, whose Maiestie notwithstanding in so great weakenesse was manifested many wayes, in so much that the sight of it pierced the very Angels, and to conclude, hee being preached vnto the Gentiles was received of them, and is now placed about in glory vnspokeable. 3 The power of the Godhead shewed it selfe so man: sleasly in that weak selfe of Christ, that though he were a weak man, yet all the world knoweth he was and is God.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Hee condemneth as well false doctrines 3 of marriage and the choise of meats, 7 as also prophane fables: 8 And commendeth the godly exercise, 13 and the daily reading of the Scripture.

He setteth against that true doctrine, false opinions, which he foretelleth that certaine which shall fall away from God and his religion, shall bring in by the suggestion of Satan, and so, that a great number shall giue eare to them.

From the true doctrine of God, 2 Although he reuokes counterfeited holiness: for he neuer so much, yet haue they no conscience. 3 For they will as it were practise the art of disguised persons and players, that we may not thinke they will lie lurking in some one corner, or keepe any resemblance of holiness. 4 Whose conscience waxed so hard, that there grew an hard st. shine to it, and so became to haue a canker in it, and now at length required of very necessitie to be burned with an hore yron. 5 Hee setteth downe two kindes of this false doctrine, to wit, the Lawe of sole life, and difference of meates. 6 He proueth that he iustly called such doctrines deuillish first, because the teachers of them make Lawes of things which are not their owne: for haue they created the meates? 7 Secondly, because they ouertrow with their decrees, the ende wherefore they were created of God, to wit, that we should vie them. 8 Thirdly for that by this meanes they robbe God of his glorie, who will be honoured in the vie of them. And herewithall, the Apostle declareth that we must vie the liberalitie of God, soberly, and with a good conscience. 9 Hee setteth an Apostolical rule, for taking away the difference of meates, against that false doctrine. 10 Hee vseth Gods benefites rightly, which acknowledged the giuer of them by his word, and calleth vpon him. 11 It is so made pure and holy in respect of vs, so that we may vie it with a good conscience, as received at the Lords hand. 12 We confesse and acknowledge that God is the maker and giuer of those creatures which we vie. Secondly, that we are of the number of those, who through Christs benefite, haue recovered that right ouer all creatures, which Adam lost by his fall. Thirdly, by our prayers we craue of the Lord, that we may vie those meates with a good conscience, which we receive at his hand. Fourthly, we make an ende of our eating and drinking, with thanksgiving and prayer: and so are our meates sanctified to vs. 13 The Conclusion with an exhortation to Timothy, to propound these things diligently to the Churches, which hee had sucked from the Apostle euen in a manner from the teate. 14 Neuer departing from the side of vs.

Now the Spirit speaketh evidently, that in the latter times some shal depart from the faith, and shall giue heede vnto Spirits of error, and doctrines of deuils,

2 Which speake lies through hypocrisie, and haue their consciences burned with an hore yron,

3 Forbidding to marry, and commanding to abstaine from meats which God hath created to bee receiued with giuing thanks of them which beleue and know the truth.

4 For euery creature of God is good, and nothing ought to bee refused, if it bee receiued with thanksgiving.

5 For it is sanctified by the worde of God, and prayer.

6 If thou put the brethren in remembrance of these things, thou shalt be a good minister of Iesus Christ, which hath bene nourished vp in the words of faith, and of good doctrine, which thou hast continually followed.

7 But cast away prophane, & old wiues fables, and exercise thy selfe vnto godlinesse.

8 For bodily exercise profiteth little: but godlinesse is profitable vnto all things, which hath the promise of the life present, and of that that is to come.

9 This is a true saying, and by all means worthy to be receiued.

10 Fortherfore we labour and are rebuked, because wee trust in the liuing God, which is the Sauour of all men, specially of those that beleue.

11 These things warne and teach.

12 Let no man despise thy youth, but be vnto them that beleue, an ensample, in word, in conuersation, in loue, in spirit, in faith and in purenesse.

13 Till I come, giue attendance to reading, to exhortation, and to doctrine.

14 Despise not the gift that is in thee, which was giuen thee by prophetic with the laying on of the hands of the companie of the Eldership.

15 These things exercise, and giue thy selfe vnto them, that it may be seene how thou profitest among all men.

16 Take heede vnto thy selfe, and vnto learning: continue therein: for in doing this thou shalt both saue thy selfe, and them that heare thee.

selues to godlinesse, although they are afflicted and reproched, are notwithstanding not to be counted miserable as other men are, because they are not afflicted for that cause that other men are, and the end of them both is farre different one from the other. For how can God forsake his, which is bountifull euers towards his enemies? And he willeth that this doctrine bee well beaten into their hearts. 14 Now hee returneth to that exhortation, shewing which are the true vertues of a Pastor, whereby he may come to be renewed although he be but yong, to wit, such speech and life as are witness of charitie, zeale, faith, and puritie: but here is no mention made of the crosier staffe, ring, cloake, and such other tooillish and childish toys. 15 The priuate exercise of Pastours, is continual reading of the Scriptures, whence out they may drawe water of wholesome doctrine and exhortation, both to themselves and to other. 16 Faith is by hearing, and hearing by teaching: and therefore the Ministers of the word are so said to saue themselves and other by that in them the Lord hath put the word of reconciliation.

CHAP. V.

1 Having set downe a maner how to rebuke all degrees, hee intreateth of widowes, who then were chosen for the seruice of the Church: 17 Then hee commeth to Elders, 23 and speaketh somewhat touching the health of the body.

Rebuke not an Elder, but exhort him as a Father, and the younger men as brethren.

2 The elder women as Mothers, the yonger as sisters, with all purenesse.

3 Honour widowes, which are widowes in deede.

4 But if any widow haue children or nephewes, let them learne first to shew godlinesse toward their owne house, and to recompense their kinned: for that is an honest thing, and acceptable before God.

according to their habilitie. 4 The first reason, because that which they bestowe vpon theirs, they bestowe it vpon themselves. 5 Another, because nature it selfe teacheth vs to recompense our parents. 6 The third: because this dutifullnesse pleaseeth God.

57 And

He setteth against true doctrine not onely against that false and apostolical doctrine, but also against all vaine and curious subtilities. 11 It is not onely requirer that the Minister of the word bee sound in doctrine, but also that his life be godly and religious.

In the true seruice of God. 12 Godlinesse consisteth in spiritual exercise, and not in outward austerities of life, which though it be something to be accounted of, if it bee rightly vied, yet it is in no wise comparable with godlinesse. For it preserueh not of it selfe, but through the benefit of another, but this hath the promise both of the life present, and of that that is to come. 13 He goeth a little from his matter, & sheweth that they which giue themselves

Of keeping measure in priuate reprehensions according to the degrees of ages and kindes. 3 The Apostle giueth these rules touching the care of widowes. 4 Hee care of these widowes which haue need of helpe. 5 Widowes children and nephewes must take care for their parents

7 The second rule: Let the Church have care of such as are widowes in deede, that is to say, such as are poore and destitute of helpe of their owne friends, and live godly and religiously.

8 The third rule: Let widowes that live in pleasure, and neglect the care of their owne familie be holden and accounted as fallers away from God and his religion, and worse then very Infidels.

9 The fourth rule: Let none vnder threescore yeere old, be taken into the number of widowes, to serue the Congregations or Churches, and such as are free from all reproch of vnchastitie, and are well reported of, for their diligence, charitie, and integritye.

10 That hath had no more husbands, but one at one time.

11 This is spoken in respect of the manner of those countries.

12 The first reason why younger widowes are not to be admitted to this ministerie, to wit, because for the lightnes of their age they will at length shake off the burden that Christ hath laid vpon them, and thinke rather vpon marrying againe: and so will forsake the ministerie wherunto they had bound themselves.

13 Take them not into the Colledge of widowes.

14 Another reason: because they are for the most part praters and buffi odies, and gadders vp and downe, neglecting their charge and dutie.

5 And she that is a widow indeed and left alone, trusteth in God, and continueth in supplications and prayers night and day.

6 But she that liveth in pleasure, is dead, while she liveth.

7 These things therefore warne them of, that they may be blamelesse.

8 If there bee any, that provideth not for his owne, and namely for them of his household, hee denieth the faith, and is worse then an infidell.

9 Let not a widow be taken into the number vnder threescore yeere old, that hath bene the wife of one husband,

10 And well reported of for good workes: if she haue nourished her children, if shee haue lodged the strangers, if shee haue ministered vnto them which were in aduersity, if she were continually giuen vnto euery good worke.

11 But refuse the younger widowes: for when they haue begun to wax wanton against Christ, they will marry.

12 Having damnation, because they haue broken the first faith.

13 And likewise also being idle, they learne to gae about from house to house: yea they are not onely idle, but also praters and busie bodys, speaking things which are not comely.

14 I wil therefore that the younger woman marry, and beare children, and gouerne the house, and giue none occasion to the aduersary to speake euill.

15 For certaine are already turned backe after Satan.

16 If any faithfull man, or faithful women haue widowes, let them minister vnto them, and let not the Church bee charged, that there may be sufficient for them that are widowes in deede.

17 The Elders that rule well, let them be had in double honor, specially they which labour in the word and doctrine,

18 For the Scripture saith, *Thou shalt not mousel the mouth of the oxe that treadeth out the corne: and, *The labourer is worthy of his wages.

19 Against an Elder receiue none accusation, but vnder two or three witnessess.

20 Them that sin, rebuke openly, that the rest also may feare.

12 The first rule: Let younger widowes marry and gouerne their houses godly. 13 The first rule: Let the faithfull helpe their widowes at their owne charges as much as they can, and let not the Congregation bee burdened with these expenles. 14 Now hee giueth rules, and sheweth how hee ought to behaue himselfe with the Elders, that is to say, with the Pastors, and such as haue the gouernance in the discipline of the Church, which is present of their companie. The first rule: Let the Church or Congregation see vnto this especially, as God himselfe hath commanded, that the Elders that doe their dutie well, bee honestly maintained. * We must be more careful for them, than for the rest. f There were two kindes of Elders, the one attended vpon the gouernment only, and looked to the manners of the Congregation, the other did beside that attend vpon preaching and prayers, to and for the Congregation. * Deuteronomie 25. 4. 1. corinthians 9. 9. * Mattheus 10. 10. luke 10. 7. 15 The second rule. Let no accusation be admitted against an Elder, but vnder two or three witnessess. 16 The thirde rule. Let the Elders so conuicted be rebuked openly, that they may bee an example to other.

21 I charge thee before God, and the Lord Iesus Christ, and the elect Angels, that thou obserue these things without preferring one to another, and doe nothing partially.

22 Lay hands suddenly on no man, neither bee partaker of other mens sinnes: keepe thy selfe pure.

23 Drinke no longer water, but vse a little wine for thy stomacks sake, and thine often infirmities.

24 Some mens sinnes are open before hand, and go before vnto iudgement: but some mens follow after.

25 Likewise also the good works are manifest before hand, and they that are otherwise cannot be hid.

on: If ought bee done otherwise then well of his fellowes, let him keepe his conscience pure. * As much as in thee lieth, doe not rashly admit any what sauer to any Ecclesiastical function. 19 The first rule. Let the Elders haue indifferent consideration of their health, in the manner of their diet. 20 Because hypocrites sometimes creepe into the ministerie, although there be neuer so great diligence vied, the poffle wilthin the Pastours not to be troubled therefore, or slacke any whit in their diligence in trying and examining, because the Lord hath appointed a time to discouer the faults of such men, and it is our parts to take heede that wee offend not therein. 21 Another comfort belonging to them, which sometimes are slandered and misreported of.

CHAP. VI.

1 Hee sheweth the dutie of seruants: 10 and what a mischiefous euill cometh of sneise is: 13 and hauing spoken somewhat of rich men, he once againe forbiddeth Timothee 20 to comber himselfe with vaine bablings.

Let as many seruants as are vnder the Lyoke, count their masters worthy of all honour, that the Name of God, and his doctrine be not euill spoken of.

2 And they which haue beleeuing masters, let them not despise them, because they are brethren, but rather doe seruice, because they are faithfull, and beloued, and partakers of the benefit. 4 These things teach and exhort.

3 If any man teach otherwise, and consenteth not to the wholesome words of our Lord Iesus Christ, and to the doctrine, which is according to godlinesse,

4 He is puffed vp and knoweth nothing, but doeth about questions and strife of words, whereof commeth enuie, strife, railings, euill furmising,

5 Froward disputations of men of corrupt mindes, & destitute of the trueth, which thinke that gaine is godlinesse: for such separate thy selfe.

come to the faith, and haue also masters of the same profession and religion, abusing the name of brotherhood, but let them somuch the rather obey them. a Letting sufficient, that as touching those things which pertaine to euill lasting life, they are partakers of the same good will and love of God, as their masters themselves are. 4 A general conclusion, that these things ought not onely to be simply taught, but must with exhortations be diligently beaten into their heads. 5 Hee condemneth severely and excommunicate or cast out of the Church as proud men, such as content not themselves with Christs doctrine, (that is to say, the doctrine of godlinesse) but wagger both themselves and others, in vaine questions, (for all other things are vaine) because they content not themselves in Christs doctrine: and as lying deceiuers, because they fauour or found of nothing but vanitie: as mad men, because they trouble themselves so much in matters of nothing: as mischieuous plagues, for that they cause great contentions, and corrupt mens mindes and iudgement: to be short, as prophane and wicked, because they abuse the precious name of godlinesse and religion, to filthie lucre. b Strivings about words, and not about matter: and by words to maintain those things which haue not pitch in them, and whereby we can reape no profit. c Such as wee see in these shamelesse Schooles of Poperie, which are nothing else but vaine talking and prating.

6. But godlinesse is great gaine, if a man be content with that he hath. 7. For we brought nothing into the world, and it is certaine, that we can carry nothing out. 8. Then when wee haue food and rayment, let vs therewith be content. 9. For they that will be rich, fall into temptation and snares, and into many foolish and noisome lusts, which drowne men in perdition and destruction. 10. For the desire of money is the roote of all euill, which while some lusted after, they erred from the faith, and perced themselves through with many sorowes. 11. But thou, O man of God, flee these things, and follow after righteousness, godlinesse, faith, love, patience, and meekenesse. 12. Fight the good fight of faith: lay holde of eternall life, whereunto thou art also called, and hast professed a good profession before many witnesses. 13. I charge thee in the sight of God, who quickeneth all things, and before Iesus Christ, which vnder Pontius Pilate was witnessed a good confession. 14. That thou keepe this commandment without spot, and vnbukeable, vntill the appearing of our Lord Iesus Christ. 15. Which in due time hee shall shew, that is blessed and Prince only, the King of kings, and Lord of lords. 16. Who only hath immortalitie, and dwelleth in the light, that none can attaine vnto whom neuer man saw, neither can see, vnto whom be honour & power euerlasting, Amen. 17. Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not high minded, and that they trust not in vncertaine riches, but in the living God, (which giueth vs abundantly, all things to enioy.) 18. That they doe good, and be rich in good workes, and be ready to distribute, and communicate. 19. Laying vp in store for themselves a good foundation against the time to come, that they may obtaine eternall life. 20. O Timotheus, keepe that which is committed vnto thee, and auoide prophane and vaine babblings, and oppositions of science falsely so called. 21. Which while some professe, they haue erred concerning the faith. Grace be with thee, Amen.

frail nature of riches against God. Math. 6. 2. The praise of liberalitie, by the effects thereof: because it is a sure testimonie of the Spirit of God which dwelleth in vs, and therefore of the saluation that shal be giuen vs. He rehearseth the chiefeft of all the former exhortations, which ought to be deeply imprinted in the minds of all Ministers of the word, to wit, that they eschew all vaine babblings of Sophistrie, and continue in the simplicitie of sincere doctrine. Not only in word, but also in countenance and gesture: to be short, whilst their behauiour was such that men when they held their peace, they would make men believe, their heads were occupied about nothing but high and weightie matters, when they erred concerning the faith.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF PAUL TO TIMOTHEVS.

CHAP. I.

5. He commendeth Timotheus faith, 6. and exhorteth him to go on faithfully in the charge committed vnto him: 8. And that neither for the bonds, 15. nor the reuolting of others, he faint. 11. He triumpheth of his Apostleship. 14. He willeth him to haue care of the thing committed vnto him, 16. and praiseth Onesiphorus.

PAVL an Apostle of Iesus Christ, by the will of God, according to the promise of life which is in Christ Iesus, 2. To Timotheus my beloued sonne: Grace, mercie and peace from God the Father, and from Iesus Christ our Lord. 3. I thanke God, whom I serue from mine elders with pure conscience, that without ceasing I haue remembrance of thee in my prayers night and day, 4. Desiring to see thee, mindfull of thy teares, that I may be filled with ioy: 5. When I call to remembrance the vnfained faith that is in thee, which dwelt first in thy grandmother Lois, and in thy mother Eunice, and am assured that it dwelleth in thee also. 6. Wherefore I put thee in remembrance that thou stirre vp the gift of GOD which is in thee, by the putting on of mine hands. 7. For God hath not giuen to vs the spirit of feare, but of power, and of loue, and of a sound mind. 8. Be not therefore ashamed of the testimonie of our Lord, neither of mee: his prisoner: but bee partaker of the afflictions of the

2. He warneth vs to let the inuincible power of the Spirit, which God hath giuen vs, against those stormes which may, and doe come vpon vs. 3. The gift of God is as it were a continually flame kindled in our hearts, which the selfe and the deuill goe about to put out: and therefore we on the contrary side must labour as much as we can to suffer and keepe it burning. 4. To persevere thorough and serious vs, as men whom the Lord will destroy. 3. He proueth that the ignominie or shame of the crosse is not onely not to be ashamed of, but also that it is glorious and most honourable: first, because the Gospel wherefore the godly are afflicted: is the testimonie of Christ: and secondly because as length the great vertue and power of God appeareth in them. 4. For his sake.

Gospel,

*f. The Gospel after a sort is said to be afflicted in them that preach it. g. Through the power of God. h. He dwelt with how great ben. first God hath bound vs to maintain boldy and constantly his glorie which is toyed with our falsation and reckoneth vp the causes of our falsation, to wit, that flow and eternall purpose of God, to save vs in Christ which was to come, whereby it should come to passe, that we should at length be freely called of God by the preaching of the Gospel, so Christ the destroyer of death & author of immortalitye. * 1. Cor. 1. 2. * Tit. 3. 5. b. He saith that that grace was given vnto us from everlasting, vnto which we were predestinated from our lasing. So that the doctrine of forefaine faith and forefaine works, is cleare contrary to the doctrine which preacheth & teacheth the grace of God. c. Before that course of yeeres which hath runne on ever since the beginning of the world. * Rom. 16. 2. 5. eph. 1. 4. col. 1. 16. Titus. 1. 2. k. Hath caused life and immortalitye to appeare. * 1. Tim. 3. 7. 5. That is the Gospel which the Apostle preached. 6. He confirmeth his Apostleship by a strange argument, to wit, because the world could not abide it, and therefore it persecuted him that preached it. 7. By setting his owne example before vs, hee sheweth vs how it may be, that we shall not be ashamed of the crosse of Christ, to wit, if we be sure that God both can and will keepe the saluation which hee hath as it were laid vp in store by himselfe for vs against that day. 8. Hee sheweth wherein hee ought to be most constant, to wit, both in the doctrine it selfe, the abridgement whereof is faith and charitie, and nexain the manner of teaching it, a lively patterne & shap whereof Timotheus knew in the Apostle. 9. An amplification, taken of the dignitie of so great a benefit committed to the ministers. 10. The taking away of an obiection. It is an hard thing to doe it, but the Spirit of God is mightie, who hath inwardly indued vs with his vertue. 11. He preuenteth an offence which arole by the meanes of certaine that fell from God and the religion, and vetereth also their names, that they might be knowen of all men. But hee setteth against them the singular faith of one man, and one onely good example might counterpoise and weigh downe all euill examples.*

Gospel, according to the power of God,
9 Who hath saved vs, and called vs with an holy calling, not according to our workes, but according to his owne purpose and grace, which was given to vs through Christ Iesus before the world was,
10 But is now made manifest by that appearing of our Saviour Iesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortalitye vnto light through the Gospel,
11 Whereunto I am appointed a preacher, and Apostle, & a teacher of the Gentiles,
12 For the which cause I also suffer these things, but I am not ashamed: for I knowe whom I haue beleueed, and I am perswaded that he is able to keepe that which I haue committed to him against that day.
13 Keepe the true patterne of the wholesome words, which thou hast heard of mee in faith and loue which is in Christ Iesus.
14 That worthy thing, which was committed to thee, keep through the holy Ghost which dwelleth in vs.
15 This thou knowest, that all they which are in Asia, be turned from me of which sort are Phygellus and Hermogenes.
16 The Lord giue merie vnto the house of Onesiphorus: for hee oft refreshed me, and was not ashamed of my chaine, 17 But when he was at Rome, he sought me out very diligently, and found me.
18 The Lord grant vnto him, that he may finde merie with the Lord at that day, and in how many things he hath ministred vnto me at Ephesus, thou knowest very well.

CHAP. II.

2 The better to set our perseverance in the Christian warfare, 3 he taketh similitudes 4 from souldiers, 6 and from husbandmen. 10 He sheweth that his bonds are for the profit of the Saints: 15 Then he warneth Timotheus to diuide the word of the truth aright, 17 to beware of the examples of the wicked, 22 and to doe all things modestly.

THOU therefore, my sonne, bee strong in the grace that is in Christ Iesus.
2 And what things thou hast heard of mee, by many witnesses, the same deliuer to faithful men, which shall be able to teach other also.
3 The conclusion of the former exhortation which hath also added vnto it a declaration, how that they do not keep that worthy thing that is committed vnto them, which keepe it to themselves, but they rather which do most freely communicate it with other, to the ende that many may be partakers of it, without any mans losse or hindrance. a When many were by, which can beare witness of these things.

3 Thou therefore suffer affliction as a good souldier of Iesus Christ.
4 No man that warreth, entangleth himselfe with the affaires of this life, because hee would please him that hath chosen him to bee a souldier.
5 And if any man also strue for a Master, hee is not crowned, except hee strue as hee ought to doe.
6 The husbandman must labour before he receiue the fruits.
7 Consider what I say: and the Lord geue thee vnderstanding in all things.
8 Remember that Iesus Christ, made of the seed of David, was raised againe from the dead according to my Gospel, 9 Wherein I suffer troubles as an euill doer, euen vnto bonds: but the word of God is not bound.
10 Therefore I suffer all things, for the elects sake, that they might also obtaine the saluation which is in Christ Iesus, with eternall glorie.
11 It is a true saying. For if wee be dead together with him, wee shall also liue together with him.
12 If wee suffer, wee shall also reigne together with him: if wee denie him, hee also will denie vs.
13 If we beleue not, yet abideth he faithful: he cannot denie himselfe.
14 Of these things put them in remembrance, and protest before the Lord, that they strue not about wordes, which is to no profit, but to the perverting of the hearers.
15 Studie to shew thy selfe approoued vnto God, a workeman that needeth not to be ashamed, diuiding the worde of truth aright.
16 Stay prophane and vaine babblings: for they shall encrease vnto more vngodlinesse.
17 And their word shall fret as a canker: of which sort is Hymeneus and Philetus, 18 Which as concerning the trueth haue erred from the marke, saying that the resur-

wit, that hee is risen againe from the dead. 7 The taking away of an obiection: Truth it is, that hee is kept in prison as an euill doer, yet there is no cause, why therefore some should goe about to derogate credite from his Gospel, seeing that notwithstanding God did blese his ministerie, and rather, that example of this his captiuitie and patience, did sundrie wayes confirme his Church in the hope of a better life. 8 The fourth admonition: wee ought not to contend vpon words and questions, which are not onely vnprofitable, but also for the most part hurtfull: but rather vpon this, howe wee may frame our selues to all manner of patience, and to die also with Christ (that is to say, for Christs Name), because that is the plaine way to the most glorious life: as contrariwise the falling away of men can diminish no part of the truth of God, although by such meanes they procure euill certayne destruction to themselves. * Romanes 6. 5. c. If wee be afflicted with Christ, and for Christ his sake. * Matthew 10. 33. marke 8. 38. * Romanes 3. 3. and 9. 4. Call God to witnesse, or as a Judge: as Moyses, Ioshua, Samuell, and Paul himselfe did, altes 20. 9 The fifth admonition: A Minister must not bee an idle dissipater, but a faithful steward in diuiding aright the word of truth, in so much that hee must stoppe the mouthes of other vaine babblers. By adding nothing to it, neither ouerslipping any thing, neither mangling it, nor renting it in sunder, nor wresting it: but marking diligently what his hearers are able to beare, and what is fit to dispense. f. Marke and watch, and see they creepe not on further. 10 Hee discouereth the subtiltie of Satan, who beginning with these principles, draweth vs by litle and litle vnto godlinesse through the meanes of that wicked and prophane babbling, still creeping on: which hee proueth by the horrible example of them that taught, that the resurrection was already past.

rection is past already, and doe destroy the faith of certaine.

19 ¹¹ But the foundation of God remaineth sure, and hath this seale, The Lord knoweth who are his: and, Let every one that calleth on the Name of Christ, depart from iniquitie.

20 ¹² Notwithstanding in a great house are not onely vessels of golde and of siluer, but also of wood and of earth, * and some for honour, and some vnto dishonour.

21 If any man therefore ^b purge himselfe from these, hee shall bee a vessel vnto honour, sanctified, and meet for the Lord, and prepared vnto every good worke.

22 ¹³ Flee from the lusts of youth, and follow after righteousness, faith, loue, and ¹⁴ peace, with them that * call on the Lord with pure heart,

23 * And put away foolish and vnlearned questions, knowing that they ingender strife.

24 But the seruant of the Lorde must not strue, but ^{must} be gentle toward all men, apt to teach, ⁱ suffering the euill,

25 Instructing them with meekenesse that are ^k contrary minded, ^{pruning} if God at any time will giue them repentance, that they may acknowledge the trueth,

26 And come to amendment out of that snare of the deuill, of whom they are taken prisoners, to ^{doe} his will.

¹ This, that we be found vessels prepared to honour. * ² Romanes 9. 21. ³ By these words is meant the execution of the matter and not the cause: for in that we purge our selues, it is not to be attributed to any free will that is in vs, but to God, who freely & wholly worketh in vs a good and an effectual will. ⁴ Returning to the matter from whence hee digressed verse 16, he warneth him to exercise himselfe in weightie matters, and such as pertaine to godlinesse. ⁵ The first admonition We must about all things eschew all bitterness of mind, both in teaching all men, and also in calling them back which haue gone out of the way. ⁶ *1. CHAP. III.

1 ¹ He foretelleth the dangerous times that are to ensue, 9 but with the certaine hope of victorie, 10 hee encourageth him to the combat, setting out especially the triall of sound doctrine.

¹ His ¹ know also, that in the * last dayes shall come perilous times.

2 For men shalbe louers of their own selues, couetous, boasters, proude, cursed speakers, disobedient to parents, vnthankfull, ^a vnholly,

3 Without naturall affection, truce breakers, false accusers, intemperate, fierce, no louers at all of them which are good,

4 Traitours, headie, high minded, louers of pleasures more then louers of God,

5 Hauing a shew of godlinesse, but haue denied the power thereof: ² turne away therefore from such.

6 For of this sort are they which creepe into houses, and leade captiue simple women laden with finnes, and led with diuers lustes.

7 Which women are euer learning, and are neuer able to come to the acknowledging of the trueth.

¹ Tim. 4. 1. ² per. 3. 3. iud. 18. ³ Which make no account, either of fright or of necessity. ⁴ We must not daily with such men as resist the trueth, not of simple ignorance, but of a peruerse minde, (which thing appeareth by their fruits which he paineth out here liuely) but we must rather turne away from them.

8 * And as Iannes and Iambres withstood Moses, so doe these also resist the trueth, men of corrupt mindes, reprobate concerning the faith.

9 ³ But they shall preuaile no longer: for their madnesse shall be euident vnto all men, as theirs also was.

10 ¶ ⁴ But thou hast ^b fully known my doctrine, maner of liuing, purpose, faith, long suffering, loue, patience,

11 Persecutions, and afflictions which came vnto mee at ^c Antiochia, at Icomum, and at Lystra, which persecutions I suffered: but from them all the Lord deliuered me, 12 Yea, and all that will liue godly in Christ Iesus, shall suffer persecution.

13 But the euill men and deceiuers shall waxe ^d worse and worse, deceiuing, and being deceived.

14 But continue thou in the things which thou hast learned, and which are committed vnto thee, knowing of whom thou hast learned them:

15 And that thou hast known the holy Scriptures of a child, which are able to make thee wise vnto saluation, through the faith which is in Christ Iesus.

16 * ⁵ For the whole Scripture is giuen by inspiration of God, and is profitable to teach, to conuince, to correct, and to instruct in righteousness,

CHAP. IIII.

1 He chargeth him to preach the Gospe l with all diligence, 3 in that so miserable a time: 6 That his death is hard at hand, 8 yea so, that as conquerour, hee maketh haste to a glorious triumph. 10 He sheweth the cause why he sendeth for Timothee, 11 euen by reason of his present state.

¹ Charge thee therefore before God, and before the Lord Iesus Christ, which shall iudge the quicke and dead at that his appearing, and in his kingdom,

3 ² For the time will come, when they will not suffer wholesome doctrine: but hauing their eares itching, shall after their owne lustes, get them an heape of teachers,

4 And shall turne their eares fro the trueth, and shalbe giuen to ^a fables.

5 ³ But watch thou in all things: suffer aduersitie: do the worke of an Euangelist: ^b cause thy ministerie to be thoroughly liked of.

7 I haue fought a good fight, and haue finished my course: I haue kept the faith.

9 Make speed to come vnto me at once:

10 For Demas hath forsaken mee, and hath embraced this present world, and is departed vnto Thessalonica, Crescens is gone to Galatia, Titus vnto Dalmatia.

11 Onely Luke is with me. Take Marke and bring him with thee: for hee is profitable vnto me to minister.

12 And Tychicus haue I sent to Ephesus.

13 The cloke that I left at Troas with Carpus, when thou comest, bring with thee, and the bookes, but specially the parchments.

14 Alexander the coppersmith hath done me much euill: the Lord reward him according to his worke.

15 Of whom be thou ware also: for he withstood our preaching sore.

16 At my first answering no man assisted me, but all forsooke me: I pray God, that it may not be laid to their charge.

17 Notwithstanding the Lord assisted me, and strengthened me, that by me the preaching might be fully beleueed, and that all the Gentiles should heare: and I was deliuered out of the mouth of the lion.

18 And the Lord will deliuer me from euery euill worke, and will preserve me vnto his heavenly kingdome: to whome be praise for euer and euer, Amen.

THE EPISTLE OF Paul to Titus.

CHAP. I.

6 He sheweth what kind of men ought to be chosen ministers. 10 how raine bablers mouths should be stopped: 12 And through this occasion hee toucheth the nature of the Cretians, 14 & the Lewes who put holines in outward things.

1 He voucheth his Apostleship (not for Titus, but for y Cretenes sake) both by the testimony of his outward calling, and by his content wherein hee agreeth with all the elect from the beginning of the world.

a A Minister, as Christ himselfe in that that hee was a Minister & head of the Prophets, is called a servant, Esai. 43. 10.

b Of those whom God hath chosen.

2 The faith wherein all the elect consent, is the true and sincere knowledge of God, tending to this end, that worshipping God aright, they may at length obtaine life everlasting according to the promise of God, who is true, which promise is exhibited in Christ in due time according to his eternall purpose.

c Hope is the end of faith. d Freely and of his mercie liberalitie. * Rom. 16. 25. eph. 3. 9. col. 1. 26. 2. tim. 1. 7. 1. pet. 1. 20. e. Look 2. Tim. 1. 9.

3 This truth is no other whereto be sought, but in the preaching of the Apostles. * Galat. 1. 1. f This word (Saviour) doth not onely signify a preseruer of life, but also a giuer of life.

4 The Apostle moueth the Cretians to heare Titus, by setting forth his consent and agreement with them in the faith, and therewithall sheweth by what speciall note we may distinguish true ministers from false. 5 There is but one way of saluation, common both to the Pastor and the flocke. 6 The first admonition to ordeine Elders in euery Church,

PAVL a servant of God, and an Apostle of Iesus Christ, according to the faith of Gods elect, and the acknowledging of the trueth, which is according vnto godlines,

2 Vnto the hope of eternall life, which God that cannot lie, hath promised before the world began:

3 But hath made his word manifest in due time through the preaching, which is committed vnto mee, according to the commandment of God our Saviour:

4 To Titus my naturall sonne according to the common faith, Grace, mercy and peace from God the Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ our Saviour.

5 For this cause left I thee in Creta, that thou shouldest continue to redresse the things that remaine, and shouldest ordeine Elders in euery citie, as I appointed thee,

6 If any be vnreprouable, the husband of one wife, hauing faithfull children, which are not slandered of riot, neither are disobedient.

7 For a Bishop must be vnreprouable, as Gods steward, not froward, not angry, nor giuen to wine, no striker, not giuen to filthy lucre,

8 But harberous, one that loueth goodnesse, wife, righteous, holy, temperate,

9 Holding fast that faithfull word according to doctrine, that he also may be able to exhort with wholesome doctrine, and conuince them that say against it.

10 For there are many disobedient and vaine talkers and deceiuers of mindes, chiefly they of the Circumcision, 11 Whose mouthes must be stopped, which subuert whole houses, teaching things, which they ought not, for filthy lucre sake.

12 One of themselues, even one of their owne prophets said, The Cretians are alwayes liars, euill beasts, slow bellies, liened, and pertaineth to saluation, leauing all curious and vaine matters. 9 The fourth admonition: To apply the knowledge of true doctrine vnto vie, which consisteth in two things, to wit, in governing them which shew themselues apt to learne, and confuting the obstinate.

10 An applying of the generall proposition to particular: The Cretians about all other need sharpe reprehensions: both because their mindes are naturally giuen to lies and slouthfulness, and because of certaine couetous Jewes, which vnder a colour of godlinesse, ioyned partly certaine vaine traditions, and partly olde ceremonies with the Gospel.

1 Of the Lewes, or rather of those Jews which went about to ieyne Christ and the Law. m Epimenides, who was counted a Prophet amongst them, Looke vpon Laertius, and Cicero in his first booke of diuination.

* 1. Tim. 3. 2.

g This word is proper to heresies and exen which will not abide the yoke.

7 The second admonition: what faults Pastors (whom he comprehended afore vnder the word Elders) ought to be void of, and what vertues they ought to haue.

h Whom the Lord hath appointed steward of his gifts.

i Not hard compassed, and euill to please.

k Circumpect, & of a sound iudgement, and of a singular example of moderation.

13 This witnesse is true: wherefore con-nuince them sharply, that they may be found in the faith,

14 And not taking heed to Jewish fables and commandements of men, that turne away from the truth.

15 Vnto the pure ^{are} all things pure, but vnto them that are defiled, and vnbeleeuing is nothing pure, but euen their mindes and consciences are defiled.

16 They professe that they know God, but by workes they denie him, and are abominable and disobedient, and vnto euery good worke reprobare.

17 They know not what is true religion indeed, and also are nothing left then that they would seeme to be. ^{Rom. 14. 23.} <sup>If our minds and consciences be sincere, what cleanness is there in vs before regeneration?</sup>

CHAP. II.

1 Hee setteth out the dueties of sundry persons and states, & willeth him to instruct the Church in thaimers. 11 He draweth an argument from the ende of our redemption, 12 which is, that we liue godly and vprightly.

But speake thou the things which become wholesome doctrine,

2 That the elder men be watchful, graue, temperate, sound in the faith, in loue, and in patience.

3 The elder women likewise, that they bee in such behauiour as becommeth holinesse, not false accusers, nor subiect to much wine, but teachers of honest things,

4 That they may instruct the yong women to be sober minded, that they loue their husbands, that they loue their children,

5 That they be temperate, chaste, keeping at home, good & subiect vnto their husbands, that the word of God be not euill spoken of.

6 Exhort yong men likewise, that they be sober minded.

7 In all things shew thy selfe an example of good workes with vncorrupt doctrine, with grauitie, integritie,

8 And with the wholesome word, which cannot be condemned, that he which withstandeth, may bee ashamed, hauing nothing concerning you to speake euill of.

9 Let seruants bee subiect to their masters, and please them in all things, not answering againe,

10 Neither pickers, but that they shew all good faithfulness, that they may adorne the doctrine of God our Sauour in all things.

11 For that grace of God, that bringeth saluation vnto all men, hath appeared,

12 And teacheth vs that wee should denie vngodlinesse and worldly lustes, and that wee should liue soberly and righteously, and godly in this present world,

13 Looking for that blessed hope, and appearing of that glory of that mightie God, and of our Sauour Iesus Christ,

14 Who gaue himselfe for vs, that he might redeeme vs from all iniquitie, and purge vs to be a peculiar people vnto himselfe, zealous of good workes.

15 These things speake, and exhort, and conuince with all authoritie. See that no man despise thee.

CHAP. III.

1 He willeth that all generally bee put in minde to reuerence such as be in authoritie: 3 That they remember their former life, and attribute all iustification vnto grace. 9 And if any brabler withstand these things, 10 he willeth that he be reiected.

Put them in remembrance that they bee subiect to the Principalities and powers, and that they bee obedient, and ready to euery good worke,

2 That they speake euill of no man; that they be no fighters, but soft, shewing all meekenesse vnto all men.

3 For wee our selues also were in times past vnwise, disobedient, deceitied, seruing the lusts and diuers pleasures, liuing in maliciousnesse & enuie, hatefull, and hating one another.

4 But when that bountifullnesse and that loue of God our Sauour toward man appeared,

5 Not by the workes of righteousness, which we had done, but according to his mercie hee saued vs, by the washing of the newe birth, and the renewing of the holy Ghost.

6 Which hee shedde on vs abundantly through Iesus Christ our Sauour,

7 That wee, being iustified by his grace, should bee made heires according to the hope of eternall life.

8 This is a true saying, and these things I will thou shouldest affirme, that they which haue beleueed God, might be carefull to shew foorth good workes. These things are good and profitable vnto men.

9 But stay foolish questions, and genea-logies, and contentions, and brawlings about the Law: for they are vnprofitable and vaine.

10 Reiect him that is an hereticke, after once or twise admonition,

11 Knowing that he that is such, is peruered, and sinneth, being damned of his owne selfe.

12 When I shal send Artemas vnto thee, or Tychicus, be diligent to come to me vnto Nicopolis: for I haue determined there to winter.

13 Bring Zenas the expounder of the Law, and Apollos on their iourney diligently, that they lacke nothing.

14 And let ours also learne to shew foorth good workes for necessarie vses, that they bee not vnfruitfull.

15 All that are with me, salute thee. Greete them that loue vs in the faith. Grace be with you all, Amen.

THE EPISTLE OF PAUL TO PHILEMON.

Paul handling a base and small matter, yet according to his manner mounteth aloft vnto God. 8 Sending againe to Philemon his ragabond and theuigh seruant, bee entreateth pardon for him, and very grauely preacheth of Christian equitie.

Paul a prisoner of Iesus Christ, and our brother Timotheus, vnto Philemon our deare friend, and fellow helper,

2 And to our deare sister Apphia, and to Archippus our fellow buldier, and to the Church that is in thine house:

3 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

4 I giue thanks to my God, making mention alwayes of thee in my prayers,

5 (When I heare of thy loue and faith, which thou hast toward the Lord Iesus, and toward all Saints.)

6 That the fellowship of thy faith may bee made effectual, and that whatioeuer good thing is in you through Christ Iesus, may bee knowne.

7 For wee haue great ioy and consolation in thy loue, because by thee, brother, the Saints bowels are comforted.

8 Wherefore, though I be very bold in Christ to command thee, that which is conuenient, 9 Yet for loues sake I rather beseech thee, though I be as I am, euen Paul aged, and euen now a prisoner for Iesus Christ.

10 I beseech thee for my sonne Onesimus, whom I haue begotten in my bonds, 11 Which in times past was to thee vnprofitable, but now profitable both to thee & to me.

12 Whom I haue sent againe: thou therefore receiue him, that is mine owne bowels.

13 Whom I would haue retained with me, that in thy stead hee might haue ministered vnto me in the bonds of the Gospel.

14 But without thy minde would I doe nothing, that thy benefit should not be as it were of necessity, but willingly.

15 It may be that he therefore departed for a season, that thou shouldst receiue him for euer.

16 Not now as a seruant, but aboute a seruant, euen as a brother beloued, especially to me: how much more then vnto thee, both in the flesh and in the Lord?

17 If therefore thou count our things common, receiue him as my selfe.

18 If he hath hurt thee, or oweth thee ought, that put on mine accounts.

19 I Paul haue written this with mine owne hand: I will recompense it, albeit I doe not say to thee, that thou owest moreouer vnto mee euen thine owne selfe.

20 Yea, brother, let me obtaine this pleasure of thee in the Lord: comfort my bowels in the Lord.

21 Trusting in thine obedience, I wrote vnto thee, knowing that thou wilt doe euen more then I say.

22 Moreouer also prepare me lodging: for I trust through your prayers I shall bee freely giuen vnto you.

23 There salute thee Epaphras my fellow prisoner in Christ Iesus, 24 Marcus, Aristarchus, Demas, and Luke my fellow helpers.

25 The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ, bee with your spirit, Amen.

¶ Written from Rome to Philemon, and sent by Onesimus a seruant.

THE EPISTLE TO THE HEBREWES.

The drift and end of this Epistle, is to shew that Iesus Christ the Sonne of God both God and man is that true eternall & only Prophet, King, and high Priest, that was shadowed by the figures of the old law, and is now indeed exhibited: of whom the whole Church ought to be taught, governed, & sanctified.

CHAP. I.

1 To shew that the doctrine which Christ brought, is most excellent; in that it is the knitting vp of all prophecies, 4 hee aduanceth him above the Angels: 10 And proo- ueth by diuers testimonies of the Scripture, that hee farre passeth a bother.

A sundry times and in diuers maners God spake in the olde time to our fathers by the Prophets: in these last dayes he hath spoken vnto vs by his Sonne,

2 Whom hee hath made heire of all things, by whom also he made the worlds,

3 Who being the brightness of the glory, and the ingraued forme of his person, & bearing vp all things by his mighty word, hath by himselfe purged our sinnes, and sitteth at the right hand of the maiestie in the highest places, yea, and himselfe also to be beholder of vs, who beareth vp and susteineth all things by his will and pleasure. 4 Possessor and equall companion of all things with the Father. 5 That is what secure hath bene at any time, as hee saith. 6 Col. 1. 15 Hee in whom that glory and Maiestie of the Father shineth, who is other wise infinite, and cannot be beheld, f. His Father's person. 7 Suffereth, defendeth, and cheriseth. 8 The third part of this same proposition: The same Sonne executed the face of the heire of the Father in offering up himselfe, and is our onely and most mightie mediator in heaven. 9 That the sacrifice of that his sacrifice is not onely most acceptable to the Father, but also is our lifting, and furthermore haue farre this high Priest passeth all the other high Priests.

4 Before hee cometh to declare the office of Christ, he setteth forth the excellencie of his person, and first of all he sheweth him to be a man, that therewithall he is God also.

1 Dignitie and honour, 3. 6. 7. 8. 9. 10. He proueth and confirmeth the dignitie of Christ manifest in the flesh, by these fixe euident testimonies, whereby it appeareth that he is equal with all Angels, inasmuch that he is called both Sonne, and God, in verses 3. 6. 7. 8. 10. 13.

2 Psal. 2. 7. chap. 5. 5. k The Father begate the Sonne from euertlasting, but that euertlasting generation was made manifest to the world in his time, and there-fore he added this word (To day)

*o The throne is proper to Princes and not to seruants. p For euertlasting, for this doubling of the word increaseth the signification of it beyond all measure. q The gouernment of thy kingdom is righteous. r This kinde of rehearsing which the lawes use by contraries, hath great force in it. s In that, that the word became flesh, by powring the holy Ghost upon him without measure. t For hee is the head, and we are his members. * Psal. 102. 25. u Made the earth firme and sure. * Psal. 110. 1. 1. cor. 15. 25. chap. 10. 12, 13. x By that name by which we commonly call Princes messengers, hee here calleth the spirits.*

*1 Now as it were pausing with himselfe, and shewing to what ende and purpose all these things were spoken, to wit, to vnderstand by the excellencie of Christ above all creatures, that his doctrine, maiestie and Priest-hood is most perfect he vlieth an exhortation taken from a comparison. a Hee maketh himselfe an beaver. b They are said to let the word runne out, which hold it not fast when they haue heard it. c The Law which appointed punishment for the offenders: and which Paul sayeth was giuen by Angels, Gala. 3. 19 and Steu. 7. 53. 2 If the breach and transgression of the word spoken by Angels was not suffered unpunished, much lesse shall it be lawfull for vs to neglect the word which the Lord of Angels preached, and was confirmed by the voice of the Apostles, and with so many signes and wonders from heauen. and especially with so great and mightie working of the holy Ghost. d By the Apostles. * Marke 16. 20.*

4 And is made so much more excellent then the Angels, in as much as he hath obtained a more excellent Name then they.

5 For vnto which of the Angels said hee at any time, * Thou art my Sonne, ^k this day begate I thee? and againe, I ^l will bee his Father, and he shalbe my Sonne?

6 And againe, when hee bringeth in his first begotten Sonne into the world, hee saith, * And let all the Angels of God worship him.

7 And of the Angels he saith, * Hee maketh the spirits his ^m messengers, and his ministers a ⁿ flame of fire.

8 But vnto the Sonne he saith, * O God, thy throne is for euer ^p and euer: the scepter of thy kingdom is a ^q scepter of righteousness.

9 Thou hast loued righteousness and hated iniquitie. Wherefore God, ^r euen thy God, hath anointed thee with the oyle of gladnesse about thy ^s fellows.

10 And, * Thou Lord, in the beginning hast established the earth, and the heauens are the workes of thine hands.

11 They shall perish, but thou doest remaine: and they all shall waxe olde as doeth a garment.

12 And as a vesture shalt thou fold them vp, and they shall bee changed: but thou art the same, and thy yeeres shall not faile.

13 Vnto which also of the Angels said hee at any time, * Sit at my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footstool?

14 Are they not all ^t ministring spirits, sent forth to minister, for their sakes which shalbe heires of saluation?

CHAP. II.

1 Therefore hee inferreth that good heede must be giuen to Christs doctrine: 9 And he setteth him out vnto vs euen as our brother in our flesh, that wee may with a good will yeeld vp our selues wholly vnto him.

Wherefore ¹ wee ought diligently to giue heede to the things which ^a wee haue heard, least at any time we ^b runne out.

2 For if the ^c word spoken by Angels was stedfast, and euery transgression and disobedience receiued a iust recompence of reward,

3 How shall we escape, if wee neglect so great saluation, ² which at the first beganne to bee preached by the Lord, and afterward was confirmed vnto vs by ^d them that heard him,

4 * God bearing witnesse thereto, both with ^e signes and wonders and with diuers miracles, and gifts of the holy Ghost, according to his owne will?

5 For he hath not put in subiection vnto the Angels ^f world to come, whereof we speak.

6 But ^g one in a certaine place witnessed, saying, ^h What is man, that thou shouldest bee mindfull of him? or the ⁱ sonne of man, that thou wouldest consider him?

7 Thou ^j madest him a little inferiour to the Angels: thou crownedst him with ^k glory and honour, and hast set him about the workes of thine hands.

8 * Thou hast put all things in subiection vnder his feete. And in that hee hath put all things in subiection vnder him, he left nothing that should not be subiect vnto him. ^l But wee yet see not all things subdued vnto him,

9 But we ^m see Iesus crowned with glory and honour, ⁿ which was made little ^o inferiour to the Angels, ^p through the ^q suffering of death, that by Gods grace hee might ^r taste death for ^s all men.

10 For it became ^t him, for whom are all these things, and by whom are all these things, ^u seeing that hee brought many children vnto glory, ^v that he should consecrate the ^w prince of their saluation through afflictions.

11 For hee that ^x sanctifieth, and they which are sanctified are all of ^y one: wherefore he is not ashamed to call them brethren, 12 Saying, ^z I will declare thy Name vnto my brethren: in the mids of the Church will I sing praises to thee.

*excellently. * Psal. 8. 6. g What is there in man that thou shouldest haue so great regard of him, and doe him that honour? h Hee calleth all the citizens of this heavenly kingdom as they are considered in themselves, before that God giueth them the libertie of that citie in Christ, Man, and Sonne of man. i This is the first honour of the citie: as of the world to come, that they are next the Angels. k For they shalbe in very great honour when they shalbe partakers of the kingdom. And he speaketh of the thing that shalbe, as though it were already, because it is so certaine. * 1. cor. 15. 27. l An obiection: But where is this so great rule and dominion? m The answer: This is already fulfilled in Iesus Christ our head, who was for a time for our sakes inferiour to the Angels, being made man: but now is aduanced into most high glorie. n By his vertue and power which appeareth manifestly in the Church. * Phil. 2. 8. o Who abased himselfe for a season, and tooke vpon him the shape of a seruant. p He sheweth the cause of this subiection, to wit, to taste of death for our sakes, that so, doing the part of a redeemer, he might not onely be our Prophet and King, but also our high Priest. q Thus hee might die. r Heerein consisteth the force of the argument: for we could not at length be glorified with him, vntlesse he had bene abased for vs euen all the faithfull. And by this occasion the Apostle commeth to the other part of the declaration of Christs person, wherein he proueth him to be in such sort God, that he is also man. s Hee proueth moreover by other arguments, why it behoued the Sonne of God who is true God (as hee proued a little before) to become man notwithstanding subiect to all miseries, sinne onely except. t God, 10 First of all because the Father, to whose glory all these things are to be referred, purposed to bring many sonnes vnto glory. And how could he haue men for his sonnes, vntlesse his onely begotten sonne had become brother to men? 11 Secondly, The Father determined to bring those sonnes to glory, to wit, out of that ignominie wher in they lay before. Therefore the sonne should not haue bene seene plainly to be made man, vntlesse he had bene made like vnto other men, that hee might come to glory by the selfe same way, by the which he should bring other: yea rather, it became him which was Prince of the saluation of other, to be consecrated aboue other, through those afflictions, Prophet, King, and Priest, which are the parts of that principallie for the saluation of other. q The Chiefeine who as he is chiefest in dignity, so he first begotten from among the dead, among many brethren. 12 The ground of both the former arguments, for neither should we be sonnes through him, neither could hee bee consecrated through afflictions, vntlesse hee had bene made man like vnto vs. But because this Sonnes hood dependeth not vpon nature onely, for no man is accounted the sonne of God, vntlesse that besides that hee is a sonne of a man, hee be also Christs brother, (which is by sanctification, that is, by becoming one with Christ who sanctifieth vs through faith) therefore the Apostle maketh mention of the sanctifier, to wit, of Christ, and of them that are sanctified, to wit, of all the faithfull, whom therefore Christ vouchsafeth to call brethren. r He useth the time that now is to shewe vs that we are yet still going on, and increasing in this sanctification: and by sanctification he meaneth our separation from the rest of the world, our cleaung from sinne, and our dedication wholly vnto God, all which Christ alone worketh in vs. s One, of one substance of one man. 13 That which he taught before of the incarnation of the sanctifier, hee applieth to the propheticall office. * Psal. 22. 25.*

This is the true end of miracles. Now they are called signes, because they appeare one thing, and represent another: and they are called wonders, because they represent some strange and vnaccustomed thing: and vertues, because they giue vs a glimpse of Gods mightie power.

If it were an hainous matter to contemne the Angels which are but seruants, much more hainous is it to contemne that most mightie King of the restored world.

The world to come, whereof Christ is Father, Eisa. 6. 6, or the Church, which as a new world, was to be gathered together by the Gospel.

He sheweth that the vie of this kingly dignitie consisteth herein, that men might not onely in Christ recover that dignitie which they haue lost, but also might bring through him aduanced aboue all things, which dignitie of men David describeth most Christ aboute Moses. To the Hebrewes. Partakers of Christ.

14 He applieth the same to the kingly power of Christ, in deliuering his from the power of the deuill and death.

* Psal. 110. 2. I will commit my selfe to him, and to his defence.

* Ezech. 18. This Esai speaketh of himselfe & his disciples but be- takinge thereby all ministers, as also his disciples signifye the whole Church. And therefore say- ing Christ is the head of the Pro- phets & ministers, these words are more rightly veri- fied of him, then of Esai.

x Are made of flesh and blood, which is a frail and brittle nature.

* Hose. 13. 14. I. cor. 15. 55.

7 The deuill is said to haue the power of death, because he is the author of sinne: and from sinne cometh death, and for this cause he egeeth vs daily to sinne. x. He speaketh of one as of the Prince, ioyning to him secretly all his angels. a By (death) thou must understand here, that death which is ioyned with the wrath of God, as it must needs bee: if it be without Christ, then the which there can be nothing desired more miserable. 15 He expoundeth those words of flesh and blood, shewing that Christ is true man, and that not by turning his diuine nature, but by taking of mans nature. And he nameth Abraham, respec- ting the promises made to Abraham in this behalfe. b The nature of An- gels. c The very nature of man. 16 He applieth the same to the Priesthood, for which he should not haue bin fit, vnlesse hee had become man, and that like vnto vs in all things, sinne onely except. d Not onely as touching nature, but qualities also. e That he might be truly touched with the feeling of our miseries. f Doing his office sincerely. g Wastred and egged to wickednes by the deuill.

CHAP. III.

1 Now hee sheweth how farre inferiour Moses is to Christ, 5. 6. euen so much as the seruant to the Master: and so hee bringeth in certaine exhortations and threatnings taken out of Dauid, 8 against such as either stubbornly resist, 12 or else are very slow to obey.

1 Having laide the foundation, that is to say, de- clared and proued both the na- tures of onefelfe same Christ, hee giueth him three offices, to wit, the office of a Prophet, King, and Priest, and as touching the office of teach- ing, and gover- ning, compareth him with Moses and Ioshua, vnto the 14. verse of the next Chap- ter, and with Aa- ron touching the Priesthood. And he propoundeth that which hee

Therefore, holy brethren, partakers of the heauenly vocation, consider the Apostle and high Priest of our profession Christ Iesus:

2 Who was faithfull to him that hath appointed him, as eue as Moses was in al his house.

3 For this man is counted worthy of more glory then Moses, inasmuch as he which hath builded the house, hath more honour then the house.

4 For euery house is builded of some man, and he that hath built all things, is God.

5 Now Moses verily was faithfull in all his house, as a seruant, for a witnesse of the things which should be spoken after.

6 But Christ is as the sonne, ouer his owne house, whose house we are, if we hold purpose to speake of, with a most graue exhortation, that all our faith may tend to Christ, as to the onely euerslasting teacher, gouernour, and high Priest. a The Em- boldned our messenger, as Rom. 5. 1. is called the minister of Circumcision. b Of the do- ctine of the Gospel which we profess. c He confirmeth his exhortation with two rea- sons, first of all because Christ Iesus was appointed such an one of God: secondly, be- cause he thoroughly executed the offices that his Father enioyned him. d Apostle and high Priest. 3 Now he cometh to the comparison with Moses, and he maketh them like one to y other in this, that they were both appointed rulers ouer Gods house, and executed faithfully their office: b it by and by after he sheweth that there is great vn- likelihood in that same similitude. * Numb. 12. 7. 4 The first comparison: The build- er of the house is better then the house it selfe, therefore is Christ better then Moses. The reason of the consequent is this: because the builder of this house is God, which cannot be attributed to Moses: and therefore Moses was not properly the builder, but a part of the house: but Christ as Lord & God, made all this house. 5 Another compari- son: Moses was a faithful seruant in this house, that is, in the Church, seruing the Lord that was to come, but Christ ruleth and gouerneth his house as Lord. 6 Hee appli- eth the former doctrine to his ende, exhorting all men by the words of Dauid to heare the Sonne himselfe speake, and to giue full credite to his words, seeing that otherwise they cannot enter into that eternall rest. d To wit, Christ.

fast that confidence and that reioycing of that hope vnto the end.

7 Wherefore, as the holy Ghost faith, To day if yee will heare his voyce,

8 Harden not your hearts, as in the pro- uocation, according to the day of the tentation in the wilderness,

9 Where your fathers tempted me, proued me, and saw my workes forty yeeres long.

10 Wherefore I was grieved with that ge- neration, and sayd, They erre euer in their heart, neither haue they known my wayes.

11 Therefore I sware in my wrath, If they shall enter into my rest.

12 Take heed, brethren, least at any time there be in any of you an euil heart, and vnfaith- full, to depart away from the liuing God.

13 But exhort one another daily, while it is called to day, lest any of you be hardened through the deceitfulness of sinne.

14 For we are made partakers of Christ, if we keepe sure vnto the ende that beginning, wherewith we are vpholden, 15 So long as it is said, To day if yee heare his voyce, harden not your hearts, as in the prouocation.

16 For some when they heard, prouoked him to anger: howbeit, not all that came out of Egypt by Moses.

17 But with whom was hee displeased fortie yeeres? Was he not displeased with them that sinned, whose carkeises fel in the wilderness?

18 And to whome sware he that they should not enter into his rest, but vnto them that obeyed not?

19 So we see that they could not enter in, be- cause of vnbeliefe.

CHAP. IIIII.

1 He ioyneith exhortation with threatening, lest they, euen as their fathers were, bee deprived of the rest offered vnto them, 11 but that they endeavour to enter into it. 14 And so hee beginneth to intreat of Christs Priesthood.

Let vs feare therefore, least at any time by forsaking the promise of entering into his rest, any of you should seeme to be deprived.

2 For vnto vs was the Gospel preached as also vnto them: but the word that they heard, profited not them, because it was not mixed with faith in those that heard it.

3 For we which haue beleueed, doe enter into rest as hee sayd to the other, As I haue sworne in my wrath, If they shall enter into a Hee compareth the preaching of the Gospel to drinke, which being drunke, that is to say, heard, profiteth nothing, vnlesse it be tempered with faith. 2 Lest any man should obiect, that those words were meant of the land of Canaan, and of Moses doctrine, and there- fore cannot well be drawn to Christ, and to eternall life, the Apostle sheweth that there are two manner of rests spoken of in the Scriptures: the one of the seuenth day, wherein God is said to haue rested from all his workes: another said to bee that same, wherinto Ioshua led the people: but this rest is not the last rest wherunto we are cal- led: and that hee proueth by two reasons. For seeing that Dauid so long time after, speaking to the people which were then placed in the land of Canaan, yeth these words, To day, and threatneth them still that they shall not enter into the rest of God, which refused then the voyce of God that sounded in their eares we must needs say that hee meant another time then the time of Moses, and another rest then the rest of the land of Canaan: And that is, that euerslasting rest, wherein we begin to liue to God, after of Canaan: And that is, as God rested the seuenth day from those his workes, that the race of this life ceaseth: as God rested the seuenth day from those his workes, that is to say, from making the world. Moreover the Apostle therewithall signifieth that the way to this rest, which Moses and the land of Canaan, and all that order of the Law did shadow, is opened in the Gospel onely. * Psal. 95. 11.

my

He callith this excellent effect of faith (wherby we cry Abba, that is, Father) confidence, and to confidence he ioyneith hope. * Psal. 95. 8. 4. 7. f So that God was to speake one againe after Moses. g In the day that they receiued the Lord, or Iesus with him. h They are trusty and mad. i Now weigh- ing the words of Dauid, he shew- eth first by this word, To day, that we must not neg- lect the occasion while we haue it: for that word is not to be restrai- ned to Dauid's time, but it com- prehendeth all that time wherein God calleth vs. i While to day lasteth, that is to say, so long as the Gospel is offered to vs. k Now hee con- sidereth these words, If you heare his voyce, &c. shewing that they are spoken and meant of the hearing of faith, against which he setteth hardening through vnbeliefe. l That beginning of trust and confi- dence: and after the manner of the Hebrews, becausethat, beginning, which is cluiffish. m So long as this voyce soundeth not. * Numb. 14. 37.

my rest: although the workes were finished from the foundation of the world.

4 For he spake in a certaine place of the seventh day on this wise, * And God did rest the seventh day from all his workes.

5 And in this place againe, If they shall enter into my rest,

6 Seeing therefore it remaineth that some must enter thereinto, and they to whom it was first preached, entered not therein for vnbeliefs sake:

7 Againe hee appointed in Dauid a certaine day, by To day, after so long a time, saying, as it is sayd, * This day, If ye heare his voice, hearken not your hearts.

8 For if Iesus had giuen them rest, then would he not after this haue spoken of another day.

9 There remaineth therefore a rest to the people of God.

10 For he that is entred into his rest, hath also ceased from his owne workes, as God did from his.

11 Let vs studie therefore to enter into that rest, lest any man fall after the same example of disobedience.

12 For the word of God is lively, and mightie in operation, and sharper then any two edged sword, and entrencheth through, euery vnto the diuiding asunder of the soule and the spirit, and of the ioynts, and the marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts, and the intents of the heart.

13 Neither is there any creature, which is not manifest in his sight: but all things are naked and open vnto his eyes, with whome wee haue to doe.

14 Seeing then that wee haue a great hie Priest, which is entred into heauen, euen Iesus the Sonne of God, let vs hold fast our profession.

15 For we haue not an hie Priest, which cannot bee touched with the feeling of our infirmities, but was in all things tempted in like sort, yet without sinne.

16 Let vs therefore goe boldly vnto the throne of grace, that wee may receiue mercie, and finde grace to helpe in time of neede.

CHAP. V.

1 First hee sheweth the dutie of the hie Priest: 5 Secondly, that Christ is appointed of God to be our hie Priest, 7 and that he hath fulfilled all things belonging thereunto.

For euery hie Priest is taken from among men, and is ordeined for men, in things pertaining to God, that hee may offer both gifts and sacrifices for sinnes.

2 Which is able sufficiently to haue compassion on them that are ignorant, and that are out of the way, because that he also is compassed with infirmities,

3 And for the same sake hee is bound to offer for sinnes, as well for his owne parte, as for the peoples.

4 And no man taketh this honour vnto himselfe, but hee that is called of God, as was Aaron.

5 So likewise Christ tooke not to himselfe this honour, to be made the hie Priest, but hee that said vnto him, * Thou art my Sonne, this day begate I thee, gave it him.

6 As hee also in another place speaketh, * Thou art a Priest for euer, after the order of Melchi-sedec.

7 Who in the 3 dayes of his flesh did offer vp prayers and supplications, with strong crying and teares vnto him, that was able to saue him from death, and was also heard in that which he feared.

8 And though hee were the Sonne, yet learned he obedience, by the things which he suffered.

9 And being consecrate, was made the authour of eternall saluation vnto all them that obey him:

10 And is called of God an hie Priest after the order of Melchi-sedec.

11 Of whom we haue many things to say, which are hard to bee vitured, because yee are dull of hearing.

12 For when as concerning the time yee ought to bee teachers, yet haue yee neede againe that we teach you what are the first principles of the word of God: and are become such as haue neede of milke, and not of strong meate,

13 For euery one that vseth milke, is inexperienced in the word of righteousness: for hee is a babe.

14 But strong meate belongeth to them that are of age, which through long custome haue their wittes exercised, to discerne both good and euill.

son: Christ being exceedingly afflicted and exceedingly mercifull asked not for his sinnes, for hee had none, but for his feare, and obtained his request, and offered himselfe for all his. While hee liued with vs, in our weak and frail nature. To deliuer him from death. He learned in deeds what it is to haue a Father, whom a man must obey. The other part of the first comparison, But Christ was consecrate of God the Father as the Authour of our saluation, and an hie Priest for euer, and therefore hee is so a man, that notwithstanding hee is farre above all men. Lookes Chap. 2. 10. 6 A digression vntill hee come to the beginning of the seventh Chapter: wherein he partly holdeth the Hebrewes in the diligent consideration of those things which he hath saide, and partly prepareth them to the vnderstanding of those things whereof he will speake. 7 An example of an Apostolike chiding. 1 In the word which teacheth righteousness. m All their power whereby they vnderstand & iudge.

CHAP. VI.

1 Hee briefly toucheth the childish stoltishe of the Hebrewes, 4 and terrifieth them with seuerer threatnings: 7 He stirreth them vp to endeavour in time to goe forward: 9 He hopeth well of them: 13 Hee allegeth Abrahams example: 17 and compareth saith that taketh hold on the word, 19 to an ancre.

The first part of the second comparison: O thes as weak, are made hie Priests, to the end that, feeling the same infirmities in themselves which is in all the rest of the people, they should in their owne and the peoples name offer gifts and sacrifices, which are waunettes of common faith and repentance. a Offering of things without life. b Briefly which were killed, but especially in the sacrifices for sinne and offence. c For and morte. d On them that are full: for in the Hebrew tongue, vnderignance and offence in every sinne, vntill that sinne that is vntilte. e For that hee himselfe beareth about with him a nature subiect to the same discomforts and diseases. f 1. Chron. 13. 10. and 23. 13. g The third comparison which is whole. Now hee en- trench into the comparison of Christs Priest- hood with Aa- rons, and de- clareth euen in the very beginning the marueilous excellencie of this Priesthood, calling him the Sonne of God, and placing him in the seate of God in heauen, plainly and evidently setting him against Aarons Priests, and the transitorie tabernacle: which comparisons hee setteth fourth afterward more at large. 14. And let it not goe out of our hands. 15. Left hee might seeme by this great glory of our hie Priest, to stay and stop vs from going vnto him, he addeth streightwayes after, that hee is notwithstanding our brother indeede, (as hee proued it also before) and that hee accompreth all our miseries his owne, to call vs boldly to him.

1 The first part of the first comparison of Christs hie Priesthood, with Aarons: Other hie Priestes are taken from among men, and are called after the order of men.

Who cannot repent. To the Hebrewes. Melchi-fedec.

*a The first principles of christian religion, which we call the Catechism. 1 Certain principles of a Catechism, which comprehend the summe of the doctrine of the Gospel, were given in few words, as briefly to the church, and to none more wisely the profession of repentance and faith in God, the articles of which doctrine were demanded of them which were not as yet received members of the Church, at the day appointed for Baptisme: and of the children of the faithfull which were baptized in their infancy, when hands were laid upon them. And of those articles, two are by name recited the resurrection of the flesh, and the eternall iudgement. 2 He addeth a vehemencie to his exhortation, and a most sharp threatening of the certaine destruction that shall come to them which fall from God and his religion. * Chap. 10. 16. math. 13. 45. 3 per. 2. 10. b He speaketh of a general backsliding, and such as doe altogether fall away from the faith, and not of sinnes which are committed through the frailtie of a man against the first and the second Table. c We must marke the force of this word, for it is one thing to beleue as Lydia did, whose heart God opened. Acts 16. 13. and another thing to haue some taste. d As men that hate Christ, and as though they crucified him againe, make him a mocking stocke to all the world, and that to their owne destruction, as Iulian the Apostata a backslider did. 3 He setteth forth the former threatening with a similitude. 4 He mitigateth and aswageth all that sharpnes, hoping better of them to whom he writeth. 5 He praiseth them for their charitie, thereby encouraging them to goe forward, and to hold out to the end. 6 He sheweth what vertues chiefly they haue neede of to go forward constantly, and also to profit: to wit, of charitie, and patience: and lest any man should object and say, that these things are impossible to be done, he willett them to set before themselves the examples of their ancestors, and to follow them. 7 An other pricke, to pricke them forward: Because the hope of the inheritance is certaine, if we continue to the ende, for God hath not enely promised it, but also promised it with an oath. * Gene. 12. 2 and 17. 4. and 22. 17. e I will heape up benefites most plentifully vpon thee, f More then was needfull, were it not for the wickednesse of men which beleue not God, no though he sweare.*

Therefore leaving the doctrine of the beginnings of Christ, let vs be led forward vnto perfection, not laying againe the foundation of repentance from dead workes, and of faith toward God,
 2 Of the doctrine of Baptismes, and laying on of hands, and of the resurrection from the dead, and of eternall iudgement.
 3 And his will we doe if God permit.
 4 For it is impossible that they which were once lightened, and haue tasted of the heavenly gift, and were made partakers of the holy Ghost,
 5 And haue tasted of the good word of God, and of the powers of the world to come,
 6 If they fall away, should be renewed againe by repentance: seeing they crucifie againe to themselves the Sonne of God, and make a mocke of him.
 7 For the earth which drinketh in the raine that cometh oft vpon it, and bringeth forth herb, is meete for them by whom it is dressed, receiueth blessing of God,
 8 But that which beareth thornes and briars, is reprobous: and is nere vnto cursing, whose end is to be burned.
 9 But beloved, we haue perswaded our selues better things of you, and such as accompany saluation, though we thus speake.
 10 For God is not vnrighteous, that he should forget your worke, and labour of loue, which ye shewed toward his Name, in that yee haue ministered vnto the Saints, & yet minister.
 11 And we desire that euery one of you shew the same diligence to the full assurance of hope vnto the end,
 12 That ye be not slouthfull, but followers of them, which through faith and patience, inherite the promises.
 13 For when God made the promise to Abraham, because he had no greater to sweare by, he sweare by himselfe, 14 Saying, * Surely I will abundantly blesse thee, and multiply thee marueilously.
 15 And so after that he had taried patiently, he enioyed the promise.
 16 For men verily sweare by him that is greater then themselves, and an oath for confirmation is among them an end of all strife.
 17 So God, willing more abundantly to shew vnto the heires of promise the stableness of his counsell, bound himselfe by an oath, 18 That by two immutable things, wherein it is vnpossible that God should lie, we might haue strong consolation, which haue our refuge to lay hold vpon that hope that is set before vs, 19 Which hope we haue, as an ancre of the soule, both sure and stedfast, and it entrencheth into that which is within the vaile, 20 Whither the forerunner is for vs entered in, euen Iesus that is made an hie Priest for euer after the order of Melchi-fedec.

places of heauen. And he maketh mention of the Sanctuary, alluding to the old Tabernacle and by this meanes returneth to the comparisons of the Priesthood of Christ with the Leviticall. 9 He repeateth Dauids words, wherein all those comparisons wherof he hath before made mention, are signified, as he declarath in al next Chapter.

CHAP. VII.

1 What hath hitherto stirred them vp, to marke diligently what things are to be considered in Melchi-fedec: 15 wherein hee is like vnto Christ. 20 Wherefore the Law, should giue place to the Gospel.

For this Melchi-fedec was King of Salem, the Priest of the most high God, who met Abraham, as he returned from the slaughter of the Kings, and blessed him.

2 To whom also Abraham gaue the tithe of all things: who first is by interpretation king of righteousness: after that, he is also King of Salem, that is, King of peace,

3 Without father, without mother, without kinred, and hath neither beginning of his dayes, neither end of life: but is likened vnto the Sonne of God, & continueth a Priest for euer.

4 Now consider how great this man was, vnto whom euen the Patriarch Abraham gaue the tithe of the spoyle.

5 For verily they which are the children of Leui, which receiue the office of the Priesthood, haue a commandement to take according to the Law, tithes of the people (that is, of their brethren) though they came out of the loynes of Abraham.

6 But hee whose kinred is not counted among them, receiued tithes of Abraham, and blessed him that had the promises.

7 And without all contradiction the lesse is blessed of the greater.

8 And here men that die, receiue tithes: but there he receiueth them, of whom it is witnessed, that he liueth.

9 And to say as the thing is, Leui also which receiue tithes, payed tithes in Abraham.

10 For he was yet in the loynes of his father Abraham, when Melchi-fedec met him.

11 If therefore perfection had beene by *conceived. 3 An other figure: Melchi-fedec in consideration of his Priesthood was aboute Abraham: for he tooke tenthes of him, and blessed him as a Priest: Such a one in deede is Christ, vpon whom dependeth euen Abrahams sanctification and all the beleuers, and whome all men ought to worship and reuerence as the authour of all. * Num. 18. 21. b Were begotten of Abraham. c Hee speaketh of the publicke blessing which the Priests vsed. 4 A double amplification: The first, that Melchi-fedec tooke the tenthes as one immortall (to wit, in respect that hee is the figure of Christ, for his death is in no place made mention of, and Dauid setteth him forth as an euertlasting Priest) but the Leviticall Priests, as mortall men, for they succede one another: the second, that Leui himselfe was tithed in Abraham by Melchi-fedec. Therefore the Priesthood of Melchi-fedec (that is, Christes, who is pronounced to be an euertlasting Priest according to this order) is more excellent then the Leviticall. 5 The third treatise of this Epistle, wherein after hee hath proued the condition and excellencie of all these offices, shewing that all these were but shadowes in all other, but in Christ they are true and perfect. And hee beginneth with the Priesthood, wherewith also the former treatise ended, that by this means all the parts and members of the disposition, may better hang together. And first of all hee proueth that the Leviticall Priesthood was imperfect because another Priest is promised a long time after, according to another order, that is to say, of another manner of rule and fashion, as if the Priesthood of Leui could haue made any man perfect,*

*8 He liketh hope to an ancre because that euen as an ancre being cast into the bottome of the sea, stayeth the whole ship, so doth hope also enter euen into the very secret places of heauen. And he maketh mention of the Sanctuary, alluding to the old Tabernacle and by this meanes returneth to the comparisons of the Priesthood of Christ with the Leviticall. 9 He repeateth Dauids words, wherein all those comparisons wherof he hath before made mention, are signified, as he declarath in al next Chapter. 1 Declaring those words, according to the order of Melchi-fedec, wherupon that comparison standeth of the Priesthood of Christ with the Leviticall: first, Melchi-fedec himselfe is considered as the figure of Christ, and these are the heads of that comparison. Melchi-fedec was a King and a Priest, and such an one in deede is Christ alone. He was a King of peace & righteousness, such an one in deede is Christ alone. * Gen. 14. 18. a With a solemn and Priestly blessing. 2 An other figure: Melchi-fedec is set before vs to be considered as one without beginning and without ending, for neither his father, nor his mother, nor his ancestors, nor his death are written of: and such an one indeed is the Sonne of God, who, an euertlasting Priest, he is God, without mother wonderfully begotten: as hee is man, without father wonderfully*

the Priesthood of the Levites (for vnder it the Law was established to the people) what needed it furthermore, that another Priest should rise after the order of Melchi-sedec, and not to be called after the order of Aaron?

12 For if the Priesthood bee changed, then of necessitie must there be a change of the Law.

13 For hee of whome these things are spoken, pertaineth vnto another tribe, whereof no man serueth at the altar.

14 For it is euident that our Lorde sprung out of Iuda, concerning the which tribe Moses spake nothing, touching the Priesthood.

15 And it is yet a more euident thing, because that after the similitude of Melchi-sedec, there is risen vp another Priest.

16 Which is not made Priest after the Law of the carnall commandement, but after the power of the endlesse life.

17 For hee testifieth thus, * Thou art a Priest for euer, after the order of Melchi-sedec.

18 For the commandement that went afore, is disannulled, because of the weakenesse thereof, and vnprofitablenesse.

19 For the Law made nothing perfect, but the bringing in of a better hope made perfect, whereby we draw neere vnto God.

20 And forasmuch as it is not without an othe (for these are made Priests without an othe:

21 But this is made with an othe by him that sayd vnto him, * The Lord hath sworne, and will not repent, Thou art a Priest for euer, after the order of Melchi-sedec.)

22 By so much is Iesus made a suertie of a better Testament.

23 And among them many were made Priests, because they were not suffered to endure, by the reason of death.

24 But this man, because he endureth euer, hath a Priesthood, which cannot passe from one to another.

25 Wherefore, hee is able also perfectly to saue them that come vnto God by him, seeing hee euer liueth, to make intercession for them.

26 For such an hie Priest it became vs to haue, which is holy, harmelesse, vndefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher then the heauens:

27 Which needeth not dayly as those hie Priests to offer vp sacrifice, * first for his owne sinnes, and then for the peoples: for that did he once when he offered vp himselfe.

28 For the Lawe maketh men hie Priests, which haue infirmities: but the worde of the othe that was since the Lawe, maketh the Sonne, who is consecrated for euermore.

red not for himselfe, but for other, not sacrifices, but himselfe, not oftentimes, but once. And this ought not to seeme strange, sayth he, forasmuch as they are weake, but this man is consecrated an euerlasting Priest, and that by an othe. That sacrifice which he offered, as it was so done, that it needeth not to be repeated or offered againe any more. The commandement of God which was bound with an othe. Another argument taken of the time: Former things are taken away by the later. Exhibited.

CHAP. VIII.

To proue more certainly that the ceremonies of the Lawe are abrogated, he sheweth that they were appointed to serue the heauenly patterne. Hee bringeth in the place of Ieremie, to proue the amendment of the olde covenant.

Now of the things which wee haue spoken, this is the summe, that we haue such an high Priest, that sitteth at the right hand of the throne of the Maiestie in heauens,

2 And is a Minister of the Sanctuary, and of that true Tabernacle which the Lord pight, and not man.

3 For euery hie Priest is ordained to offer both gifts and sacrifices: wherefore it was of necessitie, that this man should haue somewhat also to offer.

4 For he were not a Priest, if he were on the earth, seeing there are Priestes that according to the Law offer gifts,

5 Who serue vnto the paterne and shadow of heauenly things, as Moses was warned by God, when hee was about to finish the Tabernacle. See, sayd he, that thou make all things according to the paterne, shewed to thee in the mount.

6 But now our hie Priest hath obtained a more excellent office, in as much as hee is the Mediatour of a better Testament, which is established vpon better promises.

7 For if that first Testament had bene vnblameable, no place should haue bene sought for the second.

8 For in rebuking them he saith, * Behold, the dayes will come, saith the Lord, when I shall make with the house of Israel, and with the house of Iuda a new Testament:

9 Not like the Testament that I made with their fathers, in the day that I tooke them by the hand, to leade them out of the lande of Priest. And the selfe same bodie is both the Tabernacle and the sacrifice. He giueth a reason why he sayd that our hie Priest is in the heauenly Sanctuary, and not in the earthly: because, sayth he, if he were now on the earth, hee could not minister in the earthly sanctuary, seeing there are yet Leuiticall Priestes which are appointed for him, that is to say, to be paterne of that perfite example. And to what purpose should the paterne serue, when the true and originall example is present? Exo. 25. 40. acth. 7. 44. Hee entrench into the comparison of the olde and transitorie Testament or covenant, being but for a time, whereof the Leuiticall Priestes were mediators, with the new, the euerlasting Mediatour whereof is Christ, to shew, that this is not only better then that in all respects, but also that that was abrogated by this. He proueth by the testimonie of Ieremie, that there is a second Testament or covenant, and therefore that the first was not perfect. Ier. 31. 31. 32. 33. 34. rom. 11. 27. chap. 10. 16. He calleth it an house, as it were one family of the whole kingdom: for whereas the kingdome of David was diuided into two factions, the Prophet giueth vs to vnderstand that through the new Testament they shall be reyned together againe in one.

Egypt: for they continued not in my Testament, and I regarded them not, saith the Lord.

10 For this is the Testament that I will make with the house of Israel: After those dayes, sayth the Lord, I will put my Lawes in their minde, and in their heart I wil write them, and I will bee their God, and they shall be my people,

11 And they shall not teach euery man his neighbour, and euery man his brother, saying, Knowe the Lord: for all shall know mee, from the least of them to the greatest of them.

12 For I will be mercifull to their vnrigh-teousnesse, and I will remember their sinnes, and their iniquities no more.

13 In that he saith, A new Testament, hee hath abrogate the old: now that which is dis-annulled and waxed old, is ready to vanish away.

CHAP. IX.

1 Comparing the forme of the Tabernacle, 10 and the ceremonies of the Law, 11 vnto the truth set out in Christ, 15 He concludeth that now there is no more neede of another Priest, 24 Because Christ himselfe hath fulfilled these duties vnder the new couenant.

Then the first Testament had also ordinances of religion, and a worldly Sanctuarie.

2 For the first Tabernacle was made wherein was the candlestick, and the table, and the shewbread, which Tabernacle is called the Holy places.

3 And after the second vaile was the Tabernacle, which is called the Holiest of all,

4 Which had the golden censer, & the Arke of the Testament ouerlaid round about with gold, wherein the golden pot, which had Manna, was, and Aarons rod that had budded, and the tables of the Testament.

5 And ouer the Arke were the glorious Cherubims, shadowing the mercie seate: of which things we will not now speake particularly.

6 Now when these things were thus ordeined, the Priests went alwayes into the first Tabernacle, and accomplished the seruice.

7 But vnto the second went the high Priest alone, once euery yeere, not without blood which hee offered for himselfe, and for the ignorances of the people,

8 Whereby the holy Ghost this signified, that the way into the Holiest of all was not yet opened, while as yet the first Tabernacle was standing,

9 Which was a figure for that present time, wherein were offered gifts and sacrifices that could not make holy, concerning the conscience, him that did the seruice,

10 Which onely stode in meates and drinckes, and diuers washings, and carnall rites, 8 which were enioyned, vntill the time of reformation.

11 But Christ being come an high Priest of good things to come, by a greater and a more perfect Tabernacle not made with hands, that is not of this building,

12 Neither by the blood of goates and calues: but by his own blood entred he in once into the holy place, and obtained eternall redemption for vs.

13 For if the blood of bulles and of goates, and the ashes of an heifer, sprinkling them that are vneclean, sanctifieth as touching the purifying of the flesh,

14 How much more shall the blood of Christ, which through the eternall Spirit offered himselfe without fault to God, purge your conscience from dead workes, to serue the liuing God?

15 And for this cause is he the Mediatour of the new Testament, that through death which was for the redemption of the transgressions that were in the former Testament, they which were called, might receiue the promise of eternall inheritance.

16 For where a Testament is, there must be the death of him that made the Testament.

17 For the Testament is confirmed when men are dead: for it is yet of no force as long as he that made it is aliue.

18 Wherefore, neither was the first orde-ned without blood.

*b By a more excellent and better. 8 Another comparison of the blood of the fac-rifices with Christ. The Leuiticall high Priests entering by those their holy places into their Sanctuary, offered corruptible blood for one yeere onely: but Christ entering into that holy body of his, entered by it into heauen it selfe, offering his owne most pure blood for an euermore redemption: For one selfe same Christ answereth both to the high Priest, and the Tabernacle, and the sacrifices, and the offerings themselves, as the truth to the figures, so that Christ is both high Priest, and Tabernacle, and Sacrifice, yea, all those both truly and for ever. *i For in this yearly sacrifice of reconciliation, there were two kindes of sacrifices, the one a goat, the other a heifer, or calf.
Leuit. 16. 14. namb. 19. 4. 9 If the outward sprinkling of blood and ashes of beasts, was a true and effectuall signe of purifying and cleansing, how much more shall the thing it selfe and the truth being present, which in times past was shadowed by those externall Sacraments, that is to say, his blood, which is in such sort mans blood that it is also the blood of the Sonne of God, and therefore hath an euermorelasting vertue of purifying and cleansing, doe it? *k Hee considereth the signes apart, being separate from the thing it selfe. *l 1. Peter 1. 19. 1. Iohn 1. 9. reuel. 1. 5. *m Luke 1. 74.
1 From sinnes which procede from death, and bring fourth nothing but death. 10 The conclusion of the former argument: therefore seeing the blood of beasts did not purge sinnes, the new Testament which was before time promised, whereunto those outward things had respect, is now in deede established, by the vertue whereof all transgressions might be taken away, and heauen in deede opened vnto vs:
whereof it followeth that Christ shed his blood also for the Fathers, for he was shadowed by these olde ceremonies, otherwise, vnlesse they had serued to represent him, they had bene nothing at all profitable. Therefore this Testament is called the late-ter, not as concerning the vertue of it, (that is to say, remission of sinnes) but in respect of that time, wherein the thing it selfe was finished, that is to say, wherein Christ was indeede exhibited to the world, and fulfilled all things which were neces-sarie to our saluation. *n Rom. 5. 6. 1. pet. 3. 18. 11 A reason why the Testament must bee established by the death of the Mediatour, because this Testament hath the condition of a Testament or gift, which is made effectuall by death, and therefore that it might bee effectuall, it must needs bee that hee that made the Testament, should die.
*o Gal. 3. 15. 12 There must be a proportion betweene those things which purify, and those which are purified: Vnder the Law all those things were earthly, The Tabernacle, the booke, the vessels, the sacrifices, although they were the signes of heauently things. Therefore it was requisite that all those should bee purified with some matter and ceremonie of the same nature, to wit, with the blood of beasts, with water, wooll, hyssope. But vnder Christ all things are heauenly, an heauenly Tabernacle, an heauenly Sacrifice, and heauenly people, an heauenly doctrine, and heauen it selfe is set open before vs for an euermorelasting habitation. Therefore all these things are sanctified in like sort, to wit, with that euermorelasting offering of the quickning blood of Christ.****

8 The conclusion: therefore

the new, the first and old is taken away, for it could not be called new, if it disfered not from

enter in thither, shutting out all other and that to offer sacrifices there both for himselfe, and for others, and after, did shut the Holiest of all againe? n An obiection:
If the way were not opened into heauen by those sacrifices (that is to say, if the worshippers were not purged by them) why then were those ceremonies vled? To wit, that men might be called backe to that spirituall example, that is to say, to Christ,

The similitudes of heavenly things were earthly, and therefore they were not to be set forth with earthly things, as with the blood of beasts, and wooll, and hyssope. But under Christ all things are new,
and therefore they could not be sanctified with the offering of earthly blood.

13 Another
double comparison: The Leuiti-

entred into the Sanctuary, which was made in deede by the commandement of God, but yet with mens hands, that it might be a pa-terne of another to wit, of the heavenly palace. But Christ

entred into heaven ic selfe. Againe, he appeared before the Arke, but Christ before God the Father himselfe.

14 Another
double comparison: The Leuiti-
call hie Priest offered other blood, but Christ offered his own:
he euery yeere
once iterated his offering:
Christ offering himselfe but once, abolished sinne altogether, both of the former ages and of the ages to come.

15 An argument to proue that Christs offering ought not to be repeated: Seeing that sinnes were to be purged from the beginning of the world, and it is proued that sinnes cannot be purged, but by the onely blood of Christ: he must needs haue dyed oftentimes, since the beginning of the world. But a man can die but once: therefore Christs oblation which was once done in the latter dayes, neither could nor can be repeated. Seeing then it is so, surely the vertue of it extendeth both to sinnes that were before, and to sinnes that are after his coming. p In the latter dayes. q That whole roote of sinne. r Hee speaketh of the naturall state and condition of man: For as for Lazarus and certaine other that died twise, that was no vsuall thing, but extraordinary:
and as for them that shall be changed, their changing is a kinde of death. 1. Cor. 15. 51.

* Rom 5. 8. 1. pet. 3. 18. j Thus the generall promise is restrained to the elect onely: and we haue to seeke the testimonie of our election, not in the secret counsell of God, but in the evidents that our faith worketh, and so wee must climbe up from the lowest steps to the highest, there to finde such comfort as is most certaine, and shall neuer be moued. 16 Shortly by the way he setteth out Christ as Iudge, partly to terrifie them, which doe not rest themselves in the onely oblation of Christ once made, and partly to keepe the faith-full in their dutie, that they goe not backe.

C H A P. X.

19 For when Moses had spoken euery precept to the people, according to the Law, hee tooke the blood of calves and of goates, with water & purple wooll and hyssope, and^a sprinkled both the booke, and all the people,

20 * Saying, This is the blood of the Testament, which God hath appointed vnto you.

21 Moreouer, he sprinkled likewise the Tabernacle with blood also, and all the ministring vessels.

22 And almost all things are by the Lawe purged with blood, and without shedding of blood is no remission.

23 It was then necessary, that the^o simili-tudes of heavenly things should bee purified with such things: but the heavenly things themselves are purified with better sacrifices than are these.

24¹³ For Christ is not entred into the holy places that are made with hands, which are similitudes of the true Sanctuary: but is entred into very heauen to appeare now in the sight of God for vs,

25¹⁴ Not that hee should offer himselfe often, as the hie Priest entred into the holy place euery yeere with other blood,

26¹⁵ (For then must he haue often suffered since the foundation of the world) but now in the^p end of the world hath hee beene made manifest once, to put away^q sinne by the sacrifice of himselfe.

27 And as it is appointed vnto men that they shal^r once die, & after that cometh the iudgmēt:

28 So * Christ was once offered to take away the sinnes of^s many, ¹⁶ and vnto them that looke for him, shall hee appeare the second time without sinne vnto saluation.

of the things, can neuer with those sacrifices, which they offer yeere by yeere continually, sanctifie the commers thereunto.

2 For would they not then haue ceased to haue beene offered, because that the offerers once purged, should haue no more conscience of sinnes?

3 But in those sacrifices there is a remembrance againe of sinnes euery yeere.

4 For it is vnpoffible that the blood of bulles and goates should take away sinnes.

5^a Wherefore when hee^b commeth into the world, hee sayth, * Sacrifice and offering thou wouldest not: but a^c body hast thou ordeined me.

6 In burnt offerings, and sinne offerings thou hast had no pleasure.

7 Then I sayd, Lo, I come (In the beginning of the booke it is written of me) that I should doe thy will, O God.

8 About when hee said, Sacrifice and offering, and burnt offerings, and sinne offerings thou wouldest not haue, neither hadst pleasure therein (which are offered by the Law.)

9 Then sayd hee, Lo, I come to doe thy will, O God: he taketh away the^d first, that he may stablish the second.

10 By the which will we are sanctified, euen by the offering of the body of Iesus Christ once made.

11³ And euery Priest standeth^e dayly ministring, and oft times offereth one manner of offering, which can neuer take away sinnes.

12 But this man after he had offered one sacrifice for sinnes, * sitteth for euer at the right hand of God,

13⁴ And from henceforth carrieth, * till his enemies be made his footstoole.

14 For with one offering hath hee consecrated for euer them that are sanctified.

15⁵ For the holy Ghost also beareth vs record: for after that he had sayd before,

16 * This is the Testament that I will make vnto them after those dayes, saith the Lord, I will put my Lawes in their heart, and in their minde I will write them.

17 And their sinnes and iniquities will I remember^f no more.

18 Now where remission of these things is, there is no more offering for^g sinne.

3 A conclusion

3 A conclusion
with the other part of the comparison: The Leuiticall hie Priest repeareth
the same sacrifici-ces dayly in his sanctuary: where upon it followeth that neither those sacrifices, neither those offerings, neither those hie Priests could take away
sinnes. But Christ

hauing offered one sacrifice once for the sinnes of all men, and hauing sanctified his owne for euer, sitteth at the right hand of the Father, hauing all power in his hands. c At the altar. * Chap. 1. 13. psal. 110. 1. 1. cor. 5. 15. 4 Hee pre-uenteth a priuie objection, to wit, that yet notwithstanding wee are subiect to sinne and death, whereunto the Apostle answereth, that the full efficacy of Christs vertue hath not yet shewed it selfe, but shall at length appeare when hee will at once pur-to flight all his enemies, with whom as yet we strue. * Chap. 1. 13. 5 Although there doer remaine in vs reliques of sinne, yet the worke of our sanctification which is to be perfected, hangeth vpon the selfe same sacrifice which neuer shall be repeated: and that the Apostle proueth by alleaging against the testimonie of Ieremie, thus: Sinne is taken away by the new Testament, seeing the Lorde sayth that it shall come to passe, that according to the forme of it, hee will no more remember our sinnes: Therefore wee neede now no purging sacrifice to take away that which is already taken away, but wee must rather take paines, that wee may now through faith bee partakers of that sacrifice. * Ierem. 31. 31. rom. 11. 27. chap.
8. 8. f Why then, where is the fire of Purgatorie, and that Popish distinction of the fault, and the punishment? g Hee said well, for sinne: for there is maine another offering, to wit, of thanksgiving.

1 He preuen-teth a priuie objection. Why then were those sacrifices offered? The Apostle answereth, first touching the yeerely sacrifice which was the holocaust of all, wherein, (saith hee) there was made euery yeere a remembrance againe of all former sinnes. Therefore that sacrifice had no power to sanctifie:
for to what purpose should those sinnes which are purged be repeated againe, and wherefore should new sinnes come to be repeated euery yeere, if those sacrifices did abolish sinne? a Of things which are euertlasting, which were promised to the Fathers, and exhibited in Christ.

6 The summe of the former treatise: We are not now shut out of the holy place, as the Fathers were, but wee haue an entrance into the true holy place (that is, into heauen) seeing that we are purged with the blood, not of beasts, but of Iesus. Neither as in times past, doth the high Priest shue vs out by setting the vaile against vs, but through the vaile which is his flesh, he hath brought vs into heauen it selfe, being present with vs, so that we haue now truly an high Priest, which is ouer the house of God.

h So Christ's flesh sheweth vs the Godhead as it were under a vaile. For otherwise we were not able to abide the brightness of it.

7 A most graue exhortation, wherein hee sheweth how that sacrifice of Christ may be applied to vs: to wit, by faith, which also hee describeth by the consequents, to wit, by sanctification of the Spirit, which causeth vs surely to hope in God, and to procure by all means possible one another's saluation, through the loue that is in vs one towards another.

i With no double and counterfeite heart, but with such an heart as is truly and indedegiven to God.

k This is it which the Lord saith, Be ye holy, for I am holy.

l With the grace of the holy Ghost.

8 Having mentioned the last coming of Christ, hee stirreth vp the godly to the meditation of an holy life, and citeth the faithlesse fallers from God to the fearefull iudgement seare of the Iudge, because they wickedly reiect him in whom onely saluation consisteth. * Chap 6.4. m Without any cause or occasion, or shew of occasion. n For it is another matter to sinne through the frailties of mans nature, and another thing to p. claime warre as it were to God as to an enemy. 9 If the breach of the Lawe of Moses was punished by death, how much more wor- thie death is it to fall away from Christ? * Deut. 19. 13. matth. 18. 16. iohn 8. 17. 2 cor 13. 1. 10 The reason of all these things is, because God is a reuenger of such as despise him: otherwise hee should not rightly gouerne his Church. Now there is nothing more horrible then the wrath of the liuing God. * Deut. 32. 35. rom. 12. 19. o Rule or gouernr. 11 As he terrified the fallers away from God, so doth he now comfort them that are constant and stand strongly, setting before them the successe of their former fights, so stirring them vp to a sure hope of a full and readie victorie. p You were brought with to bee shamed. q Iu taking their miseries to be your miseries.

19 ⁶ Seeing therefore brethren, that by the blood of Iesus we may be bold to enter into the Holy place,

20 By the new and liuing way, which hee hath prepared for vs through the vaile, that is, his flesh:

21 And seeing we haue an high Priest, which is ouer the house of God,

22 Let vs draw neere with a true heart in assurance of faith, our hearts being pure from an euill conscience,

23 And washed in our bodies with pure water, let vs keepe the profession of our hope, without wauering (for he is faithfull that promised)

24 And let vs consider one another, to prouoke vnto loue, and to good workes,

25 Nor forsaking the fellowship that wee haue among our selues, as the manner of some is: but let vs exhort one another, * and that so much the more, because yee see that the day draweth neere.

26 For if wee sinne willingly after that we haue receiued & acknowledged that truth, there remaineth no more sacrifice for sinnes, 27 But a fearefull looking for of iudgement, and violent fire, which shall deuoure the aduersaries.

28 He that despiseth Moses Lawe, dieth without mercie vnder two or three witnesses:

29 Of how much sorer punishment suppose ye shall he be worthy, which treadeth vnder foote the sonne of God, and counteth the blood of the Testament as an vnholly thing, wherewith he was sanctified, and doth despite the Spirit of grace?

30 For we know him that hath said, Vengeance belongeth vnto me: I will recompence, saith the Lord. And againe, the Lord shall iudge his people.

31 It is a fearefull thing to fall into the hands of the liuing God.

32 Now call to remembrance the dayes that are passed, in the which, after yee had receiued light, ye endured a great fight in afflictions,

33 Partly while yee were made a p. gazing stocke both by reproches and afflictions, and partly while ye became companions of them which were so tossed to and fro.

34 For both yee sorrowed with mee for my bonds, and suffered with ioy the spoyling of your goods, knowing in your selues how that ye haue in heauen a better, and an enduring substance.

35 Cast not away therefore your confidence which hath great recompence of reward.

36 For yee haue need of patience, that after ye haue done the will of God, ye might receiue the promise.

37 For yet a very little while, and he that shall come, will come, and will not tary.

38 Now the iust shall liue by faith: but if any withdraw himselfe, my soule shall haue no pleasure in him.

39 But we are not they which withdraw our soules vnto perdition, but follow faith vnto the conseruation of the soule.

CHAP. XI.

Hee declareth in the whole chapter, that the Fathers, which from the beginning of the world were approoued of God, attained saluation no other way then by faith, that the Iewes may know, that by the same onely, they are knit vnto the Fathers in an holy vniou.

Now faith is the ground of things which are hoped for, and the euidence of things which are not seene.

2 For by it our elders were well reported of.

3 Through faith we vnderstand that the world was ordained by the word of God, so that the things which we see, are not made of things which did appeare.

4 By faith Abel offered vnto God a greater sacrifice then Cain, by the which hee obtained witnesse that hee was righteous, God testifying of his gifts: by the which faith also he being dead, yet speaketh.

5 By faith was Enoch translated, that he should not see death: neither was he found: for God had translated him: for before hee was translated, he was reported of, that he had pleased God.

6 But without faith it is vnpossible to please him: for hee that commeth to God, must beleue that God is, and that he is a rewarder of them that seeke him.

7 By faith Noe being warned of God of the things which were as yet not seene, moued with reuerence, prepared the Arke to the sauing of his household, through the which Arke hee condemned the world, and was made heire of the righteousness, which is by faith.

8 By faith Abraham when hee was called, obeyed God, to goe out into a place, which hee should afterward receiue for inheritance, and he went out, not knowing whither he went.

9 By faith he abode in the land of promise, as in a strange countrey, as one that dwelt in tents with Isaac and Iacob heires with him of the same promise.

10 For he looked for a citie hauing a foundation, whose builder and maker is God.

11 Through faith Sara also receiued strength to conceiue seede, and was deliuered of a childe when she was past age, because shee iudged

12 He commendeth the excellencie of a true faith by Iesus, because it is the only way to life, which sentence he setteth forth and amplifieth by letting the contrarie agauil it.

1 An excellent description of faith by the effects, because it representeth things which are but yet in hope, and therefore as it were before our eyes things that are inuifible.

2 He sheweth that the Fathers ought to be accounted of by this vertue. a That is, by the Fathers of whom we came: and by this authority and example ought to moue vs to much.

Gen. 1. 1. iohn 1. 10.

3 He sheweth the properties of faith, by letting our vnto vs most piked examples of such as from the beginning of the world excelled in the Church.

of the profit of all be-med,

Gods threatnings. To the Hebrewes. Iesus the Mediatour.

5 Secondly, because they are testimonies of his fatherly good will towards vs, inasmuch that they shew themselves to be bastards, which cannot abide to be chastened of God.

6 Thirdly, if all then yield this right to fathers, to whom next after God we owe this life, that they may rightly correct their children, shall we not be much more subject to that our Father, who is the author of the spiritual and everlasting life?

7 An amplification of the same argument: Those fathers have corrected vs after their fancy, for some frail and transitory profit; but God chasteneth vs for our singular profit, to make vs partakers of his holiness: which thing although these our senses do not presently perceive, yet the end of the matter groweth it.

8 The conclusion: we must go forward courageously & keep alwayes a right course, and as farre forth as we may) without any staggering or stumbling.

9 The description of a man that is out of heart, and cleane discouraged.

10 We must live in peace and holiness with all men.

11 We must studie to edifie one another both in doctrine and example of life.

12 That no heresie or backe sliding be an offence.

13 We must chew fornication, and a prophane minde, that is, such a minde as giueth not to God his due honour, which wickednesse, how severely God will at length punish, the horrible example of Esau teacheth vs.

14 There was no place left for his repentance: and it appeareth by the effects, what his repentance was, for when he was gone out of his fathers sight, hee threatened his brother to kill him. Now hee applied the same exhortation to the Propheticall and Kingly office of Christ compared with Moses, after this sort. If the maiestie of the Law was so great, how great thinke you that the glory of Christ and the Gospel is? And this comparison hee declarerh also particularly.

5 And ye haue forgotten the consolation, which speakech vnto you as vnto children, * My sonne, despise not the chastening of the Lord, neither faine when thou art rebuked of him.

6 For whom the Lord loneth, hee chasteneth: and he scourgeth euery sonne that he receiueth.

7 If ye endure chastening, God offereth himselfe vnto you as vnto sonnes: for what sonne is it whom the father chasteneth not?

8 If therefore ye bee without correction, whereof all are partakers, then are yee bastards, and not sonnes.

9 Morouer wee haue had the fathers of our bodies which corrected vs, and wee gaue them reuerence: should wee not much rather be in subiection vnto the father of spirits, that we might liue?

10 For they verely for a few dayes chastened vs after their owne pleasure: but hee chasteneth vs for our profit, that we might be partakers of his holinesse.

11 Now to chastening for the present seemeth to be ioyous, but grieuous: but afterward, it bringeth the quiet fruit of righteousness, vnto them which are thereby exercised.

12 Wherefore lift vp your hands, which hang downe, and your weake knees,

13 And make straight steppes vnto your feete, lest that which is halting, be turned out of the way, but let it rather be healed.

14 Followe peace with all men, and holinesse, without the which no man shall see the Lord.

15 Take heede, that no man fall away from the grace of God: let no root of bitterness spring vp and trouble you, lest thereby many be defiled.

16 Let there bee no fornicator, or prophane person as * Esau, which for one portion of meate sold his birthright.

17 For yee knowe how that afterward also when he would haue inherited the blessing, hee was reiectet: for hee found no place to repentance, though hee sought that blessing with teares.

18 For ye are not come vnto the mount that might bee touched, nor vnto burning fire, nor to blackenesse and darkenesse, and tempest,

19 Neither vnto the sound of a trumpet, and the voyde of words, which they that heard it, excused themselves, that the word should not be spoken to them any more,

20 (For they were not able to abide that which was commaunded, * yea, though a beast touch the mountaine, it shal be stoned, or thrust through with a dart:

21 And so terrible was the sight which appeared, that Moses said, I feare and quake.)

22 But yee are come vnto the mount Sion, and to the citie of the liuing God, the celestiall Hierusalem, and to the company of innumerable Angels,

23 And to the assembly and congregation of the first borne, which are written in heauen, and to God the iudge of all, and to the spirits of iust and perfect men,

24 And to Iesus the Mediatour of the new Testament, and to the blood of sprinkling, that speaketh better things then that of Abel.

25 See that yee despise not him that speakech: for if they escaped not which refused him, that spake on earth: much more shall wee not escape, if we turne away from him that speaketh from heauen.

26 Whose voyce then shooke the earth, and now hath declared, saying, * Yet once more will I shake, not the earth onely, but also heauen.

27 And this word, Yet once more, signifieth the remoouing of those things which are shaken, as of things which are made with hands, that the things which are not shaken, may remaine.

28 Wherefore seeing wee receiue a kingdom, which cannot bee shaken, let vs haue grace whereby we may so serue God, that wee may please him with reuerence and feare.

29 For euen our God is a consuming fire.

So hee calleth them that are taken vp into heauen, although no part of them dwelt in the earth.

The applying of the former comparison. If it were not lawfull to commend his word which spake on the earth, how much lesse his voyce which is from heauen?

He comparerh the stillfast maiestie of the Gospel, where-with the whole world was shaken, and euen the very frame of heauen was as it were altoued, with this small and vanishing found of the gouernance by the Law.

Agg. 2. 7. It appeareth evidently in this that the Prophet speaketh of the calling of the Gentiles, that the word's most benefitted to the kingdom of Christ.

4 We haue to for before vs
the examples of valiant captaines whom we ought diligently to follow.
5 He repeateth
the summe of the doctrine, to wit:
the only ground
of all precepts of manners, and that is this: That we ought to quiete and content our selues in Christ
only: for there was yet neuer any man sau'd without the knowledge of him, neither is at this day sau'd, neither shall be sau'd hereafter.
6 He toucheth them which mixt an external worship and especially the difference of meates with the Gospel which plainly condemneth as cleane repugnant to the benefite of Christ. 4 By this one kinde which concerneth the difference of cleane and vnclane meates, we haue to vnderstand all the ceremoniall worship. 5 Which obserueth the difference of them superstitiously. 7 He refuteth their error by an apt and fit comparison. They which in times past seru'd the Tabernacle, did not eate of the sacrifices whose blood was brought for sinne into the holy place by the hie Priest. Moreouer these sacrifices did represent Christ our offering. Therefore they cannot be partakers of him which seru'd the Tabernacle, that is, such as stand in the seruice of the Law: but let vs not bee ashamed to follow him out of Hierusalem, from whence he was cast out and suffered for in this also Christ, who is the truth, answereth that figure, in that hee suffered without the gate. f By the Altar, he meaneth the offering. g Whereof they cannot bee partakers, which stubbornly retaine the ritus of the Law. h Let vs not bee ashamed to follow him out of Hierusalem, from whence he was cast out and suffered for in this also Christ, who is the truth, answereth that figure, in that hee suffered without the gate. f By the Altar, he meaneth the offering. g Whereof they cannot bee partakers, which stubbornly retaine the ritus of the Law. h Let vs not bee ashamed to follow him out of Hierusalem, from whence he was cast out and suffered for in this also Christ, who is the truth, answereth that figure, in that hee suffered without the gate.
8 Remember them which haue the ouersight of you, which haue declared vnto you the word of God: whose faith follow, confidering what hath bene the end of their conuersation, Iesus Christ yesterday, and to day, the same also is for euer.
9 Bee not caried about with diuers and strange doctrines: for it is a good thing that the heart be stablished with grace, and not with meates, which haue not profited them that haue bene occupied therein.
10 We haue an altar, whereof they haue no authoritie to eate, which seru'e in the tabernacle.
11 For the bodies of those beasts whose blood is brought into the Holy place by the hie Priest for sinne, are burnt without the campe.
12 Therefore euen Iesus, that he might sanctifie the people with his owne blood, suffered without the gate.
13 Let vs goe foorth to him therefore out of the campe, bearing his reproch.
14 For here haue we no continuing city:
but we seeke one to come.
15 Let vs therefore by him offer the sacrifice of praise alwayes to God, that is, the fruit of the lips which confesse his Name.
16 To doe good, and to distribute forget not: for with such sacrifices God is pleased.
17 Obey them that haue the ouersight of you, and submit your selues: for they watch for your soules, as they that must giue accounts, that they may doe it with ioy, and not with griefe: for that is vnprofitable for you.
18 Pray for vs: for we are assured that we haue a good conscience in all things, desiring to liue honestly.
19 And I desire you somewhat the more earnestly, that ye so doe, that I may be restored to you more quickly.
20 The God of peace that brought againe from the dead our Lord Iesus, the great shep-heard of the sheepe, through the blood of the euerlasting Couenant, 21 Make you^h perfite in all good workes, to doe his will, working in you that which is pleasant in his sight, through Iesus Christ, to whom be praise for euer and euer, Amen.
22 I beseech you also, brethren, suffer the words of exhortation: for I haue written vnto you in few words.
23 Know that our brother Timotheus is deliuered, with whom (if he come shortly) I will see you.
24 Salute all them that haue the ouersight of you, and all the Saints. They of Italie salute you.
25 Grace be with you all, Amen.

bey the warnings and admonitions of our Ministers and Elders, which watch for

THE a GENERALL EPISTLE OF IAMES.

CHAP. I.

4 Hee entreateth of patience, 6 of faith, 10 and of lowli-nesse of minde in rich men. 13 That tentations come not of God for our euill, 17 because he is the author of all godlinesse. 21 In what manner the word of life must be receiued.

IAMES a seruant of God, and of the Lord Iesus Christ, to the twelue Tribes, which are scattered abroad, salutation.

2 My brethren, count
it exceeding ioy, when yee fall into diuers tentations,

3 Knowing that the trying of your faith
bringeth forth patience,

4 Seeing their condition was miserable in the scattering abroad, hee doeth well to begin as hee doeth. 2 The first argument, because our faith is tryed through afflictions: which ought to bee most pure, for so it is belieueable for vs. 3 The second, Because patience, a farre passing and most excellent vertue, is by this meanes ingendred in vs. 4 That wherewith your faith is tryed, is to wit, those manifold tentations.

4 And let patience haue her perfect worke, that ye may be perfect and entire, lacking nothing.

5 If any of you lacke wisdome, let him aske of God, which giueth to all men liberally, and reprocheth no man, and it shall be giuen him.

6 But let him aske in faith, and wauer not: for he that wauereth, is like a waue of the sea, toft of the wind, and caried away.

7 Neither let that man thinke that he shall receiue any thing of the Lord.

8 A double minded man is vnstable in all his wayes.

but it is not so easily done. He answereth that we need in this case a far other manner of wisdome, then the wisdom of man, to iudge those things best for vs, which are most contrary to the flesh: but yet we shall easily obtaine this gift of wisdom. if we aske it rightly, that is, with a sure confidence of God, who is most bountifull and liberrall.
e By wisdome he meaneth the knowledge of that doctrine whereof mention is made before, to wit, wherefore we are afflicted of God, and what fruit we haue to reape of affliction. f Mat. 7. 7 marke 11. 24 luke 11. 9. iohn 14. 13. and 16. 23. f Why then, what need other M. diatoms? 6 A digression or going aside from his matter, against prayers which are conceiued with a doubting minde, whereas wee haue a certaine promise of God, and this is the second part of the Epistle. g In all his thoughts and in deeds.

Bbbbb 9 7 Let

7 He returneth to his purpose repeating the proposition, which is, that we must reioyce in the crosse, for it doth not presse vs downe, but exalt vs.

8 Who is afflicted with penury, or contempt, or with any kind of calamitie.

9 Before hee concludeth, he giueth a doctrine contrary to the former: to wit, how we ought to vie prosperitie, which is plentie of all things: to wit, so, that no man therefore please himselfe, but be so much the more void of pride.

10 Who hath all things at his will.

11 An Argument taken of the very nature of the things themselves, for that they are most vaine and vncertaine.

12 What seuer he either purpeth in his minde or doth.

13 The conclusion: Therefore we must patiently beare the crosse: and he addeth a fourth argument, which comprehendeth the summe of all the former, to wit, because we come by this way to the crowne of life, but yet of grace according to the promise.

14 Affliction whereby the Lord tryeth him.

15 The third part of this Epistle, wherein he descendeth from outward tentations, that is, from afflictions whereby God tryeth vs: to inward, that is, to those lusts whereby wee are stirred vp to doe euill.

16 The summe is this: Euery man is the author of these temptations to himselfe, and not God: for we beare about in our bosomes that wicked corruption, which taketh occasion by what meanes soeuer, to stirre vp euill motions in vs, whence our length proceed wicked doings, and in conclusion followeth death the iust reward of them.

17 When he is up: asked to doe euill. 18 Here is a reason shewed, why God cannot be the author of euill doing in vs, because he desireth not euill.

19 By some is meant in this place, all euill sinne.

20 Another reason taken of contraries: God is the author of all goodnesse, and so, that he is alwayes like himselfe: how then can hee be thought to be the author of euill?

21 From him who is the fountaine and author of all goodnesse.

22 He goeth on in the metaphore: for the sunne by his manifold and sundry kindes of turning, maketh houre, day, night, moueth, yeeres, light and darkenesse.

23 The fourth part concerning the excellencie and fruites of the word of God, The summe is this: wee must heare the word of God most carefully and diligently, seeing it is the feede, wherewith God of his free fauour and loue hath begotten vs vnto himselfe, picking vs out of the number of his creatures.

24 And the Apostle condemneth two faults, which doe greatly trouble vs in this matter, to wit, for that wee so please our selues, that we had rather speake our selues, then heare God speaking: yea wee sinne and are angry when wee are reprehended: against which faults, hee setteth a peaceable and quiet minde, and such an one as is desirous of puritie.

25 This is it which Paul calleth gracious fauour, and good will, which is the fountaine of our saluation.

26 As it were an holy kinde of offering, taken out of the residue of man.

27 That which God appointeth, and what seuer is contrarie to an haughty and proud stomacke.

28 Matth 7. 21. rom. 2. 13.

29 Another admonition: Therefore is Gods word heard, that wee may frame our liues according to the precript thereof.

30 He addeth reasons, and those most weighty: First, because they that doe otherwise, doe very much hurt themselves.

9 Let the brother of lowe degree reioyce in that he is exalted:

10 Against hee that is rich in that hee is made lowe: for as the flower of the grasse, shall hee vanish away.

11 For as when the sunne riseth with heate, then the grasse withereth, and his flower falleth away, and the goodly shape of it perisheth: euen so shall the rich man wither away in all his wayes.

12 Blessed is the man, that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receiue the crowne of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that loue him.

13 Let no man say when hee is tempted, I am tempted of God: for God cannot be tempted with euill, neither tempteth he any man.

14 But euery man is tempted, when hee is drawn away by his owne concupiscence, and is enticed.

15 Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sinne, and sinne when it is finished, bringeth forth death.

16 Error, my deare brethren.

17 Euery good giuing, and euery perfect gift is from aboue, and cometh downe from the Father of lights, with whome is no variableness, neither shadow of turning.

18 Of his owne will begate hee vs with the word of truth, that wee should be as the first fruits of his creatures.

19 Wherefore my deare brethren, let euery man be swift to heare, slow to speake, and slow to wrath.

20 For the wrath of man doeth not accomplish the righteousness of God.

21 Wherefore lay apart all filthinesse, and superfluitie of malicioussnesse, and receiue with meekenesse the word that is graffed in you, which is able to saue your soules.

22 And bee ye doers of the word, and not hearers onely, deceiuing your owne selues.

23 The third part of this Epistle, wherein he descendeth from outward tentations, that is, from afflictions whereby God tryeth vs: to inward, that is, to those lusts whereby wee are stirred vp to doe euill.

24 The summe is this: Euery man is the author of these temptations to himselfe, and not God: for we beare about in our bosomes that wicked corruption, which taketh occasion by what meanes soeuer, to stirre vp euill motions in vs, whence our length proceed wicked doings, and in conclusion followeth death the iust reward of them.

25 When he is up: asked to doe euill. 26 Here is a reason shewed, why God cannot be the author of euill doing in vs, because he desireth not euill.

27 By some is meant in this place, all euill sinne.

28 Another reason taken of contraries: God is the author of all goodnesse, and so, that he is alwayes like himselfe: how then can hee be thought to be the author of euill?

29 From him who is the fountaine and author of all goodnesse.

30 He goeth on in the metaphore: for the sunne by his manifold and sundry kindes of turning, maketh houre, day, night, moueth, yeeres, light and darkenesse.

31 The fourth part concerning the excellencie and fruites of the word of God, The summe is this: wee must heare the word of God most carefully and diligently, seeing it is the feede, wherewith God of his free fauour and loue hath begotten vs vnto himselfe, picking vs out of the number of his creatures.

33 This is it which Paul calleth gracious fauour, and good will, which is the fountaine of our saluation.

34 As it were an holy kinde of offering, taken out of the residue of man.

35 That which God appointeth, and what seuer is contrarie to an haughty and proud stomacke.

36 Matth 7. 21. rom. 2. 13.

37 Another admonition: Therefore is Gods word heard, that wee may frame our liues according to the precript thereof.

23 For if any heare the word, and doe it not, he is like vnto a man, that beholdeth his naturall face in a glasse.

24 For when he hath considered himselfe, hee goeth his way, and forgetteth immediately what maner of one he was.

25 But who so looketh in the perfect lawe of libertie, and continueth therein, he not being a forgetfull hearer, but a doer of the worke, shall be blessed in his deed.

26 If any man among you seeme religious, and refraineth not his tongue, but deceiueh his owne heart, this mans religion is vaine.

27 Pure religion and vndefiled before God, euen the Father, is this, to visite the fatherlesse, and widowes in their aduersitie, and to keepe himselfe vnspotted of the world.

28 The fountaine of all brabling, and cursed speaking, and scurrilousnesse, is this, that men know not themselves.

29 The fourth: the true seruice of God standeth in charitie toward our neighbours (especially such as need others helpe, as the fatherlesse and widowes) and puritie of life.

30 To haue a care of them, and to helpe them as much as we can.

31 He sayth, that to haue respect of persons, is not agreeable to Christian faith.

32 which to professe in word is not enough, vnlesse we shew it also in deedes of mercie and charitie.

33 after the example of Abraham.

34 My brethren, haue not the faith of our glorious Lord Iesus Christ in respect of persons.

35 For if there come into your company a man with a golde ring, and in goodly apparell, and there come in also a poore man in vile raiment,

36 And ye haue a respect to him that weareth the gay clothing, and say vnto him, Sit thou here in a goodly place, and say vnto the poore, Stand thou there, or sit here vnder my footstoole.

37 Are ye not partiall in your selues, and are become iudges of euill thoughts?

38 Hearken my beloued brethren, hath not God chosen the poore of this world, that they should be rich in faith, & heires of the kingdome which he promised to them that loue him?

39 But ye haue despised the poore. Doe not the rich oppresse you by tyranny, and doe not they draw you before the iudgement seats?

40 Doe not they blaspheme the worthy Name after which ye be named?

41 But if ye fulfill the royall Law, according to the Scripture, which saith, Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe, ye doe well.

42 But if ye regard the persons, ye commit sinne, and are rebuked of the Lawe, as transgressours.

43 side preferreth the poore, whome hee hath enriched with true riches, before the rich.

44 The needie and wretched, and (if we measure it after the opinion of the world) the vniuersall abjects of them all.

45 Secondly, he prooueth them to be mad men: for that the rich men are rather to be holden execrable and cursed, considering that they persecute the Church, and blaspheme Christ: for he speaketh of wicked and profane rich men, such as the most part of them haue bene alwayes, against whom hee setteth the poore and the meane.

46 The conclusion: Charitie abiect.

47 Word for word, which is called vpon you.

48 The Law is said to be royall and like the kings high way, for that it is plaine and without turnings, and that the Law calleth every one our neighbour without respect, whom we may helpe by any kinde of duties.

49 The Law is said to be royall and like the kings high way, for that it is plaine and without turnings, and that the Law calleth every one our neighbour without respect, whom we may helpe by any kinde of duties.

50 For

17 Secondly, because they lose the chiefest use of Gods word, which correct not by it the faults that they know.

18 He alludeth to that naturall spot, to which is contrary the puritie wherunto we are borne againe, the lively image of the Law.

19 Behauing himselfe: for works doe shew faith.

20 The third admonition: the word of God precribeth a rule not only to doe well, but also to speake well.

21 The fountaine of all brabling, and cursed speaking, and scurrilousnesse, is this, that men know not themselves.

22 The fourth: the true seruice of God standeth in charitie toward our neighbours (especially such as need others helpe, as the fatherlesse and widowes) and puritie of life.

39 The Law is said to be royall and like the kings high way, for that it is plaine and without turnings, and that the Law calleth every one our neighbour without respect, whom we may helpe by any kinde of duties.

40 For

41 He saith, that to haue respect of persons, is not agreeable to Christian faith.

52 But if ye regard the persons, ye commit sinne, and are rebuked of the Lawe, as transgressours.

10 For whosoever shall keepe the whole Law, and yet faileth in one point, he is guiltie of all.

11 For he that said, Thou shalt not commit adulterie, saide also, Thou shalt not kill. Now though thou doest none adulterie, yet if thou killest, thou art a transgressor of the Law.

12 So speake ye, and so doe, as they that shalbe iudged by the Law of libertie.

13 For there shall be condemnation merciesse to him that sheweth not mercie, and mercie reioyceth against condemnation.

14 What availeth it, my Brethren, though a man sayth hee hath faith, when hee hath no workes? can that faith saue him?

15 For if a brother or a sister be naked and destitute of daily food,

16 And one of you say vnto them, Depart in peace: warme your selues, and fill your bellies, notwithstanding yee giue them not those things which are needfull to the body, what helpeth it?

17 Euen so the faith, if it haueno workes, is dead in it selfe.

18 But some man might say, Thou hast the faith, and I haue workes: shewe mee thy faith out of thy workes, and I will shewe thee my faith by my workes.

19 I thou beleueest that there is one God: thou doest well: the deuils also beleuee it, and tremble.

20 But wilt thou vnderstand, O thou vaine man, that the faith which is without workes, is dead?

21 Was not Abraham our Father iustified through workes, when hee offered Isaac his sonne vpon the altar?

22 Seest thou not that the faith wrought with his workes? and through the workes was the faith made perfect.

23 And the Scripture was fulfilled which saith, * Abraham beleueed God, and it was imputed vnto him for righteousnesse: and hee was called the friend of God.

24 Yee see then how that of workes a man is iustified, and not of faith onely.

And the proposition of the place is this: Faith which bringeth not forth workes, is not that faith whereby we are iustified, but an image of faith: or else this, they are not iustified by faith, which shewe not the effects of faith. The first reason taken of a similitude: If a man say to one that is hungry, Fill thy belly, and yet giueth him nothing, this shall not be true charitie: so if a man say hee beleueeth, and bringeth forth no workes of his faith, this shall not be a true faith, but a certain dead thing set out with the name of faith, whereof no man hath to bragge, vntill hee will openly incur reprobation, seeing that the cause is vnderstood by the effects.

25 Likewise also was not * Rahab the harlot iustified through workes, when she had receiued the messengers, and sent them out another way? 26 For as the body without the spirit is dead, euen so the faith without workes is dead.

25 Likewise also was not * Rahab the harlot iustified through workes, when she had receiued the messengers, and sent them out another way?

26 For as the body without the spirit is dead, euen so the faith without workes is dead.

tion repeated againe: faith which bringeth not forth fruits and workes, is not faith, but a dead carkeffe.

CHAP. III.

To shewe that a Christian man must gouerne his tongue with the bridle of faith and charitie, hee declarerth the commodities and mischiefe that ensue thereof: 15 and how much mans wisdom 17 differeth from heavenly.

MY brethren, bee not many masters, knowing that wee shall receiue the greater condemnation.

2 For in many things wee sinne all. 3 If any man sinne not in word, he is a perfit man, and able to bridle all the body.

4 Behold, wee put bits into the horses mouthes, that they should obey vs, and wee turne about all their body.

5 Behold also the shippes, which though they be so great, & are driuen of fierce windes, yet are they turned about with a very small rudder, whither soeuer the gouernour lusteth.

6 Euen so the tongue is a little member, and boasteth of great things: behold, how great a thing a little fire kindleth.

7 And the tongue is fire, yea, a world of wickednesse: so is the tongue set among our members, that it defileth the whole body, and setteth on fire the course of nature, and it is set on fire of hell.

8 For the whole nature of beasts, and of birds, and of creeping things, and things of the sea is tamed, and hath beene tamed of the nature of man.

9 But the tongue can no man tame. It is an vnruely euill, full of deadly poison.

10 Therewith blesse we God euen the Father, and therewith curse wee men, which are made after the similitude of God.

11 Out of one mouth proceedeth blessing and cursing: my brethren, these things ought not so to be.

12 Doeth a fountaine send forth at one place sweete water and bitter?

13 Can the figge tree, my brethren, bring forth Oliues, either a vine figges? so can no fountaine make both salt water and sweete.

14 Who is a wise man and endued with out the whole world, to the end that men may so much the more diligently giue them selues to moderate it. 15 An heape of all mischiefs. 16 It is able to set the whole world on fire. 17 Amongst other faults of the tongue, the Apostle chiefly reprobeth backbiting and speaking euil of our neighbours, euen in them especially which otherwise will seeme godly and religious. 18 Hee denyeth by two reasons, that God can be praised by that man, that vseth curled speaking, or to backbite: first because man is the image of God, which whosoever reuerenceth not, doeth not honour God himselfe. 19 Secondly, because the order of nature which God hath set in things, will not suffer things that are so contrary the one to the other, to stand the one with the other. 20 The eight part which hangeth with the former touching meeknesse of minde. 21 Against which he setteth enuie and a contentious mind. And in the beginning he stoppeth the mouth of the chiefe fountaine of all these mischiefs, to wit, a false persuasio of wisdom, whereas notwithstanding there is no true wisdom, but that is heavenly; and frameth our mindes to all kinde of true moderation and simplicitie.

know-

4 He commendeth Christian patience, for that where as other through impatience vie to accuse one another, the faithfull on the contrary side, complaine not although they receive injuries.

5 By praying he meaneth a constant inward complaining which becometh impatience.

6 The conclusion is: The Lord is at your door: who will defend his owne, and revenge his enemies, and therefore we need not to trouble our selves.

7 Because most men are wont to obiect, that it is good to repell injuries by what means soever, he setteth against that, the examples of the Fathers, whose patience had a most happy end, because God as a most bountifull Father, neuer forsaketh his.

8 What end the Lord gave. 7 Because often the best men sometimes through impatience breake out in wordes sometimes lesser, sometimes greater, the Apostle warneth vs to detest such wickedness, and to acquiesce our tongues to simple and true talke.

9 Mat. 3.4. I That if thou hast to say or affirme, speake or affirm simply, and without an oath: and that thou wilt say, do it simply and faithfully.

10 He sheweth the best remedie against all afflictions, to wit, prayer which haue their place both in sorrow and ioy. 9 He sheweth peculiarly, how physicians especially we must goe, when we are diseased, to wit, to the prayers of the Elders, which their office is to care the body, (for so much as the gift of healing was then in force) and take away the chiefeest cause of sicknesses & diseases, by obtaining for the sicke through their prayers and exhortations, remission of sinnes.

9 14 Grudge not one against another, brethren, lest yee bee condemned: beholde, the iudge standeth before the doore.

10 Take, my brethren, the Prophets for an ensample of suffering adversitie, and of long patience, which haue spoken in the Name of the Lord.

11 Behold, wee count them blessed which endure. Ye haue heard of the patience of Iob, and haue known what end the Lord made. For the Lord is very pitifull and mercifull.

12 But before all things, my brethren, sweare not, neither by heaven, nor by earth, nor by any other othe: but let your yea, bee yea, and your nay, nay, lest ye fall into condemnation.

13 Is any among you afflicted? Let him pray. Is any merry? Let him sing.

14 Is any sicke among you? Let him call for the Elders of the Church, and let them pray for him, and anoint him with oyle in the Name of the Lord.

15 And the prayer of faith shall save the sicke, and the Lord shall raise him up: and if he haue committed sinnes, they shall be forgiven him.

16 Acknowledge you faults one to another, and pray one for another, that ye may be healed: for the prayer of a righteous man availeth much, if it be fervent.

17 Elias was a man subject to like passions as we are, and he prayed earnestly that it might not raine, and it rained not on the earth for three yeeres and sixe moneths.

18 And hee prayed againe, and the heaven gaue raine, and the earth brought forth her fruit.

19 Brethren, if any of you hath erred from the truth, and some man hath converted him, let him know that hee which hath converted the sinner from going astray out of his way, shall save a soule from death, and shall hide a multitude of sinnes.

20 Let him know that hee which hath converted the sinner from going astray out of his way, shall save a soule from death, and shall hide a multitude of sinnes.

21 He commendeth prayers by the effects that come of them, that all men may understand that there is nothing more effectually than they are, so that they proceede from a pure mind. *1. 4. He hath reason in making mention of sinnes, for diseases are for the most part sent because of sinnes.

5. Because God pardoneth their sinnes which confesse and acknowledge them, and not theirs which iustifie themselves; therefore the Apostle addeth, that we ought freely to confesse one with another touching those inward diseases, that we may helpe one another with our prayers.

6. He commendeth prayers by the effects that come of them, that all men may understand that there is nothing more effectually than they are, so that they proceede from a pure mind.

THE FIRST EPISTLE GENERALL OF PETER.

CHAP. I.

1 Hee extollet Gods mercie shewed in Christ which we lay holde on by faith, and possesse through hope: 10 Wherof the Prophets foresaid. 13 He exhorteth 15 to renounce the world, 22 and their former life, and so wholly yeeld themselves to God.

Peter an Apostle of IESUS CHRIST, to the strangers that dwell heere and there throughout Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia and Bithynia,

2 Elect according to the foreknowledge of God the Father vnto sanctification of the Spirit, through obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Iesus Christ: Grace and peace be multiplied vnto you.

3 Blessed be God, even the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten vs againe vnto a lively hope by the resurrection of Iesus Christ from the dead,

6 Wherein yee reioyce, though now for a season (if need require) ye are in heavinesse, through manifold tentations,

7 That the trial of your faith being much more precious then golde that perisheth (though it be tryed with fire) might bee found vnto your praise, and honour and glory at the appearing of Iesus Christ:

8 Whom yehaue not seene, and yet loue him, in whom now, though ye see him not, yet do you beleue, and reioyce with ioy vnspcakable and glorious,

9 Receiuing the end of your faith, even the saluation of your soules.

10 Of the which saluation the Prophets haue enquired and searched, which prophesied of the grace that should come vnto you,

1. Now he sheweth by what way we come vnto that glory, to wit, through all kinde of afflictions, wherein notwithstanding faith maketh vs so secure, that we are not onely not overcome with sorrow, but also through the beholding of God himselfe (who otherwise is invisible) with the eyes of faith, are vnspcakably ioyfull: because, all such things, as they are but for a time, so are they not applied vnto vs to destroy vs, but as it were by fire to purge vs, and to make vs perfite, that at length we may obtaine saluation.

time which Daniel calleth the time of the end, when as that great restoring of all things shall be, which all creatures looke for, Rom. 8. 19. 6. He speaketh of the second coming of Christ. 11. Or reward. 3. He putteth a difference betweene true faith, that is to say, that faith which only hath an eye to the doctrine of the Prophets and Apostles, and false faith: Afterward he maketh two degrees of one and the selfe same faith, according to the manner of the diuers revelations, when as in deed it is but one onely faith. Thirdly, he saith, that the preaching of the Apostles is the fulfilling of the preaching of the Prophets, although the latter end of it be as yet looked for of the very Angels.

f He alludeth to the prophesie of Ios, which was exhibited upon the day of Pentecost, in the Apostles, as it were in the first fruites of the holy Ghost, which this same our Peter declarerh. Acts 2. 33.
4 He goeth from faith to hope, which is in deede a companion that cannot be fundered from faith, and beueth an argument taken out of comparison. We ought not to be wearied in looking for to excellen a thing, which the very Angels wait for with great desire.
5 This is a borrowed speech, taken of a common usage among them: for by reason that they were long garments, they could not straine vnto themselves: and hence it is that Christ said, Let your loines be girded up.
6 He setteth forth very briefly, what manner of hope ours ought to be, to wit, continually, vntill we enjoy the thing we hope for: then, what we haue to hope for, to wit, grace (charitie, free saluation) reueiled to vs in the Gospel and not that that men doerably and fondly promise to themselves.
7 An argument to stirre vp our mindes, seeing that God doeth not waite till we seeke him, but cauleth so great a benefite to be brought vnto vs. 17 He setteth out the ende of faith, lest any man should promise himselfe, either sooner or later, that full saluation, to wit, the latter comming of Christ, and therewithall warneth vs, not to measure the dignitie of the Gospel according to the present state, seeing that that which we are now, is not yet reueiled. 8 Hee pisseth from faith & hope, to the fruites of them both, which are vnderstood in the name of obedience: And it consisteth in two things, in renouncing our lustes, and liuing godly: which lusts haue their beginning of that blindness wherein all men are borne: but holinesse proceedeth from the grace and fauour of God, which adopteth vs, and therefore regenerateth vs, that the father and the children may be of one disposition. Luke 1. 75. 9 He sheweth that sanctification doeth necessarily follow adoption. Luke 11. 44, and 19. 2, and 20. 7. 10 As before hee distinguished the faith and hope from false, so doeth hee now obedience, setting the quicke and sharpe sight of God, against an outward maske, and earnest reuerence against vaine securitie. 11 If you will be called the sonnes of that father, Deut. 10. 17. rom. 2. 13. gal. 2. 6. 12 An exhortation, wherein he setteth forth the excellen and greatnesse of the benefite of God the Father in sanctifying vs by the death of his owne Sonne. The Apostle answereth, that Christ was ordained and appointed to redeeme and deliuer mankind, before that mankind was: much lesse was there any Church without him before his comming in the flesh: yet wee are happiest about the rest, to whom Christ was exhibited in deede, in this that hee hauing suffered and overcome death for vs, doeth now most effectually worke in vs by the vertue of his Spirit, to create in vs faith, hope, and charitie. Rom. 16. 25. eph. 3. 9. coloss. 1. 26. 2. tim. 1. 10. titus 1. 2. k From euill living. 14 He commendeth the practise of obedience, that is, charitie: earnestly beating in our heads againe, that hee speaketh not of any common charitie, and such as proceedeth from that our corrupt nature, but of that whose beginning is the Spirit of God, which purifieth our soules through the word laid hold on by faith, and ingendrech also in vs a spirituall and euillusting life, as God himselfe is most pure and truly liuing.

12 Vnto whom it was reuealed, that not vnto themselves, but vnto vs they should minister the things, which are now shewed vnto you by them which haue preached vnto you the Gospel by the holy Ghost sent downe fro heauen, the which things the Angels desire to behold.

13 Wherefore, guide vp the loynes of your mindes be sober, and trust perfectly on that grace that is brought vnto you, in the reuelation of Iesus Christ.

14 As obedient children, not fashioning your selues vnto the former lustes of your ignorance.

15 But as he which hath called you, is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conuersation.

16 Because it is written, Be ye holy, for I am holy.

17 And if ye call him Father, which without respect of person iudgeth according to euery mans worke, passe the time of your dwelling here in feare.

the weakness of our nature, which is chiefly to be considered in the flesh it selfe. 15 Against lest any man should seeke that spirituall force and vertue in fained imaginations, the Apostle calleth vs backe to the word of God: teaching vs furthermore, that there is no other word of the Lord to be looked for, then this which is preached, in which onely wee must trust.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee exhorteth the new borne in faith, to lead their liues as is reasonable to the same. 6. and lest their faith should linger, hee bringeth in that which was foretold touching Christ. 11 Then hee willeth them to be obedient to Magistrates, so and that they patiently beare aduersities after Christs example.

Wherefore, laying aside all malitiousnesse, and all guile, and dissimulation, and enuie, and all euill speaking,

2 As new borne babes desire that sincere milke of the word, that ye may growe thereby,

3 Because ye haue tasted that the Lord is bountifull.

4 To whom comming, as vnto a liuing stone disallowed of men, but chosen of God and precious,

5 Ye also as liuely stones, be made a spirituall house, an holy Priesthood to offer vp spirituall sacrifices acceptable to God by Iesus Christ.

6 Wherefore also it is contained in the Scripture, Behold, I put in Sion a chiefe corner stone, elect and precious: and hee that beleueth therein, shall not be ashamed.

7 Vnto you therefore which beleue, it is drawing and sucking greedily the same word as milke, we should more and more as it were growe vp in that spirituall life. And he calleth it sincere, not onely because it is a most pure thing, but also that we should take heede of them which corrupt it. 4 As it becometh new men. 5 He commendeth that spirituall nourishment for the sweetnesse and profite of it. 6 Or, desireth. 7 He goeth on forward in the same exhortation, but vseth another kinde of borrowed speech, alluding to the Temple. Therefore he saith that the company of the faithfull is as it were a certaine holy and spirituall building, built of the liuely stones, the foundation whereof is Christ, as a liuely stone fullenning all that are ioyned vnto him, with his liuing vertue, & knitting them together with himselfe, although this so great a treasure be neglected of men. 8 Going forward in the same similitude, hee compareth vs now to Priests, placed to this end in that spirituall Temple, that wee should serue him with a spirituall worship, that is, with holinesse and righteousness: but as the Temple, so is the Priesthood built vpon Christ, in whom onely all our spirituall offerings are accepted. 9 Reuel. 1. 6. 6 He proueth it by the testimonie of the Prophet Esai. 28. 16. rom. 9. 33. 7 By setting the most blessed condition of the beleuers, & the most miserable of the rebellious one against the other, he pricketh forward the beleuers, & triumpheth ouer the other: and also preventeth an offence which ariseth hereof, that none doe more reuile this doctrine of the Gospel, they they which are chiefe among the people of God, as were at that time that Peter wrote these things, the Priests, and Elders, and Scribes. Therefore he answereth first of all, that there is no cause why any man should be ashamed at his their stubbornnesse, as though it were a strange matter, seeing wee haue bene forewarned so long before, that it should come to passe: and moreover, that he pleased God to create and make certaine to this selfe same purpose, that the Sonne of God might be glorified in their iust commendation. Thirdly, for that the glory of Christ is hereby set forth greatly, whereas notwithstanding Christ remaineth the head of his Church, and that they stumble at him, cast downe and overthrow themselves, yet not Christ. Fourthly, although they be created to this end & purpose, yet their fall and decay is not to be attributed to God, but to their owne obstinate stubbornnesse, which commeth betweene Gods decree, and the execution thereof, at their condemnation, and is the true and proper cause of their destruction.

9 But yee are a chosen generation, a royal * Priesthood, an holy nation, a people set at libertie, that ye should shew forth the vertues of him that hath called you out of darkenes into his marueilous light.

10 Which in times past were not a people, yet are now the people of God: which in time past were not vnder mercie, but now haue obtained mercie.

11 Dearly beloued, I beseech you, as strangers and pilgrims, 11 abstaine from fleshly lusts, which fight against the soule.

12 And haue your conuersation honest among the Gentiles, that they which speake euill of you as of euil doers, may by your good works which they shall see, glorifie God in the day of visitation.

13 Therefore submit your selues vnto all manner ordinance of man for the Lords sake, whether it be vnto the king, as vnto the superiour, 14 Or vnto gouernours, as vnto them that are sent of him, for the punishment of euill doers, and for the praise of them that doe well.

15 For so is the will of God, that by well doing yee may put to silence the ignorance of the foolish men.

18 Seruants, be subiect to your masters with all feare, not onely to the good and courteous, but also to the froward.

19 For this is thanke worthy, if a man for conscience toward God endure griefe, suffering wrongfully.

20 For what praise is it, if when yee be buffeted for your faults, yee take it patiently? but and if when ye do well, ye suffer wrong and take it patiently; this is acceptable to God.

21 For hereunto ye are called: for Christ also suffered for you, leauing you an ensample that ye should follow his steps.

22 Who did no sinne, neither was there guile found in his mouth.

23 Who when he was reuiled, reuiled not againe: when he suffered, hee threatned not, but committed it to him that iudgeth righteously.

24 Who his owne selfe bare our sinnes in his body on the tree, that we being dead to sinne, should liue in righteoufnesse: by whose stripes ye were healed.

4 But let it be the hid man of the heart, which consisteth in the incorruption of a meeke and quiet spirit, which is before God a thing much set by.

5 For euen after this manner in time past did the holy women, which trusted in God tire themselves, & were subiect to their husbands.

3 Hee condemneth the riot and excesse of women, and setteth forth their true apparelling, such as is precious before God, to wit, the inward and incorruptible, which consisteth in a meeke and quiet spirit. 4 Who hath his seat fastened in the heart: so that the hid man is set against the outward decking of the body. 5 Precious in deed and so taken of God. 4 An argument taken of the example of women, and especially of Sara, which was the mother of all beleueers.

by Christs example.

² Gen. 18. 12.

⁵ Doe all the duties of wedlocke.

⁴ The more wisdom the husband hath, the more circumspectly he must behaue himselfe in bearing these duties, which through the weakness of times cause trouble both to the husband & the wife.

⁷ The second argument: because the wife notwithstanding that she is weaker by nature than the man, is an excellent instrument of the man, made to far exceed him in wifely duties: whereupon it followeth that she is not therefore to be neglected, because she is weaker, but on the contrary

6 As Sara obeyed Abraham, and called him Sir: whose daughters ye are, whiles ye do well, not being afraid of any terror.

7 Likewise yee husbands, dwell with them as men of knowledge, giuing honour vnto the woman, as vnto the weaker vessel, euen as they which are heires together of the grace of life, that your prayers be not interrupted.

8 Finally, bee yee all of one minde: one suffer with another: loue as brethren: bee pitifull: be courteous.

9 Not rendring euill for euill, neither rebuke for rebuke: but contrariwise, blesse, knowing that ye are thereunto called, that ye should be heires of blessing.

10 For if any man long after life, and to see good dayes, let him reframe his tongue from euill, and his lippes that they speake no guile.

11 Let him eschewe euill, and doe good: let him seeke peace, and follow after it.

12 For the eyes of the Lorde are ouer the righteous, and his eares are open vnto their prayers: and the face of the Lorde is against them that doe euill.

13 And who is it that will harme you, if yefollow that which is good?

14 Notwithstanding blessed are ye, if yee suffer for righteoufnesse sake. Yea, feare not their feare, neither be troubled.

15 But sanctifie the Lord GOD in your hearts: and bee ready alwayes to giue an answer to euery man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you, with meekenesse and reuerence,

16 Hauing a good conscience, that when they speake euill of you as of euill doers, they may bee ashamed, which slander your good conuersation in Christ.

17 For it is better (if the will of God bee so) that ye suffer for well doing, then for euill doing.

18 For Christ also hath once suffered for sinnes, the iust for the vniust, that hee might bring vs to God, and was put to death concerning the flesh, but was quickened by the spirit.

19 By the which he also went, and preached vnto the spirits that were in prison,

20 Which were in time passed disobedient, when once the long suffering of God abode in the dayes of Noe, while the Arke was preparing, wherein few, that is, eight soules were saved in the water.

21 Whereof the Baptisme that now is, answering that figure, (which is not a putting away of the filth of the flesh, but a confident demanding which a good conscience maketh to God) saueth vs also by the resurrection of Iesus Christ,

22 Which is at the right hand of God, gone into heauen, to whom the Angels, and Powers, and might are subiect.

vs which are vniust, to suffer for the iusts cause?

23 An other argument being partly consist of things coupled together, to wit, because Christ bringeth vs to his Father that same way that he went himselfe, and partly from the cause efficient: to wit, because Christ is not onely set before vs for an example to follow, but also he holdeth vnto vs by his veritie in all the difficulties of this life, vntill he bring vs to his Father.

24 An other argument taken of the happie ende of these afflictions, wherein also Christ goeth before vs both in example and veritie, as one who suffered most grievous torments euen vnto death, although but in one part onely of him, to wit, in the flesh or mans nature: but yet became conqueror by the veritie of his diuinitie.

25 touching his manhood, for his body was dead, and his soule left the forer of death.

26 A secret obedience: Christ in deede might doe this, but what is that to vs? Yes (saith the Apostle) for Christ hath shewed forth his veritie in all ages both to the prefection of the godly, where they neuer to fewe and miserable; and to reuenge the rebellion of his enemies, as it appeareth by the historie of the flood: for Christ is he which in those dayes (when God through his patience appointed a time of repentance to the world) was present, not in corporal presence, but by his diuine vertue, preaching repentance, euen by the mouth of Noe himselfe who then prepared the Arke, to those disobedient spirits which are now in prison, waiting for the full recompense of their rebellion, and listed those few, (that is, eight onely persons) in the water.

27 By the vertue of which spirit, that is, of the diuinitie, therefore this word, spirit, cannot in this place be taken for the soule, unless we will say that Christ was raised up againe, and quickened by the vertue of his soule.

28 For saith the spirit, I was quickened vpon time, not in respect of the time that they were in the flesh.

29 This word (saith) sheweth that there was a furthermost day appointed, and if that were once past, there should be no more.

30 Gen. 6. 1. 4. math. 2. 4. 3. Luke 12. 26. 3. Act. 25. A proportionall applying of the former example to the time which followed the coming of Christ: for that prefection of Noe in the waters, was a figure of our Baptisme, not as though the materiall water of Baptisme saueth vs, as those waters which bare up the Arke saued Noe, but because Christ with his inward veritie, which the outward Baptisme shadoweth, preliueth vs being washed, so that we may call vpon God with a good conscience.

31 The conscience being sanctified, may freely call vpon God.

32 That selfe same veritie, whereby Christ rose againe, and now being carried vnto heauen hath received all power, doth at this day defend and prouee vs.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee bringeth in Christs example, and applyeth it 6 to the mortifying of the flesh, especially commending charitie: 12 And so entreateth of patience, 17 That it is necessary that correction begin at the Church.

Forasmuch then as Christ hath suffered for vs in the flesh, arme your selues likewise with the same minde, which is, that hee which hath suffered in the flesh, hath ceased from sinne.

2 That hee henceforward should liue (as touching the death and resurrection of Christ, so defining our sanctification, that to be sanctified, is all one as to suffer in the flesh, that is to say, to leaue off from our wickednesse, and viciousnesse: and to rise againe to God, that is to say, to be renewed by the veritie of the holy Ghost, that we may leade the rest of our life which remaineth after the will of God.

17 A reason which slandereth vpon two general rules of Christianitie, which notwithstanding all men allow not of.

The one is, if we must needs suffer afflictions, it is better to suffer wrongfully than righteously: the other is this, because we are so afflicted not by hap, but by the will of our God.

q Hee reckoneth
vp two kindes of these gifts as chiefe, to wit, the office of teaching in the Church, and the other Eccle-siausticall functions, wherein two things especially are to be obserued: to wit, that the pure word of God bee taught, and whatsoeuer is done, bee referred to the glorie of God
the Father in Christ. as to the proper marke.

r Because the croste is ioyned with the sincere profession of religion, the Apostle fidly repeareth that he touched before, warning vs not to be troubled at persecutions and afflictions, as at a new and strange thing.

s As though some new thing had befallen you,
which was neuer thought of before.

t The first reason:
because the Lord
meaneth not to consume vs with his fire (as it were) but to purge vs of our drossie, and make vs per-fecte.

u Another reason:
Because the afflictions of the godly and the wicked differ very much, and chiefly in three points. First, because the godly communicate with Christ in their afflictions, and therefore shall in their time bee partakers also of his glorie,

much time as ^a remaineth in the flesh) not after the lustes of men, but after the will of God.

3 ^a For it is sufficient for vs that wee haue spent the time past of the life, after the ^b lust of the Gentiles, walking in wantonnesse, lustes, drunkennesse, in gluttonie, drinkings, and in abominable idolatries.

4 ^a Wherein it seemeth to them ^c strange, that yee runne not with them vnto the same excess of riot: therefore speake they euill of you.

5 Which shall giue accounts to him, that is ready to iudge quicke and dead.

6 ^a For vnto this purpose was the Gospel preached also vnto the dead, that they might be condemned, according to men in the flesh, but might liue according to God in the spirit.

7 ^a Nowe the ende of all things is at hand. Be yee therefore sober, and watching in prayer.

8 ^a But about all things haue seruent loue among you: ^a for loue shall cōter the multitude of sinnes.

9 ^a Be ye ^a harberous one to another, without grudging.

10 ^a Let euery man as hee hath receiued the gift, minister the same one to another, ^a as good disposers of the manifold graces of God.

11 ^a If any man speake let him speake as the words of God. If any man minister, let him doe it as of the abilitie which God ministrerth, that God in all things may be glorified through Iesus Christ, to whom is praise and dominion for euer, and euer, Amen.

12 ^a Dearly beloued, thinke it not ^d strange, concerning the fierie triall, which is among you to prooue you, as though some strange thing were come vnto you:

13 ^a But reioyce, in as much as yee are partakers of Christes sufferings, that when his glorie shall appeare, yee may be glad and reioyce.

they should suffer themselves to be gouerned by the vertue of the Spirit of God. ^e Hee returneth to his purpose, vnto an Argument taken from the circumstance of the time. ^f Because the last ende is at hand, and therefore wee must so much the more diligently watch and pray, with true sobriety of mind. ^g Hee commendeth charitie of one towards another, because it doeth as it were burie a multitude of sinnes, and therefore preferreth and maintaineth peace and concord: for they that loue one another doe easily forgiue one another their offences. ^h Of all the duties of Charitie, hee commendeth one, namely which was at that time most necessarie, to wit, hospitalitie, which hee will haue to be voluntarie and most courteous and bountifull. ⁱ Romanes 12. 13. heb. 13. 2. ^j Hee sheweth the vse of charitie, to wit, that euery man bestow that gift which hee hath receiued, to the profite of his neighbour. ^k Romanes 12. 6. phil. 2. 14. ^l A reason, because that what gift soeuer wee haue, wee haue receiued it of God vpon this condition, to bee his disposers and stewards. ^m Hee reckoneth vp two kindes of these gifts as chiefe, to wit, the office of teaching in the Church, and the other Ecclesiastical functions, wherein two things especially are to be obserued: to wit, that the pure word of God bee taught, and whatsoeuer is done, bee referred to the glorie of God the Father in Christ. as to the proper marke. ⁿ Because the croste is ioyned with the sincere profession of religion, the Apostle fidly repeareth that he touched before, warning vs not to be troubled at persecutions and afflictions, as at a new and strange thing. ^o As though some new thing had befallen you, which was neuer thought of before. ^p The first reason: because the Lord meaneth not to consume vs with his fire (as it were) but to purge vs of our drossie, and make vs perfit. ^q Another reason: Because the afflictions of the godly and the wicked differ very much, and chiefly in three points. First, because the godly communicate with Christ in their afflictions, and therefore shall in their time bee partakers also of his glorie, 14 ^a If yee be railed vpon for the Name of Christ, blessed are yee: for the ^c Spirit of glory, and of God resterth vpon you: which on their part is euill spoken of: but on your part is glorified.

15 ^a But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thiefe, or an euill doer, or as a busie bodie in other mens matters.

16 But if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed: but let him glorifie God in this behalfe.

17 ^a For the time is come, that iudgement must begin at the house of God. ^a If it first begin at vs, what shall the end be of them which obey not the Gospel of God?

18 ^a And if the righteous scarcely bee saved, where shall the vngodly and the sinners appeare?

19 ^a Wherefore let them that suffer according to the will of God, commit their soules to him in well doing, as vnto a faithfull Creator.

passeth that the croste, being it is a testimonie vnto them of faith and righteousness, ministrerth to them not an occasion of sorrow, but of vnspokeable ioy: now the Apostle propoundeth this third difference vnder the forme of an exhortation. ¹⁶ The third reason: Because the Lord of all the world being especiall carefull for them of his household, doeth therefore chastise them first of all, yet so that hee keepeth a measure in his greatest severity. And as hee hath alwayes vied to doe heretofore, so doeth he now especially when as hee exhibited himselfe in person to his Church. ¹⁷ Left the godly should be offended and stumble at that vaine shadow of felicitie of the wicked, as though God were not the gouernour of the world, for that the wicked are in good case, and the godly in euill, the Apostle teacheth by an argument of a comparison of them together, that God who spareth not his owne, but nourereth them vnder the croste, will at length in his time handle the rebellious and wicked farre otherwise, whom he hath appointed to vtter destruction. ¹⁸ Prou. 2. 31. ¹⁹ The conclusion: Seeing the godly are not afflicted by chance, but by the will of God, they ought not to despair, but goe forward notwithstanding in the way of holinesse & well doing, commending themselves to God their faithfull Creator, that is to say, their Father.

CHAP. V.

¹ He warneth the Elders not to ^asurpe authoritie ouer the Church, ² willing the younger sort to bee willing to bee taught, and to be modest, ³ to be sober and watchfull to resist the cruell aduersarie.

The ^a Elders which are among you, ^a I beseech which am also an Elder, and a witness of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glorie that shall be reueiled,

2 ^a Feede the ^a flocke of God, which ^a dependeth vpon you, ^a caring for it not by constraint, but willingly: not for filthy lucre, but of a readie minde:

3 Not as though ye were lords ouer Gods ^a heritage, but that ye may be ensamples to the flocke.

4 ^a And when that chiefe shepheard shall appeare, ye shall receiue an incorruptible crowne of glorie.

5 ^a Likewise yee younger, submit your selues vnto the Elders, and submit your selues himselfe hath sustained before them, and doeth still take the same paines, and also hath one selfe same hope together with them. ³ The first rule: He that is a shepheard let him feede the flocke. ^a Hee saith not, offer for the quicke and the dead, and sing psalms (sheds in a strange tongue, but (feed.) ⁴ The second: Let the shepherds consider, that the flocke is not his, but Gods. ⁵ The third: Let not shepherds inuade other mens flockes, but let them feede that which God hath committed vnto them. ⁶ Let the shepherds gouerne the Church with the word, and example of godly and vnblameable life, not by constraint but willingly, not for filthy lucre, but of a ready minde, not as lords ouer Gods portion and heritage, but as his ministers. ⁷ Which is the Christian people. ⁸ That the shepherds minde bee not overcome either with the wickednesse of men, or their crueltie, hee warneth them to cast their eyes continually vpon that chiefe shepheard, and the crowne which is laid vp for them in heauen. ⁹ He commendeth many peculiar Christian vertues, and especially modestie: which admonition all of vs stand in neede of, but especially the younger sort by reason of the vntowardnesse and pride of that age.

CHAP. I.

3 Having spoken of the bountifullnesse of God, 5 and of the vertues of faith, 6 He exhorteth them to holinesse of life, 12 and that his counsell may be the more effectfull, 14 He sheweth that his death is at hand, 16 and that himselfe did see the power of Christ which he opened vnto them.

Simon * Peter a seruant and an Apostle of Iesus Christ, to you which haue obtained like precious faith with vs by the righteousnesse of our God, and our Sauour Iesus Christ.

2 Grace and peace bee multiplied to you, through the acknowledging of God, and of Iesus our Lord,

3 According as his diuine power hath giuen vnto vs all things that pertaine vnto life and godlinesse, through the acknowledging of him that hath called vs vnto glory and vertue.

4 Whereby most great and precious promises are giuen vnto vs, that by them ye should bee partakers of the diuine nature, in that yee flee the corruption, which is in the world through lust.

5 Therefore giue euen all diligence there-unto: to ioine moreouer vertue with your faith:

and with vertue, knowledge:
6 And with knowledge temperance: and with temperance patience: and with patience, godlinesse:
7 And with godlines, brotherly kindnes:
and with brotherly kindnesse, loue.
8 For if these things be among you, and abound, they will make you that yee neither shall be idle, nor vnfruitfull in the acknowledging of our Lord Iesus Christ:
9 For hee that hath not these things, is blinde, and can not see farre off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his old finnes, 10 Wherefore, brethren, giue rather diligence to make your calling and election sure:
for if ye doe these things, ye shall neuer fall.
11 For by this meanes an entring shall bee ministred vnto you abundantly into the euerlasting kingdome of our Lord and Sauour Ie-sus Christ.
12 Wherefore, I will not be negligent to put you alwayes in remembrance of these things, though that ye haue knowledge, and be stablished in the present trueth.
13 For I thinke it meete as long as I am in this tabernacle, to stirre you vp by putting you in remembrance, 14 Seeing I know that the time is at hande that I must lay downe this my tabernacle, euen as our Lord Iesus Christ hath shewed
mee.
15 I will endeavour therefore alwayes, that ye also may bee able to haue remembrance of these things after my departing.

unto: to ioine moreouer vertue with your faith:
and with vertue, knowledge:

with temperance patience: and with patience,

7 And with godlines, brotherly kindnes:
and with brotherly kindnesse, loue.

8 For if these things be among you, and

shall be idle, nor vnfruitfull in the acknowledging of our Lord Iesus Christ:

wholly that way. 9 An amplifying of the conclusion ioyned with a modest excuse, wherein he declareth his loue towards them, and foretelleth them of his death which is at hand. k In this body. * Iohn 21. 18.

⁶ He reckoneth
vp certaine other principall vertues, whereof some pertaine to the first table of the Law, others to the last.

⁷ As those fruits doe spring from the true knowledge of Christ,
so in like sort the knowledge it
selfe is fostered, and groweth by bringing forth such fruits, in so much that hee that is vnfruit-full, did either neuer know the hath forgotten

God in him, is blind as touching the kingdome of God, for he can not see things that are as farre off,

sion: Therefore

ueth them to vn-

2 Faith is the acknowledging of God and Christ, from whence all our blessednesse issueth and floweth.
3 Christ setteth forth himselfe to vs plainly
in the Gospel, and that by his onely power, and giueth vs all things which are requisite both to eternal life, wherein he hath appointed to glorifie vs, and also to godlines, in that he doth furnish vs with true vertue. b He speaketh of Christ, whom hee maketh God & the only Sauour. c Vnto saluation. d This is the summe of true religion, to be led by Christ to the Father, as it were by the hand. 4 An explication of the former sentence, declaring the causes of so great benefites, to wit, God & his free promise, from whence all these benefites proceede, I say, the most excellent benefites, whereby wee are deliuer-ed from the corruption of this world, (that is, from the wicked lusts which we carie about vs) and are made after a sort, like vnto God himselfe. e By the diuine nature he meaneth not the substance of the Godhead, but the partaking of these qualities, whereby the image of God is restored in vs. f In men. g For lust is the seat of corruption, and hath his place open in our very bowels and in most parts. 5 Having laid the foundation, (that is, haue declared the causes of our saluation, and especially of our sanctification) now hee beginneth to exhort vs to giue our minds wholly to the true vse of this grace. And he beginneth with faith, without which nothing can please God, and hee warneth vs to haue it full fraught with vertue (that is to say, with good and godly manners) being ioyned with the knowledge of Gods will, without which, there is neither faith, neither any true vertue.

and 2. 1.

¹⁰ An other amplification taken both of the greater certaintie and also excellencie of his doctrine, as whereof our Lord Iesus Christ the Sonne of God is author, whose glory the Apostles himselfe both saw and hard.

¹¹ Math. 17. 5.

¹² The truth of the Gospel is hereby also manifest in that it agreeth wholly with the foretellings of the Prophets.

¹³ The doctrine of the Apostles doth not shut out the doctrine of the Prophets, for they confirme each other by each others testimonies, but the Prophets were as candles which gave light vnto the blinde, vntill the brightnesse of the Gospel began to shine.

¹⁴ A more full and open knowledge, then was vnder the shadowes of the Law.

¹⁵ That cleaue doctrine of the Gospel, 2. Tim. 3. 16.

¹⁶ The Prophets are to be read, but so, that we aske of God the gift of interpretation, for hee that is the author of the writings of the Prophets, is also the interpreter of them.

¹⁷ He sayeth the Scripture and prophesie together, to distinguish true Prophecies from false.

¹⁸ For all interpretation cometh from God.

¹⁹ The godly interpreters and messengers, inspired of God: and these their motions were in very good order, and not such as were the motions of the prophane scribes, and foretellers of things to come.

²⁰ As in times past there were two kinds of prophets, the one true, the other false, so Peter foretelleth them, that there shall be some true, and some false teachers in the Church, in so much as Christ himselfe shall be denied of some, which notwithstanding shall call him redeemer.

²¹ Under the Law, while the state and policie of the Lawes was yet standing.

²² There shall not onely bee heresies, but also many followers of them.

²³ Conetousnes for the most part is a companion of heresie, and maketh merchandise euen of soules.

²⁴ They will abuse you, and sell you, as they sell cattell in a faire.

²⁵ Comfort for the godly: God who cast the Angels that fell away from him, headlong into the darkenesse of hell, at length to be iudged: and who destroyed the old world with the flood, and preserved Noe the eight person: and who burned Sodom, and sau'd Lot, will deliuer his elect from these errors, and will utterly destroy those vnrighteous.

²⁶ 1. Ioh. 4. 18. inde 6.

²⁷ So the Grecians called the deepe dungeon vnder the earth, which should bee appointed to torment the soules of the wicked in.

²⁸ Bound them with darkenesse as it were with chaines: and by darkenesse hee meaneth that most miserable state of life that is full of horror.

²⁹ Which was before the flood: not that God made a new world, but because the world seemed new.

¹⁷ For hee receiued of God the Father honour and glory, when there came such a voyce to him from that excellent glory, * This is my beloued Sonne, in whom I am well pleased.

¹⁸ And this voyce wee heard when it came from heauen, being with him in the Holy mount.

²¹ For the prophecie came not in olde time by the will of man: but ^p holy men of God spake as they were ^m moued by the holy Ghost.

²² The Prophets were as candles which gave light vnto the blinde, vntill the brightnesse of the Gospel began to shine. ¹ A more full and open knowledge, then was vnder the shadowes of the Law. ^m That cleaue doctrine of the Gospel, 2. Tim. 3. 16. ¹³ The Prophets are to be read, but so, that we aske of God the gift of interpretation, for hee that is the author of the writings of the Prophets, is also the interpreter of them. ⁿ He sayeth the Scripture and prophesie together, to distinguish true Prophecies from false. ^o For all interpretation cometh from God. ^p The godly interpreters and messengers, inspired of God: and these their motions were in very good order, and not such as were the motions of the prophane scribes, and foretellers of things to come.

CHAP. II.

¹ Hee foretelleth them of false teachers, ³ whose wicked sleights and destruction hee declareth. ¹² Hee compareth them to brutish beasts, ¹⁷ and to welles without water, ²⁰ because they seeke to withdraw men from God to their olde filthinesse.

But ^a there were false prophets also among the ^a people, euen as there shall be false teachers among you: which priuily shall bring in damnable heresies, euen denying the Lord, that hath bought them, and bring vpon them selues swift damnation.

² ^a And many shall follow their destructions, by whom the way of truth shall bee euill spoken of.

³ ^a And through couetousnesse shall they with fained words ^b make merchandise of you, ⁴ whose condemnation long since resteth not, and their destruction slumbreth not.

⁴ For if God spared not the ^a Angels that had sinned, but cast them downe into ^c hell, and deliuered them into ^d chaines of darkenesse, to be kept vnto damnation:

⁵ Neither hath spared the ^e olde world, but sau'd ^f Noe the eight person ^a preacher of righteousness, and brought in the flood vpon the world of the vngodly,

⁶ They will abuse you, and sell you, as they sell cattell in a faire. ⁴ Comfort for the godly: God who cast the Angels that fell away from him, headlong into the darkenesse of hell, at length to be iudged: and who destroyed the old world with the flood, and preserved Noe the eight person: and who burned Sodom, and sau'd Lot, will deliuer his elect from these errors, and will utterly destroy those vnrighteous.

THE FIRST EPISTLE GENERALL OF IOHN.

CHAP. I.

1 He testifieth that he bringeth the eternall word wherein is life, & light: 2 God will bee mercifull vnto the faithfull, if growing vnder the burden of their sinnes, they learne to see vnto his mercie.

THat which was from the beginning, which wee haue heard, which wee haue seene with these our eyes, which wee haue looked vpon, and these handes of ours haue handled of that word of life,

3 (For that life was made manifest, and we haue seene it, and beare witnesse, and shewe vnto you that eternall life, which was with the Father, and was manifest vnto vs.)

4 That, I say, which wee haue seene and heard, declare we vnto you, that yee may also haue fellowship with vs, and that our fellowship also may bee with the Father, and with his Sonne Iesus Christ.

5 And these things write wee vnto you, that your ioy may be full.

6 This then is the message which wee haue heard of him, and declare vnto you, that God is light, and in him is no darknesse.

7 If we say that wee haue fellowship with him, and walke in darknesse, we lie, and doe not truly.

8 But if we walke in the light as hee is in the light, we haue fellowship one with another, and the blood of Iesus Christ this Sonne cleaseth vs from all sinne.

9 If we say that we haue no sinne, wee deceiue our selues, and truth is not in vs.

10 If we acknowledge our sinnes, hee is faithful and iust, to forgive vs our sinnes, and to cleanse vs from all vnrighteousnesse.

11 If we say we haue not sinned, we make him a liar, and his word is not in vs.

God: in which thing only consisteth all happinesse. 3 Now he entrencheth into a question, whereby we may vnderstand that we are ioyned together with Christ, to wit, if wee be gouerned with his light, which is perceived by the ordering of our life. And thus he reasoneth: God is in himselfe most pure light, therefore he agreeth well with them which are lightlike, but with them that are darkesome he hath no fellowship. 4 God is said to be light of his own nature, and to be in light, that is to say, in that everlasting infinite blessednesse: and we are said to walke in light in that the beams of that light do shine vnto vs in the Word. 5 A digression or going from the matter he is in hand with, to the remission of sinnes: for this our sanctification which walke in the light, is a testimonie of our ioyning and knitting together with Christ: but because this our light is very darke, we must needs obtaine another benefit in Christ, to wit, that our sinnes may be forgiven vs being sprinkled with his blood: and this in conclusion is the prop and stay of our saluation. 6 Therefore the beginning of saluation is to acknowledge our wickednesse, and to require pardon of him, who freely forgiveth all sinnes, because he hath promised fo to doe, and he is faithful and iust. 7 So then our saluation hangeth vpon the free promise of God, who because he is faithful and iust, will performe that which he hath promised. 8 Where are then our merits? for this is our true felicitie. 9 A rehearsal of the former sentence, wherein hee condemned all of sinne without exception: in so much that if any man perswade himselfe otherwise, hee doeth as much as in him lieth, make the word of God himselfe vaine, and to no purpose, yea, he maketh God a liar: for to what end, either in times past needed sacrifices, or now Christ and the Gospel, if wee be not sinners? 10 They doe not only deceiue themselves, but are blasphemous against God. 11 He doth not place in vs: that is, in our hearts.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee declareth that Christ is our Mediator and Advocate, 2 and sheweth that the knowledge of God consisteth in holiness of life, 3 which appertaineth to all sortes, 4 that depend on Christ alone: 5 Then having exhorted them to continue the world, 6 Hee giueth warning that Antichrists bee auoyded, 7 and that the lawe of truth be stood vnto.

MY little children, these things write I vnto you, that yee sinne not: and if any man sinne, we haue an Advocate with the Father, Iesus Christ the iust.

2 And hee is the reconciliation for our sinnes: and not for ours onely, but also for the sinnes of the whole world.

3 And hereby we are sure that we know him, if we keepe his commandements.

4 He that saith, I know him, and keepeth not his commandements, is a liar, and the truth is not in him.

5 But hee that keepeth his word, in him is the loue of God perfect indeed: hereby we know that we are in him.

6 Hee that saith hee remaineth in him, ought euen so to walke, as he hath walked.

7 Brethren, I write no new commandement vnto you, but an old commandement, which yee haue had from the beginning: this old commandement is that word, which yee haue heard from the beginning.

8 Again, a new commandement I write vnto you, that which is true in him, and also in you: for the darknesse is past, and that true light now shineth.

9 Hee that saith that he is in that light, and hateth his brother, is in darknesse, vntill this time.

10 He that loueth his brother, abideth in that light, and there is none occasion of euill in him.

11 But hee that hateth his brother, is in darknesse, and walketh in darknesse, and declaring what it is to walke in the light, to wit, to keepe Gods commandements. Wherby it followeth that holinesse doth not consist in those things which men haue deuised, neither in a vaine profession of the Gospel. 2 This must be vnderstood of such a knowledge as hath faith with it, and not of a common knowledge. 3 For the true is known by the fruit. 4 Holinesse, that is, a life ordered according to the precept of Gods commandements, how weak soeuer wee be, is of necessitie ioyned with faith, that is, with the true knowledge of the Father in the Sonne. 5 Hee that keepeth Gods commandements loueth God in deede: He that loueth God, is in God, or is ioyned together with God. Therefore hee that keepeth his commandements is in him. 6 Wherewith we loue God. 7 He meaneth our communion with Christ. 8 He that is one with Christ, must needs liue his life, that is, must walke in his steps. 9 The Apostle going about to expound the commandement of Charitie one towards another, telleth first, that when he vrgeth holinesse, he bringeth no new trade of life (as they vse to doe which deuise traditions one after another) but putteth them in minde of that same law which God gaue in the beginning, to wit, by Moses. 10 At that time that God began to make Lawes to his people. 11 He addeth that the doctrine indeede is old, but it is now after a sort new, both in respect of Christ, and also of vs, in whom hee through the Gospel, engraueth his Law effectually, not in tables of stone, but in our mindes. 12 Which thing, (to wit, that the doctrine is new which I write vnto you) is true in him, and in you. 13 Now hee cometh to the second table, that is, to Charity one towards another, and denieth that that man hath true light in him, or is in deede regenerate and the sonne of God, which hateth his brother: and such an one wandereth miserably in darknesse, bragge he of neuer so great knowledge of God, for that wittingly and willingly he catcheth himselfe headlong into hell. Chap. 3. v. 14.

knoweth

9 He returneth againe from the sanctification to remission of finnes, because that free reconciliation in Christ is the ground of our saluation whereupon afterwards sanctification must be built as vpon a foundation.

10 Therefore I write vnto you, because you are of their number whom God hath reconciled to himselfe.

11 For his own sake: And in this his name Christ, he sheweth out all other, whether they be in heaven or earth.

12 He sheweth that this doctrine agreeth to all ages, and first of all speaking to old men, he sheweth that Christ and his doctrine are passing ancient, and therefore if they be delighted with old things, nothing ought to be more acceptable vnto them.

13 He aduerteth you men, if they be delirious to shewe their strength, that they haue a most glorious combat set here before them, to wit, Satan the worst enemy, who must be overcome: willing them to be as sure of the victory, as if they had already gotten it.

knoweth not whither hee goeth, because that darkness hath blinded his eyes.

12 Little children, I write vnto you, because your finnes are forgiven you for his Names sake.

13 I write vnto you, fathers, because yee haue knowen him; that is from the beginning. I write vnto you, young men, because yee haue ouercome that wicked one. I write vnto you, little children, because yee haue knowen the Father.

14 I haue written vnto you, fathers, because yee haue knowen him, that is from the beginning. I haue written vnto you, young men, because yee are strong, and the word of God abideth in you, and yee haue overcome that wicked one.

15 Loe not this world, neither the things that are in this world. If any man loue this world, the loue of the Father is not in him.

16 For all that is in this world (as the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life) is not of the Father, but is of this world.

17 And this world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but hee that fulfilleth the will of God, abideth euer.

18 Little children, it is the last time, and as yee haue heard that Antichrist shall come, euen now there are many Antichrists: whereby we know that it is the last time.

19 They went out from vs, but they were not of vs: for if they had bene of vs, they should haue continued with vs. But this cometh to passe, that it might appeare, that they are not all of vs.

20 But yee haue an Poyntment from that Holy one, and know all things.

21 I haue not written vnto you, because ye know not the trueth: but because yee know it, and that no lie is of the trueth.

12 Finally, he sheweth to children, that that true Father from whom they haue to looke for all good things, is set forth vnto them in the Gospel. 13 He addeth afterward in like order, as many exhortations: as if he should say, Remember, you fathers, as I wrote euen now, that the euil lasting Sonne of God is revealed to vs. Remember yee young men, that that strength whereby I said that you put Satan to flight, is giuen you by the word of God which dwelleth in you. 14 The world which is full of wicked desires, lusts or pleasures, and pride, is utterly hated of our heavenly Father. Therefore the Father and the world cannot be loued together: and this admonition is very necessary for Greene and flourishing youth. 15 He speaketh of the world, as it agreeth not with the will of God, for otherwise God is said to loue the world with an infinite love, Iohn 3. 16. that is to say, those whom he chooseth out of the world. 16 Wherein the Father is loued. 17 He sheweth how much better it is to obey the Fathers will, then the lusts of the world, by both their natures and vnlike euents. 18 Now, he turneth himselfe to little children, which notwithstanding are well instructed in the summe of religion, and willett them by diuers reasons to shake off foolishness, which is too too familiar with that age. 19 He useth this word (Little) not because he speaketh to children, but to allure them the more by using such sweet words. 20 First, because the last time is at hand, so that the matter suffereth no delay. 21 Secondly, because Antichrists, that is, such as fall from God, are already come, euen as they heard that they should come. And it was very requisite to warne that vnhedie and warlesse age of that danger. 22 A digression against certaine offences and stumbling blocks whereto: that rude age especially might stumble and be shaken. Therefore that they should not be terrified with the foule falling backe of certaine, first he maketh plaine vnto men, that although such as fall from God and his religion had place in the Church, yet they were neuer of the Church: because the Church is the company of the elect, which cannot perish, and therefore cannot fall from Christ. 23 So then the elect can neuer fall from grace. 24 Secondly, hee sheweth that these things fall out to the profit of the Church, that hypocrites may be plainly known. 25 Thirdly, hee comforteth them, to make them stand fast, inasmuch as they are appointed of the holy Ghost with the true knowledge of saluation. 26 The grace of the holy Ghost, and this is a borrowed kind of speech taken from the sayings used in the Law. 27 From Christ who is peculiarly called Holy. 28 The taking away of an obedienc. He wrote not these things as to men which are ignorant of religion, but rather as to them which doe well know the trueth, yea, so farre forth that they are able to discern trueth from fallshood.

22 Who is a liar, but he hath denieth that Iesus is that Christ: the same is that Antichrist that denieth the father and the Sonne.

23 Whosoever denieth the Sonne, the same hath not the Father.

24 Let therefore abide in you that same which yee haue heard from the beginning. If that which ye haue heard from the beginning, shall remaine in you, yee also shall continue in the Sonne, and in the Father.

25 And this is the promise that he hath promised vs, euen the eternal life.

26 These things haue I written vnto you, concerning them that deceiue you.

27 But that anyoyning which yee receiued of him, dwelleth in you, and yee neede not that any man teach you: but as the same Anoynting teacheth you of all things, and it is true, and is not lying, and as it taught you, yee shall abide in him.

28 And now, little children, abide in him, that when he shal appeare, we may be bold, and not be ashamed before him at his coming.

29 If yee know that hee is righteous, know yee that hee which doeth righteously, is borne of him.

30 The free promise, that is to say, in Christ alone, who is giuen vs of the Father. 31 The same Spirit which indwelleth the elect with the knowledge of the truth and sanctifieth them, giueth them therewithall the gift of perseverance, to continue to the end. 32 The Spirit which you haue receiued of Christ, and which hath led you into all truth. 33 You are not ignorant of these things, and therefore I teach them not as things that were neuer heard of, but call them to your remembrance as things which you do know. 34 He commendeth both the doctrine which they had embraced, and also highly praiseth their faith, and the diligence of such as taught them, yet so, that he taketh nothing from the honour due to the holy Ghost. 35 The conclusion both of the whole exhortation, & also of the former treatise. 36 A passing ouer to the treatise following, which tendeth to the same purpose, but yet is more ample, and handleth the same matter after another order, for before he taught vs to goe vp from the effects to the cause, and in this that followeth, hee goeth downe from the causes to the effects: And this is the summe of this argument, God is the fountaine of all righteousness, and therefore they that giue themselves to righteousness, are known to be borne of him, because they resemble God the Father.

CHAP. III.

1 Setting downe the ineffimable glory of this, that wee are Gods sonnes, 2 He sheweth that newnesse of life must be testified by good workes, wherof Charitie is a manifest token 19 Off faith, 22 and praying vnto God.

Behold, what loue the Father hath giuen to vs, that we should be called the sonnes of God: for this cause this world knoweth you not, because it knoweth not him.

2 Dearly beloved, now are wee the sonnes of God, but yet it is not made manifest what we shall be: and we know that when hee shal be made manifest, we shal be like him: for we shall see him as he is,

3 And euery man that hath this hope in him, purgeth himselfe, euen as he is pure.

4 Whosoever committeth sinne, transgresseth we are so. 2 Before he declareth this adoption he saith two things: the one, that this so great a dignitie, is not to be esteemed according to the iudgement of the flesh, because it is unknown to the world, for the world knoweth not God the Father himselfe. 3 The other: This dignitie is not fully made manifest to vs our selues, much lesse to strangers, but we are sure of the accomplishment of it, inasmuch that we shall bee like to the Sonne of God himselfe and shall enjoy his light in deede, such as hee is now, but yet notwithstanding this is deferred vntill his next coming. 4 Like, but not equal. 5 For now we see as in a glasse. 6 Cor. 13. 12. 4 Now he describeth this adoption, (the glory whereof as yet consisteth in hope) by the effect, to wit, because that whosoever is made the Sonne of God, endeavoureth to resemble the Father in puritie. 5 This word signifieth a likeness, but not an equality. 6 The rule of this puritie can from no whence else be taken but from the Law of God, the transgression whereof is that which is called sinne. 7 Giueth not himselfe to puritie.

A short definition of the first fruit.
6. An argument taken from the manner of our salvation: Christ in his life is most pure, and he came to take away our sinnes by himselfe, and by the Holy Ghost. Therefore whoeuer is truly partaker of Christ, doeth not give himselfe to sinne, and contrariwise he that giueth himselfe to sinne, knoweth not Christ.

gresseth also the Law: for sinne is the transgression of the Law.

5 And ye know that he was made manifest, that he might take away our sinnes, and in him is no sinne.

6 Whosoever abideth in him, sinneth not: whosoever sinneth, hath not seene him, neither hath knowen him.

7 Little children, let no man deceive you: he that doth righteousness, is righteous, as he is righteous.

8 He that committeth sinne, is of the deuill: for the deuill sinneth from the beginning: for this purpose was he made manifest that Sonne of God, that he might loose the workes of the deuill.

9 Whosoever is borne of God, sinneth not: for his seede remaineth in him, neither can he sinne, because he is borne of God.

10 In this are the children of God knowne, and the children of the deuill: whosoever doth not righteousness, is not of God, neither hee that loueth not his brother.

11 For this is the message, that yee heard from the beginning, that we should loue one another.

12 Not as Cain which was of that wicked one, and slew his brother: and wherefore slew he him? because his owne workes were euill, and his brothers good.

13 Maruell not my brethren, though this world hate you.

14 Wee know that wee are translated from death vnto life, because we loue the brethren: he that loueth not his brother, abideth in death.

15 Whosoever hateth his brother, is a manlayer: and yee know that no manlayer hath eternall life abiding in him.

16 Hereby haue wee perceiued loue, that hee layd downe his life for vs: therefore we ought also to lay downe our liues for the brethren.

17 And whosoever hath this worlds

the Sonne of God, being borne againe of his Spirit as of new seed, in so much, that of necessity he is now delivered from the slavery of sinne. 1. good, and seeth his brother hath need, and shutteth vp his compassion from him, how dwelleth the loue of God in him?

18 My little children, let vs not loue in word, neither in tongue only, but in deede and in truth.

19 For thereby wee know that wee are of the truth, and shall before him assure our hearts.

20 For if our heart condemne vs, God is greater then our heart, and knoweth all things.

21 Beloued, if our heart condemne vs not, then haue we boldnesse toward God.

22 And whatsoeuer wee aske wee receiue of him, because wee keepe his commandments, and doe those things which are pleasing in his sight.

23 This is then his commandement, That we beleue in the Name of his Sonne Iesus Christ, and loue one another as hee gaue commandement.

much more ought the iudgement of God to condemne vs, who knoweth our hearts better then we our selues do. 21. CHAP. III.

1 Having spoken somewhat touching the trying of spirits: 2 For some speake after the world, 3 and some after God: 4 He returneth to charitie, 11. 19 and by the example of God he exhorteth to brotherly loue.

Dearely beloued, beleue not euery spirit, but trie the spirits whether they are of God: for many false prophets are gone out into this world.

2 Hereby shall yee know the Spirit of God, Every spirit which confesseth that Iesus Christ is come in the flesh, is of God.

3 And euery spirit that confesseth not that Iesus Christ is come in the flesh, is not of God: but this is the spirit of Antichrist, of whom yee haue heard, how that he should come, and now already he is in this world.

4 Little children, yee are of God, and haue overcome them, for greater is he that is in you, then he that is in this world.

5 They are of this world, therefore speake they of this world, & this world heareth them.

is, that because many men teach false things, wee should not therefore beleue any. We must then obserue a meane, that wee may be able to discerne the Spirits of God which are altogether to be followed, from impure spirits, which are to be shunned. 2. This is spoken by the figure Metonymy, and it is as if he had said, 'Beleeue not euery one that saith that he hath a gift of the holy Ghost to doe the office of a Prophet.' 3. He giueth a certaine and perpetuall rule to know the doctrine of Antichrist, to wit, if either the diuine or humane nature of Christ, or the true vnitie of them together be denied: or if the least iota that may be, be derogated from his office who is our onely King, Prophet, and euertasting his Priest. 4. He speaketh simply of the doctrine, and not of the person. 5. The true Messias, & Iesus man. 6. He comforteth the elect with a most sure hope of victory: but yet so, that he teacheth them that they fight not with their owne vertue, but with the vertue and power of God. 7. He bringeth a reason why the world receiue these teachers more willingly than the true: to wit, because they breathe out nothing but that which is worldly: which is another note also to know the doctrine of Antichrist by.

Openeth not his heart to him, nor his mouth, nor willingly and charitably.
18. Christian charitie standeth not in words, but in deede, & proceedeth from a sincere affection.
19. He commendeth charitie, by a triple effect: for first of all, by it we know that we are indeede the sonnes of God, as he shewed before.
20. Therefore it commeth that we haue a quiet conscience, as on the contrary side he that thinketh that he hath God for a iudge, because he is guilty to himselfe, either he is neuer or els very rarely quiet, for God hath a sharper fight then we, and iudgeth more severely.
21. If an euill conscience diuinceth

1 Taking occasion by the name of the Spirit, left loue and charity should be separated fro the worship of God, which chiefly dependeth of his true knowledge, he returneth to that which hee spake of in the second chapter touching the taking heede of Antichrists. And he will haue vs here to take heed of two things, the one is, that seeing there be many false prophets, we doe not lightly giue credit to euery man: the other

8 And there are three, which beare record in the earth, the spirit, and the water, and the blood: and these three agree in one.

9 If wee receiue the witnessse of men, the witnessse of God is greater: for this is the witnessse of God, which hee testified of his Sonne.

10 Hee that beleeueth in that Sonne of God, hath the witnessse in himselfe: that he beleeueth not God, hath made him a liar, because he beleeueth not the record, that God witnessed of that his Sonne.

11 And this is that record, to wit; that God hath giuen vnto vs eternall life, and this life is in that his Sonne.

12 He that hath that Sonne, hath that life: and hee that hath not that Sonne of God, hath not that life.

13 These things haue I written vnto you, that beleeue in the Name of that Sonne of God, that yee may knowe that yee haue eternall life, and that yee may beleeue in the Name of that Sonne of God.

14 And this is that assurance, that wee haue in him, that if we aske any thing according to his will, he heareth vs.

15 And if wee know that hee heareth vs, what doer we aske, wee know that wee haue the petitions, that we haue desired of him.

16 If any man see his brother sinne a sinne that is not vnto death, he may aske, and hee shall giue him life for them that sinne not vnto death. There is a sinne vnto death: I say not that thou shouldst pray for it.

17 All vnrigheteousnesse is sinne, but there is a sinne, nor vnto death.

18 We know that whosoever is borne of God, sinneth not: but hee that is begotten of God, keepeth himselfe, and that wicked one toucheth him not.

19 We know that we are of God, and this whole world lieth in wickednesse.

20 But we know that that Sonne of God is come, and hath giuen vs a mind to know him, which is true: and wee are in him, that is true, that is, in that his Sonne Iesus Christ: this same is that very God and that eternall life.

21 Little children keepe yourselves from idols, Amen.

We must not despise therefore, because every sinne is not deadly, and without hope of remedy. 17 A reason why not all, nay rather why no sinne is mortall to some: to wit, because they be borne of God: that is to say, made the sonnes of God in Christ, and being indwelt with his Spirit, they doe not serue sinne, neither are deadly wounded of Satan. 18 Every man must particularly apply to himselfe the generall promises, that wee may certainly perfwade our selues, that whereas all this world is by nature lost, wee are freely made the sonnes of God, by the sending of Iesus Christ his Sonne vnto vs, of whom wee are lightened with the knowledge of the true God and eternall life. Luke 24. 49. The doctrine of Christ is more plainly preped by this place. 19 Hee expresseth a plaine precept of taki g heede of idols: which hee setteth against the onely true God, that with this title as it were he might scale vp all the former doctrine.

* Chap. 3. 23.
15 Wee haue to make prayers not onely for our selues, but also for our brethren which doe sinne, that their finnes be not vnto them, to death. and yet he excepteth that sinne which is neuer forgiven, or the sinne against the holy Ghost, that is to say, an vniuersall and wilfull falling away from the knowledge of the Gospel.
16 Then is as much as if he said, let him desire the Lord to forgive him, and hee will forgive him being so desired.

THE SECOND EPISTLE OF IOHN.

1 This Epistle is writtento a woman of great renowne, 9 who brought vp her children in the feare of God: 6 he exhorteth her to continue in Christian charitie, 7: that shee accompanie not with Antichrists, 10 but auaide them.

THE Elder to the elect Lady, and her children, whom I loue in the truth, and not I onely, but also all that haue knowen the truth,

2 For the truethe sake which dwelleth in vs, and shall bee with vs for euer:

3 Grace bee with you, mercie and peace from God the Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ the Sonne of the Father, with truth and loue.

4 I reioyced greatly, that I found thy children walking in truth, as we haue recei-ued a commandement of the Father.

5 And now beseech I thee, Lady, (not as writing a new commandement vnto thee, but the same which wee had from the beginning) that we loue one another.

6 And this is that loue, that wee should walke after his commandements. This commandement is, that as yee haue heard from the beginning, yee should walke in it.

7 For many deceiuers are entred into this world, which confesse northat Iesus Christ is come in the flesh. Hee that is such one, is a deceiver and an Antichrist.

8 Looko to your selues, that we lose not the things which we haue done, but that wee may receiue a full reward.

9 Whosoever transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. He that continueth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Sonne.

10 If there come any vnto you, and bring not this doctrine, receiue him not to house, neither bid him, God speede.

Ccccc 3 11 For

10 He sheweth by an argument of comparison, of what great weight the heavenly testimonie is, that the Father hath giuen of the Sonne, vnto whom a greeth both the Sonne himselfe and the holy Ghost.
11 I conclude, that the Father hath giuen of the Sonne, vnto whom a greeth both the Sonne himselfe and the holy Ghost.
12 He sheweth the surety of the Father's witnessse, by the Father's own confession, that hee hath giuen of the Sonne, vnto whom a greeth both the Sonne himselfe and the holy Ghost.
13 The conclusion of the Epistle, wherein hee sheweth first of all, that euen they which already beleeue, doe stand in need of this doctrine, to the end that they may grow more and more in knowledge: that is to say, to the end that they may be daily more and more certified of their saluation in Christ, through faith.
14 Because we doe not yet in effect obtaine that which wee hope for, the Apostle byeth inuocation of prayer with faith, which hee will haue to proceed from faith, and moreover to be concerned in such sort, that nothing be asked but that which is agreeable to the will of God: and such prayers can not be vaine.
15 This Epistle is writtento a woman of great renowne, 9 who brought vp her children in the feare of God: 6 he exhorteth her to continue in Christian charitie, 7: that shee accompanie not with Antichrists, 10 but auaide them.
16 This is no proper name, but so taken on the word foundeth, that is to say, in the worthy and noble Lady.
17 Excellent and honorable Dame.
18 The bond of Christian communion or linking together is the true and constant profession of the truth.
19 With true knowledge which hath alwayes bene joynd with it, and following it.
20 This true profession consisteth both in loue one towards another which the Lord hath commanded, and also especially in wholesome and sound doctrine, which also is deliuered vnto vs: for the commandment of God is a found and sure foundation both of the rule of maners, and of doctrine, and these cannot bee separated the one from the other. 21 According as the truth directeth them.

1. God he that biddeth him, God speede is partaker of his guilt decedeth. Although I had many things to write vnto you, yet I would not write with paper and ynke: but I woulde come vnto you, and speake mouth to mouth, that our ioy may be full. 12 The foules of thine elect filter greete thee. And I will write vnto thee, but I will not write with paper and ynke: for I knowe that thou art able to receiue the word which I write vnto thee.

THE THIRD EPISTLE OF IOHN.

1 Hee commendeth Gaius for his fidelity, and reprehendeth Diotrephes for his inuicible hatred. Hee commendeth Gaius for his fidelity, and reprehendeth Diotrephes for his inuicible hatred.

8 Wee therefore ought to receiue such, that we might be helpers to the truth.

9 I wrote vnto the Church, but Diotrephes which loveth to haue the preeminence among them, receiueth us not.

10 Wherefore if I come, I will call to your remembrance the deedes which he doeth, prating against vs with malicious words, and not therewith content, neither hee himselfe receiue the brethren, but forbiddeth them that would and sheweth them out of the Church.

11 Beloued, follow not that which is euill, but that which is good: hee that doeth well, is of God: but hee that doeth euill, hath not seene God.

12 Demetrius hath good report of all men, and of the truth it selfe: yea, and we our selues beare record, and yee knowe that our recorde is true.

13 I haue many things to write: but I will not with ynke and pen write vnto thee:

14 For I trust I shall shortly see thee, and wee shall speake mouth to mouth. Peace be with thee. The friends salute thee. Greete the friends by name.

He Elder vnto the beloued Gaius, whome I loue in the truth.

2 Beloued, I wish chiefly that thou prosperest and faredest well as thy loue prospereth.

3 For I reioyce greatly when the brethren came, and testified of the truth that is in thee, how thou walkest in the truth.

I haue no greater ioy then these, that is, to heare that my sonnes walke in veritie.

4 Beloued, thou doest faithfully, whatsoever thou doest to the brethren, & to strangers.

6 Which bare witness of thy loue before the Churches. Whome if thou bringest on their iourney, as it becometh, according to God, thou shalt doe well.

7 Because that for his Names sake they went forth, and tooke nothing of the Gentiles.

a. Then these say, b. Hee becometh a beleuer and a Christian. c. Hee commendeth to Gaius, as hee whom hee had once, stained before receiving him, about the affayres of the Church, or else some other which had like busynesse.

THE GENERALL EPISTLE OF IUDE.

3 Hee warneth the godly to take heede of such men, 4 that make the grace of God a cloke for their wantonnesse: 5 and that they shall not scape unpunished, for the contempt of that grace. 6, 7. Hee proueth by three examples: 14 and alledge the prophesie of Enoch: 20 Finally hee sheweth the godly a meane, to ouerthrow all the snares of those deceiuers.

I V D E a seruant of Iesus Christ, and a brother of Iames, to them which are called and sanctified of God the Father, and referred to Iesus Christ:

2 Mercie vnto you, and peace and loue be multiplied.

3 Beloued, when I gaue all diligence to write vnto you of the common saluation, it was needfull for mee to write vnto you to exhort you, that yee should earnestly contend for the maintenance of the faith, which was once giuen vnto the Saints.

4 For there are certaine men crept in, which were before of olde ordeined to this condemnation: vngodly men they are, which turne the grace of our God into wantonnesse, and denie God the onely Lord, and our Lord Iesus Christ.

5 I will therefore put you in remembrance, forasmuch as yee once knewe this, how that the Lord, after that hee had deliuered the people out of Egypt, destroyed them afterward which beleueed not.

6 The Angels also which kept not their first estate, but left their owne habitation, hee hath referred in euerlasting chaines vnder darkness vnto the iudgement of the great day.

7 As Sodom and Gomorreh, and the cities about them, which in like maner as they did, committed fornication, and followed strange flesh, are set foorth for an ensample, have abused the grace of God to follow their owne lusts. *a. Nowe 14. 37. 5 The fall of the Apostles was most feierly punished, how much more then will the Lord punish wicked and faithlesse men? 1 Pet. 2. 4. It is by Gods prouidence and not by chance, that many wicked men creepe into the Church. Hee condemneth this first in them, that they take a pretence or occasion to waxe wanton, by the grace of God, which cannot be, but the chiefe empire of Christ must be abrogated in that such men giue vp themselves to Satan as at this day the hee of Anabaptist doth, which they call Libertines. 2. Pet. 2. 1. Hee setteth forth the horrible unchristianity of them which and suffer the vengeance of eternall fire.

 8 Likewise notwithstanding these fleec-pers also defile the flesh, and despise gouernement, and speake euill of them that are in authoritie.

9 Yet Michael the Archangel, when hee stroue against the deuill, and disputed about the bodie of Moses, durst not blame him with cursed speaking, but said, The Lord rebuke thee.

10 But these speake euill of those things which they know not: and whatsoever things they know naturally, as beastes, which are without reason, in those things they corrupt themselves.

11 Woe be vnto them: for they haue followed the way of Cain, and are cast away by the deceite of Balaams wages, and perish in the gamesaying of Core.

12 There are rockes in your feastes of charitie when they feast with you, without all feare, feeding themselves: cloudes they are without water, caried about of windes, corrupt trees without fruite, whose dead, and plucked vp by therootes.

13 They are the raging wanes of the sea, foming out their owne shame: they are wandring starres, to whom is reserved the blacknesse of darkenesse for ever.

14 And Enoch also the seuenth from Adam, propheied of such, saying, Behold, the Lord

 commeth with thousands of his Saints,

15 To giue iudgement against all men, and to rebuke all the vngodly among them of all their wicked deedes, which they haue vngodly committed, and of their cruel speakings, which wicked sinners haue spoken against him.

16 These are murmurers, complainers, walking after their owne lustes: whose mouthes speake proud things, hauing mens persons in admiration, because of advantage.

17 But ye beloved, remember the words which were spoken before of the Apostles of our Lord Iesus Christ.

18 How that they tolde you that there should bee mockers in the last time, which should walke after their owne vngodly lusts.

19 These are they that separate themselves from other, naturall, hauing not the Spirit.

20 But ye beloved, edifie your selues in your most holy faith, praying in the holy Ghost,

21 And keepe your selues in the loue of God, looking for the mercie of our Lord Iesus Christ vnto eternall life.

22 And haue compassion of some, in putting difference:

23 And other saue with feare, pulling them out of the fire, and hate euen that garment which is spotted by the flesh.

24 Now vnto him that is able to keepe you, that ye fall not, and to present you fault-lesse, before the presence of his glory with ioy.

That is, to God onely wile, our Sauour, be glory, and maiestie, and dominion, and power, both now and for ever, Amen.

7 Behold, he cometh with clouds, and every eye shall see him: yea, euen they which pierced him thorow: and all kindreds of the earth shall wail before him: Euen so, Amen.

8 I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending, sayth the Lord, Which is, and which was, and which is to come; yea, the Almighty.

9 Iohn, euen your brother and companion in tribulation, and in the kingdome and patience of Iesus Christ, was in the yle called Patmos, for the word of God, and for the witnessing of Iesus Christ.

10 And I was rauished in a spirit on the Lordes day, and heard behind mee a great voice, as it had bene of a trumpe,

11 Saying, I am Alpha and Omega, that first, last, and that which thou seest, write in a booke, & send it vnto the seuen Churches,

12 And I shall come, and shall comfort the golly in the truth, verbe 7.

13 I am Alpha and Omega, that first, last, and that which thou seest, write in a booke, & send it vnto the seuen Churches,

14 And I shall come, and shall comfort the golly in the truth, verbe 7.

15 I am Alpha and Omega, that first, last, and that which thou seest, write in a booke, & send it vnto the seuen Churches,

16 And I shall come, and shall comfort the golly in the truth, verbe 7.

17 I am Alpha and Omega, that first, last, and that which thou seest, write in a booke, & send it vnto the seuen Churches,

18 And I shall come, and shall comfort the golly in the truth, verbe 7.

19 I am Alpha and Omega, that first, last, and that which thou seest, write in a booke, & send it vnto the seuen Churches,

20 And I shall come, and shall comfort the golly in the truth, verbe 7.

21 I am Alpha and Omega, that first, last, and that which thou seest, write in a booke, & send it vnto the seuen Churches,

22 And I shall come, and shall comfort the golly in the truth, verbe 7.

23 I am Alpha and Omega, that first, last, and that which thou seest, write in a booke, & send it vnto the seuen Churches,

24 And I shall come, and shall comfort the golly in the truth, verbe 7.

25 I am Alpha and Omega, that first, last, and that which thou seest, write in a booke, & send it vnto the seuen Churches,

8 The exposition, declaring the third and last point of the proposition (for the other points are evident of themselves) wherein is spoken first of the Author of his calling, vnto the 17. verse. Secondly, of the calling it self vnto the end of the Chapter. And first of all the occasion is noted in this verse, in that Saint Iohn turned himselfe towards the vision: after is set downe the description of the Author in the verses following, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17.

9 The description of the Author, which is Christ by the candlestickes that stand about him, that is, the Churches that stand before him, and depend vpon his direction, in this verily his properties, that he is one furnished with wisdom and deserveth to the archieue of great things, verse 13. with ancient granitie & most excellent sight of the eye, verse 14. with strength inuincible and with a mighty word, verse 15. By his operation, that he ruleth the ministry of his seruants in the Church, giueth effect thereto by the sword of his word, and enlightning all things by his countenance. Both most mightily provide for our one by his diuine providence, verse 16.

10 A religious feare that goeth before the calling of the Saints, and their full confirmation to take vpon them the vocation of God. 11 A diuine confirmation of this calling, partly by signe, and partly by word of power. 12 A most elegant description of this calling contained in three things, which are necessary vnto a iust vocation: first the authoritie of him that calleth, for that he is the beginning and end of all things, in this verse, for that he is small and omnipotent, verse 8. Secondly, the summe of his Prophetical calling and reuelation, verse 9. Lastly, a declaration of those persons vnto whom this prophesie is by the commandment of God directed in the description thereof, verse 10.

13 The summe of this prophesie, that the Apostle must write whatsoever he should see, adding nothing, nor taking away any thing, as verse 1. Hereof there are two parts: one is a narration of those things which are, that is, which then were at that time, contained in the second and third Chapter: the other part is of those things which were to come, contained in the rest of this booke. 14 That is, the thing which was mystically signified by the particulars of the vision before goinge. 15 By Angels he meaneth the Ministers of the Church.

which are in Asia, vnto Ephesus, & vnto Smyrna, & vnto Pergamus, & vnto Thyatira, & vnto Sardis, & vnto Philadelphia, & vnto Laodicea.

11 Then I turned backe to see the voice that spake with me: and when I was turned, I saw seuen golden candlestickes, 12 And in the midst of the seuen candlestickes, one like vnto the Sonne of man, clothed with a garment downe to the feete, and girded about the paps with a golden girdle.

13 His head, and his eyes were as white as white wooll, and as snow, and his eyes were as a flame of fire,

14 And his feete like fine brasse, burning as in a furnace: and his voice as the sound of many waters.

15 And he had in his right hand seuen stars: and out of his mouth went a sharpe two edged sword: and his face shone as the Sonne shineth in his strength.

16 And when I saw him, I fel at his feet as dead: 17 then he laid his right hand vpon me, saying vnto me, Feare not: I am the first and the last,

18 And I am alieue, but I was dead, and behold, I am alieue for euermore, Amen, and I haue the keyes of hell and of death.

19 Write the things which thou hast seene, and the things which are, and the things which shall come hereafter.

20 The mystery of the seuen starres which thou sawest in my right hand, and the seuen golden candlestickes, is this, The seuen starres are the Angels of the seuen Churches: and the seuen Candlestickes which thou sawest, are the seuen Churches.

21 By his operation, that he ruleth the ministry of his seruants in the Church, giueth effect thereto by the sword of his word, and enlightning all things by his countenance. Both most mightily provide for our one by his diuine providence, verse 16. 10 A religious feare that goeth before the calling of the Saints, and their full confirmation to take vpon them the vocation of God. 11 A diuine confirmation of this calling, partly by signe, and partly by word of power. 12 A most elegant description of this calling contained in three things, which are necessary vnto a iust vocation: first the authoritie of him that calleth, for that he is the beginning and end of all things, in this verse, for that he is small and omnipotent, verse 8. Secondly, the summe of his Prophetical calling and reuelation, verse 9. Lastly, a declaration of those persons vnto whom this prophesie is by the commandment of God directed in the description thereof, verse 10.

13 The summe of this prophesie, that the Apostle must write whatsoever he should see, adding nothing, nor taking away any thing, as verse 1. Hereof there are two parts: one is a narration of those things which are, that is, which then were at that time, contained in the second and third Chapter: the other part is of those things which were to come, contained in the rest of this booke. 14 That is, the thing which was mystically signified by the particulars of the vision before goinge. 15 By Angels he meaneth the Ministers of the Church.

John is commaunded to write those things which he saw, and he knew necessary to the Churches of Ephesus, 8 of the Smyrnians, 12 of Pergamus, 18 and of Thyatira, 21 that they keepe those things which they receiued of the Apostles.

Vnto the Angel of the Church of Ephesus write, These things saith hee that holdeth the seuen starres in his right hand, and walketh in the midst of the seuen golden candlestickes. I know thy workes and thy labour, & thy patience, & how thou canst not beare with them which are euill, and hast examined them which say they are Apostles, and are not, and hast found them liars. And thou wast burdened, and hast patience, and for my Names sake hast laboured, and hast not fauted. Neuertheless, I haue somewhat against thee, because thou hast left thy first loue. Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and repent, and doe the first workes: or else I will come against thee shortly, and will remoue thy candlesticke out of his place, except thou amend. But this thou hast, that thou hatest the workes of the Nicolaitanes, which I also hate. Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit sayeth vnto the Churches: To him that ouercometh, will I giue to eate of the tree of life which is in the midst of the Paradise of God.

holdeth the seuen starres in his right hand, and walketh in the midst of the seuen golden candlestickes.

I know thy workes and thy labour, & thy patience, & how thou canst not beare with them which are euill, and hast examined them which say they are Apostles, and are not, and hast found them liars.

And thou wast burdened, and hast patience, and for my Names sake hast laboured, and hast not fauted.

Neuertheless, I haue somewhat against thee, because thou hast left thy first loue.

Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and repent, and doe the first workes: or else I will come against thee shortly, and will remoue thy candlesticke out of his place, except thou amend.

But this thou hast, that thou hatest the workes of the Nicolaitanes, which I also hate.

Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit sayeth vnto the Churches: To him that ouercometh, will I giue to eate of the tree of life which is in the midst of the Paradise of God.

And vnto the Angel of the Church of the Smyrnians, write, These things saith he that is first, and last, which was dead, and is alieue.

I know thy workes and tribulation, & poverty (but thou art rich) and I know the blasphemy of them which say they are Iewes, and are not, but are the Synagogue of Satan.

Feare none of those things, which thou shalt suffer: behold, it shall come to passe, that the deuil shall cast some of you into prison, that yee may be tryed, and yee shall haue tribulation ten dayes: bee thou faithfull vnto the death, and I will giue thee the crowne of life.

Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saith to the Churches. He that ouercometh, shall not be hurt of the second death.

And to the Angell of the Church, which is at Pergamus write, This saith he which hath that sharpe sword with two edges,

I know thy workes, and where thou dwellest, even where Satans throne is, & thou keepest my Name, & hast not denied my faith, euen in those daies when Antipas my faithfull martyr was slaine among you, where Satan dwelleth.

Space of time is appointed by him, and the same very short. Now because Saint Iohn wrote this booke in the end of Domitian the Emperours his reigne, as Iulianus and Irenaeus doe witness, it is altogether necessary that this should be referred vnto that persecution which was done by the authoritie of the Emperour Traian: who began to make haucke of the Christian Church in the tenth yeere of his reigne, as the Historiographers doe write: and his bloody persecution continued vntill Adrian the Emperour had succeeded in his place: The space of which time is precisely ten yeeres, which are here mentioned. The conclusion, as verse 7. See Chap. 20. 6. The third place is vnto the Pastors of Pergamus. The exhortation is taken out of the 16. verse of the first Chapter. Pergamus was the name of a famous city in Asia, where the Kings of the Attalians were alwayes resident. The proposition of praise, is in this verse, of reprehension in the two following, and of exhortation ioyned with a conditionall threat, verse 16. Now this Antipas was the Angel or minister of the Church of Pergamus, as Aretas writeth. The faith of them of Pergamus is so much the more highly commended, because they remained constant in the very heat of persecution. Numbe. 24. 14. and 25. 1.

3 The proposition first condemning the Pastor of this Church, verse 1, then reproving him, verse 4, after informing him, and withall threatening that he will translate the Church to another place, ver. 5. This commination or threat Christ mitigateth by a kind of correction, calling to minde the particular, verus & piety of Church, which God neuer leaue without recompense, ver. 6. Concerning the Nicolaitans, see after vpon the 15. verse.

To deal with thee for, The conclusion containing a commandment of attention, and a promise of exhortation, life, shadowed vnder a figure, of which Gen. 22. 9.

This is in Paradise after the manner of the tabernacle phrase, b. This Christ speaks as he is a Mediator. The second place is vnto the Pastors of the Church of the Smyrnians. The Exordium is taken out of the 17. and 18. verses of the first Chapter.

Smyrna was one of the cities of Ionia in Asia. The proposition of praise is in this verse, and of exhortation ioyned with promise, is in the next verse. 8 That is, often yeeres. For so commonly both in this booke and in Daniel, yeeres are signified by name of dayes: that God thereby might declare, that the

1 The former part of this booke is comprised in a narration of those things which then were, as S. Iohn taught vs, Chap. 1. 19. it belongeth wholly to instruction, and in these two next Chapters, containeth seuen places, according to the number and condition of those Churches which were named before, Chap. 1. 11. figured verse 1. and distributed most aptly into their pastors and flocks, ver. 10. which verse of that Chapter is as it were a passage vnto the first part. Every one of these seuen places hath three principal members: an Exordium taken from the person of the Author: a proposition, in which is praise and commendation of that which is good, reprehension of that which is euill, and instruction, containing either an exhortation alone, or withall a dissuasion opposite vnto it, and a conclusion stirring vp vnto attention, by diuine promises. And this first place is vnto the Pastors of the Church of Ephesus, 2 The Exordium, wherein are contained the special praises of Christ Iesus the Author of this prophesie, out of the 6. and 13. verses of the first Chapter.

14. But I haue a few things against thee, because thou hast there them that maintaine the doctrine of *Balaam, which taught Bal-lac to put a stumbling block before the chil-dren of Israel, that they should eate of things sacrificed vnto Idoles, and commit fornication.

15. Euen so hast thou them, that maintaine the doctrine of the *Nicholaitanes, which thing I hate.

16. Repent thy selfe, or els I will come vnto thee shortly, and will fight against thee with the sword of my mouth.

17. Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit faith vnto the Churches. To him that ouercommeth, wil I giue to eat of the 8 Man-na that is hid, and will giue him a ^h white stone, and in the stone a new ^h name written, which no man knoweth sauing he that recei-ueth it.

18. ¶ And vnto ^h the Angel of the Church which is at Thyatira write, These things faith the Sonne of God, which hath his eyes like vnto a flame of fire, and his feete like fine brasse.

19. I know ^h thy workes, and thy loue, and i seruice, and faith, and thy patience, and thy workes, and that ^h they are moe at the last, then at the first.

20. Notwithstanding, I haue a few things a-gainst thee, that thou sufferest the woman Ie-zabel, which calleth her selfe a prophetesse, to teach & to deceiue my seruants, to make them commit fornication, and to eate meate sacri-ficed vnto idoles.

21. And I gaue her space to repent of her fornication, but she repented not.

22. Behold, I will cast her into a bed, and them that commit fornication with her, into great affliction, except they repent them of their workes.

23. And I will kill her children with death: and all the Churches shall know that I am hee which *search the reines and hearts: and I will giue vnto euery one of you according vnto your workes.

24. And vnto you I say, the rest of them of Thyatira, As many as haue not this learning, neither haue knowen the ^h deepenesse of Satan (as they speake) I will ^m put vpon you noe o-ther burden,

25. But that which ye haue already, holde fast till I come.

26. For hee that ouercommeth and kee-peth my works vnto the end, to him will I giue power ouer nations.

27. And he shall rule them with a rod of yron: and as the vessels of a potter, shall they be broken.

28. Euen as I receiued of my Father, so will I giue him the morning starre.

29. Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit sayth to the Churches.

CHAP. III.

1 The fift Epistle sent to the Pastours of the Church of Sar-dis, 7 of Philadelphia, 14 and of the Laodicenes, 16 that they bee not lukewarme, 20 But endeavour so fur-ther Gods glory.

¶ And write vnto the Angel of the Church which is at *Sardis, These things faith he that hath the seuen Spirits of God, and the se-uen starres, I know thy workes: for thou hast a ^h name that thou liuest, but thou art dead.

2. Bee awake, and strengthen the things which remaine, that are ready to die: for I haue not found thy workes perfect before God.

3. Remember therefore, how thou hast re-ceived and heard, and hold fast and repent. * If therefore thou wilt not watch, I will come on thee as a theife, and thou shalt not know what houre I will come vpon thee.

4. Notwithstanding thou hast a few names yet in Sardis, which haue not defiled their garments: and they shall walke with mee in ^h white: for they are ^h worthy.

5. He that ouercommeth shall be clothed in white aray, and I will not put out his name out of the ^h booke of life, but I wil confesse his name before my Father, and before his Angels.

6. Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit faith vnto the Churches.

7. ¶ And write vnto the Angel of the Church, which is of Philadelphia, These things faith he that is Holy, and True, which hath the *key of Dauid, which openeth, & no man shut-teth, and shutteth, and no man openeth.

8. I know thy workes: behold I haue set before thee an open doore, & no man can shut it: for thou hast a little strength, and hast kept my word, and hast not denied my Name.

9. Behold, I will make them ^h of the Syna-gogue of Satan, which cal themselves Iewes, & are not, but doe lie: behold, I say, I will make them that they shall come and worship before thy feet, and shal know that I haue loued thee.

And the house of Dauid is the Church, and the continuall promise of Dauids kingdom belongeth to Christ. 7 The propolition of praye is in this verse: of promises, to bring whom againe them that wander, verse 9, and to preferue the godly, verse 10, and of exhortation, verse 11. f I will bring them to that case. 8 That is, fall down and worship, either thee ci-uilly, or Christ religiously at thy feet (and thus I had rather take it) whether here in the Church (which seemeth more proper to the argument of this place) or there in the world to come. For Christ verily shall fulfill his word.

8 I know thy workes, that thou art neither cold nor hote, I would thou werest cold or hote.

9 Therefore, because thou art luke warme and neither cold nor hote, it wil come to passe, that I shal spue thee out of my mouth.

10 For thou sayest, I am rich and increased with goods, and haue neede of nothing, and knowest not how thou art wretched and miserable, and poore and blinde, and naked.

11 I counsell thee to buy of me gold tryed by the fire, that thou mayest be made rich: and white raiment that thou mayest be clothed, and that thy filthy nakednesse doe not appeare: and anoint thine eyes with eye salue, that thou mayest see.

12 As many as I loue, I rebuke and cha- sten: be zealous therefore and amend.

15 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saith vnto the Churches.

16 Hereafter fol- loweth the se- cond part of this booke, altogether propheticall, foretelling those things which were to come, as was said before, Chap. 1. 19. This is diuided into two histories: one common vnto the whole world, vnto the 9. Chapter: and another singulr of the Church of God, thence vnto the 22. chapter. and these histories are said to be described in several bookes, Chap. 5. 1. and 10. 2. Now this verse, is as it were a passage from the former part vnto this second: where it is sayd, that the heauen was opened, that is, that heavenly things were vnlocked, and that a voice of a trumpet sounded in heauen, to stirre vp the Apostle, and call him to the vnderstanding of things to come. The first historie hath two parts: one of the causes of things done, & of his whole Reuelation, in this and the next Chapter. Another of the Acts done in the next foure chapters. The principall causes according to the distinction of persons in the vnitie of the diuine essence, and according to the oeconomic or dispensation thereof, are two: One the beginning, which none can approach vnto, that is, God the Father, of whom is spoken in this chapter. The other, the Sonne, who is the meane cause, easie to be approached vnto, in respect that he is God and man in one person, of whom, Chap. 5.

10 Because thou hast kept the word of my patience, therefore I will deliver thee from the hour of temptation, which will come vpon all the world to trie them that dwell vpon the earth.

15 I know thy workes, that thou art neither cold nor hote, I would thou werest cold or hote.

16 Therefore, because thou art luke warme and neither cold nor hote, it wil come to passe, that I shal spue thee out of my mouth.

17 For thou sayest, I am rich and increased with goods, and haue neede of nothing, and knowest not how thou art wretched and miserable, and poore and blinde, and naked.

CHAP. III.

1 Another vision containing the glory of Gods Maiesie: 8 which is magnified of the foure beasts, 10 and the foure and twelue Elders.

After this I looked, & behold, a doore was open in heauen, and the first voice which both hath a most ready treasury, & as it were a workhouse excellently furnished with all things, vnto the executing of his will, which things flowe from his commande- ment, as is repeated, Chap. 5. 2. and hath also the Angels most ready administrators of his counsels and pleasure, vnto all parts of the world, continually watching (in this verse) working by reason otherwise then the instruments without life last mentioned, courageous as lions, mighty as bulles, wise as men, swift as eyles, verse 7. most apt vnto all purposes, as furnished with wings on euery part, most piercing of sight, and finally, pure and holy spirits alwayes in continuall motion, verse 8. Every beast had sixe wings. 8 By euents, in that for all the causes before mentioned, God is glorified both of Angels, as holy, Iudge, omnipotent, eternall, and immutable, verse 8. and also after their example he is glorified of holy men, ver. 9. in signe & in speech, ver. 10. 11. God is said to haue glory, honour, kingdome, and such like giuen vnto him, when we godly and reuerently set forth that which is properly & only his. 9 Three signes of diuine honour giuen vnto God, prostration or falling downe, adoration and calling their crownes before God: in which the godly, though made kings by Christ, doe willingly empty themselves of all glory, moued with a religious respect of the maiestie of God. 10 The summe of their speech: that all glory must be giuen vnto God: the reason, because he is the eternall beginning of all things, from whose only will they haue their being, and are gouerned: and finally in all respects are that which they are. 11 That is, that thou shouldst challenge the same to thy selfe alone. But as for vs, we are vnworthy, that euen by thy goodnesse we should be made partakers of this glorie. And hitherto hath been handled the principall cause vnapproachable, which is God.

I heard, was as it were of a trumpet talking with me, saying, Come vp hither, & I wil shew thee things which must be done hereafter.

2 And immediately I was raised: in the spirit, and behold, a throne was set in heauen, and one sate vpon the throne.

3 And hee that sate was to looke vpon, like vnto a Iasper stone, and a Sardine, and there was a rainbow round about the throne, in sight like to an emeraud.

4 And round about the throne were foure and twentie seates, and vpon the seates I saw foure and twentie Elders sitting, clothed in white raiment, and had on their heads crownes of gold.

5 And out of the throne proceeded lightnings, and thundrings, and voyces, and there were seuen lampes of fire burning before the throne, which are the seuen Spirits of God.

6 And before the throne there was a sea of glasse like vnto crySTALL: and in the midst of the throne, and round about the throne were foure beasts, full of eyes before and behind.

7 And the first beast was like a lion, and the second beast like a calfe, and the third beast had a face as a man, and the fourth beast was like a flying eagle.

8 And the foure beasts had each one of them sixe wings about him, and they were full of eyes within, and they ceased not day nor night, saying, Holy, holy, holy, Lord God almighty, Which was, and Which is, and Which is to come.

9 And when those beasts gaue glory, and honour, and thanks to him that sate on the throne which lieth for euer and euer,

10 The foure and twenty Elders fell down before him that sate on the throne, and worshipped him that lieth for euermore, and cast their crownes before the throne, saying,

11 Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receiue glory, and honour, and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy willes sake they are, and haue bene created.

both hath a most ready treasury, & as it were a workhouse excellently furnished with all things, vnto the executing of his will, which things flowe from his commande- ment, as is repeated, Chap. 5. 2. and hath also the Angels most ready administrators of his counsels and pleasure, vnto all parts of the world, continually watching (in this verse) working by reason otherwise then the instruments without life last mentioned, courageous as lions, mighty as bulles, wise as men, swift as eyles, verse 7. most apt vnto all purposes, as furnished with wings on euery part, most piercing of sight, and finally, pure and holy spirits alwayes in continuall motion, verse 8. Every beast had sixe wings. 8 By euents, in that for all the causes before mentioned, God is glorified both of Angels, as holy, Iudge, omnipotent, eternall, and immutable, verse 8. and also after their example he is glorified of holy men, ver. 9. in signe & in speech, ver. 10. 11. God is said to haue glory, honour, kingdome, and such like giuen vnto him, when we godly and reuerently set forth that which is properly & only his. 9 Three signes of diuine honour giuen vnto God, prostration or falling downe, adoration and calling their crownes before God: in which the godly, though made kings by Christ, doe willingly empty themselves of all glory, moued with a religious respect of the maiestie of God. 10 The summe of their speech: that all glory must be giuen vnto God: the reason, because he is the eternall beginning of all things, from whose only will they haue their being, and are gouerned: and finally in all respects are that which they are. 11 That is, that thou shouldst challenge the same to thy selfe alone. But as for vs, we are vnworthy, that euen by thy goodnesse we should be made partakers of this glorie. And hitherto hath been handled the principall cause vnapproachable, which is God.

CHAP. V.

1 The booke sealed with seuen seales, 3 which none could open, 6 thus Lambe of God 9 is thought worthy to open, 12 euen by the consent of all the company of heauen.

3 A description of God the Father, and of his glory in the heauen, framed vnto the manner of men by his office, nature, company, attending effect, influences, & cures that follow afterwards. In this verse he is presented in office a Iudge, as Abraham said, Gen. 18. which is declared by his throne, as an ensigne of iudgement, and his sitting thereupon.

4 By his name, in that he is the Father, most glorious in his own person, and with his glory over-shining all other things.

5 By the company attending about him, in that, as that most high Iudge, he is accompanied with the most honourable attendance of Prophets and Apostles both of the olde and new Church, whom Christ hath made to bee Priests & Kings, Chap. 1. 6. and 5. 10.

6 By effects, in that most mightily he speaketh all things by his voyce, & word, as Psal. 19. 3. and with the light of his spirit and prudence penetrateth and passeth through all.

and then arise murthers, famine, pestilence, outcries of Saints, earthquakes, and diuers strange sights in heauen.

AFTER, ²I beheld when the Lambe had opened one of the seales, and I heard one of the foure beasts say, as it were the noise of thunder, Come and see.

Therefore I beheld, and loe, there was a white horse, and he that sate on him had a bow, and a crowne was giuen vnto him, and he went forth conquering that he might overcome.

seale, I heard the second beaſt ſay, Come & ſee.

they should kill one another, and there was giuen vnto him a great sword.

second signe ioyned with wordes of declaration (after the expresse is before) is, that God being prouoked vnto wrath by the obduracy ednesse of the world, not repenting for the former plague: as fertin that hand, will kindle the fire of debate amongst men, and will destroy of this world, one by the sword of another. 4 The third signe wit that God will destroy the world with famine, withdrawing all pro duce from the face of the sunne, she comprehended in wheate, barley, wine, and by the figure Synecdoche comprehended in wheate, barley, wine, and oyle is signified what great scarcity of corne there was, for the word here significeth a famine of dry things, which is in quantitie but the eight part of a bushel, sufficient to give unto servants for their part of meat for one day. 5 I Th

6 The fourth signe ioyned with words of declaration is, that God will addit the fourth part of the world indifferently vnto death and hell, or the graue, by all those means at once, by which before severally and in order he had recalled their minds vnto a remembrance. Vnto these are also added the wilds and cruel bests of the earth, out of Leuit. 26. 35. Thus doth God according to his wisdom, dispense the treasures of his power, iustly towards all, mercifully towards the good, and with patience or long suffering towards his enemies.

7 The fifth signe is, that the holy Martyrs which are vnder the altar, whereby they are sanctified, that is, received into the trust and tuition of Christ (into whose hands they are committed) shall cry out for the iustice of God, in an holy zeale to advance his kingdome, and not of any private perturbation of the mind, in this and the next verse, and that God will in deed, signe, and word comfort them, ver. 18.

8 As before

3-4.

6 Vntill their number be fulfilled.

9 The first signe, the narration whereof hath two parts: the signe, and the event. The signe is, that the earth, heauen, and the things that are in them, for horror of the finnes of the world vpon those most heauie foretellings of God, and complaints of the Saints shall bee shaken most vehemently, trembling in horrible manner, and losing their light, in this verse: falling from on high, ver. 13. withdrawing themselves, and flying away for the greatnesse of the trouble, ver. 14. So holily do all creatures depend vpon the wil of God, and content themselves in his glory. c. So they called in old time those women weomen that were of haire.

10 The event of the signe afore going: that there is no man that shall not be astonished at that generall commotion, flee away for feare and hide himselfe, in this verse, and with vnto himselfe most bitter death, for exceeding horror of the wrath of God, and of the Lambe, at which before he was astonished. Now this perplexities is not of the godly but of the wicked, whose portion is in this life, as the Psalmist speaketh, Psal.

17. 14. Not that sorrow which is according vnto God, which worketh repentance vnto saluation, whereof a man shall neuer repent him, but that worldly sorrow that bringeth death, 1. Cor. 7. 9. as their wishings do declare: for this history of the whole world, is seuered from the history of the Church, as I haue shewed before, Chap. 4. 1.

11 These are words of such as despaire of their escape: of which despaire there are two arguments, the presence of God, and the Lambe provoked to wrath against the world, in this verse: and the confidence of their owne weakenesse, whereby men feeble, that they are no way able to stand in the day of the wrath of God, Ver. 17. as it is said, Esay 14. 27. *Esay 2. 9. hofe. 10. 8. luke 23. 30.

7 And when hee had opened the fourth

seale, I heard the voyce of the fourth beast say,

Come and see,

8 And I looked, and behold, a pale horse, and his name that sate on him was Death;

and Hell followed after him, and power was giuen vnto them ouer the fourth part of the earth, to kill with sword, and with hunger, and with death, and with the beasts of the earth.

I saw vnder the altar the soules of them that were killed for the word of God, and for the testimonie which they maintained.

ing, How long, Lord, which art holy and true!

and the Sunne was as blacke as sackcloth of earth, as a figge tree casteth her greene figges, when it is shaken of a mighty wind.

when it is rolled, and euery mountaine and yle were moued out of their places.

great men, and the rich men, and the chiefe captaines, and the mighty men, & euery bond-man, & euery free man, hid themselves in dens, and among the rocks of the mountaines,

16 And said to the mountaines and rockes,

11 * Fall on vs, and hide vs from the presence of him that sitteth on the throne, and from the

And after that, I saw foure Angels stand on the foure corners of the earth, holding the foure windes of the earth, that the windes should not blow on the earth, neither on the sea, neither on any tree.

And I sawe another Angel come vp from the East, which had the seale of the liuing

God, and hee cryed with a loude voice to the foure Angels to whom power was giuen to hurt the earth, and the sea, saying,

Hurt yee not the earth, neither the sea,

neither the trees; till we haue sealed the ser-uants of God in their foreheads.

And I heard the number of them, which were sealed, and there were sealed an hundred of the children of Israel.

great multitude, which no man could number, of all nations, and kinreds, and people, and tongues stood before the throne, and before the Lambe, clothed with long white robes, and palmes in their hands.

And they cryed with a loude voice, saying, Saluation cometh of our God, that sitteth vpon the throne, and of the Lambe.

the throne, and about the Elders, and the foure beasts, and they fell before the throne on their faces, and worshipped God,

1 The second member of this part, is a preventing of danger, as we distinguished the same before, chap. 6. 1. 3 is, of the caution whereby God took care before hand and provided for his, that after the example of the Israelites of old, Exod. 8. 23. the faithful might be exempted from the plague of this wicked world. This whole place is a certaine inter-locution and bringing in for this whole chapter by occasion of the prediction and argument of the fixt seale. For first that euil is prevented in the elect, vnto the 9. verse. Then thanks are given by the elect for that cause verse 10. 11. 12. Lastly, the accomplishment of the thing is set forth vnto the end of the Chapter. The first verse is a transition, speaking of the Angels, which keepe the inferior parts from all euil, vntill God do command. For (as it is excellently figured by Ezk. chap. 11. 12) their faces and their wings are reached vpwards, continually waiting vpon and beholding the countenance of God for their direction, and euery of them goeth into that part that is right before his face: whither sooner the spirit shall goe, they goe, they step not out of the way, that is,

12 Saying, Amen, Praise, and glory, & wisdom, and thanks, and honour, and power, and might, be vnto our God for euermore, Amen.

13 And one of the Elders spake, saying vnto mee, What are these which are arrayed in long white robes? and whence came they?

14 And I said vnto him, Lord, thou knowest. And he said vnto me, These are they, which came out of great tribulation, and haue washed their long robes, and haue made their long robes white in the blood of the Lambe.

15 Therefore are they in the presence of the throne of God, and serue him day and night in his Temple: and he that sitteth on the throne will dwell among them.

16 They shall hunger no more, neither thirst any more; neither shall the sunne light on them, neither any heat.

17 For the lambe which is in the mids of the throne shall governe them, & shall leade them vnto the luyke fountaines of waters, and God shall wipe away all teares from their eyes.

CHAP. VIII.

1 After the opening of the seventh scale, 3 the Saints pray-ers are offered vp with odours. 6 The seven Angels come forth with trumpets. 7 The first blow, and fire falleth on the earth. 8 the sea is turned into blood. 10. 11 the waters waxe bitter, 12. and the starres are darkened

And when hee had opened the seventh scale, there was silence in heauen aboue halfe an houre.

2 And I sawe the seven Angels, which stood before God, and to them were, giuen seven trumpets.

3 Then another Angel came and stood before the altar, hauing a golden censer, and much odours was giuen vnto him, that hee should offer with the prayers of al Saints vpon the golden altar, which is before the throne.

He returneth to the history of the scales of the bookes, which the Lambe opened. The seventh scale is the next fore-signification, and a precise commandment of the execution of the most heauie iudgements of God vpon this wicked world, which fore-signification being understood by the scale, all things in heauen are silent, and in horror through admiration, vntill commandment of execution be severally giuen of God vnto the ministers of his wrath. So hee passeth vnto the third member of which I spake before in Chap. 6. verse 1. which is of the execution of those evils wherewith God most iustly determined to afflict the world. 2 Now followeth the third branch of the common history, as euen now I said: which is the execution of the iudgements of God vpon the world. This is first generally prepared vnto the 6. verse: then by several parts expounded according to the order of those that administred the same, vnto the end of the Chapter following. Vnto the preparation of this execution, are declared these things: first who were the administrators and instruments thereof in this verse. Secondly what is the worke both of the Prince of Angels, giuing order for this execution, thence vnto the 5. verse, and of his administrators in the 6. verse. The administrators of the execution are said to be seven Angels: their instruments, trumpets, whereby they should as it were sound the alarm at the commandment of God. They are propounded seven in number, because it pleased God not at once to powre out his wrath vpon the rebellious world, but at diuers times, and by piecemeale, and in flow order, and as with an unwilling minde to exercise his iudgements vpon his creatures, so long called vpon both by word and signes, if happily they had learned to repent. A which appeared before him as his ministers. 3 This is that great Emperour the Lord Iesus Christ, our King and Saviour, who both maketh intercession to God the Father for the Saints, filling the heauenly sanctuary with most sweet odour, and offering vp their prayers, as the calues and burnt sacrifices of their lips, in this verse: in such sort as euery one of them (so powerfull is that sweet saour of Christ, and the efficacy of his sacrifice) are helde in reconciliation with God and themselves, made most acceptable vnto him, verse 4. And then also out of his treasure, and from the same sanctuary powerth forth vpon the world the fire of his wrath, adding also diuine tokens thereunto: and by that means (as of olde the heralds of Rome were wont to doe) he proclaimeth warre against the rebellious world,

4 And the smoke of the odours with the prayers of the Saints, went vp before God, out of the Angels hand.

5 And the Angel tooke the censer, and filled it with fire of the altar, and cast it into the earth, and there were voyces, and thunderings, and lightnings, and earthquakes.

6 Then the seven Angels, which had the seven trumpets, prepared themselves to blow the trumpets.

7 So the first Angel blew the trumpet, and there was haile and fire, mingled with blood; and they were cast into the earth, and the third part of trees was burnt, and all greene graffe was burnt.

8 And the second Angel blew the trumpet, and as it were a great mountaine, burning with fire, was cast into the sea, and the third part of the sea became blood.

9 And the third part of the creatures, which were in the sea, and had life, died, and the third part of ships were destroyed.

10 Then the third Angel blew his trumpet, and there fell a great starre from heauen, burning like a torch, and it fell into the third part of the riuers, and into the fountaines of waters.

11 And the name of the starre is called wormewood: therefore the third part of the waters became wormewood, & many men died of the waters, because they were made bitter.

12 And the fourth Angel blew the trumpet, and the third part of the sunne was smitten, and the third part of the moone, and the third part of the starres, so that the third part of them was darkened: and the day was smitten, that the third part of it could not shine, and likewise the night.

13 And I beheld, and heard one Angel flying thorow the middes of heauen, saying with a loud voice, Woe, woe, woe to the inhabitants of the earth, because of the sounds to come of the trumpet of the three Angels, which were yet to blow the trumpets.

The second execution vpon the sea, in this verse, and all things that are therein, in the next verse. 7 The third execution vpon the floods and fountaines, that is, vpon all fresh waters, in this verse: the effect whereof is, that many are destroyed with the bitterness of waters, in the verse following. 8 This is spoken by a Metaphore, of the name of a most bitter herbe, and commonly known: vntill perhaps a man following those that note the deriuation of words had rather expound it adiectively, for that which by reason of bitterness cannot be drunke, or which maketh the liquor into which it is powred, more bitter, then that any man can drinke the same. 9 The fourth execution vpon these lightsome bodies of heauen, which minister vnto this inferior world. 10 A lamentable prediction or foretelling of those parts of the diuine execution which yet are behinde: which also is a passage vnto the argument of the next Chapter. Of all these things in a manner Christ himselfe expressly foretold in the 21. Chapter of S. Luke, Verse 24. &c. and they are common plagues generally denounced, without particular note of time.

CHAP. IX.

1 The first Angel bloweth his trumpet, 3 and spoiling locusts come out. 13 The sixth Angel bloweth, 16 and bringeth forth horsemen, 20 to destroy mankind.

And the first Angel blew the trumpet, and I saw a starre fall from heauen vnto the

(as a little before 5 Angel said) wrought by the infernal powers is declared in this place vnto ver. 11, and after the sixth execution thence vnto ver. 19. And lastly is shewed the common euent that followed the former execution in the world, in the two last verses. 2 That is, the Angel of God glittering with glory, as a star fell down from heauen. Whether thou take him for Christ, who hath the keyes of hel of himselfe, & by princely authority, Chap. 1. ver. 18. or whether for some inferior Angel, who hath the same key permitted vnto him, and occupieth it ministerially, or by office of his ministry, here and Chap. 21. for the word falling is taken, Gen. 14. 10. and 24. 46. and 1. Dddd 2 earth,

One prayer of the Saints, which is offered up before God, out of the Angels hand. 5 And the Angel tooke the censer, and filled it with fire of the altar, and cast it into the earth, and there were voyces, and thunderings, and lightnings, and earthquakes. 6 Then the seven Angels, which had the seven trumpets, prepared themselves to blow the trumpets. 7 So the first Angel blew the trumpet, and there was haile and fire, mingled with blood; and they were cast into the earth, and the third part of trees was burnt, and all greene graffe was burnt. 8 And the second Angel blew the trumpet, and as it were a great mountaine, burning with fire, was cast into the sea, and the third part of the sea became blood. 9 And the third part of the creatures, which were in the sea, and had life, died, and the third part of ships were destroyed. 10 Then the third Angel blew his trumpet, and there fell a great starre from heauen, burning like a torch, and it fell into the third part of the riuers, and into the fountaines of waters. 11 And the name of the starre is called wormewood: therefore the third part of the waters became wormewood, & many men died of the waters, because they were made bitter. 12 And the fourth Angel blew the trumpet, and the third part of the sunne was smitten, and the third part of the moone, and the third part of the starres, so that the third part of them was darkened: and the day was smitten, that the third part of it could not shine, and likewise the night. 13 And I beheld, and heard one Angel flying thorow the middes of heauen, saying with a loud voice, Woe, woe, woe to the inhabitants of the earth, because of the sounds to come of the trumpet of the three Angels, which were yet to blow the trumpets. The second execution vpon the sea, in this verse, and all things that are therein, in the next verse. 7 The third execution vpon the floods and fountaines, that is, vpon all fresh waters, in this verse: the effect whereof is, that many are destroyed with the bitterness of waters, in the verse following. 8 This is spoken by a Metaphore, of the name of a most bitter herbe, and commonly known: vntill perhaps a man following those that note the deriuation of words had rather expound it adiectively, for that which by reason of bitterness cannot be drunke, or which maketh the liquor into which it is powred, more bitter, then that any man can drinke the same. 9 The fourth execution vpon these lightsome bodies of heauen, which minister vnto this inferior world. 10 A lamentable prediction or foretelling of those parts of the diuine execution which yet are behinde: which also is a passage vnto the argument of the next Chapter. Of all these things in a manner Christ himselfe expressly foretold in the 21. Chapter of S. Luke, Verse 24. &c. and they are common plagues generally denounced, without particular note of time.

3 The key was given to him. For those powers of wisdom and knowledge, and the chains of darkness, and the keys of the kingdom of God, are given to him. Iude 6 and of this book, Chap. 21. 20. the history of which Chapter hath agreement of the spirit with this present Chapter. A By the manner of the key, the key of the kingdom of God, is added, the keys of the hellish and infernal spirits, all dark, and darkening all things in heaven and in earth. The spiritual darkness is the cause of all disorder and confusion: For the devil at a certain time (whereof ver. 5.) sent these darknesses into his kingdom, that he might at once, and with one impression overthrow all things: & permit it if it were possible, hee led themselves. By this darkness, all spiritual light both of the living, and of the living, and of the living, is lightened by the sunne, is taken away: and this is that which goes before the spirits: it follows the spirits themselves. 5 A description of the malignant spirits invading the world, taken from their nature, power, forme, & order. From their nature, for that they are like unto certain locusts, in quickness, subtilty, hurtfulness, number, and such like, in this verse. From their power, for that they are as the scorpions of the earth, of a secret force to do hurt: for our battle is not here with flesh and blood, but with powers, &c. Ephes. 6. 12. This place of the power of the devils, generally noted in this verse, is particularly declared afterwards in the three next verses. 6 Here that power of the devils is particularly described according to their actions and the effects of the same. Their actions are said to be bounded by the counsell of God: both because they hurt not all men, but only the reprobate (for the godly & elect in whom there is any part of a better life, God guardeth by his decrees) whom Christ shall have sealed, in this verse: and also because they had neither all power nor at all time, no not over those that are their owne, but limited in manner and time: by the precept of God, ver. 5. so their power to afflict the godly is none, and for the wicked is limited in act and in effect: by the will of God: for the manner was prescribed unto them that they should not slay, but torment the wretched world. The time is for five months, or for an hundred and fifty dayes, that is, for so many yeres, in which the devils have in deed mightily persecuted all things in the world: and yet without that publike and unpunished licence of killing, which afterwards they usurped when the sixth Angel had blown his trumpet, as shall be said upon ver. 17. Now this space is to be accounted from the end of that thousand yeres mentioned Chap. 20. 3. and that is from the Popedom of that Gregory the 7. a most monstrous Necromancer, who before was called Hildebrandus Senensis: for this man being made altogether of impiety and wickedness, as a slave of the devil, whom he served, was the most wicked firebrand of the world: he excommunicated the Emperor Henry the fourth: went about by all manner of treachery to set up and put downe Empires and kingdoms as liked himself: and doubted not to set Rodolph the Swedon over the Empire in stead of Henry before named, sending unto him a crowne, with this verse annexed unto it: Petra dedit Petro, Petrus dedit Rodolpho: that is, The Rocke to Peter gave the Crowne, and Peter Rodolph doth renounce. Finally, he so finely bestrid himself in his affaires, as he miserably set all Christendome on fire, & conveyed over unto his successors the burning brand of the same: who entangled with like ambition, never ceased to nourish that flame, and to enkindle it more and more: whereby cities, Common weales, and whole kingdoms set together by the eares amongst themselves by most expert cut-throats, came to ruine, while they miserably wounded one another. This tume of an hundred and fifty yeres, taketh end in the time of Gregory the 9. or Hugolinus Anagninensis (as he was before called) who caused to be compiled by one Ramund his Chapleine & confessor, the body of Decretals, and by sufferance of the Kings and Princes, to be published in the Christian world, and established for a law: For by this sleight at length the Popes arrogated unto themselves licence to kill whom they would, while others were unware: and without feare established a butchery out of many of the wicked Canons of the Decretals, which the trumpet of the fifth Angel had expressly forbidden, and had hindered until this time. The effects of these bloody actions are declared upon the sixth verse: that the miserable world languishing in so great calamities, should willingly run together unto death, and preferre the same before life, by reason of the grievousness of the miseries that oppressed them. * Chap. 6. 16. (a. 2.) 19. hof. 10. 8. 7 The forme of these hellish spirits and administrators, is shadowed out by signes and visible figures in this sort: that they are very expert and swift: that whereoeuer they are in the world, the kingdom is theirs: that they manage all their affaires with cunning and skill: in this verse: that making shew of mildnesse & tender affection to draw on men withall, they most impudently rage in all mischief: that they are most mighty to doe hurt, ver. 8. that they are freed from being hurt of any man, as armed with the colour of religion and sacred authority of priuiledge: that they fill all things with horror, ver. 9. that they are fraudulent: that they are venomous and extremely noyfull, though their power be limited, ver. 10. All which things are properly in the infernal powers, and communicated by them unto their ministers and vassals.

earth, and to him was given, the key of the bottomlesse pit.

2 And he opened the bottomlesse pit, and there arose the smoke of the pit, as the smoke of a great furnace, and the sunne, and the ayre were darkened by the smoke of the pit.

3 And there came out of the smoke locusts upon the earth, and unto them was given power, as the scorpions of the earth have power.

4 And it was commanded them, that they should not hurt the grasse of the earth, neither any greene thing, neither any tree: but onely those men which have not the seale of God in their foreheads.

5 And to them was commanded that they should not kill them, but that they should be vexed five moneths: & that their paine should bee as the paine that cometh of a scorpion, when he hath stung a man.

6 Therefore in those dayes shall men seeke death, and shall not finde it, and shall desire to die, and death shall flee from them.

7 And the forme of the locusts was like unto horses prepared unto battell, and on their heads were as it were crownes like unto gold.

8 And they had haire as the haire of women, and their teeth were as the teeth of lions.

9 And they had habergeons like unto habergeons of men, and the sound of their wings was like the sound of charres when many horses runne unto battell.

10 And they had tails like unto scorpions, and there were stinges in their tails, and their power was to hurt five moneths.

11 And they have a king over them, which is the Angel of the bottomlesse pit, whose name in Hebrew is Abaddon, and in Greeke he is named Apollyon, that is, destroying.

12 One was a part, and behold, yet two voes come after this.

13 Then the sixth Angel blew the trumpet, & I heard a voice from the foure hornes of the golden altar, which is before God,

14 Saying to the sixth Angel, which had the trumpet, Loose the foure Angels, which are bound in the great river Euphrates.

15 And the foure Angels were loosed, which were prepared at an hour, a day, a moneth, and at a yeere to slay the third part of men.

16 And the number of horsemen of warre were twentie thousand times ten thousand: for for I heard the number of them.

17 And thus I saw the horses in a vision, and them that sat on them, having fiery habergeons and of lacinth, and of brimstone, and the heads of the horses were as the heads of lions: and out of their mouthes went forth fire, and smoke, and brimstone.

18 Of these three was the third part of men killed, that is, of the fire, and of the smoke, and of the brimstone, which came out of their mouthes.

19 For their power is in their mouthes, and which before was not lawfull for them to do in that sort, as I shewed upon the fourth verse. This narration hath two parts: a commandment from God, in the 14. verse, and an execution of the commandment, in the verse following. 11 The Commandment given by Christ himselfe, who is gouernour over all. He alueth to the altar of incense, which stood in the Court which the Priests were, after against the Ark of the Covenant, having a table between them. 12 As if he should haue said, these hitherto haue bin so bound by power of God, that they could not freely run vpon all men as themselves lust, but were stayed and restrained at that great flood of Euphrates, that is, in their spirituall Babylon (or this is a Periphrasis of the spirituall Babylon, by the limites of the visible Babylon long since ouerthrowne) that they might not commit those horrible slaughters, which they long breathed after. Now goe to, let loose the foure Angels, that is, administrators of the wrath of God, in that number that is convenient to the slaughtering of the foure quarters of the world: stirre them vp & giue them the bridle, that rushing out of that Babylon of theirs, which is the seat of the wicked ones, they may flie vpon all the world: therein to rage, and most licentiously to practise their tyrannie, as God hath ordained. This was done when Gregorie the ninth by publike authoritie established for Lawe, his owne Decretals, by which he might freely lay traines for the life of simple men. For who is it that teeth not that the Lawes Decree all most of them are snares to catch soules withall? Since that time (O good God) how great slaughters haue there bene? how great massacres? All histories are full of them, and this our age aboundeth with most horrible and monstrous examples of the same. 13 The execution of the commandment is in two points: one, that those butchers are let loose, that out of their tower of spirituall Babylon they might with furie runne abroad through all the world, as well the chiefe of that crew which are most prompt vnto all assaies, in this verse, as their multitudes both most copious, of which number certain is named for a number infinite, ver. 16. and in themselves with fire, smoke and brimstone, as appeareth in the colour of this armour, which dazzleth the eyes of all men, and haue the length of Lyons to hurt withal, from which (as out of their mouth) the fire, smoke, and stinking darts of the Pope are shot out ver. 18. The other points, that these butchers haue effected the Commandment of God by fraud and violence, in the two verses following.

Another Angel appeareth. Chap. x. xj. The booke eaten. 129

14 That is, they in their tales: 14 for their tales were like vnto serpents, and had heads wherewith they hurt. 20 And the remnant of the men which were not killed by the plagues, repented not of the workes of their hands that they should not worship deuils, and idols of golde, and of silver, and of brasse, and of stone, and of wood, which neither can see, neither heare, nor goe. 21 Also they repented not of their murder, and of their forcerie, neither of their fornication, nor of their theft.

Now S. Iohn passeth vnto the other Propheticall historie, which is of the Church of God, as I shewed that this booke should be distinguished, Chapter 4. 1 This storie reacheth hence vnto the two and twentieth Chapter. And this whole Chapter is but a transi- tion from the common history of the world vnto that which is particular of the Church. There are in this transi- tion or passage, two preparatiues as it were, vnto this Chapter. The first is the authoritie of Christ revealing his mysteries and calling his seruants, vnto the seventh verse. The other is S. Iohn his calling, proper vnto this place, and repeated from before vnto the end of this Chapter. Authoritie is giuen vnto this Reuelation, by these things: first, by the appearing from heauen in this habite and countenance, strong, ready, glorious, surueyng all things by his prouidence, & governing them by his omnipotence, verse 1. Secondly, that he brought not by chance, but out of a booke, this open Reuelation, let forth vnto the eye, to signifie the same vnto the sea, and land, as the Lord ouer all, verse 2. Thirdly, that he offered the same not whispering or muttering in a corner (as false Prophets do) but crying out with a loud voice vnto them which sleepe, and with a lionish and terrible noise roused vp the secure: the very thunders themselves giuing testimony thereunto, verse 3. Lastly, for that he confirmed all by an othe verse 5, 6, 7. 2 Christ Iesus, see Chapter 7 verse 2. Namely, a speciall booke of the affaires of Gods Church: For the booke that containeth things belonging vnto the whole world, is sayd to be kept with the Creator, Chapter 5. verse 1. but the booke of the Church, with the Redeemer: and out of this booke is taken the rest of the history of this Apocalyps. 4 A godly care is laudable, but must be ioynd with knowledge. Therefore nothing is to be taken in hand but by calling, which must be expected and waited for of the godly. a Kepe them close. b This was a gesture used of one that sweareth, which men doe now a dayes use. c Neither time it selfe, nor the things that are in time: but that the world to come is at hand, which is altogether of eternitie, and beyond all times. d There shall be no more time. 6 Whereof Chap. 11. 5. and 16. 17.

CHAP. X.

Another Angel appeareth clothed with a cloud, 2 holding a booke open. 3 & cryeth out: 8 A voice from heauen commandeth Iohn to take the booke. 10 Hee eateth it.

And I saw another mightie Angel come down from heauen, clothed with a cloud, and the raine bowen vpon his head, and his face was as the sunne, and his feete as pillars of fire, 2 And hee had in his hand a little booke open, and hee put his right foot vpon the sea, and his left on the earth,

3 And cryed with a loud voice, as when a lion roareth: and when hee had cryed, seuen thunders uttered their voices.

4 And when the seuen thunders had uttered their voices, I was about to write: but I heard a voice from heauen, saying vnto mee; 5 Seale vp those things which the seuen thunders haue spoken, and write them not.

6 And the Angel which I saw stand vpon the sea, and vpon the earth, 7 lift vp his hand to heauen.

8 And sware by him that liueth for evermore, which created heauen, and the things that therein are, and the earth, and the things that therein are, and the sea, & the things that therein are, 9 that time should be no more.

10 But in the dayes of the voices of the seuen Angel, when hee shall begin to blow the trumpet, euen the mystrie of God shal be finished, as he hath declared to his seruants the Prophets.

11 And the voice which I heard from heauen, spake vnto me againe, and said, Goe, and take the little booke which is open in the hand of the Angel, which standeth vpon the sea, and vpon the earth,

12 So I went vnto the Angel, and said vnto him, Giue me the little booke. And he said vnto me, Take it, and eate it vp, and it shall make thy belly bitter, but it shall be in thy mouth as sweet as hony.

13 Then I tooke the little booke out of the Angels hand, and ate it vp, and it was in my mouth as sweet as hony: but when I had eaten it, my belly was bitter,

14 And he said vnto me, Thou must prophesie againe among the people and nations, and tongues, and to many Kings.

charged to take it in a figuratiue manner, the vfe whereof is expounded verse the ninth, (as in the second Chapter of Eszechiel, and the ninth verse) wherewith this similitude is borrowed: lastly, for that S. Iohn at the commandement of Christ tooke the booke, and found by experience that the same, as proceeding from Christ, was most sweete, but in that it foretelleth the afflictions of the Church, it was most bitter vnto his spirit. 8 A simple and plaine declaration of the signe before going, witnessing the diuine calling of S. Iohn, and laying vpon him the necessitie thereof.

CHAP. XI.

1 The Temple is commanded to bee measured. 3 The Lord stirreth vp two witnesses, 7 whom the beast murdereth, 9 and no man burieth them. 11 God raiseth them to lifes, 12 and calleth them vp to heauen. 13 The wicked are terrified 15 by the trumpet of the seuen Angel: There resurrection, 18 and iudgement is described.

Then I was giuen mee a reede like vnto a rod, and the Angel stood by, saying, Rise and mete the Temple of God, and the cessitie of that calling which was particularly imposed vpon S. Iohn, hereafter followeth the history of the estate of Christ his Church, both confiding or warfaring, and ouercomming in Christ. For both the true Church of Christ is sayd to fight against that which is false so called, ouer the which Antichrist ruleth, Christ Iesus ouerthrowing Antichrist by the spirit of his mouth: and Christ is said to ouer come most gloriously vntill he shall slay Antichrist by the appearance of his coming, as the Apostle excellently teacheth, 2. Thef. 2. 8. So this history hath two parts: One of the state of the Church confiding with temptations, vnto the 16. Chap. the other of the state of the same Church obtaining victory, thence vnto the 20. Chapter. The first part hath two members most conveniently distributed into their times, wherof the first containeth an history of the Christian Church for 1260. yeeres, what time the Gospel of Christ was as it were taken vp from among men into heauen: the second containeth an history of the same Church vnto the victory perfected. And these two members are briefly, though distinctly, propounded in this Chapter, but are both of them more at large discouered after in due order. For we vnderstand the state of the Church confiding, out of Chapters 12. and 13. and of the same growing out of afflictions, out of the 14. 15. and 16. Chapters. Neither did S. Iohn at vnwares ioyne together the history of these two times in this Chapter, because here is spoken of prophecie, which all confesse to be but one iust and immutable in the Church, and which Christ commanded to be continuall. The history of the former time reacheth vnto the 14. verse: the latter is set downe in the rest of this Chapter. In the former are shewed these things: the calling of the seruants of God in 4. verses: the conflicts which the faithfull must vndergoe in their calling for Christ and his Church, thence vnto the 10. verse, and their resurrection and receiuing vp into heauen, vnto the fourteenth verse. In the calling of the seruants of God are mentioned two things: the begetting and setting of the Church in two verses, and the education thereof in two verses. The begetting of the Church is here commended vnto S. Iohn by signe, and by speech: the signe is a measuring rod, and the speech a commandement to measure the Temple of God, that is, to reduce the same vnto a new forme: because the Gentiles are already entered into the Temple of Ierusalem, and shall shortly defile and ouerthrowe the same utterly. 2 Either that of Ierusalem, which was a figure of the Church of Christ, or that heauenly exemplar, wherof verse 1. but the first liketh me better, and the things following doe all agree thereunto. The sense therefore is, Thou test all things in Gods house, almost from the passion of Christ, to be disordered: and that not only the city of Ierusalem, but also the court of the Temple is trampled vnder foote of the nations, and of prophane men whether Iewes or strangers: and that only the Temple, that is, the body of the Temple, with the altar, and a small company of good men which truly worship God, doe now remaine, whom God doth sanctifie and confirme by his presence. Measure therefore this, euen this true Church, or rather the true type of the true Church, omitting the rest, and so describe all things from mee, that the true Church of Christ may be as it were a very little center, and the Church of Antichrist as the circle of the center, euery way in length and breadth compassing about the same, that by way of prophecie thou mayest so declare openly that the flate of the Temple of God, and the faithfull which worship him, that is, of the Church, is much more streight then the Church of Antichrist.

Dddd 3 altar,

7 The other part of this chap. concerning the particular calling of S. Iohn to the receiving of the prophecie following, which is enioyned him, first by signe, in three verses, then in plaine words in the last verse. Vnto the fasting fourth of the signe, belong these things: That S. Iohn is taught from heauen to demand the booke of the prophecie in this verse: for these motions and desires God doeth inspire, that demanding the booke, he is

3 As if hee should say, it belongeth nothing vnto thee, to iudge them which are without, 1. Corin. 5. 12. which be intemperate, lookes vnto those of the household only, or vnto the house of the living God. 4. His speech of the emperours, which was called the popes court, because all men might come into that. 5. That is, to be cast into, which is inuoluing in profane. 6. To profane persons, wicked and vniuile, were aduanced into the Church. 7. Or a thousand two hundred and threescore yeeres, as is sayd in the next verse: that is, a thousand two hundred and threescore yeeres, a day for a yeere, as often in Ezechiel and Daniel, which thing I noted before 2. 10.

akar, and them that worship therein. 2 But the court which is without the Temple, cast out, and mete it not: for it is giuen vnto the Gentiles, and the holy Citie shall they tread vnder foote, two and fourtie moneths. 3 But I will giue power vnto my two witnesses, and they shall prophesie a thousand two hundredth and threescore dayes, clothed in sackcloth. 4 These are two olive trees, and two candlestickes, standing before the God of the earth. 5 And if any man will hurt them, fire proceedeth out of their mouthes, and deuoureth their enemies: for if any man will hurt them, thus must he be killed. 6 These haue power to shut heauen, that it raine not in the dayes of their prophesying, and haue power ouer waters to turne them into blood; to smite the earth with all manner plagues as often as they will. 7 And when they haue finished their testimony, the beast that cometh out of the bottomlesse pit, shall make warre against them, and shall overcome them, and kill them.

8. *The beginning of these thousand two hundredth and threescore yeeres, wee account from the passion of Christ, whereby (the partition wall being broken downe) wee were made of two, one, Ephes. 2. 14. I say, one flocke, vnder one shepheard, Iohn 10. 16. and the ende of these yeeres precisely falleth into the Popedome of Boniface the eight, who a litle before the ende of the yeere of Christ, a thousand two hundredth and threescore, entered the Popedome of Rome, in the feast of Saint Lucie (as Bergomensis sayeth) hauing put in prison his predecessor Celestinus, whom by fraud, vnder colour of Oracle hee deceiued: for which cause that was well sayd of him, Intrauit in vulpes, regnauit ut leo, mortuus est ut canis. That is, Hee entered like a foxe, reigned like a lyon, and died like a dogge. For if from a thousand two hundredth and threescore yeeres, thou shalt take the age of Christ, which hee liued on the earth, thou shalt finde there remaineth iust one thousand two hundredth and threescore yeeres, which are mentioned in this place and many others. 9. I had rather translate it shall then shall, the Temple then the Citie: for God sayth, I will giue that Temple, and commit it vnto my two witnesses, that is, vnto the ministers of the word, who are fewe in deede, weak and contemptible: but yet two, that is, such a number as one of them may helpe another, and one confirme the testimony of another vnto all men, that from the mouth of two or three witnesses euery word may be made good amongst men, 2. Corin. 13. 1. 7 They shall exercise their office enioyned by mee, by the space of thre thousand two hundred and sixtie yeeres, in the midst of afflictions though neuer so lamentable, which is figuratiuely shewed by the mourning garment. 8 That is, the ordinary and perpetuall instruments of spirituall grace, peace, and light in my Church, which God by his onely power preferred in this Temple. So Zacharie 4. 3. 9 The power and efficacy of the holy ministry, and which is truly euangelicall, is declared both in earth and in heauen, protecting the administrators thereof, and destroying the enemies, in this verse, vnto indeede diuine, most mightily shewing it selfe forth in heauen, earth and the sea, Verse 6. a sit is described, 2. Corin. 10. 4. according to the promise of Christ, Marke .6. 17. And this is the second place (as I sayd before) of the combates which the seruants of God must needs vndergoe in the executing of their calling, and of the things that follow the same combats. In the combats or conflicts are these things, to overcome, in these two verses: to bee ouercome and killed, Verse 7. After the slaughter, follow these things, that the carkeises of the godly are layde abroad, Verse 8. being vnburiel, are made a matter of scorn, together of cursing and bitter execrations, Verse 9. and that therefore gratulations are publickly and priuately made, Verse 10. 10 That is, when they haue spent those thousand two hundred and sixtie yeeres, mentioned Verse 3. at d. 1. in publishing their testimony according to their office. 11 When they haue done their message. 12 Of which, after Chap. 13. etc. That beast is the Romane Empire, made long agoe of ciuill, Ecclesiasticall: the chiefe head whereof was then Boniface the eight, as I sayd before: who lifted vp himselfe in so great arrogancie, (sayth the authour of Fasciculus temporum) that hee called himselfe, Lord of the whole world, as well in temporall causes, as in spirituall: There is an extant of that matter, written by the same Boniface most arrogantly, shall I say, or most wickedly, Ca. Pham sanctam, extra de maiestate & obedientia. And in the sixt of the Secretals (which is from the same authour) many things are found of the same argument. 13 Hee shall persecute most cruelly the holy men, and put them to death, and shall wound and pierce through with cursings, both their names and writings. And that this was done to very many godly men, by Boniface and others, the histories doe declare, especially since the time that the odious and condemned name amongst the multitude, first of the brethren Waldenses or Ligidenses, then also of the Fratricels, was pretended, that good men might with more approbation be massacred,*

13 And their corpses shall lie in the streets of the great citie, which is spiritually called Sodom, and Egypt, where our Lord also was crucified. 14 And they of the people and kinreds, and tongues, and Gentiles shall see their corpses three dayes and an halfe, and shall not suffer their carkeises to be buried in graves. 15 And they that dwell vpon the earth, shall reioyce ouer them and be glad, and shall send gifts one to another: for these two Prophets vexed them that dwell on the earth. 16 But after three dayes and an halfe, the spirit of life comming from God, shall enter into them, and they shall stand vp vpon their feete: and great feare shall come vpon them which saw them. 17 And they shall heare a great voice from heauen, saying vnto them, Come vp hither. And they shall ascend vp to heauen in a cloud, and their enemies shall see them. 18 And the same houre shall there be a great earthquake, and the tenth part of the citie shall fall, and in the earthquake shall be slaine in number seven thousand: and the remnant were sore feared, & gaue glory to the God of heauen. 19 The second woe is past, and behold, the third woe will come anon.

20. *Now that wee should vnderstand the things of Rome, S. Iohn himselfe is the authour, both at the 17. chapter almost throughout, and also in the circumscription now next following, when he sayth, it is that great Citie (as Chap. 17. 18. he calleth it) and is spiritually reamed Sodom and Egypt: and that spiritually (for that must here againe be repeated from before) Christ was there crucified. For the two first appellations signify spirituall wickedness: the latter signifieth the shew and pretence of good, that is, of Christian and social religion. Sodom signifieth most licentious impietie and inuidence: Egypt, most cruell persecution of the people of God: and Ierusalem signifieth the most confident glorifying of that city, as it were in true religion, being yet full of falshood and vngodlinesse. Now who is ignorant that these things doe rather, and more agree vnto Rome, then vnto any other city? The commendations of the city of Rome for many yeeres past, are publickly notorious, which are not for me to gather together. This onely I will say, that the long time did very well see what Rome is, who taking his leaue thereof, vnder these verses: Roma vale, vixisti, satis est vixisse, reuertar. Roma leua, mercede, sorore, cunctis ero. Now farewell Rome, I haue thee seene, it was enough to see: I will returne when as I meane, bawd, harlot, knaue to be. 21. After a more secret kinde of meaning and vnderstanding. 24. Namely in his members, as also he said vnto Saul, Actes 9. 5. 15 That is, for three yeeres and a halfe for so many yeeres Boniface liued after his lubile, as Bergomensis witnesseth. 16 So the more that they by this occasion exercise the isoly of their lubile. 17 The Gospel of Christ is the affliction of the world, and the ministration thereof, the fauour of death vnto death, to those that perish, 2. Cor. 2. 16. 18. The third place as I noted before, is of the rising againe of the Prophets from the dead, and their carrying vp into heauen. For their resurrection is shewed in this verse: their calling and lifting vp into heauen, in the verse following. 19 That is, what time God shall destroy that wicked Boniface. 20 That is, the Prophets of God shall in a sort rise againe, not the same in person (as they say) but in spirit: that is, in the power and efficacy of their ministry, which S. Iohn expressed before, verse 5. and 6. And so the prophesie that is spoken of Elias, is interpreted by the Angel to be vnderstood of Iohn the Baptist, Luke 1. 17. For the same Boniface himselfe, who sought to kill and destroy them, was by the fire of Gods mouth (which the holy ministry beareth and exhibiteth) denoured & died miserably in prison, by the endeavour of Satra Caluamenis and Agastus, a French knight, whom Philip the faire King of France sent into Italy but with a very smal power. 21 That is the most grievous heat of afflictions & persecution that they for a while, for the great amaze that shall arise vpon that sudden & vnllooked for iudgment of God. 22 They were called by God into heauen, and taken out of this malignant world into the heauenly Church, which also lyeth hidden here in the earth: exercise their calling secretly: as of whom this wretched world was unworthy, Heb. 11. 38. For the Church of the wicked is by comparison called the earth or the world and the Church of the godly heauen. So in ancient time amongst the godly Israelites so amongst the Iewes in the dayes of Manasses, and other kings, when the earth refused the heires of heauen, we read that they lay hidden as heauen in the earth. 23 Yet could they not hinder the secret ones of the Lord. (as the Psalmist called them, Psal. 83. 4.) but that they went on forward in his worke. 24 Bergomensis sayth, in the yeere of our Lord 1301. this yere a blasing starre foretelling great calamity to come, appeared in heauen: in which yere vpon the feast of S. Andrew, so great an earthquake arose, as neuer before: which also continuing by times, for many dayes, ouerthrew many flatly houses. This sayth hee of the yere next following the lubile: which S. Iohn so many ages before, expressed word for word. 25 They were in deede broken with present astonishment of minde, but did not earnestly repent as they ought to haue done. 26 Glorified God by confessing his Name. 26 He speaketh vnto the second history, which is the second part of this chapter. S. Iohn calleth these the second and third woe, hauing respect vnto Chap. 9. 12.*

13 That is, openly at Rome where at that time was a most great concourse of people, the yeere of lubile being then first ordained by Boniface vnto the same ende, in the yeere of Christ 1300. example whereof is read Chap. 1. Extra, de penitentia & remissione. So by one acte he committed double iniurie against Christ, both abolishing his truth by the restoring the type of the lubile, and triumphing over his members by most wicked superstition. O religious heart Now that wee should vnderstand the things of Rome, S. Iohn himselfe is the authour, both at the 17. chapter almost throughout, and also in the circumscription now next following,

37 Of which sounding the trumpet Christ eternally foretold chap. 10. 7. and this is the second part of this Chapter, containing a general historie of the Christian Church, from the time of Boniface, and vnto the consummation of the golden age declared by voyce from heauen. In this history there are three branches: a preparation by the sound of the Angels trumpet, a narration by the voyce of heauenly Angels & Elders, & a confirmation by light.

38 The narration hath two parts: an acclamation of the heauenly creatures in this verse, and both an adoration by all the Elders, ver. 16 and also a most ample thanksgiving, ver. 17.

39 The fence of the acclamation is, Now the Lord is entred on his Kingdom, & hath restored his Church, in which most mightily recovered from the profanation of the Gentiles he may glorifie himselfe. Namely that, which the Lord ordeined when first he ordeined his Church, that the faith of the Saints doeth now behold as accomplished.

40 As before, 7. 11. This giuing of thanks is altogether of the same content with the words going before. 30 A speech of the Hebrew language, as much to say, as Gentiles being angry, chine inflamed wrath came vpon them, and shewed it selfe from heauen, occasioned by their anger & fury. 31 This is the confirmation of the next prophetic before going by signes exhibited in heauen, and that of two sortes, whereof some are visible, as the passing away of the heauen, the opening of the Temple, the Arke of the Couenant appearing in the Temple, and testifying the glorious presence of God, and the lightnings: others apprehended by eare and such dull sense, which beare witness in heauen and earth to the truth of the iudgements of God.

C H A P. XII.

15 ²⁷ And the seventh Angel blew the trumpet, and there were great voices in heauen, saying, ²⁸ The kingdomes of the world are our Lords, and his Christs, and he shall reigne for euermore.

16 ²⁹ Then the foure and twentie Elders, which sat before God on their seates, fell vpon their faces, and worshipped God, 17 Saying, We giue thee thanks, Lord God Almighty, Which art, and Which wait, and Which art to come: for thou hast receiued thy great might, and hast obtained thy Kingdome.

18 ³⁰ And the Gentiles were angry, and thy wrath is come, and the time of the dead, that they should bee iudged, and that thou shouldest giue reward vnto thy seruants the Prophets, and to the Saints, and to them that feare thy Name, to small and great, and shouldest destroy them that destroy the earth.

19 Then the Temple of God was ³¹ opened in heauen, and there was scene in his Temple the Arke of his Couenant: and there were lightnings, and voyces, and thundrings, and earthquake, and much haile.

20 Then the Temple of God was ³² opened in heauen, and there was scene in his Temple the Arke of his Couenant: and there were lightnings, and voyces, and thundrings, and earthquake, and much haile.

seuen heads, and tenne ⁶ hornes, and seuen crownes vpon his heads:

4 ⁷ And his taile drew the third part of the starres of heauen, and cast them to the earth. And the dragon ⁸ stood before the woman, which was ready to be deliuered, ⁹ to deuoure her child, when she had brought it forth.

5 ¹⁰ So shee brought forth a man ¹¹ childe, which should rule all nations with a rod of yron: and that her child was taken vp vnto God and to his throne.

6 ¹² And the woman fled into the wilderness, where she hath a place prepared of God, that ¹³ they should feed her there a thousand, two hundred and threescore dayes.

7 And there was a great battell in heauen, ¹⁴ Michael and his Angels fought against the dragon, and the dragon fought and his angels.

8 ¹⁵ But they preuailed not, neither was their ¹⁶ place found any more in heauen.

9 ¹⁷ And the great dragon, that old serpent, called the deuill and Satan was cast out, which deceiueth all the world: he was ¹⁸ cast into the earth, & his angels were cast out with him.

10 Then I heard a loude voyce in heauen, saying, ¹⁹ Now is saluation, and strength, and the Kingdome of our God, and the power of his Christ: for the accuser of our brethren is cast downe which accused them before our God day and night.

11 But they overcame him by that blood of that Lambe, and by that word of their testimony, and they ¹² ploued not their liues vnto the death.

12 Therefore reioice, ye heauens, & ye that

5 Thereby to withstand those seven Churches spoken of, that is, the Catholike Church, & that with kingly furniture and tyrannicall magnificence signified by the crownes set vpon his heads, as if the same without courtesie belonged vnto him by the proper right as also he boasted vnto Christ, Mat. 4. 9. See after vpon chap. 13. 1.

6 More then was the hornes of the Lambe, or then the Churches are: so well furnished doth the tyrant drag himselfe to be, vnto all manner of mischief.

7 After the description of Satan followeth this action, that is, his battell of fire vnto the Church partly to that which is visible, wherein the where is mingled with the chaffe, and the good fish with that which is euill: a good part thereof, though in appearance is not as the stars shine in heauen, he is sayd to thrust downe out of heauen,

& to peruert it: for if it were possible he would peruert the elect, Mat. 24. 24. & partly to the elect members of the holy Catholike Church in the second part of this verse. Many therefore of the members of this visible Church (saith S. Iohn) he overthrew & trampled vpon them. 8 He with blood that elect Church of the Iewes which was now ready to bring forth the Christian Church, & watched for that he should bring forth. For the whole Church, and whole body is compared vnto a woman: and a part of the Church vnto that which is brought forth, as we haue noted at large vpon Can. 7. 6. 9 Christ myttical (as they call him) that is, the whole Church, consisteth of the person of Christ as the head, & of the body vnto the vnto the spirite, so is frame of Christ taken 1. cor. 12. 13. 10 The 2. history of this Church deliuered of child in which first the consideration of the child borne, & of the mother, is described in 2. verses: secondly the battell of the dragon against the young child, & the victory obtained against him in 3. verses following: last of all is sung a song of victory, vnto the 12. ver. Now S. Iohn in consideration of the child borne, noteth two things: for he describeth him, and his station or place in this verse. 11 That is Christ the head of the Church, joined with his Church (the beginning root & foundation) whereof is the same Christ) indowed with kingly power. & taken vp into heauen out of the iawes of Satan (who as a Serpent did bite him vpon the crosse) that sitting vpon his celestial throne, he might reigne ouer all. 12 The Church of Christ which was of the Iewes, after his assumption into heauen, hid it selfe in the world as in a wilderness, trusting in the only defence of God, as witnesseth S. Luke in the Acts of the Apostles. 13 Namely, the Apostles & seruants of God ordeined to feed with the word of life, the Church collected both of the Iewes & Gentiles vnles that any man will take the word, & cleare in personall after the vse of the Hebrewes, in stead of a letter: but I like the first better For he hath respect vnto those two Prophets, of whom cha. 11. 3. as for the meaning of the 12. 90. dayes, looke the same place. 14 Christ is the Prince of Angels, and the head of the Church, who beareth that yron rod, ver. 5. See the notes vpon Daniel. chap. 12. 1. In this verse a description of the battell and of the victory in the 2. verses following. The Psalmist had respect vnto this battell, Psal. 68. 9 & P. ul. Ephe. 4. 8. Col. 2. 15. 15 The description of the victory, by denying of the thing in this verse, and by affirming the contrary in the next verse. As that Satan gained nothing in heauen, but was by the power of God thrown into the world whereof he is the prince, Christ himselfe and his elect members standing still by the throne of God. 16 They were cast out, so that they were neuer sent more in heauen. 16 The song of victory or triumph containing first, a proposition of the glory of God and of Christ shewed in that victory: secondly, it containeth a reason of the same proposition, taken from the effects: as that the enemy is overcome in battell, in this verse, and that the godly are made conquerours (and more then conquerours, Rom. 6. 37.) ver. 11. Thirdly, a conclusion, wherein is an exhortation vnto the angels, and to the Saints: and vnto the world, a prophetic of great miserie, and of destruction procured by the deuill against mankind, lest himselfe should shortly be miserable alone, ver. 12. 16 He is said in the Hebrew tongue, so loue his life, that esteemeth nothing more precious then his life: and on the other side, he is said not to loue his life, who doubteth not to hazard it, wherefore need requireth

1 Hitherto hath bene the general prophetic, comprehended in 2. parts, as I shewed vpon Chap. 11. Now shall be declared the first part of this prophetic, in this & the next chap. and the latter part in the 14. 15. and 16. chapters. Vnto the first part, which is of the conflicting or militant Church belong two things. The beginning and the progresse of the same in conflicts & Christian combats. Of which two the beginning or vp-spring of the Church is described in this chapter, and the progresse thereof in the chapter following. The beginning of the Christian Church wee define to bee from the first moment of the conception of Christ, vntill that time wherein this Church was as it were weined & taken away from the breast or milke of her mother: which is the time when the Church of the Iewes with their citie and Temple was overthrown by the iudgement of God. So we haue in this chapter the story of 69 yeeres and vpwards. The parts of this chap are three. The first, is the history of the Conception and bearing in wombe, in 4. verses. The second, an history of the birth from the 5. verse vnto the 12. The third is, of the woman that had brought forth, vnto the end of the chapter. And these several parts haue euer one their conflicts. Therefore in that first part are two things contained, one, the conception & bearing in wombe, in two verses: and another of the lying in wait of the Dragon against that that should be brought forth, in the next two verses. In the first point are these things, the description of the mother, ver. 1. and the dolours of child-birth, ver. 2. all shewed vnto Iohn from heauen. 3 A type of the true holy Church which then was in the nation of the Iewes. This Church (as is the state of the holy Church Catholique) did in it selfe shine about with glory giuen of God, trod vnder feet murability and changeableness, and possessed the Kingdome of heauen as the heire thereof. 4 For this is that barren woman that brought not forth, of which Elai 45. 1. and Gal. 4. 27. the cryed out for good cause, and was tormented at that time, when in the iudgement of all these seemed nere vnto death, and in manner ready to giue vp the ghost by reason of her weakness & pouerty. 4 That is, the deuill or Satan (as is declared ver. 9.) mighty, angry and full of wrath.

19 That is, for three yeeres and a halfe: so the same speech is taken. Dan. 7. 25. This space of time is reckoned in manner from that last and most grievous rebellion of the Iewes, vnto the destruction of the city, and Temple, for their defection or falling away, began in the twelfth yeere of Nero, before the beginning whereof, many foreignes and predictions were shewed from heauen, as Iosephus writeth, lib. 7. cap. 13. and Hegelippus lib. 5. cap. 44. amongst which, this is very memorable, that in the feast of Pentecost not onely a great found and noyse was heard in the Temple but also a voyce was heard of many out of the Sanctuary which cried out vnto all, Let vs depart hence Now three yeeres and a halfe after this defection was begun of the Iewes, and those wonders happened, the cite was taken by force, the Temple ouerthrowne, and the place forsaken of God: & this compass of time S. Iohn noted in this place. 20 That is, he enflamed the Romanes & Nation, that they persecuting the Iewish people with cruell armes, might by the same occasi on invade the Church of Christ. now departed from Ierusalem and out of Iudea. For it is an vsuall thing in Scripture, that the raging tumults of the nations should bee compared vnto waters. 21 That is, there was offered in their place other Iewes, vnto the Romanes and Nations raging against that people: and it came to passe thereby that the Church of God was saved whole from that violence that most raging flood of persecution, which the Dragon vomited out being altogether spent in the destruction of those other Iewes. 22 Being set on fire by this meanes, hee began to be more mad, and because hee perceived that his purpose against the Christian Church of the Iewish remnant was come to nought, he resolved to fall vpon her seed, that is, the Church gathered also by God of the Gentiles, and the holy members of the same. And this is that other branch, as I said vpon the thirteenth verse, in which the purpose of Saran is shewed, ver. 17. and his attempt, verse 18. 23 That is, as a most mightie tempest that hee rushed vpon the whole world (whose prince he is) to raise the floods & prouoke the Nations, that they might with their furious billowes toss vp and downe, drie here and there, and finally destroy the Church of Christ with the holy members of the same. But the prouidence of God resisted his attempt, that he might fauour the Church of the Gentiles, yet tender and as it were Greene. The rest of this storie of the Dragon is excellently prosecuted by the Apostle S. Iohn hereafter in the 20. chapter. For here the Dragon endeauouring to doe mischief, was by God cast into prison.

dwelling in them. Woe to the inhabitants of the earth, & of the sea: for the deuill is come downe vnto you, which hath great wrath, knowing that he hath but a short time.

13 And when the dragon saw that he was cast vnto the earth, hee persecuted the woman which had brought forth the man child.

14 But to the woman were given two wings of a great Eagle, that she might flee into the wilderness: into her place, where shee is nourished for a time, and times, and halfe a time, from the presence of the serpent.

15 And the serpent cast out of his mouth water after the woman, like a flood, that hee might cause her to be caried away of the flood.

16 But the earth holpe the woman, and the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed vp the flood, which the dragon had cast out of his mouth.

17 Then the dragon was wroth with the woman, & went and made war with the remnant of her seed, which keep the comandements of God, and haue the testimonie of Iesus Christ,

18 And flood on the sea sand.

vpon his hornes were ten crownes, and vpon his head the name of blasphemie.

2 And the beast which I saw was like a Leopard, and his feete like a beares, and his mouth as the mouth of a lion: and the dragon gaue him his power and his throne, and great authoritie.

3 And I saw one of his heads as it were wounded to death; but his deadly wound was healed, and all the world wondered and followed the beast.

4 And they worshipped the dragon which gaue the power vnto the beast, and they worshipped the beast, saying, Who is like vnto the beast! who is able to warre with him!

5 And there was given vnto him a mouth, that spake great things and blasphemies, and against the Church of God. The speech is taken from the ancient custome and forme of dealing in such case: by which they that were absolute Kings did weare the diadem vpon their heads: but their vassals and such as reigned by grace from them, wore the same vpon their hoods: for so they might commodiously lay downe their diademes when they came into the presence of their Soueraignes, as also the Elders are said, when they adored God which sat vpon the throne, to haue cast down their crownes before him, Chap. 4. ver. 10. 5. Contrary to that which God of olde commanded should be written in the head piece of the high Priest, that is, Sanctitas Iehoua, Holinesse vnto the Lord. The name of blasphemie imposed by the Dragon, is (as I thinke) that which S. Paul saith in the second Chapter of his Epistle to the Thessalonians, the fourth ver. He setteth as God, and boasteth himselfe to be God. For this name of blasphemie both the Romane Emperours did then challenge vnto themselves, as Suetonius and Dion doe report of Caligula and Domitian: and after them the Popes of Rome did with full mouth professe the same of themselves, when they challenged vnto themselves Soueraincie in holy things: of which kinde of sayings the sixt booke of the Decretals, the Clementines, and the Extragants, are very full. For these men were not content with that which Anglicus wrote in his Pretria, (the beginning whereof is Pape, super mundi, The Pope is the wonder of the world) Nec Deus, nec homo, sed neuter ex istis vniuersis. Thou art not God, ne art thou man, but neither mixt of both: as the gloss witnesseth vpon the sixt booke: But they were bold to take vnto themselves the very name of God, and to accept it giuen of other: according as almost an hundred and twentie yeeres since there was made for Sixtus the fourth, when he should first enter into Rome in his dignitie Papall, a Pageant of triumph, and cunningly fixed vpon the gate of the cite he should enter at, hauing written vpon it this blasphemous verse:

Oraculo vocis mundi moderari habenas,
Et merito in terris crederis esse Deus.

THAT IS,

By oracle of thine owne voyce, the world thou gouernest all,
And worthily a God on earth men thinke and doe thee call.

These and sixe hundred the like who can impute vnto that modestie whereby good men of olde would haue themselves called the seruants of the seruants of God: Verely either this is a name of blasphemie, or there is none at all. 6 Swift as the Leopard, easily clasping all things, as the Beare doth with his foot, and tearing and deuouring all things with the mouth as doeth the Lion. 7 That is, he lent the same vnto the beast to vie, when he perceived that himselfe could not escape, but must needs be taken by the hand of the Angel, and cast into the bottomlesse pit, Chap. 20. yet did not hee abandon the same utterly from himselfe, but that he might vie it as long as he could. 8 This is the other place that appertaineth to the description of the beast of Rome: that besides that naturall dignitie, and amplitude of the Romane Empire, which was shadowed in the two former verses, there was added this also as miraculous, that one head was wounded, as it were, vnto death, and was healed againe, as from heauen, in the sight of all men. This head was Nero the Emperour, in whom the race of the Cæsars fell from the imperiall dignitie, and the government of the Common weale was translated vnto others: in whose hands the Empire was so cured and recovered vnto health, as it seemed vnto all so much the more deeply rooted and grounded fast, then euer before. And hence followed those effects, which are next spoken of: First an admiration of certaine power, as it were, sacred and diuine, sustaining the Empire and gouerning it: Secondly, the obedience & submission of the whole earth, in this verse. Thirdly, the adoration of the Dragon, and most wicked worshipping of deuils, confirmed by the Romane Emperours: Lastly, the adoration of the beast himselfe, which grew into so great estimation, as that both the name and worship of a God was giuen vnto him, verse the fourth. Now there were two causes which brought in the mindes of men this Religion: the shew of excellence, which bringeth with it reuerence: and the shew of power inuincible, which bringeth feare. Who is like (say they) vnto the beast? Who shall be able to fight with him? 9 The second member containing an history of the actes of the beast, as I said verse 1. The history of them is concluded in two points: the beginning, and the manner of them. The beginning is the gift of the Dragon, who put and inspired into the beast both his impie against God, and his immanitie and iniustice against all men, especially against the godly and those that were of the household of faith, verse the first. The manner of the actes or actions done, is of two sorts, both impious in minde, and blasphemous in speech against God, his Church and the godly, verse the sixt: and also most cruell and inuolunt in deedes, euen such as were done of most raging enemies, and of most insolent and proud conquerours, verse the seventh,

CHAP. XIII.
1 The beast which I saw was like a Leopard, and his feete like a beares, and his mouth as the mouth of a lion: and the dragon gaue him his power and his throne, and great authoritie.

2 And the dragon gaue him his power and his throne, and great authoritie.

3 And I saw one of his heads as it were wounded to death; but his deadly wound was healed, and all the world wondered and followed the beast.

power was given vnto him, to doe two and fourtie moneths. And hee opened his mouth vnto blasphemie against God to blaspheme his Name, and his tabernacle, and them that dwell in heauen. And it was given him, to make warre with the Saints, and to overcome them; and power was given him ouer euery kinred, and tougue, and nation. Therefore all that dwell vpon the earth, shal worship him, whose names are not written in the Booke of Life of that Lambe, which was slaine from the beginning of the world. If any man haue an eare, let him heare. If any leade into captiuitie, he shall goe into captiuitie: if any man kill with a sword, he must be killed by a sword: here is the patience and the faith of the Saints. And I beheld another beast coming vp out of the earth, which had two hornes like the Lambe; but hee spake like the dragon. And he did all that the first beast could doe before him, and he caused the earth, and them which dwell therein, to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed.

See in the eleventh Chapter and in the twelfth verse. That is, such as are not everlasting elected in Christ Iesus. For this is that Lambe slaine, of which Chapter the first verse the first. These wordes I doe with Aretas, distinguishing in this manner: Whose names are not written from the laying of the foundation of the world, in the booke of Life of the Lambe slaine. And this distinction is confirmed by a like place hereafter, chap. 17. 14. The conclusion of this speech of the first beast, consisting of two parts. An exhortation to attentive audience, in this verse: and a foretelling, which partly containeth threatnings against the wicked, & partly comforts for those which in patience and faith shall waite for that glorious coming of our Lord and Saviour Christ, verse the tenth. Gen. 9. 6. matth. 26. 52. The second member of the vision, concerning the Ecclesiastical dominion, which in Rome succeeded that which was politique, and is in the power of the corporation of false prophets, & of the forgers of false doctrine. Wherefore the same beast, and the body or corporation is called of S. Iohn by the name of false prophet, Chap. 16, verse 13. and 19, verse 20. The forme of this beast is first described in this verse, then his actes in the verses following: and the whole speech is concluded in the last verse. This beast is by his breed, a sonne of the earth (as they say) obscurely borne, and by little and little creeping vp out of his abiect estate. That is, in shew he resembled the Lambe (for what is more milde or more humble then to bee the seruant of the seruants of God?) but in deede hee played the part of the Dragon, and of the Wolfe, Matth. 7. 15. For euen Satan changeth himselfe into an Angel of light, 2 Cor. 11. 14. and what should his best disciples and seruants doe? The historie of the actes of this beast containeth in summe three things, hypocrisie, the witnesse of miracles, and tyrannie: of which the first is noted in this verse, the second in the three verses following: the third in the sixteenth and seventeenth verses. His hypocrisie is most full of leasing, whereby hee abuleth both the former beast and the whole world: in that albeit hee hath by his cunning, as it were by line, made of the former beast a most miserable creature, or anatomie, vsurped all his authoritie vnto himselfe, and most impudently exerciseth the same in the sight and view of him: yet hee carieth himselfe so, as if hee honoured him with most high honour, and did in very good tract cause him to bee rauered of all men. For vnto this beast of Rome, which of a ciuill Empire is made an Ecclesiastical hierarchie, are given diuine honour, and diuine authority in farre, as he is beleued to be about the Scriptures, which the glossie vpon the Decretals declarerh by this deuillish verse.

Articulos soluit, synodumque facit generalem.

THAT IS,

He changeth the Articles of faith, and giueth authoritie to generall Councils.

Which is spoken of the Papall power. So the beast is by birth, foundation, seat, and finally substance, one: onely the Pope hath altered the forme and maner thereof, being himselfe the head both of that tyrannical empire, and also of the false Prophets: for the Empire hath been taken vnto himselfe, and thereto hath added this cunning deuile. Now these wordes, whose deadly wound was cured, are put here for distinction sake, as also for merke afterwards: that euen at that time the godly readers of this prophesie might by this signe bee brought to see the thing as present: as if it were said, that they might adoe this very Empire that now is, whole head we haue scene in our owne memorie to haue bene cut off, and to be cured againe.

And he did great wonders, so that he made fire to come downe from heauen on the earth, in the sight of men. And he deceiued them that dwell on the earth by the signes, which were permitted him to doe in the sight of the beast, saying to them that dwell on the earth, that they should make the image of the beast, which had the wound of a sword and did liue. And it was permitted to him to giue a spirit vnto the image of the beast, so that the image of the beast, should speake; and should cause that as many as would not worship the image of the beast, should be killed. And he made all, both male and female, rich and poore, free and bond, to receiue a marke in their right hand or in their forehead. And that no man might buy or sel, save hee that made the marke, or the name of the beast, or the number of his name. Heere is wisdom. Let him that hath wit, count the number of the beast: for it is

Secondly, the common manner of working, in two sorts: one of miracles, For the signes which were given him to doe in the presence of the beast: the other of the words added to the signes, & teaching the idolatry by those signes saying vnto the inhabitants of the earth, that they should make an image vnto the beast, which was dead. Thirdly, a special manner is declared. That it is given vnto him to put life into the image of the beast: and that such a kind of quickening, that the same both speake by answer vnto those that aske counsell of it, and also pronounceth death against all those that doe not obey nor worship it: all which things oftentimes by false miracles through the procurement and inspiration of the deuill, haue beene effected and wrought in images. The histories of the Papists are full of examples of such miracles, the most of them fained, many also done by the deuill in images, as of olde in the Serpent, Genesis the third chapter, and verse the first. By which examples is confirmed, not the authoritie of the beast, but the wrauth of God and their prophesies. That is, images, by change or change of the number: for the worship of them euer since the second council of Nice, hath bene ordeined in the Church by publicke credit and authoritie, contrary vnto the Law of God. In the Greeke the word is of the Dative case, as much to say, as vnto the worship, honour and obeing of the beast: for by this maintenance of images, this pseudo-prophetical braut doeth mightily prouoke the beast of Rome, of whom long agoe hee receiued them. Wherefore the same is hereafter very fitly called the image of the beast, for that images haue their beginning from the beast, and haue their forme or maner from the will of the beast, and haue their ende and vie fixed in the profite and commoditie of the beast. And of this miracle of the images of the beast, (that is, which the beast hath ordeined to establish idolatry) which miraculously speake, and giue iudgement, or rather maruailously, by the fraude of the false prophets, the Papists booke is full fraughted. To giue life, as Iannes and Iambres imitated the wonders that Moses wrought. The third place, is a most insolent tyrannie, as was sayde before, vsurped ouer the persons of men, in this verse: and other their goods and actions, in the next verse. For he is bid, both to bring vpon all persons a tyrannous seruitude, that as bondslaves they might serue the beast: and also so to exercise ouer all their goods and actions, a papall-like abuse of indulgences and dispensations (as they terme them) amongst their friends, and against others, to vse most violent interdictions, and to shoote out cursings, euen in natural and ciuill, priuate and publique contracts, wherein all good faith ought to haue place. That is, their Chrisme, by which in the Sacrament (as they call it) of Confirmation, they make seruite vnto themselves, the persons and doings of men, signing them in their forehead and hands: and as for the signe left by Christ (Of which chapter 7. 3.) and the holy Sacrament of Baptisme they make as voyde. For whome Christ hath ioyned vnto himselfe by Baptisme, this beast maketh challenge vnto them by his greaite Chrisme, which hee doubteth not to preferre before Baptisme, both in authority and efficacie. The marke of the name of the beast. That is, haue any traffique or entrecomse with men, but they onely which haue this anointing and consecration of Clearly torture, as they call it, Reade Gratian de Consecratione, distinctione tertia. c. omnes cap. spiritus &c. of these matters. Here the false prophets doe require three things, which are set downe in the order of their greatnesse, a character, a name, and the number of the name. The meaning is, that man that hath not their first anoynting and clerical torture or shauing: secondly, holy orders, by receiuing whereof is communicated the name of the beast: or finally, hath not attained that high degree of Pontificall knowledge, and of the Law (as they call it) Canonically, and hath not as it were made vp in account and cast the number of the mysteries thereof: for in these things consisteth the number of the name of the beast. And this is excellently set forth in the next verse. That is, in this number of the beast consisteth that Popish wisdom, which vnto them seemeth the greatest of all others. In these words S. Iohn expoundeth that saying, which went before of the number of the beast, what it hath about his marke or acquaintance and his name. These things, sayth S. Iohn, the marke and the name of the beast doe easily happen vnto any man, but to haue the number of the beast, is wisdom: that is, onely the wise and such as haue vnderstanding, can come by that number: for they must be most illuminate doctours that attaine thereto, as the words following doe declare.

the number of a man, and his number is fixe hundredth threescore and fixe.

How great and of what denomination this number of the beast is by which the beast accounteth his wisdom, Saint Iohn declareth in these words. Doest thou denieth to be great if it is to be great, that it occupieth the whole man, his whole learning, and ouercometh to the knowledge thereof: he must be a man indeed that doeth straine vnto it. Askest thou of what denomination it is? verily it standeth of fixe hundredth, and possibly fifth of all the parts thereof in their several denominations, as they haue beene in the world of fixe by threes, tens, hundreds, &c. so as there is no one part in the learning and order of this, which is not either inferiour vnto the first, and best, and truest, and purest thereof, or contained in the same: so fully doe all things in this, which are in you with another, and with their head. Therefore that cruell beast Boniface the eight, doeth commend by the number of these three Denominations which he performeth: in the preface of the first booke, which hee (saith he) being to be added vnto a fine other booke of the same volume of Denominations, hee thought good to name Sixtine the first: that the same volume by addition thereof, might be the number of these three Denominations which he performeth. Here therefore is the number of the beast, who powred from himselfe all his parts, and bringeth them all backe againe vnto himselfe by his diuine nature, and cunning manner. If any man desire more of this, let him read the glosses vpon that place. I am not ignorant that other interpretations are brought vpon this place: but I thought it my duty, with the aged & famous of this, and without the assistance of any, to propound mine opinion in this point. And for this cause especially, for that it seemed vnto me neither profitable, nor like to be true, that the number of the beast, or of the name of the beast should be taken as the common sort of interpretation doe take it. For this number of the beast teacheth, giueth out, imprinteth, as a publique marke of such as be his, and directeth these marke aboue all others, as the marke of those whom he loueth best. Now these other explications seeme rather to be farre removed from this propriety and condition of that number: whether you respect the name Lambus, or Titan, or any other. For these the beast doeth not reach, nor giue forth, nor imprint, nor most diligently forbidden to be taught, and audaciously denieth: he approoveth not them, but reprooveth them: and hateth them that thinke of this number, with an hatred greater then that of Diuitius.

CHAP. XIII.

1. The Lambe standeth on mount Sion, 4 with his chaffe worshippers. 6 One Angel preacheth the Gospel 8 another foretelleth the fall of Babylon: 9 the third warneth that the beast be auoyded. 13 A voyce from heauen pronounceth them happy, who die in the Lord. 16 The Lords sickle is thrust into the barnes, 18 and into the vintage.

1. The historie of the Church of Christ being finished for more then a thousand and three hundredth yeeres at which time Boniface the eight liued as before hath been said: there remaineth the rest of the history of the conflicting or militant Church, from thence vnto the time of the last victorie in three chapters. For first of all, as the foundation of the whole historie, is described, the standing of the Lambe with his army and retinue in five verses, after his worthy acts which he hath done, & yet doth in most mightie manner, whilest he ouerthroweth Antichrist with the spirit of his mouth, in the rest of this chapter, and in the two following. Vnto the description of the Lambe, are propounded three things: his situation, place and attendance: for the rest are expounded in the former visions, especially vpon the first Chapter. 2 As ready girt to doe his office (as ads 5, 5, 6) in the midst of the Church, which aforetime mount Sion did prefigure. 3 As before 7. 2. This retinue of the Lambe is described first by diuine marke (as before 7. 2.) in this verse. Then by diuine occupation, in that all and euery one in his retinue most vehemently and sweetly (verse 2.) doe glorifie the Lambe with a speciall song before God & his elect Angels: which song flesh & blood cannot heare, nor vnderstand, ver 3. Lastly by their deeds done before, and their sanctification in that they were virgins pure from spiritual and bodily fornication, that is, from impiety & vniuerse of sin, that they followed the Lambe as a guide vnto all goodnes, and cleaued vnto him: that they are holy vnto him, as of grace redeemed by him: that in truth & simplicitie of Christ they haue exercised all these things, sanctimonie of life, the direction of the Lambe, a thankfull remembrance of redemption by him: finally (to conclude in a word) that they are blamelesse before the Lord, ver. 4, 5.

Then I looked, and lo, a Lambe stood on mount Sion, and with him an hundredth, fourtie and foure thousand, hauing his Fathers Name written in their foreheads.

2 And I heard a voyce from heauen as the sound of many waters, and as the sound of a great thunder: and I heard the voyce of harpers, harping with their harpes.

3 And they sung as it were a new song before the throne, and before the foure beastes, and the Elders: and no man could learne that song, but the hundredth, fourty and foure thousand, which were bought from the earth.

4 These are they which are not defiled with women: for they are virgins: these follow the Lambe whithersoever hee goeth: these are bought from men, being the first fruites vnto God, and to the Lambe.

5 And in their mouthes was found no guile: for they are without spot before the throne of God.

6 ¶ Then I saw another Angel flie in the mids of heauen, hauing an euangelizing Gospel to preach vnto them that dwell on the earth, and to every nation, and kindred, and tongue, and people.

7 ¶ Saying with a loud voice, Feare God, and giue glory to him: for the houre of his iudgement is come: & worship him that made heauen and earth, and the sea, and the fountaines of waters.

8 And there followed another Angel, saying, Babylon that great citie is fallen, it is fallen: for shee made all nations to drinke of the wine of the wrath of her fornication.

9 ¶ And the third Angel followed them, saying with a loud voice, If any man worship the beast and his image, and receiue his marke in his forehead, or on his hand,

10 The same shall drinke of the wine of the wrath of God, yea, of the pure wine, which is powred into the cup of his wrath, and he shall be tormented in fire and brimstone before the holy Angels, and before the Lambe.

11 And the smoke of their torment shall ascend euermore: & they shall haue no rest day nor night, which worship the beast & his image, & whosoever receiue the print of his name.

12 ¶ Here is the patience of Saints: here are they that keepe the Commandements of God, and the faith of Iesus.

13 Then I heard a voyce from heauen, saying vnto me, Write, The dead which die in the Lord, are fully blessed. Euen so sayth the Spirit: for they rest from their labours, and their workes follow them.

14 ¶ And I looked, and beholde, a hath raised vp to the publishing of the Gospel of Christ, both by preaching & by writing. So God first, nere vnto the time of the same Boniface, vied Peter Callidorus an Italian: after, Arnold, de villa noua, a Frenchman, then Occam, Danne, Petrarca, after that, Iohannes de rapa casa, a Franciscane: after againe, Iohn Wicklife an Englishman, and so continually one or another vnto the restoring of the truth, and enlarging of his Church. 6 That is, Babylon is destroyed by the sentence and iudgement of God: the execution whereof, Iohn describeth, chap. 18. And this voyce of the ministers of Christ hath continued since the time that Babylon (which is Rome) hath by deliberate counsell & manifest malice oppugned the light of the Gospel offered from God. Psal. 145. 6. Acts 14. 15. Isa. 21. 9. Jer. 51. 8. chap. 18. 2. 7 That is, that not worship God alone, but shall transerre his diuine honor vnto this beast, whether hee doe it with his heart, or counterfeiting in shew. For he (saith Christ) that denieth me before men, bin will I denie before my Father and his Angels, Mat. 10. 32. And this is that voice of the holy ministry, which at this time is very much vied of the holy & faithfull seruants of God. For hauing now sufficiently found out the publique obduracy of Babylon, they labour not any longer to thunder out against the same: but to saue some particular members by terror (as S. Iude speaketh) & to plucke them out of the publique flame: or els by vehement commiseration of their estate to leade the away, they let before them eternall death, into which they rush vnto wares, vnlesse in good time they returne vnto God, but the godly which are of their own flocke, they exhort vnto patience, obedience & faith in the Lord Iesus, & charge them to giue light by their good example, of good life vnto others. 8 The patience, sanctification, & iustification by faith: the consequence whereof are, rest, felicity, and glory eternal, in the heavenly fellowship of God and his Angels. 9 That is, for the Lord. c By workes, we mean the reward which followeth good workes. 10 The second part of this chapter, as I said ver. 1. Of the acts and doings of Christ in ouerthrowing of Antichrist & his church by the Spirit of his diuine mouth: feeling that hauing bin called back by word both publicly & priuately vnto his dutie & admonished of his most certaine ruine: he yet ceaseth not to maintaine & protect his own adherents, that they may do him service: & to afflicte the godly with most barbarous persecutio. Of those things which Christ doeth against, there are 2. kinds: one common or general in rest of this chap, another particular against that savage & rebellious beast & his worshippers, chap. 15. 1. 6. That common kind, is the calamity of wars, spread abroad through the whole earth, & filling all things with blood, & that without respect of any person, This is figured or shadowed out in 2. types, of the haruell & vintage. Since the time of the light of the Gospel began to shine out, & since prophecies of preaching by the grace of God was raised vp againe, how horrible wars haue bin kindled in the world? how much humane flesh hath bin thrown to earth by this diuine reaping? how much blood (alas for woe) hath ouerflowen for these 100. yeeres almost all histories doe cry out, & this our age (if euer before) is now in horror by reason of frage of yucke which Antichrist calleth for. In this place is the first type, of the haruell

4. The other part (as I said on the first verse) is of the acts of the Lambe, the manner whereof is delivered in two verses, of his speech and of his facts. His speeches are let forth vnto the 13. ver. of this chapter, and his facts vnto the 16. chap. In the speech of the Lambe, which is the word of the Gospel, are taught in this place these things: The seruice of the godly consisting inwardly of true reuerence towards God, and outwardly of the glorifying of him: the visible signe of which is adoration, ver. 7. The overthrowing of wicked Babylon, ver. 8, and the fall of euery one of the engodly which worship the beast, ver. 9, 10, 11. Finally the floure of the holy seruants of God both present, ver. 1. & to come, most blessed, according to the promise of God, ver. 13. 5 This Angel is a type or figure of the good and faithfull seruants of God, whom God especially from that time of Boniface the 8.

10 Declaring his fierceness by his colour, like unto that which is in the white or milke circle of heaven.
11 As one that shal reigne from God, and occupie the place of Christ in this miserable execution.
12 That is, a most fit and commodious instrument of execution, destroying all by having and thrusting through: for who may stand against God?
13 Christ with a commandement in this verse, and the Angel executeth it in the next verse.
14 The other type (as I sayd ver. 13) is the vintage: the manner whereof is one with that which went before, if thou except this, that the grape gathering is more exact in seeking out every thing, then is the harvest labour. This is therefore a more grievous judgement, both because it succeedeth the other, and because it is understood to be executed with great diligence.
15 That is, it overflowed very deepe, and very farre and wide: the speech is hyperbolicall or excessive, to signify the greatness of the slaughter. And these be those pleasant fruits to the tooth, of the contempt of Christ, and desiring of Antichrist rather than him, which the miserable, mad, and blinde world doeth at this time reape.

CHAP. XV.

1 The seven Angels having the seven last plagues. 3 They that conquered the beast, praise God. 6 To the seven Angels, 7 seven vials full of Gods wrath are delivered.

And I saw another signe in heauen, great and marueilous, seven Angels, hauing the seven last plagues: for by them is fulfilled the wrath of God.

2 And I saw as it were a glassie sea, mingled with fire, and them that had gotten victory of the beast, and of his image, and of his marke, and of the number of his name, stand at the glassie sea, hauing the harpes of God,

3 And they sung the song of Moses the seruant of God, and the song of the Lambe,

1 This is that other place of the acts of Christ, as I noted before Chap. 8. 9. in powring forth the plagues of the world: for euen these plagues doe fur the most part agree with those. 3 There are twoparts of the narration: one, the confession of the Saints glorifying God, when they saw that preparation of the iudgements of God, vnto the 4 verse: another the vocation, institution, and confirmation of those instruments which God hath ordained for the execution of his iudgements, in four other verses. 4 This part of the vision alludeth vnto that sea or large vessel of brass, in which the Priests washed themselves in the entrance of the Temple: for in the entrance of the heavenly Temple (as it is called verse 5) is said to haue bene a sea of glasse, most lightesome and cleare, vnto the commoditie of choise mixt with fire, that is, as containing the treasure of the iudgements of God, which he bringeth forth and dispenseth according to his owne pleasure: for out of the former, the Priests were cleansed of old: and out of this the vngodly are destroyed now, chap. 4. 6 That is, the godly martyrs of Christ, who shal not gae place euen in miracles vnto that beast: of these, see before, Chap. 13. 17. and 14. 9. 10. 6 Glorifying God, from the particular obseruation of the weapons and instruments of Gods wrath, floating in the sea of glasse. 7 That song of triumph, which is, Exod. 15. 2. a Sea Mo-sed called for venours sake, as it is set forth, Dent. 34. 10.

laying, Great and marueilous are thy workes, Lord God Almighty: iust and true are thy wayes, King of Saints.

4 Who shall not feare thee, O Lord, and glorifie thy Name! for thou onely art holy, and all nations shal come and worship before thee: for thy iudgements are made manifest.

5 And after that I looked, and beholde, the Temple of the Tabernacle of testimony was open in heauen.

6 And the seven Angels came out of the Temple, which had the seven plagues, clothed in pure and bright linnen, and hauing their breasts girded with golden girdles.

7 And one of the four beasts gaue vnto the seven Angels seven golden vials full of the wrath of God, which liueith for euermore.

8 And the Temple was full of the smoke of the glory of God and of his power, and no man was able to enter into the Temple, till the seven plagues of the seven Angels were fulfilled.

iudgement of God in the next verse. * Psal 145. 17. b Thy doings. * Jer. 10. 7. 9 The second part of the narration (as was noted ver. 3a) wherein first the authority of the whole argument and matter thereof is figured by a forerunning type of a Temple opened in heauen, as Chap. 11. 19. namely that all those things are diuine and of God, that proceed from thence, in this verse. Secondly, the administrators or executors, come forth out of the Temple, ver. 6. Thirdly, they are furnished with instruments of the iudgements of God, and weapons fit for the manner of the same iudgements ver. 7. Finally, they are confirmed by testimonies of the visible glory of God, in the last verse. A like testimonie wherunto was exhibited of old in the law, Exod. 40. 34. 10 That is, commandments to inflict those seven plagues. Here is the figure called Metonymia. 11 Which was in old time a signe of the Kingly or princely dignitie. 12 This girding was a signe of diligence, and the girdle of golde was a signe of sinceritie, & trustines in it, king in charge the commandments of God. 13 Of these before, Chap. 4. 7. 14 None of those 7. Angels might returne, till he had performed fully the charge committed vnto him, according to the decree of God.

CHAP. XVI.

2 and 17 The Angels powre out the seven vials of Gods wrath giuen vnto them, and so diuers plagues arise in the world, 18 to terrifie the wicked, 19 and the inhabitants of the great citie.

And I heard a great voyce out of the Temple, saying to the seven Angels, Goe your wayes, and powre out the seven vials of the wrath of God vpon the earth.

2 And the first went and powred out his viall vpon the earth: and there fell a noyesome and a grievous sore vpon the men, which had the marke of the beast, and vpon them which worshipped his image.

3 And the second Angel powred out his viall vpon the sea, & it became as the blood of a dead man: & every liuing thing died in the sea.

4 And the third Angel powred out his

speciall execution against Antichrist & his crew, doth in manner agree vnto that which was generally done vpon the whole world, chap. 8. 9. and belongeth (if my coniecture faile me not) vnto the same time. Yet herein they do differ one from another, that this was particularly effected vpon the Princes and ring-leaders of the wickednesse of the world, the other generally against the whole world being wicked. And therefore these iudgements are figured more grieuous then those. 2 The historie of the first Angel, whose plague vpon the earth is described almost in the same wordes with that first plague of the Egyptians, Exod. 9. 9. But it doth signifie a spirituall vicer, and that torture or burthen of conscience leared with an hore yon, which accurteth the vngodly within, and both by truth of the word (the light whereof God hath now to long shined forth) and by bitterness smiteth vp and forth out the sword of Gods wrath. 3 See chap. 13. 16. 4 The historie of the second Angel, who troubleth and molesteth the seas, that he may stir vp the conscience of men sleeping in their wickednes See Chap. 8. 8. a It was turned into rotter, and filthy blood, such as is in dead bodies. 5 The storie of the third Angel striking the riuers in this verse, who proclaiming the iustice of God, commendeth the same by a most graue comparison of the sins of men, with the punishment of God: which is common to this place, and to which went before. Wherefore also this praifing is attributed to the Angel of the waters. A name common to the second & third Angels, according as both of them are said to be sent against the waters, albeit the one of the sea, the other of the riuers, in two verses.

This long hath two parts: one a confession, both particular, in this verse, and general, in the beginning of the next verse: another, a narration of causes belonging to the confesse, whereof one kinde is eternal in it selfe, and most present vnto the godly, in that God is both holy, & alone God another kinde is finite and to come, in that the elect taken out of the Gentiles (that is, out of the wicked ones & vnteleuering: as Chap. 11. 2.) were to bee brought vnto the same state of happinesse, by the magnificence of the

In the former Chapter was set downe the preparation vnto the worke of God: here is deliuered the execution thereof. And in this discourse of the execution, is a general commandement in this verse, then a particular recital in order of the execution done by euery of the seven Angels, in the rest of the chapter. This speciall

6 A confirmation of the praise before going out of the Sanctuary of God, whether immediately by Christ, or by some one of his angels, for Christ also is called another Angel. Chap. 7. v. 2. 3. 8. and 12. 13. 7 The storie of the fourth Angel, who throweth the plague vpon the heauen & vpon the Sun, of which Luke 21. 35. the effects whereof are noted two. The one peculiar, that it shall scorch men with heat in this vnto. The other proceeding accidentally from the former, that their furie shall so much more be enraged against God in the next verse, when yet O wonderful mercy and patience of God! all other creatures are first stricken often and grievously by the hand of God before mankind, by whom he is provoked: as the things before going doe declare.

8 The storie of the first Angel, who striketh the kingdom of the beast with two plagues abroad with darkenes, with bites & do-lours most grieuous, thorough his whole kingdom that thereby might wound the conscience of the wicked, and punish that most peruerse obstinacie of the Idolaters: whereof arose perturbation, and thence a furious indignation and desperat madnesse, raging against God and hurtfull vnto it selfe. 9 The storie of the first Angel, diuised into his acte, and the euen thereof. The acte is, that the Angel did cast out of his mouth the plague of a most glowing heat, wherewith euen the greatest floods, and which most were wont to swell and ouerflow (as Euphrates) were dried vp, by the counsell of God in this verse. The euent is, that the mere madnesse wherewith the wicked are enraged that they may scorne the iudgements of God, and abuse them furiously to serueth their own turne, and to the executing of their owne wicked outrage.

10 The bound of the spirituall Babylon, and to the fortresses of the same. Chap. 9. v. 14. 11 So the Church of the vngodly, and kingdom of the beast is said to be left naked, all the defences thereof in which they put their trust, being taken away from it. 12 That is, that euen they which dwell further off, may with more commoditie make haste vnto the sacrifice, which the Lord hath appointed. 13 That is, euery of them bent their whole force, and conspired that by wonders, wordes and worke they might bring into the same destruction all Kings, Princes and Potentates of the world, curiously bewitched of them by their spirits, and teachers of the vanitie & impuritie of the beast that committed fornication with the kings of the earth. And this is a right description of our times. 14 Croking with all importunity, & continually day and night provoking and calling forth to armes, as the trumpets & furies of wars, as is declared in the next verse. 15 That is, the deuil, as cha. 11. v. 3. 16 Whereof cha. 13. v. 1. 17 That is, of that other beest, of which cha. 3. v. 1. for so he is called also, cha. 19. v. 20. 10. 18 A Parenthesis for admonition in which God warneth his holy seruants, who rest in the expectation of Christ, alwayes to adreffe their minds vnto his coming, and to looke vnto themselves, that they be not shamefully made naked and circumcised of these vncleane spirits, and so they be miserably vnprepared at the coming of the Lord, as Mat. 24. 29 and 25. 13. Chap. 3. v. 3. 19. 24. 4. 4. Luke 12. 39. 19 Namely, the Angel, who holily according to the commandement of God, was to doe sacrifice: notwithstanding that those impure spirits doe the same wickedly, as seruants not vnto God, but vnto the beast that hath seauen heads, viall vpon the riuers and fountaines of waters, and they became blood.

5 And I heard the Angel of the waters say, Lord, Thou art iust, Which art, and Which wast: and holy, because thou hast iudged these things.

6 For they shed the blood of the Saints, and Prophets, and therefore hast thou giuen them blood to drinke: for they are worthy.

7 And I heard another out of the Sanctu- ary say, Euen so, Lord God Almighty, true and righteous are thy iudgements.

8 And the fourth Angel powred out his viall on the sunne, and it was giuen to him to torment men with heat of fire,

9 And men boiled in great heat, and blas- phemed the Name of God, which hath power ouer these plagues, and they repented not to giue him glory.

10 And the fift Angel powred out his vi- all vpon the throne of the beast, and his king- dome waxed darke, and they gnawed their tongues for sorrow,

11 And blasphemed the God of heauen for their paines, and for their sores, and repented not of their workes.

12 And the sixt Angel powred out his vi- all vpon the great riuer Euphrates, and the water thereof dried vp, that the way of the Kings of the East should be prepared.

13 And I saw three vncleane spirits like frogs come out of the mouth of that dragon, and out of the mouth of that beast, and out of the mouth of that false prophet.

14 For they are the spirits of deuils, wor- king miracles, to goe vnto the kings of the earth, and of the whole world, to gather them to the battell of that great day of GOD Almighty.

15 Behold, I come as a theife. Blessed is he that watcheth, and keepeth his garments, lest he walk nakedly, and men see his filthines)

16 And they gathered them together into a place called in Hebrw. ²⁰ Armagedon.

17 And the seventh Angel powred out his viall into the ayre: and there came aloud voice out of the Temple of heauen from the throne, saying, It is done.

18 And there were voyces, and thun- drings, and lightnings, and there was a great earthquake, such as was not since men were vpon the earth, euen so mightie an earthquake.

19 And the great citie was diuided into three parts: and the cities of the nations fell: and that great Babylon came in remembrance before God, to giue vnto her the cup of the wine of the fiercenesse of his wrath.

20 And every yle fled away, and the moun- taines were not found.

21 And there fel a great haile, like talents, out of heauen vpon the men, and men blasphe- med God, because of the plague of the haile: for the plague thereof was exceeding great.

That meete together. Because the Gentiles did alwayes cast that lamentable overthrow in the teeth of the Church of the Iewes, vnto their great reproch: & therefore were per- twaded, that that place should be most fortunate vnto them (as they speake) & vnto- nate vnto the godly. But God here pronounceth, that that reproch of the Church, and confidence of the vngodly, shall by himselfe be taken away, in the selfe same place where the nations perwaded themselves, they should mightily exult and triumph against God and his Church. 21 The story of the seventh Angel vnto the end of the chapter, in which first is shewed by signe and speech, the argument of this plague, in this ver. & then is declared the execution thereof in the verses following. 22 Fro whence he might moue the heauen above, and the earth beneath. 23 That is, from him that sitteth on the throne, by the figure called Armagedon. 24 That is, Baby- lon is vnder, as is shewed ver. 19. and in the chapters following. For the first onlie (as I might say) of this denunciation, is described in this chapter: and the last con- taining a perfect victory, is described in those that follow. 25 Now is declared the execution (as is sayd in ver. 19.) and the things that shall last come to passe in hea- ven and in earth before the overthrow of the beast of Babylon: both generally, ver. 18. and particularly in the cursed city, and such as haue any familiarity therewith, in the last verses. 26 The seat or standing place of Antichrist. 27 Of all such as cleaue vnto Antichrist, and fight against Christ. 28 That harlot, of whom in the next chapter following. Now this phrase, as come into your synne, is after the com- mon vse of the Hebrew speech borrowed from men, and attributed vnto God. 29. 25. 15. 29 That is, were seene no more, or were no more extant. A borrowed Hebrewisme. 30 The manner of the particular execution, most evidently telling the wrath of God by the originall and greatness thereof: the euent whereof is the same with that which is Chap. 9. v. 14. and that which hath bene mentioned in this chapter, from the execution of the fourth Angel hitherto, that is to say, an inconceivable per- nacie of the world in their rebellion, and an heart that cannot repent, ver. 9. and 11. c. As it were about the mouth of a talent, and a talent was thre score pound, that is, six hundred paces, whereby is signified a marvelous and strange weight.

CHAP. XVII.

1 That great whore is described, 2 With whom the kings of the earth committed fornication. 3 She is drunken with the blood of Saints. 4 The mystrie of the woman and the beast that carried her, expounded. 5 Their destruction. 6 The Lambes victorie.

Then there came one of the seuen An- gels, which had the seuen vials, and talked with me, saying vnto me, Come: I will shew thee the damnation of the great whore that sitteth vpon many waters,

2 With whom haue committed fornica- tion the kings of the earth, and the inhabitants of the earth are drunken with the wine of her fornication.

I noted, that in that history the order of time was not alwayes exactly obserued: so the same is to be vnderstood in this history, that it is distynctly ordered according to the persons of which it treateth, and that in the seuerall stories of the persons is generally obserued in the time thereof. For first is deliuered the storie of Babylon destroyed in this and the next Chapter (for this Babylon our of all doubt, shall perish before the two beasts & the Dragon) Secondly is deliuered the destruction of both the 2 beasts, Chap. 19. And lastly of the Dragon, Chap. 18. In the story of the spirituall Babylon, are distinctly set forth the state thereof in this Chapter, and the overthrow done from God, Chap. 18. In this verse and that which followeth, is a transition or affage vnto the first argument, consisting of the particular calling of the Prophet (as often hereto- fore) and a general proposition. 2 That is, that damnable harlot, by a figure called hypocrisie. For S. Iohn as yet had not seene her, Although another interpretation may be borne, yet I like this better. 4 The sentence that is pronounced against the harlot.

20. That is, (to say nothing of other expolitions) the moun- taine is called, or mountaine pla- ces of Megi- don. Now it is certain by the holy Scripture, that Megiddon is a citie and ter- ritory in the tribe of Manas- ser, bordering vpon Issacar and Acher, and was made famous by that lamentable overthrow of King Iohas, whereof 2 Reg. 23. 30. and 2 Chron. 35. 22. and Zach. 12. 11. In this moun- taine country God saith by fi- gure or type that the kings of the peoples which serue the beast

1 The state of the Church militant being declared, now followeth the state of the Church overcom- ming and get- ting victorie, as I shewed before in the beginning of the 10. chap. This state is set forth in 4 chap- ters. As in the place before go- ing

3 Henceforth is propounded the type of Babylon and the flane thereof, in 4 verses. After a declaration of the type, in the rest of this chapter. In the type are described

two things, the beast (of whom chapter 13.) in the 7 verse, and the woman that sitteth vpon the beast verse 4, 5.

The beast in process of time hath gotten some what more than was expresed in the former vision. First in that it is not read before that he was appar-

ed in scarlet,

robes imperiall,

and of triumph

Secondly, in that this is full of names of blasphemy: the other carried the name of blasphemie

only in his heads. So God

did teach that this beast is much increased in impietie and inultice, and doeth in this last

age, triumph

in both these more insolently and proudly then euer

before. 6 A scarlet colour, that is,

with a red and purple garment: and surely it was not without cause that the Romish Clergie was so much delighted with this colour. 4 That harlot, the spirituall Babylon which is Rome. She is described by her attire, profession and deeds. 5 In attire most glorious, triumphant, most rich, and most gorgeous.

6 In profession the nourisher of all, in this verse, & teaching her mysteries vnto all, ver. 5, setting forth all things most magnificently: but indeed most pernicious becoming miserable men with her cup, & bringeth vpon them a deadly giddines. 6 De-ceasing with the title of religion, and publike inscription of mystrie: which the beast in times past did not beare. 8 An exposition: in which S. Iohn declareth what manner of woman this is. 9 In manner of deeds: She is red with blood, and sheddeth it most licentious; & therefore is coloured with the blood of the Saints, as on the contrary part, Christ is set forth imbrued with the blood of the enemies, Efa. 63. 1

10 A passage vnto the second part of this chapter, by occasion giuen of S. Iohn, as the words of the Angel doe shew in the next verse. 11 The second part or place as I said ver. 1. The enarration of the vision promised in the verse following. Now there is deliuered first an enarration of the beast and his story, vnto the 14 verse. After, of the harlot, vnto the end of the chapter. 12 The story of the beast hath a triple description of him. The first is a distinction of this beast from all that euer haue bene at any time: which distinction is contained in this verse. The second is a delineation or painting out of the beast by things present, by which he might euen at that time be known of the godly: and this delineation is according to his heads, verse 12, 13. 14

This beast is that Empire of Rome, of which I spake chapter 13. 11. according to the mutations and changes whereof, which then had already hapned, the holy Ghost hath distinguished and set out the same. The Apostle distinguisheth this beast from all others in these words: The beast which thou sawest, was and is not. For so I expound the words of the Apostle for the euident sake, as I will further declare in the next following. 13 The meaning is, that beast which thou sawest before (chap. 13. 1.) and which yet thou hast now scene, was, (was I say) euen from Iulius Cesar in respect

3 So he caried me away into the wilderness in the Spirit, and I saw a woman sit vpon a scarlet coloured beast, full of names of blasphemy, which had seven heads and ten hornes

4 And the woman was arrayed in purple and scarlet, and gilded with gold, and precious stones, and pearles, and had a cup of gold in her hand full of abomination and filthinesse of her fornication.

5 And in her forehead was a name written, A mystrie, that great Babylon that mother of whore domes, and abominations of the earth.

6 And I saw the woman drunken with the blood of Saints, and with the blood of the Martyrs of Iesus, and when I sawe her, I wondred with great maruell.

7 Then the Angel said vnto me, Wherefore maruellest thou? I will shew thee the my-strie of that woman, and of that beast that beareth her, which hath seven heads, and ten hornes.

8 The beast that thou hast scene, was,

and is not, and shall ascend out of the bottomlesse pit, and shall goe into perdition, and they that dwell on the earth shall wonder (whose names are not written in the booke of life from the foundation of the world) when they beheld the beast that was, and is not,

and yet is.

9 Here is the minde that hath wisdom.

The seven heads are seven mountaines,

whereon the woman sitteth: they are also seven kings.

10 Fiue are fallen, and one is, and another is not yet come: and when he cometh,

they beheld the beast that was, and is not,

and yet is.

9 Here is the minde that hath wisdom.

The seven heads are seven mountaines,

whereon the woman sitteth: they are also

seven kings.

10 Fiue are fallen, and one is, and another is not yet come: and when he cometh,

he must continue a long space.

11 And the beast that was, and is not, is euen the eight, and is one of the seven, and shall goe into destruction.

12 And the ten hornes which thou saw-est, are ten Kings, which yet haue not recei-ued a kingdome, but shall receiue power, as Kings at one houre with the beast.

13 These haue one minde, and shall giue their power, and authoritie vnto the beast.

14 These shall fight with the Lambe, and the Lambe shall overcome them: for hee is citie it is, that when Iohn wrote these things, had rule over the kings of the earth. It was and is not, and yet is remaineth to this day, but it is declining to destruction. 17 This is the painting out of the beast by things present (as I said before) whereby S. Iohn ende-uoured to describe the same, that he might be both knowne of the godly in that age, and bee further obserued and marked of posterity afterwards. This delineation hath one type, that is, his heads, but a double description or application of the type: one permanent, from the nature it selfe, the other changeable, by the working of men. The description permanent, is by the seven hills, in this verse, the other that flieth, is from the seven kings, verse 10. 11. And here it is worthy to be obserued, that one type hath sometime two or more applications, as seemeth good to the holy Ghost to expresse either one thing by diuers types, or diuers things by one type. So I noted before of the seven Spirits, Chap. 1. 4. Now this woman that sitteth vpon seven hills, is the ci-

tie of Rome, called in times past of the Grecians, in latine, ciuitas, of seven tops or crests, and of Varro, septiceps, 1. of her seven heads (as here) of seven heads, and of others, septemcollis, 1. standing vpon seven hills. 18 The beginning of these Kings or Em-perors, is almost the same with the beginning of the Church of Christ, which I shew-

the second place of this description.

17 Every children know what the seuen hills are, in which is so much spoken of, and whereof Virgil

thus reporteth,

And compasseth

seven towres in one wall: that is, that when Iohn wrote these things, had rule over the kings of the earth. It was and is not, and yet is remaineth to this day, but it is declining to destruction. 17 This is the painting out of the beast by things present (as I said before) whereby S. Iohn ende-uoured to describe the same, that he might be both knowne of the godly in that age, and bee further obserued and marked of posterity afterwards. This delineation hath one type, that is, his heads, but a double description or application of the type: one permanent, from the nature it selfe, the other changeable, by the working of men. The description permanent, is by the seven hills, in this verse, the other that flieth, is from the seven kings, verse 10. 11. And here it is worthy to be obserued, that one type hath sometime two or more applications, as seemeth good to the holy Ghost to expresse either one thing by diuers types, or diuers things by one type. So I noted before of the seven Spirits, Chap. 1. 4. Now this woman that sitteth vpon seven hills, is the ci-

tie of Rome, called in times past of the Grecians, in latine, ciuitas, of seven tops or crests, and of Varro, septiceps, 1. of her seven heads (as here) of seven heads, and of others, septemcollis, 1. standing vpon seven hills. 18 The beginning of these Kings or Em-perors, is almost the same with the beginning of the Church of Christ, which I shewed before, Chap. 1. 1. Namely from the yeere 25, after the passion of Christ, what time the Temple and Church of the Iewes was overthrowen. In which yeere it came to passe by the providence of God, that that laying, The beast was, and is not, was fulfilled before the destruction of the Iewes immediately following, came to passe. That was the yeere from the building of the citie of Rome, 809 from which yeere S. Iohn both nameth the Emperours which hitherto had bene, when he wrote these things, and foretelleth of two other next to come: and with this purpose, that when this particular prediction or foretelling of things to come, should take effect, the truth of all other predictions in the Church, might bee the more confirmed. Which signe

God of old mentioned in the Law, Deut. 18. and Ieremie confirmeth, Chapter 28. 8.

19 Whose names are these: first, Seruius Sulpicius Galba, who was the seuenth

Emperour of the people of Rome, the second Marcus Salustius Ottho, the third Annius

Vitellius, the fourth, Titus Flauus Vespasianus, the fifth, Titus Vespasianus his sonne, of his owne name. 20 Flauius Domitian, sonne of the first Vespasian. For in the latter end of his dayes, Saint Iohn wrote these things, as witnesse Irenaeus, Lib. 5. aduersus haereses. 21 Nerva, The Empire being now translated from the family of Flau-

ius. This man reigned only one yeere, foure moneths, and nine dayes, as the history writers doe tell. 22 This is spoken by the figure Synecdoche, as much to say, as that head of the beast which was and is not, because it is cut off, and Nerva in so shorte time extinguished. How many heads there were, so many beasts there seemed to bee in one. See the like speech in the third verse of the thirteenth Chapter. 23 Nerua Traianus, who himselfe in diuers respects is called here the seuenth and eighth.

24 Though in number and order of succession hee be the eighth, yet he is reckoned together with one of these heads, because Nerva and hee were one head. For this man obtained authoritie together with Nerva, and was Consul with him, when Nerva left his life. 25 Namely, to molest with persecutions the Churches of Christ, as the Histories doe accord, and I haue briefly noted, Chapter 2. 10.

26 The third place of this description, as I said verse 8. is a propheticall prediction of things to come, which the beast should doe, as in the words following Saint Iohn doth not obscurely signifie, saying, which haue not yet receiued the kingdome, &c.

For there is an Antichrist or opposition betweene these kings, and those that went before. And first the persons are described in this verse, then their deedes in the two verses following. 27 That is, arising with their kingdomes out of the Romane beast: at such time as that politicall Empire beganne by the craft of the Popes, greatly to fall. 28 Namely, with that second beast, whom we called before a false prophet, which beast ascending out of the earth, got vnto himselfe all the au-thoritie and power of the first beast, and exercised the same before his face, as was said, Chapter 14. 11, 12. For when the politicall Empire of the West began to bow downwards, there both arose those ten kings, and the second beast tooke opportunitie offered to vlturp vnto himselfe all the power of the former beast. These kings long agoe, many haue numbered and described to be true, and a great part of the euent plainely testifieth the same in this our age. 29 That is, by consent and agreement, that they may conspire with the beast, and depend vpon his becke. Their flourie is diuided into three parts, counsels, actes, and euents. The counsells some of them consist in communicating of iudgements and affections: and some in communicating of power, which they are said to haue giuen vnto the beast, in this verse.

30 With Christ and his Church, as the reason following doeth declare, and heere

Lord of Lords, and King of Kings : and they that are on his side, called and chosen, and faithfull.

31 This is the other member of the enarration, as I said verse 7 belonging vnto the harlot, shewed in the vision, ver. 3. In this history of the harlot, these three things are distinctly propounded, what is her magnificence, in this verse, what is her fall, and by whom it shall happen vnto her in the two verses following, and lastly, who that harlot is, in the last verse. This place which by order of nature should have beene the first, is therefore made the last, because it was more fit to be ioynd with the next chapter.

32 That is, as vnconstant and variable as are the waters. Vpon this foundation scitich this harlot as Queene, a vaine person, vpon that which is vaine. 33 The ten Kings, as verse 12. The accomplishment of this fact and event is daily increased in this our age by the singular prouidence and most mighty gouernement of God. Wherefore the facts are propounded in this verse, and the cause of them in the verses following. 34 A reason rendred from the chiefe efficient cause, which is the prouidence of God, by which alone Saint Iohn by immersion of order affirmeth to haue come to passe, both that the Kings should execute vpon the harlot that which pleased God, and which he declared in the verse next before going : and also that by one consent, and counsell, they should giue their kingdome vnto the beast, &c. verse 13, 14. for as these being blinded haue before depended vpon the becke of the beast that listeth vpon the harlot, so it is said, that afterward it shall come to passe, that they shall turne blicke, and shall fall away from her, when their hearts shall be turned into better state by the grace and mercy of God. 35 That is, Rome that great Citie, or onely Citie (as Iustian calleth it) the King and head whereof was then the Emperour, but now the Pope, since that the condition of the beast was changed.

C H A P. XVIII.

2 The horrible destruction of Babylon is set out. 11, 16, 18. The merchants of the earth, who were enriched with the pompe and luxuriousnesse of it, weepe and waile: 20 But all the elect reioyce for that iust vengeance of God.

1 The second place (as I said before 17. 1.) of the historie of Babylon is of the wofull fall and ruine of that whore of Babylon. This historickall prediction concerning her, is threefold. The first a plaine and simple foretelling of her ruine, in three verses. The second a figurative prediction by the circumstances, thence vnto the 20. verse. The third, a confirmation of the same by signe or wonder, vnto the ende of the chapter.

2 Either Christ the eternall word of God the Father (as often elsewhere) or a created Angel, and one deputed vnto this seruice, but thoroughly furnished with greatness of power, and with light of glory, as the ensigne of power. 3 The prediction or foretelling of her ruine, containing both the fall of Babylon, in this verse, and the cause thereof vttered by way of allegorie concerning her spirituall and carnall wickednesse, that is, her most great impietie and vniustice, in the next verse: her fall is first simply declared of the Angel, and then the greatness thereof is shewed here, by the euents, when he saith, it shall see the seate and habitation of deuils, of wilde beastes, and cursed foules, as of old, Elay 13. 21. and often elsewhere. * Chap. 14. 8. Iai. 2. 1. 9. Iere. 51. 8. 4 The second prediction, which is of the circumstances of the ruine of Babylon: of these there are two kindes: one going before it, as that beforehand the godly are deliuered, vnto the ninth verse: the other following vpon her ruine, namely the lamentation of the wicked, and reioicing of the godly, vnto the twentieth verse.

And after these things, I saw another² Angel come downe from heauen, hauing great power, so that the earth was lightened with his glory,

3 And hee cried out mightily with a lowde voyce, saying, * It is fallen, it is fallen, Babylon that great citie, and is become the habitation of deuils, and the hold of all foule spirits, and a cage of euery vncleane and hatefull bird.

3 For all nations haue drunken of the wine of the wrath of her fornication, and the Kings of the earth haue committed fornication with her, and the merchants of the earth are waxed rich of the abundance of her pleasures.

4 And I heard another voice from heauen say, * Goe out of her, my people, that yee be not partakers of her finnes, and that yee receive not of her plagues.

5 For her finnes are * come vp into heauen, and God hath remembered her iniquities.

6 * Reward her, euen as shee hath rewarded you, and giue her double according to her workes: and in the cup that shee hath filled to you, fill her the double.

7 Inasmuch as shee glorified her selfe, and liued in pleasure, so much giue yee to her torment and sorrow: for shee saith³ in her heart, I fit being a Queene, and am no widow, and shall see no mourning.

8 Therefore shall her plagues come at one day, death, and sorrow, and famine, and shee shall bee burnt with fire: for that God which condemneth her, is a strong Lord.

9 And the kings of the earth shall bewaile her, and lament for her, which haue committed fornication, and liued in pleasure with her, when they shall see that smoke of that her burning,

10 And shall stand as farre off for feare of her torment, saying, Alas, alas, that great citie Babylon, that mightie citie: for in one houre is thy iudgement come.

11 And the merchants of the earth shall weepe and waile ouer her: for no man buyeth their ware any more.

12 The ware of gold, and siluer, and of precious stone, and of pearles, and of fine linnen, and of purple, and of silke, and of skarlet, and of all manner of Thyne wood, and of all vessels of yuorie, and of all vessels of most precious wood and of brasse, and of yron, and of marble.

13 And of cinnamom, and odours, and oynments, and frankincense, and wine, and oyle, and fine floure, and wheate, and beastes, and sheepe, and horses, and charets, and seruants, and foules of men.

14 (And the apples that thy soule lusted after, are departed from thee, and all things which were fat and excelent, are departed from thee, and thou shalt finde them no more.)

15 The merchants of these things which were waxed rich, shall stand as farre off from her, for feare of her torment, weeping and wailing,

16 And saying, Alas, alas, that great citie that was clothed in fine linnen and purple, and skarlet, and gilded with golde, and precious stone, and pearles.

ple and mightie. 2 I shall taste of ow. 3 Shortly, and at one instant. 4 The circumstances following the fall of Babylon, or the consequents thereof (as I distinguished them, verse 4) are two: Namely the lamentation of the wicked vnto the 19. ver. and the reioicing of the godly, verse 20. This most sorrowfull lamentation according to the persons of them that lament hath three members: the first whereof is the mourning of the kings and mightie men of the earth, in two verses: The second is, the lamentation of the merchants that traffique by land, thence vnto the 6. verse: The third is, the wailing of those that merchandise by sea, verse 16. 17. 18 In euery of those the cause and manner of their mourning is described in order, according to the condition of those that mourne, with obseruation of that which best agreeth vnto them. 9 The lamentation of those that trade by land, as I distinguished immediately before. 10 An apostrophe, or turning of the speech by imitation: viced for more vehemencie, as if those merchants, after the manner of mourners, should in passionate speech speake vnto Babylon, though now vtterly fallen and ouerthrowen. So Elay 13. 9. and in many other places. * By this is meant that season which is next before the fall of the leafe, at what season fruit ripen, and the world signifieth such fruites as are longed for.

17 For

11 The manner of mourning y^esed by them also made by sea.
12 The other consequence vpon the other ruine of Babylon, is the exultation or reioycing of the godly in hea- ven and in earth as was noted verse 9.
13 The third prediction, as I said verse 1, handling of a signe, and the interpretation thereof is in two forms, first by a simple propounding of the thing it self in this verse, and then by declaration of the same in the verse following.
* Ierem. 51. 63
14 The enemies were, and one of them opposit vnto the other for amplification sake. There shall be faith he, in Babylon no more joy at all in this and the next verse, but all heauie and lamentable things, from the bloodie slauethers of the righteous and the vengeance of God comming vpon it for the time.
15 That is shed by bloody massacres and calling for vengeance.
16 That is, prooued and found out, as if God had appointed a iudgement concerning the impietie, vnnaturallnesse, and vniustice of those men.

17 For in one houre so great riches are come to desolation. And euery shipmaster, and all the people that occupie ships and shipmen and whoeuer traffique on the sea, shall stand a farr off,
18 And crye, when they see that smoke of that her burning, saying, What citie was like vnto this great citie?
19 And they shall cast dust on their heads, and crye, weeping, and wailing, and say, Alas, alas, that great citie, wherein were made rich all that had ships on the sea by her costlinesse: for in one houre thee is made desolate.
20 O heauen, reioyce of her, and yee holy Apostles and Prophets: for God hath punished her, to be reuenged on her for your sakes, 21 Then a mightie Angel tooke vp a stone like a great milstone, * and cast it into the Sea, saying, With such violence shall that great citie Babylon be cast, and shall be found no more.
22 And the voice of harpers, and musitians, and of pipers, and trumpeters shall bee heard no more in thee, and no craftsman, of whatsoeuer craft he be, shall be found any more in thee: and the sound of a milstone shall be heard no more in thee.
23 And the light of a candle shall shine no more in thee: and the voice of the bridegrome and of the bride shall be heard no more in thee: for thy merchants were the great men of the earth: and with thine enchantment were deceiued all nations.
24 And in her was found the blood of the Prophets, * and of the Saints, and of all that were slaine vpon the earth.

16 That is, prooued and found out, as if God had appointed a iudgement concerning the impietie, vnnaturallnesse, and vniustice of those men.

CHAP. XIX.

The heavenly companie praise God for auenging the blood of his seruants on the whore. 9 They are written blessed, that are called to the Lambes supper. 10 The Angel will not be worshipped. 11 The mightie King of kings appeareth from heauen. 12 The battell. 13 wherein the beast is taken, 14 and cast into the burning lake.

And after these things I heard a great voice of a great multitude in heauen, saying, * Hallelu-iah, saluation, and glory, and honour and power be to the Lord our God.

2 For true and righteous are his iudgements: for hee hath condemned that great whore which did corrupt the earth with her fornication, and hath auenged the blood of his seruants shed by her hand.

3 And againe they said, * Hallelu-iah: and that her smoke rose vp for euermore.

The transition hath two places, one of praising God for the ouerthrow done vnto Babylon in 4. verses: and another likewise of praye, and Propheticall, for the comming of Christ vnto his kingdome, and his most royall marriage with his church, thence vnto the tenth verse. The former praise hath three branches, distinguished after the ancient manner of those that sing: propositio, that is, an inuication, or proposition in two verses: avertitio, a response or answer in the third verse: and conclusio, a close or ioyning together in harmonie: all which I thought good of purpose to distinguish in this place, lest any man should with Porphyrius, or other like dogs, object vnto Saint Iohn, or the heavenly Church, a childish and idle repetition of speech. 1. Praise the Lord. 2. The proposition of praise with exhortation in this verse, and the cause thereof, in the next verse. 3. The song of the Antiphonie or response, containing an amplification of the praise of God, from the perpetual and most certain testimony of his diuine iudgement as was done at Babilon & Gomorra, Ge. 19

4 And the foure and twentie Elders, and the foure beastes fell downe, and worshipped God that sat on the throne, saying, Amen, Hallelu-iah.

5 Then a voice came out of the throne, saying, Praise our God, all yee his seruants, and yee that feare him, both small and great.

6 And I heard like a voice of a great multitude, and as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of strong thundrings, saying, Hallelu-iah: for the Lord that God that Almighty one hath reigned.

7 Let vs bee glad and reioyce, and give glory to him: for the marriage of the Lamb is come, and his wife hath made her selfe ready.

8 And to her was granted, that she should be arrayed with pure fine linnen and shining, for the fine linnen is the brighteousnesse of Saints.

9 Then he said vnto me, Write, * Blessed are they which are called vnto the Lambes supper. And he said vnto mee, These words of God are true.

10 And I fell before his feete, * to worship him, but he said vnto mee, See thou doe it not: for I am thy fellow seruant, and one of thy brethren, which haue the testimony of Iesus, worship God: for the testimonie of Iesus is the Spirit of prophecie.

11 And I saw heauen open, and behold a white horse, and hee that sat vpon him, was called faithfull and true, and hee iudgeth and fighteth righteously.

12 And his eyes were as a flame of fire, and on his head were many crownes: and hee had a name written, that no man knew but himselfe.

13 And hee was clothed with a garment dipt in blood, and his name was called THE VVORD OF GOD.

14 And the hostes which were in heauen followed him vpon white horses, clothed with fine linnen white and pure.

15 And out of his mouth went out a sharpe sword, that with it he should smite the heathen: for hee shall rule them with a rod of yron: for he it is that treadeth the wine presse of the fiercenesse and wrath of Almighty God.

16 And hee hath vpon his garment, and vpon his thigh a name written, THE KING OF KINGS, AND LORD OF LORDS.

reth in the next verse. 11 The particular historie of this verse is brought in by occasion, and as it were besides the purpose, that S. Iohn might make a publike example of his owne infirmity, and of the modest sanctimonie of the Angel, who both renouced for himselfe the diuine honours and recalled all the seruants of God vnto worship of him alone: as also 22. 8. * Chap. 22. 8. c Which are commanded to beare witness of Iesu. d For Iesus is the marke that all the prophetes shew at. 12 The second place of this Chapter (as I said verse 1.) is of the victorie gotten by Christ against both the beastes: in which first Christ is described as one ready to fight, vnto the 16. verse, then is shewed the battell to be begun, thence vnto the 18. vers. lastly, is set forth the victorie, vnto the end of the Chapter. In this place doe shine forth most excellent properties of Christ as our heavenly Iudge & reuenger, according to his person, companie, effects and names. 13 Properties belonging to his person, that he is heavenly, Iudge, faithfull, true, iust in this verse, searching out all things, ruling ouer all, to be searched out of none, verse 12. the triumpher, and the very essentiall word of God, verse 13. 14 The companie or retinue of Christ, holy, innumerable, heavenly, iudiciall, royall and pure. 15 The effects of Christ prepared vnto battell, that with his mouth hee striketh the Gentiles, ruleth and destroyeth * Psal. 9. 16 The name agreeing vnto Christ according to the former properties, exprest after the manner of the Hebrewes, * Chap. 17. 14. 1. tim. 16. 15.

4 The second place of praise, as I said, Verse 1, which first is commanded from God in this verse: and then is in most ample manner pronouncing of the creatures, both because they see that kingdome of Christ to come, which most they desire, Verse 6, also because they see that the Church is called forth to be brought home into the house of her husband by her marriage vnto the fellowship of his kingdome, Verse 7. Wherefore Saint Iohn is commanded to write into a booke the Epiphonema, or acclamation ioyned with a diuine testimony, vers. 6
4 Out of the Temple from God, as 11. 19
5 Without the Temple in heauen.
7 Namely, vnto that holy marriage, both her selfe in person in this verse, and also furnished of her spouse with marriage gifts princely and diuine, is adorned and prepared in the next verse.
8 As an ensigne of Kingly and Priestly dignity: which dignity Christ beareth vpon vs, Chap. 1. 6.
9 This is a gift giuen by the husband for marriage sake, and a most choice ornament which Christ bestowed vpon vs, as vpon his spouse.
6 Good works which are lively testimonies of faith
* Math. 23. 2.
10 Namely the Angel, as appeared in the next verse.

17 The second member, as I said verse 11. A reprochfull calling forth of his enemies vnto battell: in which not chemises (for why should they be called fourth of the King of the world, or prouoked being his subiects) for that were not comely) but in their hearing, the birds of the ayre, are called to eate their carcases.

18 That is, openly, and in sight of all men. Num. 25. 4. and 2 Sam. 18. 16.

19 That is, through that inferiour heauen, and which is secret vnto men Hebrew phrase.

20 The third member (as was said verse 11.) of the victorie obtained by Christ. Vnto this apperteyneth two things: his buckling with the beast, and his forces, in this verse: and the euent most magnificent, described after the manner of men, in the verses following. All these things are plaies.

21 Namely, that beast with seven heads, of which before Chapter 13. 1. and 17. 3.

22 That is, that beast with two heads, of which 13. 11. Look more Chapter 16. 14.

17 And I sawe an Angel stand in the sunne, who cried with a lowde voice, saying to all the foules that did flie by the middes of heauen, Come, and gather your selues together vnto the supper of the great God,

18 That ye may eate the flesh of kings, and the flesh of high captaines, and the flesh of mightie men, and the flesh of horses, and of them that sit on them, and the flesh of all free men, and bond men, and of small and great.

19 And I sawe the beast, and the kings of the earth, and their hosts gathered together to make battell against him that sat on the horse, and against his armie.

20 But the beast was taken, and with him that false prophet that wrought miracles before him, whereby he deceived them that received the beastes marke, and them that worshipped his image. These both were alius cast into a lake of fire burning with brimstone.

21 And the remnant were slaine with the sword of him that sitteth vpon the horse, which commeth out of his mouth, and all the foules were filled full with their flesh, on them, and iudgment was giuen vnto them, and I sawe the foules of them that were beheaded for the witnesse of Iesus, and for the word of God, and which did not worship the beast, neither his image, neither had taken his marke vpon their foreheade or on their hands: and they liued, and reigned with Christ a thousand yeere.

But the rest of the dead men shall not liue againe, vntill the thousand yeeres be finished: this is the first resurrection.

Blessed and holy is hee that hath part in the first resurrection: for on such the second death hath no power: but they shall bee the Priests of God and of Christ, and shall reigne with him a thousand yeere.

And when the thousand yeeres are expired, Satan shall be loosed out of his prison,

And shall goe out to deceive the people, which are in the foure quarters of the earth, even Gog and Magog, to gather them together to battell, whose number is as the sand of the Sea.

And they went vp into the plaine of the earth, and they compassed the tents of the Saints about, and the beloued citie: but fire came downe from God out of heauen, and deuoured them.

And the deuill that deceived them, was cast into a lake of fire & brimstone: where that beast & that false prophet are, and shall be tormented euery day and night for euermore.

And I saw a great white throne, and one that sat on it, from whose face fled away both the earth & heauen, and their place was no more found.

And I saw the dead, both great & small stand before God: and the bookes were opened, and another booke was opened, which is the booke of life, and the dead were iudged of those things, which were written in the bookes, according to their works.

And the sea gaue vp her dead, which were in her, and death and hell deliuered vp the dead, which were in them: and they were

Of which I spake, verse 2. Then therefore shall bee giuen vnto him libertie to rage against the church, and to molest the Saints for the finnes of men: vnto whom the faithfull shall haue associated themselves more then was meete, taling with them of their impurie of doctrine and life.

The worke or acte of Satan (which is the first member, as I distinguished in the verse before going) to deceue the whole world, enuoynto the vitermost nations thereof to arme them against the people of God, in this verse, and to besiege and oppresse the church, with his whole strength, in the verse following: *Exe. 39. 2. 6. As if hee said, so much that the whole face of the earth, how great soeuer it is, was filled.

The wrath of God, consuming the aduersaires, and overthrowing all their enterprises. Heb. 10. 27. And this is the second member mentioned verse 7. the overthrow of Satan.

The third member, eternal destruction against those that are overcome: as I noted in the same place.

The second part of this chapter, in which is described the iudge, in this verse, and the last iudgement in the verse following.

That is, a tribunall seuerely Princelike and glorious: for to doeth the Greeke word also signifie.

That is, Christ, before whom when he cometh vnto iudgement, heauen and earth shall perith for the greatnesse of his maiestie, 2 Pet. 3. 7. 10. &c.

That is, Christ the iudge. 1. cor. 5. 10. 23. As it were, his bookes of reckoning or accounts, that is, the testimonie of our conscience, and of our workes, which by no meanes can be auoided. This is spoken after the manner of men.

Chap. 3. 5. and 21. 27. philip 4. 3.

The booke of the eternall decree of God, in which God the Father hath elected in Christ according to the good pleasure of his will, those that shall be heires of life. This also is spoken according to the manner of men.

This is a prevention of an answer to an obiection: for happily some man will say, But they are dead, whom the sea, death and the graue hath consumed, how shall they appeare before the iudge? S. Iohn answereth, By resurrection from death, wherunto all things (howeuer repugnant) shall minister and serue at the commandement of God, as Daniel 12.

7 This was a type of the authority of the good and faithfull seruants of God in the church, taken from the manner of men.

8 Of the Martyrs, which suffered in those first times.

9 Of the Martyrs which suffered after that both the beast were now risen vp, chap. 15. for there, these things are expounded.

10 Whosoever shall lie dead in sinne, and not know the truth of God.

11 They shall not be renewed with that newnesse of the life by the enlightning of the Gospel of the glorie of Christ. For this is the first resurrection, by which foules of the dead doe rise from their death. In the second resurrection their bodies shall rise againe.

12 That whereby both body and soule, that is the whole man is addicted and deliuered vnto eternal death. See chap. 2. 11

13 A returne vnto the interrupted history, by refusing the words which are in the end of the fourth verse.

14 The second historie, of the latter victory of Christ, as was said verse 1. In which are summarily described the worke, overthrow, and eternall punishment of Satan.

15 Of which I spake, verse 2. Then therefore shall bee giuen vnto him libertie to rage against the church, and to molest the Saints for the finnes of men: vnto whom the faithfull shall haue associated themselves more then was meete, taling with them of their impurie of doctrine and life.

16 The worke or acte of Satan (which is the first member, as I distinguished in the verse before going) to deceue the whole world, enuoynto the vitermost nations thereof to arme them against the people of God, in this verse, and to besiege and oppresse the church, with his whole strength, in the verse following: *Exe. 39. 2. 6. As if hee said, so much that the whole face of the earth, how great soeuer it is, was filled.

17 The wrath of God, consuming the aduersaires, and overthrowing all their enterprises. Heb. 10. 27. And this is the second member mentioned verse 7. the overthrow of Satan.

18 The third member, eternal destruction against those that are overcome: as I noted in the same place.

19 The second part of this chapter, in which is described the iudge, in this verse, and the last iudgement in the verse following.

20 That is, a tribunall seuerely Princelike and glorious: for to doeth the Greeke word also signifie.

25 This is a prevention of an answer to an obiection: for happily some man will say, But they are dead, whom the sea, death and the graue hath consumed, how shall they appeare before the iudge? S. Iohn answereth, By resurrection from death, wherunto all things (howeuer repugnant) shall minister and serue at the commandement of God, as Daniel 12.

CHAP. XX.

The Angel 2 bindeth Satan for a thousand yeeres, 8 Being loosed, hee stirreth vp Gog and Magog, that is, priuie and open enemies against the Saints, 11 but the vengeance of the Lord is troth off their insolenie. 12 The bookes are opened, by which the dead are iudged.

And I sawe an Angel come downe from heauen, hauing the key of the bottomlesse pit, and a great chaine in his hand.

And hee tooke the dragon that olde serpent, which is the deuill and Satan, and hee bound him a thousand yeeres:

And cast him into the bottomlesse pit, and hee shut him vp, and sealed the doore vpon him, that hee should deceiue the people no more, til the thousand yeeres were fulfilled: for after that he must be loosed for a little season.

And I saw a seates: and they sat vpon

one of the dragon overcome vnto the 10. verse: the other of the resurrection and last iudgement vnto the end of the chapter. The story of the dragon is doubled: First of the first victory, after which he was bound by Christ, vnto the 6. ver. The second is of the last victory, whereby he was thrown down into euertlasting punishment, thence vnto the 16. verse. This first history hapened in the first time of the Christian Church, when the dragon thrown downe from heauen by Christ, went about to molest the new birth of the Church in the earth, Chap. 12. 17, 18. For which cause I gaue warning, that this story of the Dragon must be annexed vnto that place.

That is, of hell, whither God threw downe the Angels which had sinned, and bound them in chaine of darkness to be kept vnto damnation, 2 Pet. 2. 4. Jude 6.

The first wherof (continuing this history with the end of the second chapter) in the 36. yeere from the passion of Christ, when the Church of the Iewes being overthrowen Satan assayed to invade the Christian Church gathered of the Gentiles, and to destroy part of her feede, Chap. 12. 17. The thousandth yeere falleth precisely vpon the times of that wicked Hildebrand, who was called Gregorie the seuenth, a most damnable Necromancer and forcerer, whom Satan vsed as an instrument when he was loosed out of bonds, thence forth to annoy the Saints of God with most cruel persecutions, and the whole world with diffentions, and most bloody warres: as Benno the Cardinall reporteth at large. And this is the first victory gotten ouer the Dragon in the earth.

Namely, with that publike and violent deceit which he attempted before, Chap. 12. and which after a thousand yeeres (alacke for woe) hee most mightily procured in the Christian world.

Which being once expired, the second battell and victory shall be, of which, Verse 7. 8. A description of the common state of the Church of Christ in earth, in that space of a thousand yeeres, for which the deuill was in bonds: in which first the authority, life, and common honour of the godly, is declared, Verse 4. Secondly, newnesse of life is preached vnto others by the Gospel, after that space, Verse 5. Finally, he concludeth with promises, Verse 6.

For iudgement was committed to them, as to members ioynted to the head: not that Christs office was giuen ouer to them.

The second death, Chap. xxj. Hierusalem described. 135 judged euery man according to their workes.

4 And death and hell were cast into the lake of fire: this is the second death.

5 And whosoever was not found written in the booke of life, was cast into the lake of fire.

6 And I saw a new heaven, and a new earth, for the first heaven, and the first earth were passed away, and there was no more sea.

7 And I John saw the holy citie new Hierusalem come down from God out of heauen, prepared as a bride trimmed for her husband.

8 And I heard a great voice out of heauen, saying, Behold, the Tabernacle of God is with men, and hee will dwell with them: and they shall be his people, and God himselfe shall be their God with them.

9 And God shall wipe away all teares from their eyes: and there shall be no more death, neither sorow, neither crying, neither shall there be any more paine: for the first things are passed,

10 And he that sat vpon the throne, said, Behold, I make all things new: and hee said vnto me, Write: for these words are faithfull and true.

11 And he said vnto me, It is done, I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end: I will giue to him that is athirst, of the well of the water of life freely.

12 And he that overcometh, shall inherit all things, and I will be his God, and he shall bee my sonne.

13 But the fearefull and the vnbeleeuing, and the abominable and murderers, and whoremongers, and forcerers, and idolaters, and all liars shall haue their part in the lake, which burneth with fire and brimstone, which is the second death.

14 And there came vnto me one of the seuen Angels, which had the seuen vials full of the seuen last plagues, and talked with me, saying, Come: I will shew thee the bride, the Lambes wife.

15 And he carried me away in the spirit to a great and high mountaine, and he shewed me that great citie, that holy Hierusalem, descending out of heauen from God,

16 Having the glory of God: and her shining was like vnto a stone most precious, as a iasper stone cleare as chrystall,

17 And had a great wall and high, and had twelve gates, and at the gates twelve Angels, and the names writ which are the twelve tribes of the children of Israel:

18 On the East part there were three gates, and on the North side three gates, on the South side three gates, and on the West side three gates.

19 And the wall of the citie had twelve foundations, and in them the names of the Lambes twelve Apostles.

20 And he that talked with me, had a golden reede, to measure the citie withall, and the gates thereof, and the walle thereof.

21 And the citie lay square, and the length is as large as the bredth of it, and he measured the citie with the reed, twelve thousand furlongs: and the length, and the bredth, and the height of it are equall.

22 And hee measured the wall thereof, an hundred fourtie and foure cubites, by the measure of man, that is, of the Angel.

23 And the building of the wall of it was of iasper: and the citie was pure gold, like vnto cleare glasse.

24 And the foundations of the wall of the citie were garnished with all manner of precious stones: the first foundation was iasper: the second of Saphire: the third of a Calcedonie: the fourth of an Emeraude:

25 The fifth of a Sardonix: the sixth of a Sardius: the seventh of a Chrysolite: the eighth of a Beril: the ninth of a Topaz: the tenth of a Chrysoprasus: the eleuenth of a Iacynth: the twelfth an Amethyft.

26 And the twelve gates were twelve pearls, and euery gate is of one pearle, and the streete of the citie is pure gold, as shining glasse.

27 And I saw no Temple therein: for the Lord God Almightye and the Lambe are the Temple of it.

28 And this citie hath no neede of the sunne, neither of the moone to shine in it: for the glory of God did light it: and the Lambe is the light of it.

29 And the people which are faued, shall walke in the light of it: & the kings of the earth shall bring their glory and honour vnto it.

8 A type of that Church which is one, ample or Catholike, holy, celestially, built of God, in this verse: and glorious, in the verse following.

9 This type propounded generally, is after particularly declared, ver. 12, &c.

10 A particular description (as I noted verse 12) of the celestially Church first, by the essential parts of the same, under the similitude of a citie, vnto verse 12.

11 Secondly, by the forme, accidents, vnto the end of the Chapter.

12 Thirdly, by the effects, in the beginning of the next Chapter, the essential parts are noted, the matter and the forme in the whole worke of these the superfluities and foundation of the wall are entire parts (as they vie to be called) which parts are first described in figure, vnto the 14. verse, afterwards more exactly.

CHAP. XXII.

1 The river of the water of life is shewed, 2 and the tree of life: 6. 7 Then followeth the conclusion of this prophetic, 8 where Iohn declareth, that the things herein contained, are most true: 13. And now the third time repeateth these words, All things come from him who is the beginning and the end.

1 Here is abolished and finished the description of the celestiall Church (as I shewed before, Chap. 11. 12.) by the effects in 5. verses, and then this booke is concluded in the rest of the Chapter. The effects proceeding from God, who dwelleth in 3 Churches, are these: the eu-erlasting grace of God, in this verse, the eternal liuing of the godly, as Chap. 3. 7. the eternal fruit which the godly bring forth vnto God, themselves and others, Verse 2. freedom and immunitie from all euill, God himselfe taking pleasure in his seruants, and they likewise in their God, Verse 3. The beholding and sight of God, and seeing of the faithful from all eternitie, verse 4. the light of God and an euerlasting kingdome and glory, verse 5.

* E/ay 60. 19. 2 This whole booke is concluded and made vp by a confirmation, and a salutation. The confirmation hath three places: The words of the Angel vnto the 15. verse, the words of Christ, verse 16. 17. and the obtestation made by Saint Iohn from diuine authoritie, thence vnto the 20. verse. By the speech of the Angel this prophetic is confirmed, vnto the 8. verse, and then he speaketh of the vie of this booke in the verses following. The prophetic is first confirmed by the Angel from the nature thereof, that it is faithful and true: Secondly, from the nature of the efficient cause, both principall which is God, and instrumentall, which is the Angel, in this verse. Thirdly, from the promises of God concerning his coming to effect all these things, and concerning our saluation, Verse seven. Fourthly, from the testification of Saint Iohn himselfe, Verse eight. The rest of the speech of the Angel tending to the same ende, Saint Iohn interrupted or brake off by his vnaduised acte of worshipping him, in the same verse, which the Angel forbidding, teacheth him that adoration must be given not to him, but onely to God, as for himselfe, that hee is of such nature and office, as hee may not be adored: which thing also was in like manner done, Chapter 16. verse 10. * Chapter 19. 10.

And he shewed mee a pure river of water of life, cleare as crytal, proceeding out of the throne of God, and of the Lambe.

2 In the midst of the streete of it, and of either side of the river, was the tree of life, which bare twelue manner of fruits, and gaue fruit euery moneth: and the leaues of the tree serued to heale the nations with.

3 And there shall bee no more curse, but the throne of God and of the Lambe shall be in it, and his seruants shall serue him.

4 And they shall see his face, and his Name shall be in their foreheads.

5 * And here shall be no night there, and they need no candle, neither light of the sunne: for the Lord God giueth them light, and they shall reigne for euermore.

6 * And he said vnto mee, These words are faithful and true: and the Lord God of the holy Prophets sent his Angel to shew vnto his seruants the things which must shortly bee fulfilled.

7 Behold, I come shortly, Blessed is he that keepeth the words of the prophetic of this booke.

8 And I am Iohn, which sawe and heard these things: and when I had heard and seene, I fell downe to worship before the feete of the Angel which shewed me these things.

9 But he said vnto me, See thou doe it not: for I am thy fellow seruant, and of thy brethren the Prophets, and of them which keepe the words of this booke: worship God.

10 * And hee said vnto me, * Seale not the words of the prophetic of this booke: for the time is at hand.

11 * He that is vniust, let him be vniust still: and he which is filthy, let him be filthy still: and he that is righteous, let him be righteous still: and he that is holy, let him be holy still.

12 * And behold, I come shortly, and my reward is with me, * to giue to every man according as his worke shall be.

13 I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last.

14 Blessed are they, that doe his Commandements, that their right may bee in the tree of Life, and may enter in through the gates into the Citie.

15 For without shall be dogs & enchanters, and whoremongers, and murderers, and idolaters, and whosoever loueth or maketh lies.

16 * I Iesus haue sent mine Angel, to testifie vnto you these things in the Churches: I am the roote and the generation of Dauid, and the bright morning Starre.

17 And the Spirit and the bride say, Come: And let him that heareth, say, Come: and let him that is athirst, come: and * let whosoever wil, take of the water of life freely.

18 * For I protest vnto euery man that heareth the words of the prophetic of this booke: If any man shall adde vnto these things, God shall adde vnto him the plagues that are written in this booke.

19 And if any man shall diminish of the words of the booke of this prophetic, God shall take away his part out of the booke of life, and out of the holy citie, and from those things which are written in this booke:

20 * He which testifieth these things, saith, Surely I come quickly, Amen. Euen so, come Lord Iesus.

21 * The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you all, AMEN.

vnto the vie of this booke, as I said verse 10. Allo (saith God by the Angel) though there should be no vie of this booke vnto men: yet in shall bee of this vie vnto me, that it is a witnesse of my truth vnto my glory, who will come shortly, to giue and execute iust iudgement, in this verse: who haue taught that all these things haue their being in mee, in the 13. verse, and haue denounced blessednesse vnto my seruants in the Church, verse 14. and reprobation vnto the vngodly, verse 15. * Rom. 2. 6. * Chap. 1. 8. and 21. 6. of vs 41. 44. and 44. 6. 7 The blessednesse of the godly set downe by their title and interest thereunto: and their fruit in the same. 8 The second place of confirmation (as I said) is the speech of Christ ratifying the vocation of Saint Iohn, and the authoritie of his calling and testimonie, both from the condition of his owne person being God and man, in whome all the promises of God are Yea and Amen. 2. Cor. 1. 20 and also from the testification of other persons, by the acclamation of the holy Ghost, who here is as it were an honourable assistant of the marriage of the Church as the spouse: and of euery of the godly as members: and finally from the thing present, that of their owne knowledge and accord, they are called forth vnto the participation of the good things of God, verse 17. * E/ay 55. 1. 9 The obtestation of S. Iohn (which is the third place of the confirmation, as was noted verse 6.) ioined with a curse of execration, to preserve the truth of this booke entire and vncorrupted in two verses: 10 A diuine confirmation or sealing against all those that shall put their sacrilegious hands hereunto: then from S. Iohn himselfe, who by a most holy prayer calleth Christ to take vengeance of them. 11 The salutation Apoliticall, which is the other place of the confirmation, as I said verse 6. and is the end almost of euery Epistle: which we wish vnto the Church, and to all the holy and elect members thereof, in Christ Iesus our Lord, vntill his comming to iudgement. Come Lord Iesus and doe it. Amen, againe Amen.

3 The Angel returneth vnto his former speech: in which he teacheth the vie of this booke both towards our selues, in this and the next verse: and in respect of God for declaration of his truth, thence vnto the 15. ver. 4 That is, propound this prophetic openly vnto all, & conceal no part of it. The contrary whereunto is commanded E/ay 3. 6. and Dan. 8. 26 5 An obtestation preuented. But there will be some that will abuse this occasion vnto euill, and will wrest this Scripture vnto their owne destruction, as Peter saith. What then sayth the Angel, the mysteries of God must not therefore be concealed, which it hath pleased him to communicate vnto vs. Let them be hurtfull vnto others, let such be more and more vile in themselves. whom this Scripture doeth not please: yet others shall be further comforted thereby vnto right holiness, and true holiness. The care and reformation of these may not be neglected, because of the voluntarie & malicious offence of others. 6 The second place belonging

A briefe

The first Table.

A brieft Table of the interpretation of the proper names which are chiefly found in the Olde Testament, where- in the first number signifieth the Chapter, the second the Verse.

WHereas the wickedness of time, and the blindness of the former age hath bene such, that all things altogether have bene abused and corrupted, so that the very right names of diuers of the holy men named in the Scriptures have bene forgotten, and now seeme strange vnto vs, and the names of infants that should euer haue some godly aduancements in them, and should be memorials and markes of the children of God reioined into his household, haue bene hereby also changed and made the signes and badges of idolatrie and heathenish impietie: wee haue now set forth this Table of the names that be most vsed in the old Testament, with their interpretations, as the Hebrew importeth, partly to call backe the godly from that abuse, when they shall know the true names of the godly Fathers, and what they signifie, that their children now named after them, may haue testimonies by their very names, that they are within that faithfull familie that in all their doings had euer God before their eyes, and that they are bound by these their names to serue God from their infancie, and haue occasion to prayse him for his workes wrought in them, and their fathers, but chiefly to restore the names to their integritie, whereby many places of the Scriptures and secret mysteries of the holy Ghost shall better be vnderstood. We haue medled rarely with the Greeke names, because their interpretation is vncertaine, and many of them are corrupted from their original, as wee may also see these Hebrew names set in the margin of this Table, which haue been corrupted by the Grecians. Now for the other Hebrew names that are not here interpreted, let not the diligent Reader be carefull: for he shall find them in places most conuenient amongst the Annotations: at least so many as may seeme to make for any edification, and vnderstanding of the Scriptures.
